"AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER"

Again And Again!

We have often commented on the numerous cases of repeat crimes by lawbreakers. Though weary of the repetition itself, we are even more tired of the need for repeating ourselves.

One of the latest cases brought death to a five-month-old baby girl, taken from her parents' apartment in Staten Island, N. Y. while they slept. The infant was severely beaten and two hours after she was admitted to a hospital was dead of a skull fracture. Police arrested the man who had been seen carrying the bleeding child through the streets. At the time of his arrest he was holding the child in his arm. When confronted by the officers, the culprit said that the baby was asleep and that he was going to put it to bed.

The same man had previously been arrested for molesting a young boy. Was there no way of preventing him from this repeat performance? We cannot continue allowing this to happen. If a man is mentally ill and dangerous to society, he should be confined for his own good as well as the good of the people. How many infants and children must suffer life-long trauma or loss of life because of the misjudgement of social reformers? Something must be done and soon. It is up to all of us to inform our legislators and other appropriate officials that we will no longer accept excuses for their indulgence of criminals. These crimes continue. Someone must pay for them. That is, someone other than the victims. There is a breaking point for practically everything and our society seems to be approaching it. It is our view that the root cause of the breakdown in law and order is all too often caused by the very men who are charged with the responsibility of enforcing law and order.

CULVER COLUMN

By Mrs. C. C.

Two articles appeared in last week's "Citizen" that I think need discussion. In one we were informed that the school board members are considering purchasing another building for a new school administration headquarters with funds now available in the equipment fund.

The other article was a legal notice informing taxpayers that additional appropriation will be needed in the general fund for the "extraordinary emergency" which exists at this time involving ground improvements.

The taxpayer should, by now, learn that promises of economy don't mean much but this latest idea of acquiring yet another property seems a bit much to me. The gentlemen on the school board have a duty that is three-fold... the most important being the selection of teachers and equipment to assure a proper education for our children. The second is continual planning for future needs and the third should be some measure of responsibility to the taxpayer.

In the last few years we have lost some very good science and math teachers. I would suggest that you check the pay scale for these teachers. The administrative offices are adequate... teachers salaries are not.

I also challenge the members of the Board to eat lunch in the grade and junior high school cafeteria for one week. The equipment in the kitchens is so old and antiquated that it is virtually impossible for the cooks to prepare tasteful meals.

Or take a look at the plumbing in the junior high and spend some time on the top floor. If this is good enough for our children, perhaps you could save some money and move the administrative offices to the third floor of the junior high.

I would also remind you that when the new high school was being built there were quite a few people who favored including a swimming pool. That was too expensive but new administrative offices probably would cost nothing.

The school board is like the weather... we can complain about it but we can do nothing to change it. Most school areas have elected school board members but we don't have the chance to vote our own. Just who can stop them, as they go their merry way spending our money?

Many of you have expressed your disapproval of this move to members of the board. Have they listened or just passed the buck?

It runs in my mind that this is a prime example of "the establishment" that the young adults are trying desperately to change. More power to them... we adults certainly appear unable to change unpopular decisions, such as this.

The Greatest Show On Earth At Notre Dame

The most gifted and celebrated animal trainer in circus history is in love with America.

His name is Gunther Gebel-Williams and he is making his long awaited American debut as the super-tar of this year's 99th edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. The Greatest Show on Earth arrives at Notre Dame's Athletic and Convocation Center for four performances (twice daily) on September 16 and 17, 1969.

"This is a wonderful country," says the handsome young blond performer. "I've always to come to America but I never dreamed my visit would be as a feature of the greatest Circus in the world!"

At 33, Gebel-Williams is a legend in circus annals. His performance, absolutely unique in all the world, synchronizes tigers, elephants and horses into a bizarre and breathtaking ballet. Among countless accolades, he has been honored with the coveted Ernst Renke-Pla Kett Award, the circus world's equivalent of election to the hall of fame — or of multiple "Oscars" in a single year.

For the past several years, Gunther Gebel-Williams has started with Germany's celebrated Williams Circus. The 150-year old travelling show was recently purchased in its entirety by Irvin and Israel Feld and Judge Roy Hoffmiz, owners of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey.

Arrangements were immediately made to bring Gebel-Williams and his amazing animals to America and to The Greatest Show on Earth.

In the dazzling all-new edition of the Big Show, Gebel-Williams displays many sides of his incredible way with animals.

Performing in the center ring's steel-mesh cage, he presents a totally unique performance by elephants and tigers, natural enemies of the jungle, working in absolute harmony. Gebel-Williams tops the act by riding on the back of a mighty bengal tiger who is, in turn, standing on the back of a gigantic elephant! It is a fantastic feat, never before attempted by any animal trainer.

