Little House Art Workshoppe Plans Big Week End For Two Charities

If you combine the talent and artistry of many people, the hard work and excitement of Rosalee Spahr and Barbara Flora, add the enthusiasm of the Culver Community High School Band and a generous dash of well-wishers, you should have the right ingredients for Old Fashioned Days.

This rather awesome undertaking by Barb and Rosalee will take place Saturday and Sunday, Aug 3 and 4 at their Little House Art Workshoppe from 12 noon until 7. All profits will go to one art and one music scholarship and to the fund for new band uniforms.

Some 35 to 40 exhibits will be shown in just about every hobby heard of and one that is completely new. Mrs. Pat Runfelt who calls her hobby "the result of her husband's welding mistakes," models her scenes from these leftovers so intricate that a magnifying glass must be used to see the details.

Two portrait artists will be on hand to do portrait sketches of family groups or individuals. Since these ladies specialize in animals, you might wish to have a portrait of your pet... if so, bring it along.

To the ladies that sigh when they hear mink mentioned, Chesty's Mink Ranch will show the steps necessary from mink to mink coat. They will also have some novelty items made from mink.

The younger ladies might be excited to see the exhibition of one of the finest collections in this part of the country of dolls and doll furniture.

Although the artists and hobbyists at this unique show will be coming from all around, this area will be well represented. Mrs. Howard Oberlin will have a display of rare shells and will have some shell pieces for sale. Mr. and Mrs. Frank McLane will show and sell Christmas heirlooms. Betty Zechel and Ester McKinnis will have paintings for sale. Other local artists asked to display their paintings are: Virginia Piersol, Lucinda Feldman, Nora Sheppard, Phyllis Helber, Erna Short, Larry Spaid, Pat Hodgkin, Warner and Jeanne Williams, and June Napier. The works of these artists may be seen inside the Little House.

Susie Snider of Plymouth will have a display of Christmas ceramics. Jewelry will be well represented by the Thompsons, well known for their work with semi-precious stones.

Bill White of The Barn at Leiters Ford will have a handsome array of antiques, some of which will be for sale.

Have you ever watched pottery being made? The young Malloys from Plymouth will bring their potter's wheel and turn out these pieces before your eyes. They will also bring some finished pieces to tempt you.

Mrs. Martha Kreighbaum, a noted silhouette cutter, will be present and will produce these while you wait.

What woman interested in needlework could resist the beautiful quilts, men's vest and afghans to be exhibited by last year's State Fair winner. All of her designs are original.

It is impossible to mention all the exhibits as there are so many, but all are interesting as well as beautiful.

All of these people as well as the girls from the Little House are donating their time and profits to a very worthy cause that has the approval of both Charles Byfield, Band Director, and Robert Rust, Superintendent of Schools. The Culver State Exchange Bank has made a generous donation to the art and music scholarships and the Eagles Lodge has donated to the scholarship fund and to the band uniform fund.

The band members must depend on the generosity of the community to purchase the band uniforms since this is one expenditure that does not come out of school funds. The members besides providing music for the affair will man several booths, help direct traffic and are working with Chesty's Mink Ranch and Lois Curtis on details of the "Surprise Auction" to be held Sunday.

Mrs. Bill Stuntz, Jane Wallstead, and Millie Mills have offered to handle the food concession and all their profits will be given for band uniforms.

We hope to see all of you at the Old Fashioned Days to support this worthwhile cause.

26th Annual Moonlight Serenade

Culver Summer School's musicians board the square-rigger O.W. Fowler this week end (Aug. 3-4) for the twenty-sixth annual Moonlight Serenade on Lake Maxinkuckee.

The Naval School Band will sail under a full moon as they play old-time favorites for lake residents and visitors. Saturday night, the Band will play a special concert for local residents at the Culver Town Park before cruising the West Shore. Sunday night, the Fowler will sail the East Shore.

Cruises begin at 8:30 p.m. both nights from the pier of the Culver Inn, located on the Culver Military Academy campus. Lake Maxinkuckee residents gaily decorate their homes and cottages and light their power boats, which form a flotilla of bobbing lights surrounding the 54-foot Fowler each night of the sail.

Founded and directed for 25 years by Col. Edward T. Payson until his retirement last fall, the Moonlight Serenades will be directed by Gilbert M. Fernandes, Academy bandmaster. Fernandes also directs the 84-piece concert band each Sunday at 4 p.m. and the marching band, performs during Sunday garrison parades at 6:30 p.m.

Beach Lodge Is Burglarized

The Culver Beach Lodge was burglarized last Tuesday, July 23, to the tune of approximately five to six hundred dollars. The thieves entered sometime after midnight by breaking the screen and window on the east side of the building on the ground floor where they were hidden by considerable shrubbery.

There was no cash in the register at the time, but the culprits apparently knew the gaming machines were due for collection. The machines were pried open and change in the form of dimes and quarters removed.

The police department is investigating the theft.

Bank To Install New Drive-In Window

The State Exchange Bank would like all their customers to know that the drive-in window will be closed Monday, August 5 through Wednesday, August 7 for the installation of a new and larger window.

Tri Kappa To Have Christmas In August

Mrs. Channing Mitzell on the left, and Mrs. Donald Muelhausen will be on hand to greet customers as they arrive at the Culver Inn on August 9th for the Culver Tri Kappa Christmas in August Bazaar. As co-chairmen of the event, these two ladies have chosen the theme "Gingerbread Goodies" for this year's bazaar.

Cardboard gingerbread boys will play hosts to the various booths of the bazaar. They will lead you to the Christmas tree-ornament booth, teen-age accessory booth, needlework (crewel, knitwear, dresses, aprons) booths, bakery and jelly-jam booth, boutique booth, and the surprise package corner.

All items for sale at the bazaar will have been made by members of the Culver Chapter. There will be door prizes drawn the day of the bazaar — These prizes will also feature hand made items: a hand embroidered tablecloth, a handknit afghan, and the feature prize, a mink bonnet.

The Culver Inn will be serving a brunch from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. for the buyers and browsers of the bazaar.

Businessmen Are Featured In Sports Illus.

Three Culver businessmen representing Aetna Insurance Company, an affiliate of Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, will be featured in the August 5 issue of Sports Illustrated magazine.

They are Hampton Boswell, manager and treasurer; Bob Cullen, assistant manager; and Jack L. Carpenter, gent. of State Exchange Insurance Agency.

These independent insurance men are being cited in an Aetna

Restrictions On Postal Service Are Lifted

Postmaster E. W. Mattox states that the restriction on Saturday window service has been lifted until further notice, the local Post Office windows will be open from 9 a.m. to 12 a.m. every Saturday. Patrons may purchase stamps and mail parcels during this time but no money orders will be sold on Saturdays. Weekday window service will remain 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the rural and city deliveries will be made as usual on Mondays thru Saturdays.

Band Parents Organize Here

An organizational meeting for band parents was held Wednesday of last week. Mr. Robert Rust, Superintendent of Schools, projected plans for next year. He stated that music has always played an important role in the school and with the new unified school system planned for next year, he felt that this was the time to form a Band Parents Organization. This organization's primary interests would be music and a desire to aid and assist in procuring new uniforms for the band.

