CULVER, INDIANA, THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1965

TEN CENTS

Potosi, Bolivia, South America

Editor, THE CITIZEN:

Recently I made a rather interesting move from outside Sucre. Bolivia where I had been stationed for over a year here to Otavi which is located between two mountains on the altiplano, about two hours by bus, which doesn't run often, from Potosi. Here we are in the midst of the cold, winter season; in the mountains it has been so cold recently that I wear heavy P.J.'s to bed, pile on five blankets, an yet still never seem to get warm. We have no electricity, no running water, but we do have a small hospital with a woman doctor; I am the only American in the area and have already come to be known as "that chubby little Gringo." Since we have been living primarily on eggs, soup, and rice - almost never any meat - I don't expect to be so chubby by the time I return to Culver six months from

In spite of the fact that most of the natives here speak either Quechua or Imara, neither one of which I understand, we have been getting along well - most of them know a little Spanish and I have picked up a few words of their language. Anyhow when a person is sick or needs to have a baby delivered or a bad cut sewed up, language is unimportant I have discovered.

Perhaps if I provide a few details typical of a week here you will get some idea of why this new assignment is so challenging and interesting. For example, in no order, here they are as they happened: Up at 3 a.m. to assist with emergency surgery, 40 new cases of impetigo, assist with 1100 T.B. vaccinations, so cold here now water freezes quickly in the pails which we use for storage outside the hospital, trying to understand Quechua gives me a headache, kerosene for our burner hasn't arrived perhaps because the gasoline producers are on strike which also means we now can't leave our base camp here because there is no gas for the jeep; walked out to a family with sick baby one week old, venereal disease, baby died while I was walking back to hospital with it; drove up into the mountains yesterday on an emergency with a driver -- half way there the steering wheel came off! I'm not kidding; we both laughed, got back to camp six hours later, tired, cold, hungry - had eggs again!

But through it all the people here are wonderful; outside the language barrier which I will gradually overcome, the only serious problem is one that results from the fact that everyone here thinks I must be used to nothing but luxury since I come from the United States. They are surprised when I insist that we have much to learn from them, and we do. but I will have to wait to tell you how much until I get back to Cul-

I must stop for it is getting cold and I'd like to get under some warm blankets. Last night just as I got comfortable - the doctor was gone to Potosi and I was left on duty - a man and woman came in badly cut - got up, ran to hospital, tried to find candle for light, cleaned up wound, took 10 stitches (how will I ever adjust to American doctors again where nurses are never allowed to hand out even an aspirin

Burr Oak Hardware Hit By Burglary; Loss Set At $602

Burglars broke into the Burr Oak Hardware last Thursday night and took merchandise and cash totaling $602, it was reported to Culver police and the Sheriff's office. Entrance was gained by breaking a rear window of the building, the owner, Joe Heiser, learned when he discovered the break-in on Friday morning.

The store was ransacked and a quantity of merchandise taken, including an alarm clock, 18 wrist watches, 36 hunting knives, 100 pocket knives, two tool boxes, seven wrench sets, five transistor radios, candy and chewing gum, and about $3 in cash.

Sheriff Harold King said the safe was not opened. A wrench prints were found on the floor and the rear door was left open as the burglars fled the store.

without orders from a doctor?), finally got back to bed only to have boy brought in for emergeney, had caught his leg in his bike wheel - found the candle again, cleaned him up, this time 20 stitches. Indeed there is seldom a dull moment in the life of a PCV here at Base Otavi!

But we don't often get mail, perhaps once a mouth, and I do get eager for news from home; haven't had a copy of The Culver Citizen since arriving here but 1 know it will eatch up with me eventually. When the Citizen used to arrive in Sucre I read everything in it, even the Want Ads!

Enough for now; my new address is Base Otavi, Cuerpo de Paz, Casilla 183, Potosi, Bolivia - just in case anyone would like to write. Be home in six months,

School Board Discusses Costs, Pupil Transfers

The Board of School Trustees of Culver Community Schools on Monday evening discussed several phases for the new high school with Mr. James Rennard and Mr. James Yoke of the architectural firm of M W Incorporated.

