Culver Community High School Adopted As Official Name

Fixed equipment contracts for the new high school, building construction and maintenance reports, patron inquiry of athletic plans and coaching, summer school plans, and adoption of a new name for the unified high school featured the agenda of the School Board Meeting here last week.

Accepted in November, fixed equipment bids totaled $212,000 for areas including: projection booth, library-shop, floor covering, graphic arts, gym, language lab, Home Economics - Science - Business - Auditorium - Art, and stage.

Contracts were awarded respectively to Burkes Audio Visual, South Bend; Kiger & Company, L. S. Ayers, Marbaugh Engineering, and Reynolds S. Judah Company, all of Indianapolis; Sound & Equipment, Noblesville; Lee School Supply, Terre Haute; and King School Equipment, Danville, Indiana.

Specifications for Phase II, loose equipment, are being finalized for presentation to the Board within the next thirty days.

New building construction is expected to be stepped up during the coming month, a report indicated. Fire-up of the total system in tentatively set for March 15-30. Reported construction defects will be corrected according to scheduled plan set by architect-engineer. Weather conditions since the start of operation last June 6 have permitted 191 working days.

In a survey based upon inspection reports and concerned with projected maintenance of present buildings in the district, the board heard a report concerning installation of steel beams to reinforce floors and roof construction of the story addition at Monterey. Also at the Monterey school, the report showed the need for a new roof, water softener installation, and the possible conversion of one coal-fired boiler to oil.

The report also detailed the revision of the electrical wiring at the present Culver High school building together with a revised and upgraded system of ventilation, further renovation of the heating system, painting gym windows and locker room floors, and replacement of certain equipment in lavatories. At the Aubenaubee school, the report shows need for replacement of a furnace breeching pipe, and possible study of water-well pumping system.

Several interested patrons joined in a discussion of immediate and long range plans as they relate to all phases of the athletic program in the reorganized school district. Visitors asked questions concerning projected plans, coaching assignments, intra-mural and adult athletics, and the inadvisability of including football in the proposed program.

In answer to inquiries, it was pointed out that guidelines for academic, extra-curricular, and athletic programming have been studied and projected. Concerning sports, it was stated that programming will provide supervision from the upper elementary grades through high school, with a planned high school intra-mural program outside the regular class day. Football, as a varsity sport, cannot be started in the immediate future.

Although certain administrative and supervisory assignments for 1968-69 have been announced, other staff assignments, including coaching, have not been made. The latter assignments will be studied and developed as soon as organization plans are finalized.

In a review-report, the School Trustees studied the recommendation of the District's eight-man advisory committee, named in January to study and to recommend a name for the unified high school.

The committee in its study considered some thirty to forty suggested names including: Mon-Cul-Bee High School, United, Quad County, Sagamore, Culver, Maxinkuckee, Lake Central, Indiana Trails, Menominee, Cul-Mo-Le-Bend, and many other suggestions involving combinations of letters and syllables with references to the four townships and the four counties, and there were also a number of suggestions involving names of nationally and locally prominent persons.

The advisory committee in its recommendation submitted two names Culver Community High School, and Maxinkuckee High School, with a third alternate, Culver-United High School Board officially adopted the name, "Culver Community High School."

The Board acknowledged with appreciation the establishment of the Robert Warner Kurtz Memorial gifts of classmates, friends and relatives as tributes to the late Major Kurtz who was killed in Vietnam action in 1967.

In other business, the Board approved a conference request of John Hayes and Charles Downing to attend the North Central Association meeting in Chicago, March 25-27, 1968. Bus contracts for James Sellers and Robert Measles who have taken over routes previously driven by Roy Shaffer and Robert Dittich were approved. Mr. Shaffer and Mr. Dittich resigned to take other positions.

A policy resolution recognizing the Federal Minimum Wage requirements as it relates to public schools was adopted by the Board. Farm Bureau statistical data studies on school costs, enrollments, etc.; plans for a Board inspection tour of buildings, and a report on the recent A.A.S.A. meeting in Atlantic City were presented.

Kurtz Memorial Scholarship Will Be Awarded Here

Provision for scholarship valued at $50.00 to be awarded annually to a graduate of Culver High School is continued in an announcement of the establishment of the Robert Warner Kurtz Memorial Scholarship, school officials stated this week.

The annual award has been made possible by a generous trust gift of Mrs. Genevieve Shively and memorial gifts of Culver School classmates, friends, and relatives.

Major Robert Kurtz, who graduated from Culver High School in 1953, after attending schools here for six years, died in the service for the nation in Viet Nam in 1967.

Major Kurtz, the first Culver man to give his life in Viet Nam, planned operations northwest of Saigon. On a low flying helicopter inspection flight, the craft the first of his battalion, was shot down, claiming the lives of both Major Kurtz and his fellow officer-pilot.

