Diana, Nude Nymph Of The Dunes, Comes To A Sad End In Squatter's Shack

DIANA, NUDE NYMPH of the dunes, found little real peace or happiness when she fled civilization for a contemplative life in the wilds.

AL SPIERS

Her last days were the saddest of all.

Recovered from a near-fatal skull fracture suffered in a brawl with a neighbor, Diana rejoined her towering, powerful mate, Paul Wilson in early July, 1922.

PAUL, VOLCANIC and trigger-tempered, was bitter and angry. While Diana was in the hospital and he was in jail overnight following the brawl, someone had stripped their squatter's shack, taking Diana's books and manuscripts and most of their pitiful possessions.

Diana, more gentle and patient, was stoic. For nearly seven years she had futilely sought solitary, meditative obscurity. Now she knew she'd never find it in her beloved Hoosier dunes.

Civilization was creeping closer and closer. Soon it would engulf her.

"We must find another sanctuary," she told Paul.

"I know the place," he replied. "There's some wild, unpopulated country along the Nueces River in Texas. I've been there. We can go by boat — to the Illinois River, the Mississippi, the Gulf."

THEIR PLANS to flee were given impetus when a Gary group, headed by Samuel Reck, bought 600 acres and prepared to create the fine-home development which is now Ogden Dunes.

Diana's hovel was on this land, which didn't make the owners happy.

"WHO," THEY ASKED, "will build a $14,000 house alongside a $14 shack?"

At first, not yet prepared to go, Paul and Diana stood on their squatter's rights. Then, in a small open boat, they left.

No one is sure what happened, voyage failed. They red and tried a second time. They came back.

Through the summer of 1923, Paul and Diana worked toward a third departure. Paul, a handy mechanic, built a sturdy boat, added a topside cabin, an engine and lockers for stores.

LATE THAT FALL they left. In November, Reck told newsmen he'd heard from them. They'd reached the Mississippi. All was well. Their boat, named Nueces

Final Tribute To Colonel Elliott

SOME 1,500 FINE BOYS, representing the entire student body of The Culver Summer Schools, last Wednesday morning joined Culver Military Academy and the community in an impressive tribute to COL. ALLEN R. ELLIOTT, who died at the age of 72 on July 23 after a brief illness. Shown above are lads from all over the U. S. and nine foreign countries as they lined the route which the funeral procession took from the beautiful Memorial Chapel on the campus. Troopers, who formed the lines just outside the Chapel, snapped to attention as the color guard left the Chapel steps. Beyond them were Midshipmen and Woodcrafters who joined in the final salute to the former superintendent whose distinguished career at Culver spanned 57 notable years.

Culver School Plan To Regroup Is Rejected

No Consolidation Without Starke OK

The State School Reorganization Commission has not given its approval to the consolidations of township school systems into Culver Community Schools and into the Koston School Corporation, according to a letter received by George Stevens, attorney for the two districts, from J. B. Kohlmeier, executive secretary of the State Commission.

No Change In Policy

In his letter, Kohlmeier said that the State Commission had decided to make no changes in its policy.

Under this policy, the commission had decided not to give its approval to any consolidation that did not have the approval of the county school reorganization committees involved.

The Culver consolidation involved Union Township of Marshall County, Aubbeenaubee Township of Fulton County, and North Bend Township of Starke County.

Stevens said that the Starke County committee had never given its approval to the inclusion of North Bend Township in the Culver consolidation, and that the Fulton committee had not approved the inclusion of New Castle Township in the Koston district.

Carried Out Last Year

Both consolidations were carried out last year under 1947 school law. This law was not repealed when the school reorganization law was passed, but Stevens said that the reorganization law made it necessary to obtain the approval of the State Commission to carry out any consolidations.

J. Albert Smith Family Well Known As Lake Residents

The J. Albert Smith family, which figured in Saturday's train-auto tragedy, is well known here. Two years ago they were among the most popular members of the summer colony when they occupied the Lake Maxinkuckee cottage of Thomas W. Hinford at 1880 East Shore Drive.