In another unforgettable display in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey performance, Gebel-Williams controls three rings of educated elephants using no assistants and without even touching the huge beasts. The elephant performance, the most incredible in circus history, is accomplished totally by vocal commands.

Also, the incredible king of animal trainers presides over a sentient one of the most unbelievable wild animal acts in the world today.

Never has one man done so much so well in a single circus performance!

"Gunther Gebel-Williams is absolutely unique and without peer in the world today," says Irvin Feld, and chief executive officer of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey. "When I first saw him perform, I couldn't believe my eyes. I am convinced that this will also be the reaction of the millions who will see him in The Greatest Show on Earth."

These Raspberry Cobbler Tarts fall in the realm of quick-and-easy desserts. With only a few ingredients and using packaged tart shells, you can have a very special dessert in a matter of minutes. Voice Of The People

Another school year will begin at the Marshall-Starke Development Center on Sept. 4. At least twenty five retarded young adults and children will make up the student body. There will be three teachers. And these teachers will need help. This is where the Center's volunteer program comes in.

If you enjoy children, and if you're willing to give one day a week, (9:30 - 2:30), these are all the qualifications you need. And you'll never do anything more worthwhile than to spend that day helping at the Center. It's not really all that easy, but you'll drive more gratitude, satisfaction and love from it than from any job you'll ever do.

The M-S Center couldn't accomplish the wonderful results that it does without the help given by its volunteers. And this year they need them badly! A meeting for volunteers will be held on Sept. 3, 1:00 EDT at the M-S Center on old Highway 30, between Donaldson and Plymouth. Come over and meet the teachers and the rest of those who run the Center. Mrs. Blanding, Executive Director, will explain what sort of help a volunteer can give and the procedures to follow wherever problems arise. You'll enjoy meeting these people, including the other volunteers, some who come back year after year, and, hopefully, some brand-new faces! The coffee pot will be on and the welcome will be warm.

BIGGER BEEF OUTPUT WILL BE NEEDED

American cattlemen will have to produce 26 million pounds of beef annually within a decade to satisfy demands of the nation's consumers. Dr. L. S. Pope, associate dean of the college of agriculture at Texas A & M University, said today.

Pope, speaking at Indiana Cattle Feeders Day at Purdue University, pointed out that average per capita consumption of beef increases about two to three pounds a year. This increase is a result, he added, of greater feedlot output and larger breeding herds.

Noting that the midwest is responsible for nearly half the fed beef produced in this country, he said it is likely this area will remain a significant factor in cattle feeding despite pressure from large, western feedlots.

However, he said the Texas Panhandle has been the most rapidly expanding area for cattle feeding. This area is ideally located in terms of the supply of southwest feeder cattle, cheap grain and a favorable climate for cattle feeding and mechanized operations, Pope explained.

Another important factor favoring the Plains has been relocation of packing plants close to the source of feed cattle, he went on. At least six major packers have established plants on the southern plains within the last decade and more are sure to come, Pope asserted.

"When the new plants now under construction are in full gear, we will slaughter over 1,000 head

Blueberry Festival To Award Trophies For Parade

Nineteen trophies will be awarded to prize winners of this year's Marshall County Blueberry Festival parade, sponsored by the Pilot-News.

per hour every working day. Already the giant feedlot complex is consuming milo at the rate of $1 million a day. In the near future, jet freighters loaded with boneless, closely trimmed cuts will reach out from coast to coast and to foreign markets as well."

With the south and southeast contributing 21 per cent of the nation's total output of beef calves, beef cow numbers in these sections of the U.S. can expand during the next decade, Pope asserted.

As the demand for feeder cattle increases, we will need an increase of two million or more beef cows each year to meet the projected demands of the feedlot industry, he continued.

"Likely the corn belt will produce more and more of its own needs -- with integrated programs from pasture to the feedlot, to the carcass hanging on the rail," Pope asserted.

"...the future of cattle feeding in the corn belt will see a continuation of extreme pressure from large commercial feedlots, chiefly on the Plains. A new 'Beef Belt' appears to be emerging, stretching from southwest Texas to Nebraska.

"It is probable that by 1975 slightly more than 2,000 large commercial feedlots will be responsible for two-thirds of the finished beef produced in the United States."

Miss Norris Wed At Poplar Grove

Miss Eva Kathryn Norris and James Timothy McGuire were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony August 17 at the Poplar Grove Methodist Church with Rev. Robert Nelson of North Manchester, officiating.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett M. Norris of R. R. 1. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Carson McGuire of Rochester.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and palms. Miss Bonnie Thompson of Argos provided the organ music and Carson McGuire, father of the groom, sang "The Lord's Prayer" as an opening for the ceremony.