Mr. Charles Byfield, Director, expressed appreciation for the support and cooperation he has already received from the students and parents. He stressed that it was important to start immediately if uniforms were to be obtained by Dec. 1, which would be a desirable date so that next year's graduating seniors benefit by the use of these uniforms.

To Present Jazz And Pop Concert

Instead of the usual concert band performance, the Summer Stage Band will present a jazz and pop concert this Sunday at 4 p.m. in Eugene C. Eppeley Auditorium on the Culver campus.

Steve Stahl, a first classman from Bryan, Ohio, directs the band which will be made as usual on Mondays thru Saturdays.

New Feature In This Week's Newspaper

A bright new column, Major Points, appears in today's issue of The Culver Citizen.

The column is by Gordon M. Quarntorn, editor and columnist whose articles appear in more than 100 publications from coast to coast.

Quarntorn, who is an executive with the Allstate Foundation in business life, was a newspaper and magazine managing editor for many years.

Major Points includes quips and jokes by some of America's leading pundits, notes on his widespread travels and sound business advice. Religion and politics are not included in the list of topics discussed. Contributions from readers of The Culver Citizen may be sent to Gordon M. Quarntorn, Allstate Plaza F-3, Northbrook, Illinois 60062.

SPORTS CORNER

HERE IT IS, JUST THE first of August and Football is in the picture to stay for a few months. Friday night will find the official kickoff coming as the college All-Stars meet the Green Bay Packers in the annual All-Star game in Chicago. Action has been going on for a few weeks in training camps around the pro leagues, but the All-Star game really opens the door to the exhibition season and in not too long, the regular seasons of the NFL and AFL. The colleges will start slightly later and high schools will be putting on the pads in the middle of August to get their training underway before the start at the first of September.

THE SPECTACLE AT SOLDIERS Field Friday night undoubtedly will be another win for the pros but maybe not as lopsided as could be. There was a time when a bunch of all stars this way coming out of college ball were on a competitive basis with the pros, but the professional game is such today that this is no longer true. If the pros really want to win, they will. If they are just going through the motions, it could be a good game. Many eyes will be on the game just to see a Green Bay team without Vince Lombardi at the helm. Also missing will be a few of the old standby names of the Packers as the years are rolling on and several of the veterans will be among the missing.

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL has a very firm indentation on the sports scene in recent years. This is one sport that really got its big boost from TV and the saturation of football on TV is justified because of this. If this is what the public wants, it is what the networks and advertisers want. The appeal of the play for play game has increased so much it is almost impossible to get into a game anymore unless you are a season ticket holder. The adding of new teams and of the new league several years ago, points out the fact that pro football is the choice of many in sports viewing.

FOOTBALL IS UNIQUE from other sports in one respect. It is a game that can't be played every day and the Sunday saturation of pro football is basically the only time it is played. A few Saturday games are played in regular season, but basically it is a Sunday sport. Baseball meanwhile, must have the heavy schedule. This forces teams to play day in and day out. Because of this, the teams can't begin to fill the parks everyday, and often a team not doing well is playing before very small crowds in the big stadiums. Week end baseball still packs them in on a good basis and nothing spurs on a crowd like success.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HAS one other aspect. Basically this is a Saturday sport, once again like pro football, getting away from the working days for the fans. Add to it the various conferences, the extra boost of school spirit and enrollment plus the alumni, and you have a good crowd already at hand. With a maximum of ten games a year and only half of these at home, the college football fan has very limited opportunity to see the team. Add to this the restriction of TV on these games and you have added reason to go out and see the team in person.

WHEN YOU GET INTO other sports like basketball and hockey, another aspect comes in to the attendance picture, that being the fact that very limited space is available for these sports. Playing indoors is a big share of the difference and the fact that fans have to be closer to the action to follow it well keeps the fieldhouse and gyms to a point of much less seating. It is hard to believe that crowds would continue to go to a place like the Astrodome time and time again for a basketball game. The UCLA - Houston game last year was something different, but put two so-so teams in that place and see how crowded it would be.

THE UNITED STATES HAS become very sports conscious in recent years. Money isn't a matter to many people the way it once was and with the ready market for such demands, the people are going to get it one way or the other. This is the reason the heavy saturation of TV is given to football. Another is it is professional and it takes a lot of money to operate such as this and the TV pays a good hunk of the bill.

AT ANY RATE, FOOTBALL is about to begin a six-month run. It is one show that won't fold, so the best thing to do is get used to it and take it as it comes.

Butter may be refrigerated in its original wrapper and carton for several weeks. Unsalted butter may change more during storage than salted butter since the salt acts as a preservative. Butter will store in the freezer six to nine months with no noticeable change in quality. Always store in an airtight, moisture-proof container.

The biggest waste of time is time wasted getting started.

State Fair Open Class Livestock Entries Due

Deadline is August 1 for entries of all open class livestock (everything except 4-H) to be shown at the 1968 Indiana State Fair, Aug. 23 through Sept. 2.

More than $111,000 is being offered in premiums in the four departments. Draft horse prizes total prizes total $7,105; beef and dual purpose cattle, $35,872; dairy cattle, $23,936; swine, $23,838; and sheep and goats, $20,381.

In the draft horse department, percherons will be judged Friday, Aug. 30; Belgians, Saturday, Aug. 31; and Hoosier Gold Medal Colt Club Special, offering $450 in premiums, is open to yearling draft colts nominated in the Hoosier Gold Medal Colt Club.

In addition to premiums, trophies will be awarded in both the Belgian and percheron divisions for "best of show" and the best Indiana-owned yearling.

Classes are again offered for four and six-horse draft teams with entrants agreeing to hitch and parade in the Coliseum each evening.

In the cattle department, open class judging will begin Saturday, Aug. 24, with the Indiana Feeder Calf Show (three steer calves per exhibit) in the morning and Gold Medal and dual-purpose steers in the afternoon.

Hoosier Gold Medal Calf Club entries (all breeds) will be judged Wednesday, Aug. 28; milking shorthorn, Red Poll, Brown Swiss, and Polled Shorthorn, Thursday, Aug. 29; Shorthorn, Holstein, Ayrshire, and Charolais, Friday, Aug. 30; Hereford, Polled Hereford, and Guernsey, Saturday, Aug. 31, and Jersey and Angus, Monday, Sept. 2.

Special awards will include herdsman's prizes to herdsman in charge of cattle exhibits who make the best record covering the entire show.

A premier breeding award plaque will be presented to the breeder winning the most money in open single classes, the animals to be owned, bred and shown by the exhibitor. In addition, some breeds organizations award a premier exhibitor award plaque.

Carcass contests will be conducted in both the milking Shorthorn and Red Poll section of the dual-purpose division. Prizes will be awarded in both on-foot and dresses carcass classes.

In the dairy cattle division, there are classes for both open class and Indiana breeders only.

Two-year-old futurity classes will be available for Indiana breeders in the jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire, and Brown Swiss sections.

Entrants must be made eligible by proper nomination by the Indiana Cattle Club.

In the swine department open class judging will begin Wednesday, Aug. 28, with the on-foot judging in the market barrow carcass contest.