"A soldier in the fullest sense Major Kurtz served brilliantly and his service to the nation stands as a symbol of his nation and the principals for which it stands," the announcement pointed out.

In high school, Kurtz, an enthusiastic competitor in sports was actively interested in academic and extra-curricular activities and his cheerful approach to school life in his achievement record.

At the time of his death, Culver High School classmates, relatives and friends contributed memorial gifts in excess of $175. Robert Kurtz and his sister Gloria (Mrs. James Kowatch) resided with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Shively during his Culver years.

Mrs. Shively will add to the memorial gifts to establish a fund of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000), the interest on which will provide for the scholarship aid annually.

Eligibility requirements for the Kurtz Memorial Scholarship candidates include academic rating in upper half of class, active in athletics, two years residence in school, excellence in citizenship and respect and love of nation.

INDIANA HIGH SCHOOL Basketball championship tourney play moves into the semistate this Saturday and to say the least, this has been a year of surprises. Saturday's action at 16 centers produced more upsets and heartbreak as the play for the second straight week end found favorite after favorite by the wayside.

ONLY 16 TEAMS ARE NOW left in action as the four semi-states, Ft. Wayne, Evansville, Lafayette and Indianapolis. This will trim the sweet sixteen down to the final four. The following Saturday, one of the greatest spectacles in amateur sports concludes the four-week grind by determining the 1968 state title holder.

SATURDAY'S PLAY ELIMINATED 48 more teams. At Elkhart, Michigan City, one of the highly rated teams in the state, was supposed to have another breeze. However, three other entries, St. Joe, Akron and Michigan had other ideas. In the opening game, City moved to the front easily, gaining a first period 18-8 lead, but despite the fact they held safe leads through the final period, with just a mere eight seconds remained when the usually high scoring Keen put in two free throws to clinch the win. The last half of the final period was filled with thrills and spills as this game was one of the sloppiest games witnessed in a long time. However one mistake almost balanced out another and despite the loose play, thrilling action wasn't missing.

THE SECOND GAME FOUND one of the sentimental favorites, Akron, tangle with the Penn team. This game followed similar patterns in some respects, Akron moving to a lead in the game when Penn came back with vengeance. However, Akron was up to the test and the emotionless Flyers continued to fight back to win. Their style of play was different than during the regular season as they displayed a more deliberate style, but still displayed that fantastic shooting and passing that makes them a threat anytime they are in the offensive zone.

THIS REALLY PITTED THE David (Akron) against a Goliath (Michigan City). The Michigan City five, with two real big boys at 6'6" and 6'5", plus speed, shooting and everything else, was meeting the much smaller Akron team with shooting, shooting and more shooting. It didn't take long to display some fancy shooting by both teams. Michigan City moved to a 23-17 first period lead, but not before Akron proved to everyone how they got where they were. However, it became apparent in the game as it progressed, that Akron's defense wasn't going to be capable to hold the big team from Michigan City. In several occasions for example, the Red Devils got easy lay-ins on tip-offs as the Flyers simply didn't get the defensive job done. Combine with their size advantage, a red hot Keen who had been ice cold in the afternoon, a terrific fast break, and a sticky, hard-working defense, and you have Michigan City winning 94-77. Akron had nothing to be ashamed of as they looked like the best long range bombers since the B-52.

AT LOGANSPOUT, ACTION lacked something that was available at several other centers, that being close, exciting ball games. A stumbling, fumbling Knox team simply gave up the ball too many times (25) to stay in contention with North Miami. After gaining a 13-12 first period lead, they slowly started to fade. They surrendered the lead by halftime by 26-23, and the second half was complete frustration for the big Redskin team. They finally lost by 20 points, 61-41, giving North Miami a 12-12 record and an advancement to the final game.

THE SECOND CONTEST had LaVille, the third St. Joseph County team in action on this given day of regional play. However, they weren't able to fare any better as they lost by a big margin to Chesterton, despite the fact that their fine senior star, Carl Herbster, totaled 39 points in the losing cause. Cold shooting was basically the entire story. LaVille started off very cold and never did reach fever pitch as they missed as many shots as Chesterton attempted. A 32 per cent, just doesn't win against a 49 per cent, especially when you are doubled in points from the free throw line as well. Chesterton seemed to be content to let Herbster get points as he is going to anyway, but they did contain the rest of the team to a very meager 29 points between them.

THE NIGHT GAME DID create a lot more enthusiasm with a much closer, exciting contest. The game was one of streaks in the first half with North Miami first gaining the lead and then Chesterton controlling the play. By halftime, each had enjoyed their moments but things were almost where they were at the start as only one point separated the two teams with Chesterton leading. However the second half was something else. North Miami slowly moved to the lead and went on to win 72-65 in this championship contest.