Indianapolis banker, "Al" Smith, was able to tell the first person to arrive at the scene of the accident that they were en route to the Culver Military Academy to visit their son. The Academy immediately communicated with Frank E. McKinney at Indianapolis, chairman of the board of the American Fletcher National Bank & Trust Company, of which Mr. Smith is a vice-president.

It was also fortunate that Dr. Joseph E. Walther of Indianapolis, a Lake summer resident of 1012 East Shore Drive, could rush to Woodlawn Hospital at Rochester and there aid the victims and give a full report to the Smiths' family physician in Indianapolis. Mrs. John Burkhart of Indianapolis, summer resident of 90 South Shore Drive, also was helpful in communicating with relatives and friends.

Mass was said this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Joan of Arc Catholic Church in Indianapolis for Mr. Brennan, his daughter, Mrs. Smith, and her daughter, Sheila. Mr. Brennan is being buried in Calvary Cemetery but burial for the other two victims has been postponed until a later date.

Confucius say: "Man who stop advertising to save money is like man who stop clock to save time."

Under its original policy, the commission would not even give hearings to consolidations that did not have the approval of the county committees involved, but finally did grant a hearing to officials of the two consolidated schools recently in Crawfordsville.

State Road 117 Resurfaced In Record Time

Highway On East Shore Wonderful!

Road 117 along the East Shore of Lake Maxinkuckee, the shortest State highway in Indiana, which connects Roads 10 and 110 (County Line), until a week or so ago was the roughest and most miserable thoroughfare for automobiles in this neck of the woods.

Today, a full month ahead of schedule, happy motorists find it completely resurfaced and as smooth as silk. Moreover, the work was done by the State Highway Department with a minimum of inconvenience to residents and visitors — a detour sign was never in evidence and single lane traffic was required for short periods only.

The "movement" to improve State Road 117 actually got under way in Fort Wayne early this Spring when Chester W. Cleveland, publisher of The Citizen, mentioned the deplorable condition of the highway to Governor Matthew E. Welsh and a number of his administrative executives including the chairman of the State Highway Department.

Efficient Highway Department The April 19 issue of The Citizen made reference to an April 17 letter our publisher received from P. S. Hill, superintendent of maintenance of the State Highway Department at Indianapolis. It read:

"Mr. Clinton Green, chairman of the State Highway Commission has forwarded your letter of April 5, concerning the condition of State Road 117 near your home, to this Department for consideration.

"We are pleased to be able to inform you that this highway is scheduled for resurfacing this coming summer, probably during August.

"We assure you we will do everything to relieve the situation referred to in your letter as soon as possible."

The entire community thanks Governor Welsh and his highly efficient State Highway Department for this fine improvement in an area notorious for its poor roads.

ASC COMMUNITY ELECTION TO BE HELD AUGUST 15

The method of electing Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Community Committee-men, Alternates, and Delegates to the County Convention has been changed by Washington directive.

Instead of voting by mail as in previous years, elections will be conducted at meetings held in the various communities.

All farmers are urged to pay particular attention to the date and place of the election and to plan to attend.

All nominations and elections will be by secret ballot, and the meetings will be conducted by the present community committee-men.

The meeting for Union Township will be held in The State Exchange Bank Auditorium Tuesday, Aug. 15, at 8 p.m.

The County Convention will be held at the County ASCS office at 313 E. Jefferson St., Plymouth, on Monday, Aug. 28, at 9 a.m.

DIRECT DIALING BY PHONE TO CELEBRATE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

At 2:01 a.m. next Saturday, Aug. 5, Culver will celebrate its 5th anniversary as one of the first four towns in the State of Indiana to have Direct Dialing telephone service.

This Indiana Bell improvement is an amazing thing but lots of folks still miss the direct contact with Central's pleasant voice and the privilege of asking such questions as, "Where's the fire," or "What time is it?"

Three Killed In Train-Auto Crash South Of Culver

Family En Route To Academy

A prominent Indianapolis banker's wife, daughter, and father-in-law, a widely known realtor, were injured fatally Saturday afternoon when their car was smashed by a speeding passenger train at a crossing in northwestern Fulton County just south of Culver.

The banker and another daughter were badly injured.