All carcass premium winners must meet certification standards for length, backfat thickness, and loin eye area and minimum requirements for carcass quality.

Slaughter of animals in this section is mandatory with cuts from the champion carcasses ink Contest will be held Aug. 30 through Sept. 1.

Requests for entry blanks and premium books should be addressed to the Entry Department, Indiana State Fair, Indiana, 46205.

REFRIGERATOR PIE A TREAT

ON HOT DAY When the temperature outside seems to go up and up with no relief in sight and the day turns out to be a scorcher, have a pie for dessert.

There's no trick to it when it's done the cool, "easy as pie" way. After the ingredients are put together, let the refrigerator do the work.

Here's a recipe for a cool Chocolate Peppermint pie. It makes a delicious dessert that provides a cool, refreshing lift.

Chocolate Peppermint Pie
¾ cup creamed butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs, beaten well
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted
1/3 cup sweet German Chocolate, melted
½ pint whipping cream
1/3 cup crushed peppermint stick candy

Cream butter and sugar together until light; blend in eggs, vanilla and both kinds of chocolate, melted. Mix thoroughly. Put mixture in to a graham cracker crust and put in refrigerator overnight. Before serving, spread with whipped cream and sprinkle with peppermint candy.

Flying rumors have little difficulty finding landing strips.

CULVER COOKERY

A pretty and refreshing salad is the pineapple-cheese mold recipe we share with you this week:

- 1 can (8½ oz) crushed pineapple
 - 2 packages (3-oz. each) lemon flavor gelatin
 - 2 cups boiling water
 - 1 1/3 cups pineapple syrup and water
 - ½ cup dairy sour cream
 - 1 cup cottage cheese
 - ¼ cup quartered maraschino cherries
 - Salad greens
- Drain pineapple reserving syrup; add water to syrup to make 1 1/3 cups. In a large bowl pour boiling water over gelatin; stir until dissolved. Add pineapple liquid. Chill until partially set. Fold in sour cream, cottage cheese, pineapple and cherries. Pour into 6½ cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold onto greens. 3578.

Makes 8-10 servings.

Note: If ring mold is used, center may be filled with chicken salad.

CULVER, INDIANA

Time Still A Question

Indiana is once again in the news due to the time issue. First the problem only came at the two regular times, the last Sunday in April and the last Sunday in October. At one time the entire state was setting clocks forward in the spring and back an hour in the fall. This was known as daylight saving time and was especially noted for being in effect in the years of the Second World War.

However, history shows that long before this, time had been changed to give extra daylight hours to the people in the summer months.

Several years ago, the state began a state of confusion as part of the state adopted "fast" time all year round while part of the state accepted the six months of fast and six months of slow. Year by year the line would move until all but a part of a few counties in the extreme northwest and southwest part of the state were on fast time year round.

Recently, the Eastern half of Indiana went on Eastern Standard Time. The Western part of the state was on Central Standard and Central Daylight time, leaving the two sections different for six months. Recent years has found all kinds of confusion with this as the time lines bounced around so much no one was certain which area was on what time. Towns and schools were split. Neighbors operated differently. Some families worked one time and the children went to school another. About every possible mess developed that could.

It looked like the winter of 1967-68 taught everyone a lesson in our area. Some counties followed the time lines as set and others just picked what they wanted. Just recently a ruling stated that all of Indiana was to observe Daylight Savings time. Last Sunday was the day it was to be put into operation and it meant that 43 counties would move their clocks ahead an hour at that time to give them another time difference for a while. Court action temporarily stopped this action and right now the state is waiting to see what develops.

The continued time problem is one that seems ridiculous. Just why Indiana can't be on one time or another, but all on the same, is hard to figure. Ft. Wayne and the Eastern side wants to be with Ohio, but the Calumet area and most of the Western side prefers going with Chicago. Consequently the battle goes on. Who is right and who is wrong is not a question at hand, but why can't state lines be used instead of a jagged line up and down the middle of the state jutting here and there as the powers that be desire.

Even a couple of selfish little kids could settle a problem better than the supposedly educated adults who handle this situation. The want of teeth in a time law has never come about and unless something changes soon, it looks like a time difference might plague the state 12 months a year instead of just six.

The Town Board has erected signs on roads into Culver warning drivers of moor cars that the legal speed limit is eight miles an hour. Too many people have been racing through the streets at 20 miles an hour.

CULVER COMMENTS

Poking through an issue of the Culver Citizen dated July 30, 1908, I came across this news item: "The Town Board has erected signs on the roads entering Culver warning motor cars to observe the legal speed limit of 8 miles an hour in the business and thickly settled portions of town." Seems some speed demons were tearing along at 20 and 30 miles per hr. even as they do today. Then they didn't have speed traps to time them but they did have dirt roads.

Now maybe the town officials don't care for the name "speed trap", but I'm for calling a spade a spade. There are signs warning the mad speeder that he had better slow down but I think the signs should be more bold. How about "Uncle Sam Wants You" or "Big Brother Is Watching."

The popularity of such timing devices can be most kindly compared with the popularity of a skunk. I am at a loss to figure out how these electronic boxes work. Where do the police hide while waiting for the fiend who is belting along at 31 mph? Is the box big enough to hide a grown man? Is there a portable billboard the cops hide behind? And is it fair to put these checkers on the only streets in town where you can safely drive over 10 mph?

These "traps" must be legally posted so that the hapless driver knows that lurking somewhere nearby is the long arm of the law. Sort of takes the sport out of it though, doesn't it?

It has always been my philosophy that everything happens for the best. We will surely be getting more exercise now since it will be faster to walk than drive. But for heavens sake — don't run!

In answer to all the questions about the lengthy police news in last week's paper we refer you to the first sentence which clearly states that all his mayhem occurred since July 1. No! we are not having a sudden crime wave in Culver.

How many of you have seen the gorgeous display of glads in Earl Eckman's yard? 600 perfectly beautiful flowers blooming that represent 200 different varieties. Please, Mr. Eckman, tell us — do you just have a green thumb or is there some special secret we should all know?

How about the South Bend Tribune's reporter's account of the State Road 10 fracas. Wasn't that exciting? To be perfectly frank, I turned green with envy. Golly! all those quotes and dramatic words. I think I'll try to copy his reporting style at the very next Town Board meeting and see what happens.

I will be the first to admit that my reporting style leaves something to be desired but I am an untrained writer. After all, I'm not the only person in this town who holds a job they are unqualified for.

HELPFUL HINTS — No matter what you buy from the store these days if it's liquid there is a darned good chance that it will come in a plastic bottle. Every paper or magazine you pick up has some little article in it telling you how to make useful and beautiful(?) items from these containers. Knitting bags, dust pans, funnels, purses, necklaces, earrings, planters — you name it and with a little imagination you can soon have your entire house full of the do-dads, all made from various size plastic bottles. Okay, if you want to wear jewelry made from a bleach bottle it's your business, but I just can't warm up to the idea. On the other hand, I have the usual female instinct against throwing away anything that might be useful so I have one entire corner of our garage stacked with every shape plastic container possible. One of my sons (they won't admit which one) suddenly had a brainstorm. They filled a large bottle with sand and lo and behold an anchor for the boat. Since none of us ever remembers to fasten an anchor to the boat we use up quite a few a year. Believe it or not the sand filled plastic anchors are heavy enough to hold a boat and I'm getting rid of the bottles.