THREE OF THE TOURNEY favorites that were eliminated were, first, and most surprising, Lafayette Jeff. The Broncos fell to Attica and it will be real strange next week to not have the Broncos in their own semistate. Indianapolis Washington, another strong favorite in Indiana basketball circles, was dumped by city rival Indianapolis Shortridge. Third on the list was the East Chicago Washington crew of Johnny Baratto. Despite the fact they weren't top ranked this year, at tourney time the Senators are always tough.

AT FT. WAYNE, CENTRAL was the favorite over a strong Ft. Wayne Catholic team, but were dropped in their bid to make it to the semi-state. Jac-Cen-Del, was a winner at Connersville and at Bloomington, the host school came out on top. Other than this, things went pretty much as expected. Evansville Reitz advanced on as expected as did Richmond and Marion. Other winners were Columbus, even though they had a real squeaker over Shelbyville, Gary Roosevelt, the team that dumped East Chicago, Greencastle, Kokomo, Vincennes and Jeffersonville. At Huntingburg, where Jefferson came out on top, two more sentimental favorites, Oolitic and Holland bit the dust. These small schools were unbeaten and in head to head competition Holland extended their streak with a two-point win before falling at night.

ACTION THIS WEEK PUTS it right on the line as the do-or-die battle continues. Barring very poorly in predictions last week, this week should be a little easier simply because fewer centers are left. At Ft. Wayne it looks like Michigan City over Marion for the title. Evansville Reitz should advance with Vincennes falling in the night game. At Indianapolis, we could almost pull one out of the hat again except for Jac-Cen-Del. Our choice will be Richmond over Shortridge at night, thus eliminating the highly ranked Columbus in the afternoon. At Lafayette, Gary Roosevelt is our choice over Greencastle at night.

Vehicle Inspection

Willard L. Walls, Administrator of the Vehicle Inspection Department, having received approval of the Vehicle Inspection Board and Governor Roger D. Branigin today announced the extension of the initial vehicle inspection date for vehicles for a period of six months as permitted in the statute. This for a period of six months as permitted in the statute. This will extend the final date when all vehicles must be inspected and display a certificate of inspection and approval to no later than June 30, 1969.

The following reasons were given by Mr. Walls for making the extension:

1. To allow sufficient time for the training of the members of the Indiana State Police who will thoroughly investigate the stations and mechanics applying for license and supervise their operations after being licensed.
2. To allow sufficient time to investigate the number of stations and mechanics who will be entering the inspection program so as to provide for as equitable flow of vehicles through the inspection processes as possible with a minimum of confusion and disruption.
3. To allow for the processing of 1969 vehicle registration by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles to be completed. This will permit the use of the last digit on vehicle registration plates as a basis for an orderly inspection schedule.
4. To allow sufficient time to implement a public information and education program in order that every vehicle owner will be properly informed as to the vehicle inspection program requirements.

CULVER COMMENTS

By Alienor Osborn

Is it really true that one of Culver's sages has decided to announce that he is non-candidate for president? With so many politicians not running, he figures he has as good a non-platform as they do. What to do about Vietnam? Declare it off limits to all service men. The growing problem of juvenile delinquency? Wait a couple of years and they won't be Juveniles any longer. As soon as they become adults and have families of their own, that will be punishment enough. As for crime in the streets, he thinks the street is a better place for it than anywhere else. Inflation will be solved naturally since anything that goes up has to come down. He just might get a few non-votes!

Have you noticed that every single 5-minute parking sign in Culver has been removed? Now don't blame the kids, it was done officially.

Helpful Hints: The County Assessor will soon send someone to your home to reappraise it. Do not do any spring cleaning until he has checked the inside of your home. Even though furnishings are not taxable, they can make or break that appraisal. If you don't have cracks in the ceiling, it will only take a few minutes to draw a few with a crayon. A goodly showing of cobwebs can also give the appearance of decay. Keep a pail of water handy so that when you see the appraiser coming you can throw it on the basement floor thereby proving that the foundation is not holding out the water. Turn your rugs upside down (his will really make them look threadbare). Even all this may not help. A few years ago one side of our old barn collapsed. When the appraiser saw it he upped the value because he said it was an improvement over the way it was.

Horoscope: The stars are in a favorite position for investments this week, so grab up $10,000 or so and rush to your broker. Take care of your health at this time since no one else will do it for you. If you are a basketball coach, beware of dissatisfied school patrons.

Etiquette: When you eat olives, where can you get rid of the pits? If there are no dishes or ash trays around, you may do one of three things. Put them down the front of dress, in your coin purse, or swallow them.

Would some of the five or six people that read this column spread the news that our phone number is 842-2297.

Wildlife Program

Wildlife, management programs, including seedlings and seed, are being offered to any interested landowners by the Indiana Department of Natural Resources through its Division of Fish and Game and the Division of Forestry.

The Forestry Division's "wildlife packet" of 150 seedlings for $2.50 includes 50 red pine, 50 white pine, 25 autumn olive and 25 gray dogwood. A considerable supply of packets is available.