Mr. Rennard presented comparative costs for the possible use of brick and Indiana limestone in the exterior walls for the new building. He explained the price's of standard gray or buff limestone as delivered at Culver and indicated that the total cost of such material would be approximately the same as that for high qualify brick costing somewhat above $90 per thousand. Mr. Rennard explained that a very acceptable quality of brick would be available at from $80 to $85 per thousand. Thus the cost for the unpitched stone would add approximately $15,000 to $20,000 to the costs for the exterior material for

Mr. Yoke, a mechanical engineer, then reviewed comparative annual costs for a conventional heating and air-conditioning system, using gas and electricity supplied by the public utility company, and for a total energy system which had been considered. The latter type of installation would involve the use of gas-fired diesels which would generate all electricity used in the lighting and heating and air conditioning systems. Taking into consideration the added cost involved in instal-(Continued on Page 8)

Chicago Tribune Features C.M.A. Next Sunday

Culver Military Academy will be the subject of a cover story in Sunday's (July 18) magazine section of the Chicago Tribune.

Entitled "The New Culver -Academics, Sabres, and Fans in the Hat," the article represents impressions of the Winter School as seen by Ridgely Hunt, assistant magazine editor of the Tribune and one of the magazine section's key writers.

Hunt and top Tribune photographer Ron Bailey spent four days at Culver in May to research the article and to gather color and black-and-white pictures. Hunt is a former editor of the New Haven (Conn.) Register and a graduate of Pomfret (Conn.) School and Yale University, Bailey was a combat photographer in Korea before he joined the Tribune staff.

During his visit to Culver, Hunt spent four full days and several evenings talking with members of the administrative staff, teachers. employees, and students. The magazine section cover carries a four-color picture of the Black Horse Troop during a Sunday parade, and in his article Hunt observes that what has propelled the "new Culver" into the select segment of the country's best college

Paul Kline of Culver.

The bride's mother wore a twopiece silk dress of navy blue with pink polka dots, pink accessories. and a cymbidium orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue two-piece silk dress with white accessories. Her corsage was fashioned of cymbidium orchids.

A reception for 125 guests was held in the church basement immediately following the ceremony.

For their honeymoon, the bride selected a green and white nylon dress with a full skirt, a boat neckline, and short sleeves. Her corsage was a white orchid.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Powell will be at home at 318 North Scott Street in Wheaton. Mrs. Powell is employed as a secretary in the conservatory of music at Wheaton College and Mr. Powell is employed by the service department of the same college.

Those attending the wedding from Culver were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kline and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kline and family, Other ards and William Miller families of Elkhart.

To add color to his story, Hunt includes dialogue from several intimate conferences with groups of students covering such topics as academics, the scholarship program, and student reaction to the council. He also attended several classes and includes the studentteacher discussions from an honors English class.

With the sungay I'ribune's circulation exceeding 1,138,000 readers, the article will place Culver before one of the largest audiences in recent years.

Summer Theater Gives First Program July 16

Culver Summer Theater will present the first of several programs Friday, July 16, when students will give a stage reading of Stephen Vincent Benet's poem "John Brown's Body."

The production will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium on the campus of Culver Military Academy. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Patrick Henry, teacher-director of the Goodman Theater, Chicago, and a make-up artist for NBC-TV, will direct the production. Heary is director of theater at Culver this summer replacing William J. Martin, who is on leave for two months to teach experimental theater to secondary school instructors at Harvard University.

Henry chose "John Brown's Body" as the first production in commemoration of the 160th anniversary of the end of the Civil War. The work covers the entire panorama of the Civil War, however the emphasis is on the reactions of a Northern soldier, a Southern gentleman-soldier and their respective sweethearts towards the years of strife.