Hero of the week award should go to Verl McFeely for diminishing the mosquito population in Culver. Thanks to his diligent spraying of the entire town, you can now enjoy the evening breezes without the accompanying chorus of those blood thirsty bugs.

Visit To Macau

MACAU — This traveling scribe for The Culver Citizen has reached the Garden City of the Orient.

In years of business travel I have been in many exotic, interesting cities. I would rate Macau with the most appealing.

Macau has been a Portuguese province for more than 400 years and, despite the 1967 noises by pro-Red sympathizers, it seems destined to remain Portuguese for perhaps another 400.

Macau consists of only 6 square miles, including two islands. The peninsula itself is a little over 2 sq. mi. in size, and its 250,000 residents live in a space about a quarter mile square. This makes Macau one of the most densely populated places on the globe.

The Portuguese influence is seen in all the public buildings, in the broad cobblestoned streets and in government. But the rest is Chinese. Macau is a tiny protrusion on the mainland. It is separated from Red China by the Inner Harbor, with Red patrol boats in view, and a narrow common border.

Macau is a delightful place for the tourist. The Hotel Estoril or the charming Pousada de Macau (an inn in a former grand residence) provide fine accommodations at low cost. There is much to see and much excitement, particularly for those who gamble, for Macau has long been called the Monte Carlo of the Far East. It is easily reached by hydrofoil from Hong Kong (40 miles in one hour) or by slower ferry. If the mysterious Orient is calling you, be sure to include Macau on your itinerary!

A picnic time reminder from the Allstate Safety Crusade: Never dump barbecue coals in the open, where someone may walk on them. They can smoulder for hours and cause crippling burns if someone steps on them barefooted!

Ethnic jokes are out, Herb Caen of the S. F. Chronicle, declares, but he reports the story of the brilliant Polish doctors who made medical history by performing the first appendix transplant . . . and he quotes George Lemont as saying, "Bonnie and Clyde" has had a great influence on my wife's dress. From 10 feet away she looks like a '31 Ford."

Let's Go Boating

By Mira Slovak

High point driver, unlimited hydroplanes, 1966 Member of the Gulf Raving Hall of Fame Pilot for Continental Airlines and an accomplished aerobatic pilot.

It's probably hard to consider driving a 3-ton boat at over 150 mph as pleasure boating. In fact, there is often a great deal of displeasure connected with this kind of boating — the sickening feeling when you get washed with a rooster tail from the boat ahead and your engine drowns out, or when you loose a rudder and your boat takes off like a flying saucer for parts unknown.

But pleasure boating it is, and its start there anyway. Driving an unlimited hydroplane is probably the pinnacle of competitive powerboating. When you join the ranks of unlimited drivers, you are truly one of select breed.

But racing is only way to enjoy boating. There are almost as many ways to have fun on the water as there are people to enjoy them. Racing is one, or just plain family boating is another.

You don't have to go 150-plus mph on the water to enjoy it. There is just as much thrill in working a canoe down through a set of rapids, or plotting a course with your cruiser and coming in on the button, or any of the many water borne activities.

Looking my boat, Tahoe Miss, it's easy to see that she has been built with just one purpose in mind — speed and control. It makes me think that there are many boats that have been designed and built for specific purposes. And this makes it hard for you, or anyone else to pick out just the right boat for what you want to do on the water.

A couple of things you should always look for in a boat are sound construction and design and safety. You can be sure Tahoe Miss is built to take it. While you won't be driving your boat like I drive Tahoe Miss, you should still be sure that your boat is built to take whatever water and driving conditions you think she'll face. You don't want her to come apart on you whether your going 50 or 150 mph. It's embarrassing, and often dangerous.

As far as safety goes, we've taken every possible step to make sure our unlimited boat is safe. You should do the same with your "limited" boat. Select a boat that has sufficient room, too, and a certified capacity for your family. And never overload it.

Make sure, too, that you have the required safety equipment on board. The law requires you to have certain items on your boat. See that you do. But even that equipment is minimal. There are other things that you ought to carry even if you're not required to. Talk these over with the local Coast Guard or your dealer. I'm sure they can give you some tips on equipment.

Of course, the most important element in good boating is the driver. Maybe I take a chance now and then when I'm racing, but you can be sure that I don't take wild chances. I may push the boat a little harder to pass a competitor, but I don't do anything foolish. I can't afford to at 150 mph. And you can't afford to at 15 mph. You've got a responsibility as the pilot of your boat to operate it sensibly; a responsibility to yourself and to others both in your boat and in the water around you.

Enjoy your boat, but enjoy it wisely.

Indiana State Fair Tickets Now On Sale

Indiana State Fair gate and show tickets are now on sale and may be purchased at a ticket sales trailer on the corner of the fairgrounds at 38th Street and Fall Creek Parkway.

Ticket sales manager Mel Brown said the gate admission tickets, which will sell for $1 after the fair opens its 11-day run Aug. 23, are now only 75 cents.

Tickets also are being sold for the fair's entertainment features.

They include The Rowan and Martin Show, the Ed Ames Show, Arthur Godfrey at the English Horse Show, Lawrence Welk and His Champagne Music Makers, The Nancy Sinatra Show, the State Fair Century New Car Race, the Tommy Steiner Rodeo starring Ken Curtis ("Gunsmoke's" Festus Haggen), The Andy Williams Show, Diana Ross and The Supremes, Jack Kochman's Hell Drivers, and Indiana and Grand Circuit harness racing including the country's rich harness race ($87,000), the Fox Stake.

The trailer sales office at 38th Street and Fall Creek is open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays.

Later this month, advance fairgrounds admission tickets may be purchased at Hooks Drug Company drug stores throughout Indiana as well as at many other firms.

The Claypools Ticket Agency will offer the tickets after Aug. 1.

FRUITS, SHERBET AND ICE CREAM GREAT TOGETHER

Some of the best recipe ideas have been around so long we tend to forget them. Fresh fruit, cooling sherbet and ice cream for instance, is an unbeatable combination that is pretty enough to serve to company.

Vanilla ice cream and orange Sherbet is suggested as a refreshing dessert when served atop melon rings and circled with fresh strawberries or raspberries.

Melon Rings A La Mode (Serves 6-8)

1 medium sized honeydew or cantaloupe melon
2 pints Vanilla Ice Cream and Orange Sherbet
Fresh or frozen red raspberries or strawberries
Cut melon in crosswise slices, 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick. Remove seeds and rind. With a sharp knife, make diagonal slashes around edge of melon slices. Place slices of melon on dessert plates and top each with a large scoop of sherbet. Circle with a scoop of ice cream and top with red raspberries.

Half of knowing what we want is knowing what we have to give up to get it.