The Division of Fish and Game is offering — without cost — a 5 pound bag of wildlife food-plot seed to any interested landowner who will plant the seed. The mixture consists of sorghum, soybean and sunflower seeds. It is intended to provide wildlife food.

Multiflora rose seedlings may be purchased for $8.16 per thousand under the "living fence program." The limited supply is being sold on a first-come first-serve basis. A State Wildlife Management Biologist will inspect the planting site and advise the landowner as to how and where to plant the seedlings to best help wildlife.

Application forms are available at most offices of the Soil Conservation Service, and County Agents, and also from State Wildlife Management Biologists and local Conservation Officers.

All the world expects of a graduate student is that he has learned how to learn.

Dean Manchester Returns After Pilgrimage Trip

Dean Manchester of Culver was among the 75 Marine Vets who arrived home last week after a three week friendship "Pilgrimage to New Zealand," World War II base of the Marines 25 years ago. This was the second pilgrimage made to New Zealand by the Second Marine Division Association of which Mr. Manchester is a member.

Mr. Manchester was stationed in New Zealand during the war for one year and while there he met the former Gweneth Smith whom he later married and brought to this country. They now reside south of Culver and are the parents of two daughters, Janet and Karen, and a son, Stuart.

While in New Zealand, Mr. Manchester renewed old friendships and visited his wife's family. He participated in the wreath laying ceremony at the Citizen's War Memorials after the beribboned former Leathernecks marched down the main city streets of Wellington headed by the Band of the Royal New Zealand Air Force. Although it was only mid-morning, many hundreds of Wellingtonians waved and cheered as the veterans, many paunchy and with streaks of grey running through their temples, moved proudly through the streets of New Zealand's capital city.

A silver plaque was presented to Sir Francis Kitts, the city's mayor, commemorating the silver anniversary of the Marine's wartime arrival in the South Pacific nation. Mr. Manchester states that the arrival of the Marines was greatly appreciated by the people of New Zealand because at that time most of the men of that country were fighting in other lands which left their own country unprotected.

Wreaths were then laid at the War Memorial and the Marine's Memorial on Aoten Quay, where the Marines landed during World War II after the grueling campaign at Guadalcanal.

The Pilgrims later met the New Zealand Prime Minister, Keith Holyoake, at a informal function in the Parliament Building. That evening they were entertained at a dance in Wellington's Overseas Terminal Building. Prime Minister Holyoake was presented with an engraved silver platter and a proclamation from California's Governor Ronald Reagan. A $500.00 check was presented by the Marines which will be utilized to assist in the education of some New Zealand young men or women whose father had served in the New Zealand armed forces but subsequently lost his life. (The Marine Veterans are also sending some 17 young men and women to school in the United States.)

An emotion packed ceremony was held during their stay at Paekakariki (near Wellington). Paekakariki was the site of the Marines World War II camp. After the ceremony, the veterans and their families marched down the main street headed by pipe bands to the hotel where many Marines once spent their leisure hours. Lunch was given a special touch by the serving of

"Leatherneck Lager" beer especially brewed for the occasion. Following the three day ceremony, Mr. Manchester and a friend rented a car and toured the North Island of New Zealand. Mr. Manchester, who is the Soil Conservation Technician of Marshall County, was within his realm when he toured the Manawatee Agricultural University and participated in a field tour with the New Zealand Soil and Water Conservation Catchment Board.

Mr. Manchester declares the trip most interesting and highly recommends the scenic mountain country of New Zealand as the perfect vacation spot.

CMA Creates New Fine Arts Department

In a move to strengthen all of its activities in the fields of music, art and the theater, Culver Military Academy today announced the creation of a new fine arts department and named two veteran teachers as department chairmen as a result of that action. Brig. Gen. John W. Dobson, superintendent, said Arthur G. Hughes, chairman of the English department and holder of the Eugene C. Eppley chair of English, will head the fine arts department beginning Sept. 1. Hughes will also occupy the Hough Family Chair of Fine Arts. To replace Hughes, Gen. Dobson said Thomas E. Walker a former Fulbright teacher and a member of the Academy faculty since 1955, will be chairman of the English department and the recipient of the Eppley chair of English. The new department of fine arts will bring together individual instruction in the areas of music, art, and dramatic activities along with such group activities as the choir, band, smaller musical groups, chapel music, student theater productions, and student assemblies. Additionally, the Academy's professional Concert-Theater Series, starting its tenth year next season, will become part of the fine arts department as will the Program for Education in the Performing Arts, a Culver-sponsored program in which Marshall County public school children see live theater at the Academy. The average is merely the poorest of the good and the best of the bad. Quit boasting about being "average."

Charges Dropped - Why?

Crime and trouble in the United States is on the increase and some stories of an almost local nature, help to point out some of the reasons why. Just how long it will take our judicial system to add two and two and come up with anything near four, is unknown.