Dead are Mrs. Berniece M. Smith, 45 years old, 4530 North Park Avenue; her father, William A. Brennan, Sr., 75, who resided at the Columbia Club; and her daughter, Sheila Ann Smith, 7.

Mrs. Smith and her father were killed instantly in the crash and the girl died two hours later in Woodlawn Hospital at Rochester.

Indianapolis Banker Injured

Injured were her husband, J. Albert Smith, 50, a vice-president of American Fletcher National Bank and Trust Company, and another daughter, Sharon Marie Smith, 11.

Erie Railroad Crossing

The family was en route to visit a Smith son at Culver Military Academy, when their air conditioned car — the windows closed — was struck by the Erie Railroad train on Ind. 17 a mile west of Delong, a small town 5 miles south of Culver.

The 9-car train, traveling about 60 miles an hour, carried the car 73 feet down the right-of-way, and all occupants were thrown from the vehicle by the impact of the grinding crash.

Freight Had Just Passed

State Police Trooper James L. Johnson said an eastbound freight train had just passed the double-track crossing when the westbound passenger train roared down on the crossing.

Smith applied his brakes but the car skidded 23 feet onto the crossing and the rear of the auto was sheared off by the train, police said.

The engineer, J. P. Query of Huntington, told police he saw the car try to stop for stop signs at the crossing at 2:32 p.m.

No Flashing Signals

An overpass for Ind. 17 is under construction at the crossing, which has no flashing signals.

The family was en route to visit William Brennan Smith, 17, a counselor at the Culver Military Academy summer schools.

Another Smith son, J. Albert Smith III, 21, is aboard a United States Navy aircraft carrier in the Pacific for Reserve Officers Training Corps summer maneuvers. He will be a senior this fall at the University of Notre Dame.

Born in Indianapolis, Mr. Brennan started to work shortly after the turn of the century as an apprentice in the former Atkins Saw Works. Later, he became a messenger in the former Meyer-Kiser Bank in Indianapolis.

Next, he was promoted to the bank's real estate department and continued in this field until April, 1926, when he founded the real estate firm of W. A. Brennan Inc.

Nationally Known Realtor

The firm specializes in the leasing of downtown and suburban commercial properties and industrial locations in Indianapolis and other major cities of the Middle West. He was nationally recognized as an authority on realty values.

Mr. Brennan was president of the realty firm and a son, William A. Brennan Jr., is secretary-treasurer. The son formerly was national vice-commander and state commander of the American Legion.

Bob is well known in the Culver area as a fine singer in his own right as well as being the brother to another fine singer, Tommy Lou Glaze, last year's "Miss Indiana." Donna appeared with the Playhouse group earlier this season in "South Pacific" and also worked in "Wonderful Town" when it was presented at the Academy this Spring. Dan Weaver has the role of Dr. Lei and Diane Turner that of Mrs. Fong. David Stearns is Chu Lui.

Carrying the heavy singing role in the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical will be Donna Donnelly in the part of Madame Liang. Donna has won many fans with her singing in "South Pacific" where she played Bloody Mary and in "Of Thee I Sing." In "Flower Drum Song" Donna

New Telephone Directories For Culver Next Week

Next week is new telephone directory week in Culver.

A new Indiana Bell directory, bound in a sparkling turquoise cover, is scheduled for delivery by mail to the homes and businesses of telephone customers throughout the local area.

Indiana Bell Manager E. E. Stonehouse said the book is to be mailed Monday, Aug. 7. Delivery should be completed by mid-week.

Highlighting the attractive front cover is a sketch of a feminine hand holding a Princess telephone handset. On the back cover is an eye-catching Yellow Pages emblem.

"It's a nice looking directory and a useful one," Stonehouse said. "I hope every possible telephone user in Culver will make a special effort to acquaint himself with the police and fire emergency telephone numbers listed on the first page. This service proves most useful in times of emergency if a person can call for help without taking the time even to consult the directory."

Playhouse Programs Are Creative Work Of David Stearns

DAVID STEARNS

The imaginative program covers currently being used at the Maxinkuckee Playhouse this season are causing much complimentary comment. In the past years a standard program cover was used for the entire season. This year, however, a different design is used each week. Each week's design has the job of carrying out the mood and theme of each play.