Information Is Available For Accredited Schools

In a few weeks Indiana youths will enroll in colleges, trade schools, vocational schools, and other centers of higher education. In some instances, these youths have decided upon a specific goal or professional field, while others will be reaching this decision during the education process. Richard D. Wells, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, urged that youths and their parents fully investigate trade, vocational, or professional schools which students will be attending. Investigation should determine the exact degree of education that will be received, the exact degrees or awards that will be conferred, and if the school confers degrees or awards that will be acceptable in chosen business or professional fields or by professional accrediting agencies.

The State of Indiana currently does not have legislation or a specific governmental agency which gives full approval or accreditation to private trade, professional, or vocational schools. Generally, in Indiana and throughout the country schools do meet professional or business requirements. In some instances, advantages of attending a school may be presented in a misleading manner. Legislation will be before the 1969 Indiana General Assembly which would provide protection for students attending such schools. Parents or prospective students interested in verifying the accreditation or approval of business, professional, vocational, or trade schools may write either of two national associations to receive a nation-wide list of accredited or approved schools. The two agencies are The National Association of Trade & Technical Schools and The National Home Study Council. The address for both organizations is 1601 18th Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009. Another source of information would be the Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce of the city in which the educational institution is located.

In addition if prospective students will write to the Director, Teacher Education, State Department of Public Instruction, Room 230, State Capitol, Indianapolis, Indiana, 46204, information concerning the status of the school will be provided.

Prospective students should also consider discussions with persons who are currently engaged in a similar vocation, profession, or trade to determine educational standards or requirements of the chosen field or the professional organization of which they would become a member, or a prospective employer to determine if the course of study would meet required standards for employment.

It is the duty of the State Department of Public Instruction, according to State Superintendent Wells, to provide assistance to those interested citizens wishing to attend these schools in their search for educational attainments.

Culver Firemen Open House Is Huge Success

Fire Chief Dave Burns reports the Firemen's Open House held last Saturday evening was a huge success.

The department would like to convey their thanks to the entire community for its help in making the evening one of enjoyment for many.

Chief Burns said that the children really had a great time playing games the firemen had planned for them. He added that R. D. Robinson of East Shore Drive is the new owner of the Wheel Horse tractor that was given away. Mrs. Val Hermann received an Evinrude motor and Dr. Smith now possesses a new rotisserie.

SUCCESS STORY

Dream big dreams, then get up in the morning and make the dreams come true.

A union official who had handled thousands of grievances and negotiated hundreds of contracts admitted to another official that he was having problems with his wife. He asked for advice. The brother unionist listened and then commented, "I'm sorry, pal, but in view of the facts you gave me I have to say that your wife's in the right. You asked that your wife's in the right. You asked me to give you a truthful opinion and that's it."

The union officer jumped up from his desk and shouted at his friend, "I can hardly believe it! Who'd ever have thought that you, a good union man, would side with management!"

Bible Church Plans Special Service Sunday

Rev. Charles E. Boren, Winona Lake, will be the guest speaker at services in the Culver Bible Church this Sunday. Morning services will be held at 10:45 a.m. and the evening services will be at 7 p.m.

Rev. Boren has been in gospel ministry for 30 years. He has preached in 42 of the 50 states and traveled in Europe and the Middle East. He is a dynamic man with a dynamic message. Plan to attend these services.

Culver Bible Church Plans Bible School

Culver Bible Church invites you to send your children to our Vacation Bible School August 12-16 at 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Mrs. Bettye Murdick, director of Child Evangelism for Marshall Co. will be conducting the school.

We will have a staff of fine teachers and helpers. Transportation will be provided for all who need it.

Refreshments will be served in the church basement.

The Bible School will feature scripture memory work, hand craft, flannel-graph Bible stories, music, puppets, etc.

If we may count your child attending, please fill in the blanks — clip off and send to: Pastor Norman Floyd, 718 S. Main St., Culver.

Methodists Have New Schedule For Services

The congregation of the Culver Methodist Church will meet for worship at 9:30 a.m. every Sunday during August and on the first Sunday in September. All adults and school age children will meet in the nave for the first half of the hour. Children in grades one through six will then go to a class room for movies dealing with appropriate themes. The worship will continue in the nave for older children and adults with dismissal at approximately 10:30. Nursery service will be provided for infants and classes will be conducted for kindergarten children at the 9:30 hour.

Beginning with the second Sunday in September the congregation will return to their regular schedule of church school at 9:30 and worship at 10:40.

TAKE IT EASY

A little caution on that holiday trip may save a life — and it could be your own.

WITH U.S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam — Lieutenant Colonel Grady E. Kitchens, son of Mrs. H. G. Kitchens of Rt. 1, Anderson, Ga., is a member of a unit that has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award. Colonel Kitchens, an aircraft commander in the 361st Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron at Nha Trang AB, Vietnam, will wear the distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit.

His unit received the award for exceptionally meritorious service during its first year of combat operation. The squadron, which operates specially-equipped C-47 Skytrains to provide reconnaissance data for all free World forces in Vietnam, has flown more than 36,000 accident-free combat hours since it was activated in April 1966.

The colonel was commissioned in 1950 through the aviation cadet program and served during the Korean War.

A 1946 graduate of Oglethorpe (Ga.) High School, he attended Georgia Southwestern College and received a B.S. degree in 1964 from Texas A & M University.

His wife, Audrey, is the daughter of Ben Oberlin of 850 W. Shore Rd. Culver, Ind.

CARDS OF THANKS

Thanks to all my many friends for their cards, messages and visits during my recent confinement in the South Bend Memorial Hospital. It's nice to be remembered by so many.

Sincerely,

Andy Williams - Henry Mancini Show At The Indiana State Fair

The "cream of the crop" of the music business - Andy Williams and Henry Mancini - will combine their talents in four shows at this year's Indiana State Fair. Shows will be held in the Grandstand on Monday, Aug. 26, 6:00 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.; and on Tuesday, Aug. 27, at 6:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.

Andy Williams, that "boy next door" of the music world, started his career at the age of eight as one of the four Williams Brothers. They became one of the most famous night club acts in show business.

When the Williams Brothers broke up in 1952, Andy continued alone. He was an almost instant success. After starring on the Steve Allen Show for three years, he went on to do his own weekly show for three summers. He later did occasional TV specials at the urgent request of both sponsors and networks.

The Andy Williams Show debuted in 1962. In 1966-67, when the show's ratings were at an all-time high, Andy decided to devote more time to developing each show. With this in mind, he proposed that he do only a few TV specials during the 1967-68 season. NBC agreed reluctantly.

Today Andy Williams has made numberless hit recordings, including both albums and singles, such as "Charade", "Days of Wine and Roses", "Dear Heart", "Moon River", "Born Free", and "Holly."

Henry Mancini, like Andy Williams, was introduced to music at the age of eight by his musician father. Beginning with the flute, Mancini went to piano and arranging.

Mancini joined the Glenn Miller-Ted Beneke orchestra in 1945 as a pianist-arranger. In 1952 he joined the music department of Universal - International Studios. During that period he contributed to over 100 films. After six years, Mancini left the Universal-International Studios to compose TV scores. He later returned to the motion picture business to compose many of the movie scores for which he is famous. These include: "Breakfast at Tiffany's", "Moon River", "Days of Wine and Roses", "Dear Heart", "Charade", and "The Pink Panther", among others.