Last Saturday's "South Bend Tribune" carried a story, pretty well hidden for anyone that doesn't read the comics, concerning the dropping of charges against 17 youths following a drinking party that found these 17 and 16 more under the age of 18 being apprehended in a raid on a party the previous week. The strange thing in this case was the fact that no one could explain why the charges were dropped.

The real heartbreak was that in releasing these charges on the 17 from the ages 18 thru 20, that the last name given was a boy who died in the early morning car accident on U. S. 51 that also claimed two other lives. The car that three boys were in went careening out of control and was struck broadside on the wrong side of at least a four lane highway. In addition to the two youths, both under 21, an innocent lady was killed and her husband injured as well as the third boy being critically injured. Police could not even identify the driver, and had no knowledge of how the car was so far out of control.

And yet, 17 persons had been freed of charges on this count of drinking. Add to this the fact that 16 more were turned over to the juvenile authorities which in all probability, means in turn, turned over to the custody of their parents. It can almost be figured what per cent of the parents will take to heart these charges.

The problem of under age drinking is becoming more and more serious. Many accidents, fights and other incidents of trouble result from such drinking parties to the extent that anymore there is no fear of such tactics.

Two local episodes of trouble the past week that are known resulted directly from minors and drinking. And yet time after time, trouble ends up in charges dropped, if they are even filed in the first place.

This is not a crusade against minors drinking, but with the tremendous increase in crime on all levels, something has to stop sometime. The lack of arrests and convictions are making all violators fearless. What if they are caught, next to nothing is done as we have seen by break-ins, traffic accidents, moral cases, and about any other form of crime including prostitution. It has almost reached a point that such acts are nothing more than good publicity for those who are guilty.

This seems to be true on every level. It isn't just the youth, but right through to the supreme court where unfair interigation has turned murders free because those given the power to enforce our laws are the ones being criticized instead of the guilty. It is going to have to end sometime and stopping it on the lowest level to give needed help to the youths before their trouble gets more and more serious sounds like the ideal answer.

Save Your Vision Week

"Beauty is in the eyes of the beholder," someone once said . . . but have we ever stopped to think what this familiar quotation really means? Or, like so many "old sayings" has it been relegated to the backs of our minds? If it has, it shouldn't . . . especially not this week when it has a special meaning for us all.

This is the 41st annual observance of Save Your Vision Week, a time devoted to focusing national attention on the visual welfare of the American people. In light of this, think of that "old saying" and think of what it means. Think of all the beauty we would miss, that we would never know, if our eyes didn't serve us as they should. For beauty, as all things, is based on what we see and what we have learned through seeing. We depend on good vision to perform all our daily tasks quickly and efficiently. Without it, our performance is hindered.

During Save Your Vision Week, the American Optometric Association and others in the health care fields join in an effort to alert the public to the necessity of good vision and the importance of protecting it through proper care and annual professional vision examinations.

Heed their message, for no matter what you do, you need your vision. Protect it. Save it.

The photographer considered for a moment, then commented, "Hmmm, I think I can do that. What color hair did he have, and what side did he part it on?"

The woman thought a bit, then smiled and said, "I can't quite remember, but when you take off the hat you can see for yourself."

National Poison Week March 17-23

Bob McKinnis and Ron Tusing, the medication experts and dispensers in our community, are helping parents keep their children from accidentally swallowing medicines and household cleaning agents. The number of medicines and household substances accidentally swallowed by children has been estimated at up to a million. In 1965, the last year for which complete figures are available, there were 2,100 deaths reported from poisonings, 400 of them being children less than 5 years old.

To help reduce this tragic toll, our pharmacists are participating actively in National Poison Week, which President Lyndon B. Johnson has proclaimed for March 17-23. During the week, our community's pharmacists will have special displays on poisoning, distribute informative booklets and pamphlets on drug use and misuse and provide tips on how to "poison-proof" your home.

Aspirin, other salicylates and tranquilizers are among the medications involved in large percentage of accidental ingestions. Interestingly enough, a review of reported clinical cases indicates that children actually were under adult supervision in 95 percent of the incidents. The problem seems to be that parents are unaware of the potential danger to children from medicines and common household products.

Aspirins, including adult and children dosages, are the largest single item reported in cases of accidental ingestions among children under 5. Parents should pay particular attention to the storage of this product, locking it up when not in use. In no event should aspirin be left on a bedside table, not even for an instant.

Manufacturers of aspirin are working on safer packaging for baby aspirin, and others are seeking to develop effective bottle safety caps and medicine cabinet locking devices. Meanwhile, adult vigilance remains the best safety measure. For assistance in your poison prevention efforts, talk with your community pharmacists.

Girl Scout Observance This Week End

Saturday, March 9th and Sunday March 10th have been designated as Girl Scout Sabbath and Girl Scout Sunday, officially opening Girl Scout Week to be observed through Saturday, March 16th.