Responsible for the job of creating the programs is David Stearns from North Vernon, Ind. David is a senior at the University of Cincinnati School of Applied Arts, and is currently in residence at the Playhouse as Design Assistant.

The program covers are not Mr. Stearns' only job since he is part of Bill Akjn's technical staff which designs and builds the sets each week. He is also called upon to appear in many productions.

David recently completed a role as both singer and actor in "Of Thee I Sing" and will next be seen in "Flower Drum Song," the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical which opens at the Playhouse next week.

"Pleasure Of His Company" Current Hit At Playhouse

What is so enchanting as a young girl in love? Especially when it's her wandering father who has taken her fancy. When Pogo Poole, widely travelled playboy, returns to San Francisco after an absence of 26 years to attend his daughter's wedding, the result is charming chaos that provides ample material for a delightful and sophisticated comedy. "The Pleasure of His Company" which opened a week's run Tuesday night at the Maxinkuckee Playhouse.

As Pogo Poole, Vaughn McBride is wordy, yet sentimental. His portrayal rivals those of Cyril Ritchard, who played the role on Broadway, and Fred Astaire, the motion picture Pogo. His performance is highly polished and witty.

Diane Turner portrays Kate, Pogo's first wife, with the proper attitude of a woman whose first husband returns to the home of her second husband and tries to pry both her and her daughter away. She is charming in the role which was such a successful vehicle for Cornelia Otis Skinner on Broadway.

Bob Moak's Final Appearance

MacKenzie Savage, Kate's delightful father, is brought to life by Bob Moak who is making "The Pleasure of His Company" his last play at Maxinkuckee Playhouse. A favorite with Maxinkuckee audiences for 11 years, he will go to Cleveland early in September to join the acting staff of the highly respected Cleveland Play House where David Hager and Sally Noble are also employed.

Jessica Poole, Pogo's and Kate's daughter, is played effectively by Marie Mastruserio. She sparkles through every scene with the glow of a young woman who is about to be married to the man she considers to be the greatest in the world. In this case, he is Roger Henderson, a handsome cattle rancher, played by John Hess, whose versatility as an actor can be seen by comparing this role to his portrayal of the sensitive Eugene in "Look Homeward, Angel" and of the hilarious Senator Jones in "Of This I Sing."

Dan Weaver is seen as Jim, Kate's second husband, and is appropriately bewildered and sarcastic in the light of Pogo's return. Irene Myers plays Ming Toy, a delightful oriental house-girl employed by Kate and Jim. Wayne Gregory is Guest Director "The Pleasure of His Company" has received fine staging from Wayne Gregory, a noted Cincinnati director, who was invited to serve as guest director for this production.

Bill Akin designed and executed the elegant setting for "The Pleasure of His Company." The portrait featured in the show was painted by Marie Mastruserio and the primitive figure was sculpted by Dan Weaver.

Tickets for the remaining performances of "The Pleasure of His Company" which closes Sunday night can be reserved by calling the Maxinkuckee Playhouse box office at Viking 2-2500.

Greatest invention since that eminent American scientist, Gypsy Rose Lee, discovered a new use for feathers, is the catamaran. It's a queer-looking duck, and when it first appeared on U.S. waters, the natives shied away from it like Arabs at a B'nai B'rith meeting.

But more and more boating addicts are discovering that the catamaran, which is sort of a twin boat, can do lots of things that would get you in trouble with a conventional boat. As any shark can tell you, its skinny hulls push through the water a lot easier than one fat hull, but because the "cat" is fat across the top, it would take a baby elephant on one side to tip the thing over.

But the oddest thing about catamarans, which engineers hail as a great contribution to boating (because they make high-speed boating safer and easier) is that they're not new at all. They've been used by South Sea Islanders for several thousand years to transport wives and various other pieces of property from island to island.

The new cat-boat (not to be confused with the cat-rigged sailboat, which shares that name) ends a search for a true 50-mile-an-hour family boat. It's big, roomy, seaworthy, and it won't spill grandma and the kids the first time you turn sharply at speeds above a slow trot.