Other entertainers appearing at this year's Indiana State Fair are: comedians Dan Rowan and Dick Martin; the Cowsills, Minnie Pearl, and Richard Hayman; Ed Ames; Lawrence Welk and His Champagne Music Makers; Arthur Godfrey starring at the English Horse Show; Tommy Steiner's Rodeo with Ken Curtis (Festus of TV's "Gunsmoke"); Nancy Sinatra and Lee Hazelwood; and Diana Ross and the Supremes.

Hard luck comes from sitting around waiting for a miracle.

Prevent Farm Accidents

Agriculture ranks third among our industries in accidental death rate. Every year nearly 8,000 farm residents are killed and another 700,000 suffer disabling injuries.

On the average more than 200 farm residents are killed in motor vehicle accidents in Indiana every year. Farm Safety Week, July 21-27, is an attempt to make farm residents aware of the dangers which are involved in their work, their activities around home and their travel on highways.

Farmers must safety an integral part of their management planning, and they should keep in mind and apply this formula: (1) see the hazard, (2) know the defense, and (3) act in time.

The largest category of farm home accidents in falls. Eliminate the possibility of falls by correcting dangerous conditions — such as loose throw rugs near stairways, slippery shower floors and make-shift ladders. And, be sure your home is properly lighted.

The majority of fires and burns can be prevented by storing flammable liquids in galvanized steel fuel cans equipped with vaporsealing caps, correcting overload electrical circuits and faulty wiring, and keeping matches and lighters out of the reach of children. Discard piles of newspaper, oily rags and boxes.

The National Safety Council has launched the Tractor Overturn Prevention and Protection (TOPP) programs, consisting of an all-out attack on the tractor upset problem which is responsible for hundreds of deaths and thousands of injuries annually.

These are two basic ways in which this problem can be attacked:

Reduce the number of tractor accidents by educating operators;

Reduce the incidence of death and serious injury by providing operators with protective frames or crush-resistant cabs. The use of a safety belt is recommended.

In addition, the operator can help to prevent accidents by:

Keeping himself in good mental and physical condition;

Avoiding steep slopes, ditches and embankments;

Setting the wheels as wide apart as is practical for the job;

Making sure the brakes are adequate;

Keeping children off and away from farm machinery;

Mounting both a fire extinguisher and first aid kit on each tractor.

It takes only about two seconds for a tractor to overturn. Make Farm Safety Week every week on your farm.

GROWING IRIS

Garden planning is a continuous process, reminds E. R. Honeywell, Purdue University extension horticulturist, and now is the time to begin dividing and replanting your iris, if you haven't already.

The Bearded Iris (dwarf, intermediate group and tall bearded) may be divided and replanted anytime from immediately after flowering until early Fall. They respond best if planted in mid-summer so that they become well established before the ground freezes.

The new divisions should be spaced from 1½ to 2 feet apart and the rhizomes (large "roots") should be out slightly covered with soil. This is very essential for many iris varieties fail to bloom because the rhizomes are too deeply set. Some winter mulch, such as straw, hay or peat, will aid in conserving moisture and protect the plants from alternate freezing and thawing of the soil.

Where to plant iris depends on the kind you depend to grow in environmental conditions. The Bearded Iris varieties grow well in a sunny location in any well drained soil. The Beardless Iris (Japanese, Siberian, Crested etc.) grow best in full sun in rich, highly fertile soil which tests acid. In addition they require an abundance of moisture from the time buds form up just after flowering.

Some hate to admit it, but courtesy is a two-way street.

RELIGIOUS STRENGTH . . . Using colored paper boards, spectators form giant pictures in the stands as members of the Sokagakkai, followers of the Nichiren Shoshu school of Buddhism, engaged in mass gymnastics at annual festival in Tokyo's National Stadium.

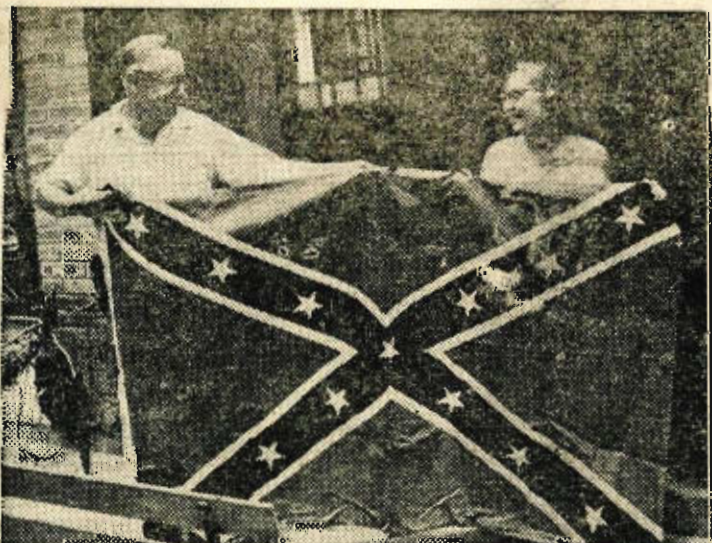

WHOO-UP . . . Australian aboriginals perform at the annual "Bang-Tail Muster" at Alice Springs. It's a big event in this small town in the Outback country and visitors are always on hand to see the unlimited fun.

RESCUE CREW . . . U. S. Coast Guard amphibious helicopters are equipped with unique rescue platform which facilitates loading at sea as in this photo of rescue of thirteen Cuban refugees aboard two crudely made craft in the Florida Straits.

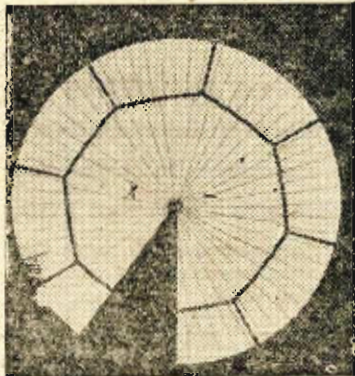

LINE UP . . . Fanjet C-141 StarLifters line runway at Charleston Air Force Base, S. C. The Military Airlift Command operates the big planes out of Charleston for worldwide missions, including moving cargo and troops across the Pacific, airlifting the wounded home, and making weekly globe-circling runs to U. S. embassies.

CONFEDERATE "STRONGHOLD" . . . James Jones, 57, and his wife, Judith, 51, hold a U. S. Confederate flag in Americana, Brazil. The flag is a symbol of the heritage of descendants of some 96 Southern families that settled in Brazil's Sao Paulo State after the Civil War. Many descendants left the area through the years but about 100 persons gather every three months for church services and a picnic.

FISHERMAN . . . A fisherman in Zamboanga, Philippines, sports an assortment of fish as he heads home after a morning at the seashore.

"COME INTO MY PARLOR . . . A man caught in the web of a huge spider? Nope, it's a workman clamoring over a scaffold being used to erect the roof of a new 100,000-barrel petrolium storage tank under construction at British-American Oil's refinery in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. The 120-foot diameter tank is one of the first to be built in Western Canada under new thinner-wall specifications made possible by better quality steels.