4985 Brownie, Junior, Cadette, and Senior Girl Scouts of the Northern Indiana Girl Scout Council including LaPorte, Marshall, St. Joseph, and Starke Counties have been asked to attend their church synagogue in uniform on those dates.

Many churches and synagogues in the four county area will be using an attractive Girl Scout Program Cover made available through the council office. Girl Scout troops sponsored by churches and synagogues are working out special plans for services.

The Girl Scout troops of Culver are going to attend church together on girl scout Sunday, visiting a different church each year. This year they plan to attend St. Mary's of the Lake Catholic Church at the 8 o'clock mass. The girls who belong to other churches will attend their own church later in the day.

To celebrate Girl Scout Week in Culver, the troops will have displays in the basement of the Culver Public Library. Each troop will show a different phase of scouting. It is hoped that the public will come to see what Culver Girl Scouts are doing.

The display will be open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 12, 13, and 14 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, March 15 from

2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 16 from 10 am. to 4 pm.

Brownie Troop 47 held its regular meeting at the Methodist Church on Monday, March 4 and 22 Brownies and 1 guest present. The group and their leaders decided to go on a hike.

Girl Scout Sunday is March 10, and all Girl Scouts are invited to attend the 8 a.m. services at the Catholic Church. We will meet in front of the church and attend as a group. Uniforms should be worn at all functions during Girl Scout Week.

The Girl Scout Birthday Party will be held in the Bank Lounge on Monday, March 11 at 7 p.m. The party will be given by the Maxinkuckee Junior Woman's Club.

Open House will be held in the basement of the Culver Public Library March 12-16, and exhibits of the various levels of Girl Scouting will be displayed and all friends and relatives are urged to attend.

The Ideal Boy

By Susie Donnelly
Suzi Riester

Molding and producing an "Ideal Boy" proved not to be an easy assignment. We both thought about the problem on our own and then as the old saying goes, (Two heads are better than one), we locked them together and came up with the following conglomerate combination.

We started from the ground up. First we took Kerry Haenes's legs and on top of them we placed Alan Huy's torso with Hank Barrabes's arms attached to it. On top of Alan's torso we placed Chuck Beck's neck. Things are looking up! Upon Chuck's neck we attached Cory Overmyer's chin. Next we stole Rex Schrimsher's nose and Pood Snyder's eyes and put them to good use. We planted John Krieg's hair on top of him and put Jim Taber's brains in him, and Dave Hoesel's glasses in front of him. Now we plastered Fred May's smile on him, attached Jeff Krueger's personality to him, and stretched him to Dave Beauchamp's height. Ta-da! Presto! We present you with the "Ideal Boy at CHS," patent no. 686970.

The Ideal Girl

The ideal girl should:

- have a good personality,
- be fun to be around,
- be average or better in school, like sports,
- be an athletic,
- be a good conversationalist,
- have a good figure,
- be tidy in reference to hair and nails,
- use make-up sparingly,
- be popular with everybody.

Double action bars give the 870 its lightning speed and effortless action. Over a million 870 shooters can so testify. And they can tell you some other solid facts: A receiver machined from solid steel. A breech block that locks into the barrel extension. A finish that looks like a million.

Roman Initiation

By Pam Lehman and Carrie Wilcox

Have you ever been to a Roman bath? The first year students of Monterey and Culver High Schools were initiated by the advanced Latin students with the rites of the Roman baths. The initiation was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Huff, the sponsor and her husband, at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 1st 1968.

The upper class students acted as slaves to the Latin I students as they were taken through the massage, the anointment, the unctus, and the cold and hot towels (the caldarium and tepidarium).

After the final rites of the baths, all students, like good Romans, enjoyed themselves in games and refreshments. The students played the game "Murder," in which they reenacted the assassination of Julius Caesar on the Ides of March. All enjoyed cake made from a Roman recipe. Punch and dessert were also served.

Those who performed the duties of slaves were as follows: Matt Faulstich, and Pam Lehman, massaging; John Masters and Ed Lehman, anointing; Jerry Keller and Charles Osborn, hot towels; John Bauer and Kris Strang, cold towels; Diana Myers, Kris Strang, Pam Lehman and Terri Talelet, refreshments.

BORN LOSER

By Nancy Overmyer

This week I should like to bring to your attention a few things about Born Loser, (I'll call her this because she's insecure).

Born Loser loves boys. She likes having fun and usually does. She likes to T.P. with the gang and then go to slumber parties. Every once in a while, Born Loser likes to take trips around the countryside, (for instance Argos and Monterey). Why, this summer she had a craving for Potter's Drive-In. But most of all Born Loser wants a matching sweater.

Born Loser also has her dislikes. She hates to wash and label jugs. She doesn't like people talking behind her back so say what you have to say to her face. She hates seeing boys who dress alike; shaving cream that won't stay in the can; and most of all seeing her friends run over by people, (very considerate don't you think?)