The cats proved their stuff for sure not long ago by averaging 47.25 miles an hour in the 1068-mile Mississippi river marathon, from St. Louis to New Orleans. The first 17 boats to finish the race were cats. All were powered by 6-in-line Mercury outboards.

Suggests "Man Of Influence"
Now Go To Work On The
More Important Highways

Editor, CITIZEN:

Sometime ago I read in your paper where a certain man of influence made a trip to our capital city to use his influence to have Road 117 repaired.

How much more feasible would it have been to use his efforts in securing repairs on Highways 10, 110, and 17 to Plymouth. Comparatively speaking, 117 is a country road which is posted at 20 and 30 miles per hour.

I see the trip was not in vain as 117 is being recapped. The entire community hopes the gentleman will not cease in his efforts to have our more important roads repaired.

RUNNER UP — Many Hoosiers may not be aware of it but Randolph County has the second tallest soldiers and sailors monument in the state. The tallest is the one on Monument Circle in downtown Indianapolis, which measures 284 feet, six inches, from street level to the peak of the Victory Statue atop it. The Randolph County monument, which stands on the southeast corner of the public square in Winchester, is 67 feet high from street level to the top of the Standard Bearer figure which surmounts it. The Civil War centennial has brought new interest in the monuments.

GREEN THUMBERS — At the end of the last football season, there was very little grass left on the Sheridan High School football field. Athletic officials of the Boone County town enlisted the assistance of the Sheridan chapter of the Future Farmers of America, reasoning that if the FFA members knew how to produce pasture land, they could grow grass on a gridiron. The FFA responded and it's apparent already there will be a good turf on the football field next season. In addition to seeding the field, the FFA members picked up and hauled off several wheelbarrow loads of various sized rocks on which the footballers had taken some nasty tumbles.

WORTHY OBJECT — The Lafayette Journal and Courier once a week publishes without charge, classified ads submitted by school age children of the community. A recent offering read: "Wanted — Geese to go with two lonely ganders. Object, goslings."

SCOOP AIDS STORK — Many Hoosiers had exciting experiences during the April blizzard that blocked northern Indiana roads, but close to topping them all was that of the Roger Deardorff family of Fulton County. The Deardorffs spent the weekend with relatives in Kokomo and were on their way back to their home near Akron, when the blizzard overtook them. Their car became snowbound along Indiana 35 in Cass County. Then things began to happen. Mrs. Deardorff, an expectant mother, told her husband the baby's birth seemed imminent. Deardorff hailed a state trooper, who guided the family to the Cass County farm home of Orba Kepner. Telephone communication was established with a Monticello doctor who began giving long distance instructions on how to deliver a baby in a farm home. Meanwhile, the trooper got in touch with a doctor closer by and brought him to the Kepner home in an earthmoving tractor equipped with a big scoop. Mrs. Deardorff, well padded with blankets, was put into the tractor's scoop and accompanied by the doctor, was trundled down Indiana 35 to a Kokomo hospital where the baby was delivered.

FISHING IN TOWN — A drainage ditch in Odon, a Dayless County town, ordinarily carries only a few inches of water but following a recent heavy rain it became a mecca for fishermen. Youngsters playing near the ditch excitedly told Ellis Plew they had seen a "big fish" in the ditch. Plew, a bit skeptical, went out with dip net and in two dips netted an eight pound carp and another 12 pound carp. Then Dennis Garten, who lives about two blocks from the Plew home, heard a big splashing in the ditch. He and Milford Waskom scooped up a 14 pound carp. The fish are believed to have washed into the ditch from a spillway of the Conservation Club lake on the outskirts of Odon.

NOTHING LOST — The Blackford County town of Montpelier, was without taxi service temporarily while Chester Benner, owner and operator of the taxicab, served out a fine of $18.75 levied against him for disregarding a traffic signal. Benner explained he would be better off in jail laying out the fine at the rate of $5 a day than he would be operating the taxi. He said he would get three fine meals a day free in jail and probably wouldn't earn the equivalent of the fine. Benner added that it was his first arrest on a traffic charge in 56 years of driving private cars and taxicabs.

Let Us All Speak Up For Freedom

My Child — Your Child — will live under Communism. Mr. Khrushchev said so. He and Communists around the world are determined to destroy freedom and the Free Enterprise System for all Americans — as soon as possible. It could happen without guns and ammunition.