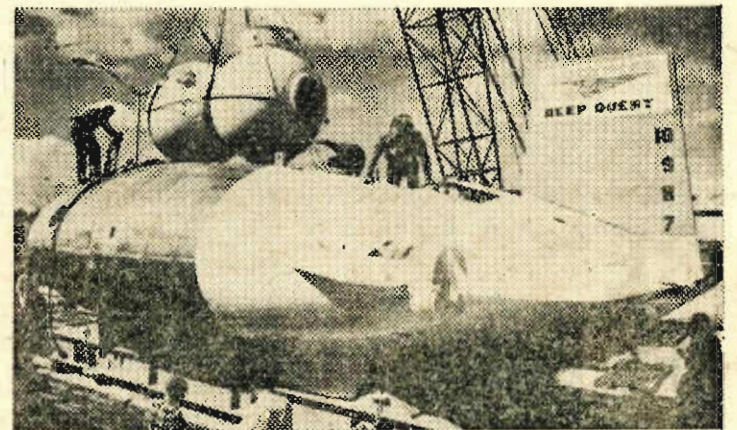

ALL FEATHERS . . . French stage star Zizi Jeanmaire wears elaborate feather costume by Yves St. Laurent as she performs number called "Pink Champagne."

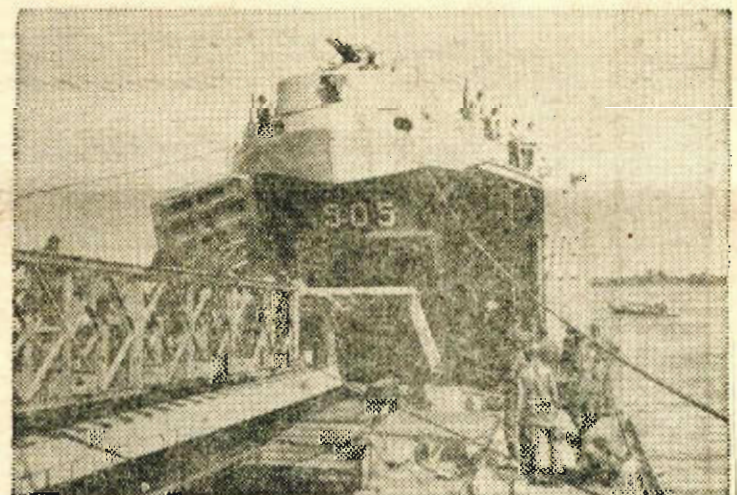

BIG BABY This little inhabitant of Chessington, England Zoo isn't quite ready to stand up on its own two feet as yet. Someday it will be a really big swinger. Right now, after a dip, the baby gorilla wants mammy and a nice dry towel.

FIRST FLIGHT . . . Sikorsky Aircraft HH-3F, produced for the U. S. Coast Guard, made its first public flight recently at Sikorsky's main plant in Stratford, Conn. The HH-3F contains the most sophisticated electronics, navigation, and instrument systems ever carried by a search and rescue rotary-wing aircraft. Its range of 350 miles out to sea and back greatly increases Coast Guard Helicopter rescue potential.

DEEP RESEARCH . . . The twin pressure hulls, weighing seven tons, are gingerly lowered into the free-flooding outer hull of the research submarine Deep Quest at Lockheed Missiles & Space Co., in Sunnyvale, Calif. The steel spheres will protect the two crewmen and two scientist-observers at depths of more than a mile and a half. The 40-foot submersible will be launched at San Diego this month.

MANEUVER . . . Navy's LST (Landing Ship Tanks) arrives at Newport dock near Long Binh, Vietnam to transport Army tanks to other areas in Vietnam where they are needed.

Bring Out The Fruit Flavor

Apricots, plums, peaches, pears and bananas have a brand new appeal when heated. Cook them just enough to plump or soften or warm yet retain the natural texture. To bring out the flavor and juices of the fruits, pour on a little light corn syrup, right from the bottle, as the fruit heats.

"Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love." These verses from I John are part of this week's Lesson-Sermon titled "Love" to be read in Christian Science churches all over the world.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes selected passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. Among them is the following: "When we realize that there is one Mind, the divine law of loving our neighbor as ourselves is unfolded; whereas a belief in many rulings minds hinders man's normal drift towards the one Mind, one God, and leads human thought into opposite channels where selfishness reigns."

SOLUTION TO WAFFLE PROBLEM TIPS UP

SOMETIMES class assignments produce revelations far beyond a teacher's expectations. An instructor at Goucher College, Baltimore, asked his class to describe what happens to the various forms of energy that are involved in cooking a waffle. The answers were somewhat puzzling because no one mentioned the chemical energy that is released as the batter cooks in the waffle iron. The mystery was quickly solved by a student during the ensuing class discussion. She began by saying, "When you put the frozen waffle into the toaster..." Further probing by the instructor revealed that only one student had actually made waffles in a waffle iron, but the class was able to tell him that both heat and mechanical energy figure in the modern method of making waffles.

GIANT BURNERS at a Pennsylvania steel mill require as much natural gas to operate one hour as is to heat an average home for three years. The pre-heating burners, the largest of their kind, were designed by National Cylinder Gas, Chicago. They are capable of using the fuel gas at a rate of 480,000 standard cubic feet an hour and are used to increase the scrap content in a heat of steel from the conventional 28 per cent of a 160-ton charge to as much as 40 per cent. They fire at a rate of more than 480 million British thermal units per hour.

SIXTY YEARS AGO the term "Project Gasbuggy" would have brought to mind Henry Ford and his horseless carriage. Today the term applies to an experiment in the peaceful uses of nuclear explosives. Specifically, the project seeks to determine whether or not fracturing of a large volume of gas-bearing rock by an underground nuclear explosion will increase natural gas production. It has been predicted that a seven-fold production increase will result. The project is the first joint government - industry experiment in the United States Atomic Energy Commission's "Plowshare Program" to develop peaceful uses for nuclear explosives.

WOMEN PAST 21 WITH BLADDER IRRITATION Suffer Many Troubles

After 21, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. IF YOU hate crowds, the best time to fly is 3 a.m. A recent Federal Aviation Administration study showed only 176 airline flights airborne at that hour, as compared with 1,152 at 6 p.m.

DUST FROM BURNING COAL CREATES A HEALTH PROBLEM

SULFUR DIOXIDE POLLUTION of the air that comes from burning coal is a growing health problem in American cities, says the director of the University of Chicago Toxicity Laboratory. He said sulfur dioxide adheres to coal dust particles and spreads through the air over urban centers. These particles get into our lungs and create sulfurous acids that can be highly dangerous.

THE RAPID GROWTH of the plastics industry may in part be credited to color, says the Holland-Suco Company, Stockertown, Pa. From the beginning of time man has shown preference for objects with color, and the colorability of plastics has been a large factor in their acceptance by the public, the pigment experts say. CERTAIN TYPES of brain damage in animals have been reversed by chemicals in experiments. In research sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service a scientist has reversed damage caused by induced lesions in the brains of rats by stimulating the production of serotonin, a natural brain chemical.