If you still haven't figured out who Born Loser is you'll have to wait until next week, where you can find out in the good 'ole Schoolbell.

A Little Background On The "Eratic Rock"

By Norma Davis

A few years ago a solid wall of music dropped . . . BAM! And teens were suddenly grooving in their own world with the adults on the other side, not digging at all the new music scene.

The Beatles happened, and the Monkees and Dylan. If you hadn't started in the beginning, you were out. It was the main feature, and man, you don't walk in the middle!

The people who hadn't been listening to what their children were digging started to worry because the music started getting wierder. The beat and that wailing music were getting downright erotic. And also boys who looked like girls were writing songs about little yellow pills in connection with mther, and the list of songs supposedly about marijuana was getting outrageous.

Even parents got the word that in "Along Comes Mary" Mary marijuana, and the Beatles themselves admitted that "Yellow Submarine" was about LSD trip.

Since most parents never listened to the lyrics behind locked doors, they picked up on what was happening from newspapers and magazines.

Any teenager shudders when he tries to defend himself against an article like the one that appeared in "TIME" magazine a few months ago. Here are just a few lines: "For variety, high-schoolers can also contemplate the problem of suicide in "A Most Peculiar Man" or search for the supposed reference to an unwed mother in "Little Girl." But the real snigger is in decoding sexual innuendos .

When a national magazine makes accusations like that, what can one say? Are parents really getting the information straight?

Perhaps the whole situation adds up to this . . . if one thinks something is erotic, then maybe that is because the way he is looking at it.

Monterey Survey On Attending New High School

Have you ever wondered what goes through the minds of students before they enter a new and bigger school? A survey has been taken to get student opinions on how they feel about consolidating with Culver High School.

Most of the students are in favor of going to Culver. They want the chance to take the extra subjects not offered at Monterey. Mr. Charles Downing assistant to the superintendent, Mr. Rust, has stated that the objective of the new school is to meet the students needs for their future.

Here are some questions and answers given about the move:

Question: What will you miss most at Monterey?

Answer:

Jan P.: The leaky ceiling in study hall.

Linda J.: Friendly type people. Bob S.: The food!

Question: Why will you like a larger school?

Answer:

Dean H.: More girls. Jane P.: More kids. Bob S.: Have to walk farther.

Question: How do you feel about meeting new people?

Answer:

Ann M.: "Groovy" Marsha K.: Scared at first. Wanda J.: Scared at first.

Linda J.: Oh boy! Let me go! Let me go!

Videotapes In Medicine

Two hospitals in South Bend are participating in a growing program that anticipates development of a state-wide telecommunications network for medical education.

Formation of the network by the Indiana University School of Medicine is part of a coordinated plan to attract and retain more physicians for the state. The initial pilot program involves circulation of instructional videotapes among 15 hospital in 10 cities. These include Memorial Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital in South Bend.

The number of available videotapes is being expanded. Participating hospitals are eligible to receive three tapes a month from the Network for Continuing Medical Education, a national service that encourages televised medical education. This month, the I.U. School of Medicine is leasing 36 more tapes from the California Medical Television Network. These will be distributed to all hospitals in Indiana that have videotape-playback facilities.

The School of Medicine is acquiring production capacity for making its own instructional tapes at the I.U. Medical Center in Indianapolis for subsequent circulation. These tapes will concern varied subjects in the health professions, selected on the basis of interests expressed by participating hospitals, and some will be in color.

Dr. George T. Lukemeyer, associate dean of the School, said that the initial use of tapes is preliminary to development of a live instructional television network. Videotape recorders (VTR) and monitors will serve as the basic package for live reception. The VTR network will increase the effectiveness of live TV by providing a recording and playback capability.

I. U. has supervised the distribution of videotape recorders and color compatible monitors to the 15 participating hospitals. The equipment is different from home receivers. The monitors show more than twice the detail, and color reproduction is considerable more faithful. Color is clinically useful because, in some instances it can be a factor in diagnosis or evaluation of treatment.

The live network for education will be part of a comprehensive electronic communication system for higher education in Indiana. The system is now being developed by the four state universities.

Current participants in the videotape pilot program, in addition to those in South Bend, include Deaconess and St. Mary's hospitals in Evansville, Bloomington Hospital in Bloomington, Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne, Methodist Hospital in Gary, St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Lafayette, Union Hospital in Terre Haute, Marion General Hospital and the Davis Clinic in Marion, Ball Memorial Hospital in Muncie, and Methodist, Community and St. Vincent's hospitals in Indianapolis.

The program is financed by legislation enacted by the 1967 General Assembly and is administered by the I.U. School of Medicine. It is part of Indiana Senate Bill 359, which allocated $1,500,000 to the School for appointment of off-campus faculty members and for purchase and operation of communication facilities.