The method is a continuous, systematic program of propaganda, infiltration and sabotage. You have watched it happen in Cuba. Communist brain troopers are always on the move to capture hearts and minds. Your defense is a steadfast belief in Freedom and Justice — the American way of life. You must maintain it, teach it, pass it on to the succeeding generations!!

Freedom of choice for all individuals has made the United States of America the most powerful nation on earth; given its people the highest standards of living in all history; provided opportunity for the humblest to exercise their talents and industry.

Freedom of Choice is indivisible. When part is taken away, that which remains is no longer Freedom. Once economic, the freedom of that market place is lost. Political freedom, religious freedom, freedom of the press and speech — all will fail. As good Americans, we must not let any clique or Communism ruin our freedom. Let us all prove the Mr. Khrushchev is wrong!!

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

423 S. Michigan St., Plymouth
 Sunday School 10:30 a.m.
 Morning Worship 10:30 a.m.
 The spiritual foundation of divine healing will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Included in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit" is the account in Matthew of the healing by Christ Jesus of the man with the withered hand.

One of the citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 51) describes the basis of Jesus' healing mission in these words: "Jesus was unselfish. His spirituality separated him from sensuousness, and caused the selfish materialist to hate Him; but it was this spirituality which enabled Jesus to heal the sick, cast out evil, and raise the dead."

The Golden Text is from Zechariah (4): "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts."

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to all our friends and neighbors for the kindness, sympathy, and beautiful floral offerings extended during the illness and death of Lawrence B. Hackett.

THE FAMILY

To each of the many friends who, by countless acts of kindness and help, have enabled us more easily to bear the loss of our beloved husband and father, Allen Elliott, we desire to express our deepest gratitude.

TRADED UP — A stranger who brought a somewhat beat up automobile into a repair shop at Sheridan (Boone County) was given an estimate of $81 for needed repairs and was given the use of another car while the repairs were being made. When the stranger failed to return after three days the Sheridan firm asked for a police check and found that the car brought in for repairs had been stolen in Kokomo. The stranger had gotten away with a 1955 model and had left behind a 1954 model.

Ill, apparently got as far as New Orleans.

Then, for some reason, Paul and Diana changed their minds. Some say Diana's health — frailty since her head-cracking — made up their minds.

At any rate, they were back at the old shack in the dunes the following spring.

THERE FOLLOWED a prosaic, uneventful summer and fall. Paul fished and built rustic furniture to sell. Occasionally Diana, usually clad in blue jeans and a man's shirt, quipped parties of nature lovers through the dunes.

Although barely into her 30s, Diana looked wan. She seemed to be aging fast. But her spirit hadn't changed. Her voice was melodious, cultured, and gentle. School children especially loved her.

Came winter, a new year and early February — and suddenly Diana was in the headlines for the last time. The night of Feb. 8, 1925, Paul, desperately worried, fetched a doctor to their shack. It was too late. Diana, wasted by arsenic infection, was already in coma.

NEAR MIDNIGHT SHE DIED in Paul's arms.

Should asked to be cremated so her ashes could be flung to the dunes winds. There was no nearby crematory then. Paul wanted to build his own pyre in the dunes and consign Diana to it. Others persuaded him to bury her in Oak Hill Cemetery, promising to tend her grave.

Paul didn't see Diana buried. After chapel services, he broke down completely at her casket. A few moments later something infuriated him. He whipped out a gun and began chasing a reporter and a nephew of Diana's. Cops grabbed him before any damage was done. Paul went to jail to cool off. He was released next day.

Paul moped briefly around the old shack. Then he packed up, burned the shack and went away, taking with him Diana's books, diaries, and manuscripts.

LATER PAUL SENT WORD to The Gary Post-Tribune that he might sell Diana's papers. Don Datisman, still a top-notch Trib newsman, found him living obscurely near Tremont.

As often happens, Paul had an exaggerated idea of the worth of Diana's writings.

"The few samples he showed me were trite and trivial — not worth publishing, let alone buying," Don recalls. "I doubt if he ever sold them."