TITANIUM'S high strength-to-weight ratio and its ability to withstand very high temperatures are the principal reasons why it was selected as the primary structural material for American's supersonic transport plane (SST). Aluminum was rejected because it loses a large part of its strength at the high temperatures generated by aircraft flying at 1,800 miles per hour, the projected speed of the SST's. Stainless steel was considered uneconomical because it weighs nearly twice as much as titanium on a unit-for-unit basis. The so-called super alloys (Inconel, Rene called super alloys (Inconel, Rene, Hastelloy, etc.) were not only more expensive but offered no advantages at the required temperature range of the SST.

A NEW ASTRONOMICAL OBSERVATORY in the eastern United States is being built by Columbia University on a mountain peak near Harriman, N.Y. The facility, which will house a 24-inch reflector-type telescope, will be named the Harriman Observatory. The university's 12-inch telescope in metropolitan New York City has become unusable for scientific exploration because of the illuminated haze over Manhattan.

WATER - BEARING ROCKS that underlie Long Island, New York, contain about 60 trillion gallons of water, enough to cover all of New York state to a depth of six feet, report hydrologists of the U.S. Geological Survey.

'GOING HOME TO MOTHER' IS EASIER IN THE CITY

OLDER PERSONS living in rural areas may experience greater isolation from their children and other family members than those living in cities, a University of Wisconsin sociologist has found. He studied five Wisconsin communities ranging in size from a village of 150 to a city of 170,000. He found that contrary to the traditional notion of tightly knit rural family units, as opposed to disrupted urban family life, older persons in the city exchange visits with their adult children more often, on the whole, than those living in small towns. He said that one explanation is that the child who is reared in the city is more likely to remain near his parents because of the greater availability of employment opportunities.

CHEMICAL MACE can be used with comparative safety as a weapon to incapacitate a person temporarily if certain precautions are taken, says a University of Michigan professor of pharmacology. He reports that if the controversial spray is used properly there is no danger to a person's eyes or other organs or tissues.

How To Loaf With Mince Meat

FR-fer-up fare from the Borden Kitchen: a meat loaf sparked with the pungent good taste of ready-to-use mince meat.

Mince Meat Stuffed Meat Loaf (Makes 6 servings)

2 lbs. ground round	2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons plus 1	1 teaspoon salt teaspoon (one-half	2 tablespoons dehydrated of 1-1/4 oz. pkg.)	parsley flakes
onion soup mix

STUFFING:

2 tablespoons Danish	2 tablespoons chopped
Flavor Margarine	green sweet pepper
OR butter	1-1/3 cups (1/2 of 28-oz. jar)
1/2 cup (4-oz. can) stems	None Such ready-to-and pieces mush-	use mince meat
rooms, drained and	1/2 teaspoon salt
chopped	2 cups dried bread cubes
2 tablespoons chopped	2 tablespoons dehydrated
red sweet pepper	celery flakes

In a large-size mixing bowl, combine ground round, soup mix, eggs, salt, and parsley flakes. Line the sides and bottom of a 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan carefully with approximately 3/4 of the meat mixture. In a large skillet, melt margarine or butter. Sauté chopped mushrooms and peppers until golden brown. Add remaining ingredients; mix lightly. Spoon stuffing into meat-lined loaf pan. Press firmly. Cover with remaining meat mixture. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven about 1-1/4 hours, or until top is dark golden brown. Pour off liquid from pan. Invert pan over serving platter; carefully remove pan. If desired, pipe onion whipped potatoes through a decorators' bag across top of meat loaf.

ON THE RIGHT TACK . .

The high pressure area that moved into the Culver area Saturday afternoon, brought variable winds and showers, but failed to dampen the spirits of skippers and crews. Ten "C" scows were on hand for the delayed starting gun, and had to spend part of the time watching the dark clouds while looking for a good sailing breeze. Bob Hollowell found his breeze and finished well ahead of the rest of the fleet for first place. Bud Suverkrup decided that it was time to begin to sail and was way back in the fleet to finish third. Bruce Moore finished fourth, ahead of Pete Trone. Fritz Muehlhausen crossed the finish line in sixth place, followed by Cutter Washburn, Bill Furry, Jerome Zechel and Bill Stofer.

By Sunday, we were feeling the full effects of the high strong north winds gave Maxinkuckee sailors an excellent opportunity to sail and to prove their sailing skills. An excellent turn out of nineteen skippers took full advantage of the challenge, including several boats from C.M.A. There were even two "E" class boats on hand for the starting signal, and it was "Ladies Day" when the "E" boat skipper and crewed by girls finished ahead of their male counterpart. Good going, girls!!

Again Sunday, was the case on Saturday, the winning boat jumped off to an early lead and was never challenged during the rest of the race. Bruce Moore did an excellent job of bringing his boat in first. There was a close finish for second, as Bill Stofer made his bid for victory, but couldn't quite catch Steve Speer who crossed the finish line second. Bill had to be content with third this week, but was one of several skippers who had the satisfaction of coming up from way back in the fleet to third. Bob Hollowell was fourth, followed by Bill Furry. Rupert Esser lost to Bill by only a few feet, but he too was content knowing he had come from a poor start and a position back in the fleet to his sixth spot. Bud Suverkrup finished ahead of Pete Trone who was eighth. Cutter Washburn had difficulties just before he crossed the finish line and had to be satisfied with ninth position. Fritz Muehlhausen is thinking about changing his boat number, when the best that he could do with his T-10 was tenth. Bill Studebaker put in an appearance as a guest skipper and brought his boat in eleventh. It was good to see Bill back sailing. Schillings "Mari-Bar" was twelfth this week, followed by the boats from C.M.A..

Saturday's Junior Fleet saw a large turn-out of young skippers when 9 Sailfish and 7 Skylarks were on hand. The light southerly breezes made each skipper work for their position at the finish line, but it was Joe Schnab who worked the hardest and brought his Sailfish in first. This was Joe's second win in two weeks. Diane Thomas finished a close second, but was only 20 seconds ahead of third place finisher Mark Suverkrup. C.M.A. skipper Page made a big improvement this week and came in fourth. Alan Moore was fifth, followed by skipper Tim Roth.

Jeff Michels provided another good race when he sailed his Skylark to a win over Steve Muehlhausen. Steve took another second place this week. Charlie Roth was third followed by Dave Smitson, fourth, and Susie Speer, fifth. Two other skippers did not finish.

Saturday afternoon was the first race of the open Skylark class. To sail in this class, all anyone needs is the desire. Young or old, male or female, Yacht club member or not, bring out your boat and sail. With so many Skylarks on the lake, it is hoped that many more people will participate. This new racing class will provide the opportunity to enjoy sailing, to learn how to get the most possible speed out of a Skylark and to compete for the satisfaction of winning. We hope to see many more boats at the starting line this Saturday afternoon.

This Saturday is also the season's last Moonlight Race. Orders have been placed for more wind, and it is hoped that the weather man will deliver. This race will begin about dark and will be preceded by a party at 5:30 at Jim Barker's. I seem that this week end will provide many opportunities.

Quote of the Week: "But skippers, the fish are really biting around Bouy nine. Do you have to come so close???"