In addition, the Bill allocated $1,000,000 for strengthening internship-residency programs in hospitals over the state. This sum also is to be available during a two-year period that began July 1, 1967.

Last month, the state Medical Education Board, which sets policies for allocating grants-in-aid to hospitals from the $1,000,000 appropriation, set an annual rate of $1,500 for each intern or resident enrolled in a hospital's program. During the first year, nine hospitals in five Indiana cities will receive a total of $319,500. Among the recipients will be Memorial and St. Joseph's hospitals and the South Bend Foundation in South Bend.

TRANSPLANTS RAISE A MORAL QUESTION

SELECT COMMITTEES that exclude doctors may be needed to make difficult moral decisions in future heart transplants, says a University of Michigan professor of psychiatry and law. "We are faced with a myriad of perplexing questions that will have to be answered," he said. "The prospect of more clinical transplant trials by surgical teams calls for defining the physician's role. Who gets the transplanted organ? Whom do you let die, whom do you let live? This latter question is critical. Can we leave it up to the doctors to decide?"

FEW, if any, of the hundreds of thousands of people who visit the Lincoln Memorial each year realize that just a few feet below them, within the underground concrete foundation of the Memorial, is a scene similar to those found in many natural caverns.

Scientists of the U.S. Department of Interior report that stalactites — deposits of limestone normally found in caves — are growing down from the foundation ceiling, while short, stubby stalagmites rise a few inches from the floor.

HELIUM, the important lifting gas that is celebrating its centennial this year, has other important uses. The lightweight has a significant application in medicine. It is used with oxygen in breathing atmospheres, says National Cylinder Gas, Chicago, for patients suffering from asthma and other respiratory diseases. The helium-oxygen mixture is much lighter than air and flows through restricted respiratory passages more readily, so that more oxygen is breathed with the same muscular effort.

Double action bars give the REMINGTON MODEL 870 PUMP SHOTGUN its lightning-fast operation.

At least once every minute this season, some hunter will be using chain lightning to connect with his bird. And the double action bars on a Remington Model 870 pump shotgun will have paid off again.

Double action bars give the 870 its lightning speed and effortless action. Over a million 870 shooters can testify. And they can tell you some other solid facts: A receiver machined from solid steel. A breech block that locks into the barrel extension. A finish that looks like a million.

Academy Sports

Track and polo dominate Culver Military Academy's sports schedule this weekend as they fill the gap between winter and spring sports.
 Culver's indoor track will see action Friday at 7 p.m. against Montpelier, Ohio.
 The polo team will serve as hosts to the Toronto, Canada, Polo Club Friday at 7:30 and Saturday at 2.
 The track team lost in its first two encounters of the season, but meet and school records are toppling. Hobart beat Culver last Tuesday, 74-43, and Fort Wayne North Side won a 66-52 decision.
 Culver won six out of 14 first against Hobart but scored only six out of 26 seconds and thirds.
 The team won eight out of 14 firsts against North Side and second of 26 seconds and thirds.
 The gymnastics team rounded up a 4-0-1 undefeated season after defeating John Adams, 81 1/6 to 72 5/6, Friday in South Bend. Dimitrije Milovich won the horizontal and parallel bar events; and Pete Mars and Chris Hicks tied with an Adams man on the rings.

All of Culver Military Academy's basketball teams closed the season with winning tallies. The varsity Eagles, improving by a win each year since Coach Thomas E. Baker took the helm in 1965, wound up with a 14-6 record, the best since the 12-5 mark in 1960.
 The junior varsity, coached by Jerome W. Beryman, took a 10-9 lead for the season, and Edward G. Pinder's freshman compiled a 9-4 record. The varsity extended its home winning streak to 15 straight wins.
 The varsity won Culver's 4-way tourney for the second consecutive year, the junior varsity fourth in Logansport's 4-way event, and the freshmen won Culver High School's grandangular.
 Co-captain Tom Matlock was the sixth player in Academy history to score over 500 points in his Culver career. His 583 points placed him fourth on the list.
 Two new rebound records were compiled by co-captain Gordie Delk. He gained 23 rebounds against Hawken School of Cleveland and accumulated a season total of 250.
 Matlock was named the varsity's most valuable player and won the varsity free throw trophy. Delk won the rebound trophy, and Don Baron was elected most improved player.
 The varsity's point average per game reached 70.4 over their opponent's 57.6. Matlock scored three individual highs for the season. He tossed in a total of 29 points, 11 field goals and 15 free throws against Windfall, and Delk's 23 rebounds against Hawken made a season high.

The little boy had been playing out all morning very quietly and the mother was so pleased and asked him what he had been playing. He said: "I've been playing postman with real honest-to-goodness letters this morning. The mother asked him where he got the letters and was dismayed to hear, "They were all tied up in a pink ribbon in your dresser drawer."