In November of 1930, a Paul Wilson got involved in a Valparaiso holdup. Newspapers at the time said it was Diana's Paul, and prison records list a Paul Wilson sentenced from Porter County to serve one to five years for petit larceny on Feb. 10, 1931. This Paul Wilson was paroled Jan. 29, 1932.

THERE IS, HOWEVER, a conflict in ages. In 1922, Diana's Paul Wilson gave his age as 37. The prison's Paul Wilson was 38 in 1931.

So maybe this wasn't Diana's Paul. Maybe the legendary nude nymph's mate went alone to that Nueces River country. Probably not. I found several old-timers who were sure Paul died in the 30s — but none could cite a date, nor could I find a record of it.

If alive, Paul, wherever he went, is past 70.

DIANA IS NOW all but forgotten. For 10 years her grave was scrupulously tended by a Town of Miller woman. Then she stopped, probably because of illness or death.

Today the grave is overgrown and neglected. There's no stone, and only the cemetery's oldest workers know where it is.

PERHAPS THAT'S BEST. Perhaps, at last, Diana has found the quiet obscurity she had the rare courage to seek — but the ill fortune never to find.

Indians Lose To Bremen In County Playoffs

The Culver Indians committed seven errors and numerous other mental "boo-boos" here last Thursday evening and literally handed Bremen a 5-4 victory in the first round of the Marshall County League championship playoffs.

The losers ended their summer season with an 11-4 record, including two forfeited games. Coach Gene Crosley's crew had defeated Bremen twice during the regular season by scores of 9-4 and 12-10, but failed to come through when the chips were down.

Senior righthander Tom Boswell allowed only two earned runs in his seven innings on the mound but was the hard-luck loser. Bremen's Jim Morris, who was relieved by Dean Holdeman in the sixth, came back to the mound that same inning and was credited with the victory.

A pair of errors handed the Lions an early 1-0 lead in the first inning, but Jim Carter and Rick Ervin got singles to tie the score in the bottom of that inning.

Bremen got single runs in each of the first five innings, while Culver managed one more in the third on back-to-back doubles by sophomores Sam Lowry and Paul White.

Lowry and White had singles off Holdeman to start the sixth, with the Indians trailing 5-2. Ervin walked, filling the bases, and Lowry scored as George Herr scouted out. When Dave Lemar walked, Morris returned to the mound and White was out trying to score on a wild pitch. Bob Carter and Jim Boswell walked, forcing Ervin in with the fourth run but Tom Boswell fanned.

Boswell pitched out of a jam in the Bremen seventh, and Jim Carter led off for Culver with a booming triple over the hill in right field. But Lowry, White, and Ervin all failed to knock him in.

The defeat was Boswell's second in five decisions.

Bremen went on to win the playoff crown Saturday by upsetting Bourbon, 4-1. Bourbon had advanced by nipping Plymouth, 3-2, for their 15th straight league victory.

Saturday morning was clear and calm and still — a skier's delight but a sailor's despair! Howard Ray of Terre Haute was skillful enough to catch enough wind to send him across the line first. John Bateson — 2nd; John Michels — 3rd; Jeff Grand — 4th; Linda Riggs — 5th; Stevie Speer — 6th; Craig Gunder, in his first sailfish race was 7th (but watch him next time!)

Senior Fleet

We hope every skipper had his best girl — or his best friend — crewing for him during the Moonlight Race last Saturday. Just at the start of the race, the moon rose big and round and lemon yellow. It soon softened and the silvery blue light shone down on a serene Lake Maxinkuckee. So serene, in fact, that there wasn't a ripple on the water or a puff of wind for the sails! Nine boats started, but only two completed the course. Jerome Zechel was first and Chuck Ray, Terre Haute, sailing Hord's boat, was second.

Sunday's race was beautiful and exciting to watch, but the sun was cruelly hot on the skippers. The judges had their troubles, too, as the steering cable broke at the second marker, and they had to HAND STEER their pontoon across to the finish line.

Ken Bateson, last year's champion, was 1st; Chuck Ray, in Hord's boat — 2nd; Tad Louderback — 3rd; and Bill Furry, who was last across the starting line, came in 4th.