Major rolles in the production have been given to: Mark Piecuch, Culver, Ind., who has appeared in several Culver Winter School musicals; William Zimmerman, a School graduate from Mansfield, Ohio, who is now president-producer of the Gilbert and Sullivan Society at Massachusets Institute of Technology; Becky Lou Wiss and Sameta Borton of Kahoka, Mo., who have participated in Culver Summer Theater productions for the past four years; Rick Gimbel, Culver, Ind., a Winter School student appearing in his first production; Ellyn Winchester, Memphis, and James Craig, an Academy graduate active in theater at Hanover (Ind.) College.

The theater school is one of four separate programs operated under the Culver Summer Schools for the current eight-week session ending Aug. 21.

The Lesson-Sermon in Christian Science churches this Sunday is on the subject of "Life." It describes the nature of man's spiritual life as an idea which exists forever in the divine Mind. The Golden Text is from Proverbs 16: "Understanding is a wellspring of life unto him that hath it.

The readings will also include this passage from the Christian cordial welcome is extended Science textbook: "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit. lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 487).

Watch out for school children. ning of Mrs. Floy Leap and especially if they're driving.

We spend our summers by the Inlet. Eddie and I love to walk the beach, watching with fascination the wild churning of the water where the ocean waves, meet the strong river current.

"That's my name," he said, when I told him the churning water was called an "eddy."

It's more than his name. It's a picture of his life - and every child's.

Growing up is a succession of crosscurrents. The influences of the home meet those of the school — the playmates — the community — the times. Strange, new experiences must be fitted into the child's everwidening world.

Religious training is the surest stabilizing force in this turbulent period of growth. Strengthened by parental faith and example, a child discovers in his Church that there are values greater than whim or adventure. He realizes that his own and his family's standards are rooted in the truths of God. And he learns with the firm rudder of faith to steer a bold course - out of the Inlet's swirling eddies - across the sea of life.

Culver Stomps Tyner 18-6; Beats Argos 4-1

10-Run Seventh Jars Tyner

By BOB SHIRRELL

Last Thursday, July 8, the Culver baseball team stomped Tyner 18-6. This is the fourth straight win for Culver and makes their record six wins and four losses.

A ten-run seventh inning, off relief pitcher J. McGee, gave the Culver team their twelve-run lead. In the seventh McGee faced 15 Culver players and allowed eight hits which let 10 runs score, Bruce Lindvall led the Culver attack by going five for six, driving in three and scoring three times himself. Mike Eustis, the winning pitcher, went two for three, drove in two, and scored twice. George Jewell, Terry Gentry, Andy and Stu Lowry, all went two for four. The Culver team had as many hits against Tyner as they have had in the last two games combined.

Mike Eustis pitched a fine game for Cuiver, striking out seven and allowing only six hits. The Tyner team would have scored only two runs had it not been for five Culver errors in the first inning. Mike was relieved in the sixth by Bruce Blazers 3, Lindvall who struck out five of the six men who faced him.

Peterson, the Tyner shortstop, led the Tyner hitting by going two for four and scoring twice.

Extra base hits for Culver: 2B. Bru. Lindvall, Shirrell (2).

There were no extra base hits for Tyner.

Culver Beats Argos 4-1

Last Monday, July 12, Culver beat Argos for the first time since 1963 by a score of 4-1. This is the fifth straight win for Culver and makes their record seven wins and four losses.

Culver's first run came in the fifth inning when Mike Eustis tripled and then scored when Terry Gentry singled. Culver got the rest of their runs in the sixth inning. Stu Lowry led off with a single and was followed by Bruce Lindvall who also singled. After the next batter struck out Bob Shirrell got the third single of the inning to drive in the second Culver run. After another out was made. Mike Eustis singled to drive across the third Culver run. With Bob Shirrell on third base Argos pitcher Tim Harley balked and the fourth Culver run scored.

Bruce Lindvall pitched the full seven innings and got the win (4-2). Bruce struck out 10, which raises his strikeout total to 59 and allowed only five hits. Bruce is allowing only 5.16 hits per game, and needless to say, that's fine pitching.

Argos scored their only run in the second on an error by the Culver team. Gonce, the catcher, led the Argos team by going two for three. There were no extra base hits for Argos.

Extra base hits for Culver: 3B.