Mrs. Roger Milliser, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor. The Misses Sharon and Barbara Norris, sisters of the bride, and Miss Tommie McGuire, sister of the groom, served as the bridesmaids. They were attired in peach-colored gowns of simple design. Each wore roses and ivy in her hair and carried a cascade of peach carnations and ivy.

Mr. Michael McGuire, brother of the groom, served as best man. Mr. Robert Graweock, Mr. Ralph Bailey, and Mr. Phil Bickle were the groomsmen.

The ring bearer was Paul Allen Schoonover, cousin of the bride and the flower girl was Patty McGee of Rochester.

Ushers were Mr. John Shafer, brother of the bride, Mr. Ken Bauer, Mr. James DeCamp and Mr. Larry Huys.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, the bride wore a gown which she designed and fashioned. It featured a high-rise waistline and an A-line skirt of dull luster satin which formed an inverted pleat at center back and flowed into a chapel-length train. The bodice of an elaborate Schiffli design on illusion featured full bishop sleeves and a high fitted collar. The wide cuffs and collar were adorned with seed pearls and the full length veil of illusion was edge-trimmed with the lace of the bodice. The bride carried a cascade of Phalenopsis orchids and stephanotis an ivy.

The grandmother of the bride chose a navy blue ensemble with matching accessories. The mother of the groom chose a beige and brown lace dress with matching brown accessories. Matching orchids completed both ensembles.

A reception for the couple was held in the church social room immediately following the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. McGuire will be at 332 W. Jefferson, Apt. 5 South Bend, Indiana. The new Mrs. McGuire will be teaching Home Economics at LaSalle High School in South Bend. Mr. McGuire will be attending I.U. at South Bend.

Couple To Teach In New York

The White Plains Community Church, White Plains, New York, was the setting August 23 for the 2:00 P.M. marriage of Miss Carol Zerbarini and James F. Overmyer, Dr. Peter Samson, pastor, officiated.

Baskets of white mums, gladioli, and snapdragons adorned the altar, accented with baskets of yellow and white shasta daisies. Mrs. Jane Hart provided the nuptial music.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Zerbarini and the late Angelo Zerbarini of Long Island, New York. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Overmyer, R.R. 2, Culver, Indiana, are the parents of the groom.

Carrying a bridal bouquet of white shasta daisies, the bride appeared in a white satin-backer crepe dress which was, street-length, princess-styled with embroidered-edge bonded Chantilly lace panel in the front and back. The bodice featured a matching high lace-edged collar and long fitted sleeves with matching lace-edged cuffs. A chapel train was attached at the shoulder and was trimmed in embroidered lace. Her elbow-length veil was secured with a pearl tiara.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Charles Zerbarini.

The bride's attendants wore yellow linen street length double-breasted effect coat-style dresses with white linen collar. Each wore white daisies pinned in their hair. The matron of honor carried an arm bouquet of yellow and white shasta daisies and the bridesmaids and flower girl, carried arm bouquets of yellow shasta daisies with flowing ribbons attached of white satin.

Mrs. Florence Krantz, Long Island, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bride maids were Miss Rita Gredeky of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., and Miss Karen Krantz, niece of the bride, girls were Miss Debra Zerbarini, Miss Julie Drantz, and Miss Joanne Drantz, niece of the bride, also of Long Island.

Long Island, New York. Flower to Maine

Serving as best man was Gene Gore, Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Ushers were Charles Beers of Yorktown Heights, N.Y., and Paul Zerbarini, brother of the bride, Long Island.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the London Inn, Yorktown Heights, New York, for the wedding party and their guests. The couple left immediately on their honeymoon

The bride is a graduate of Oneonta State Teachers College, New York, and will teach in Elementary School, Pleasantville, New York.

The groom is a graduate of Culver High School, Culver, Indiana and Aurora College, Aurora, Illinois. He received his Masters at Springfield College, Springfield, Massachusetts and will serve as school psychologist in Peekskill, New York.

BODY 'ELECTRICITY' OPERATES HAND BRACE

A HAND BRACE for quadriplegics that can be operated generated by a person's nervous system has been developed by a biomedical engineer at Iowa State University. Quadriplegics suffer from paralysis or partial paralysis in one or more of their four limbs. The small amount of electricity is amplified in the device to operate a hydraulic pump that runs the hand split. When it is attached to the wrist of a quadriplegic it can help the patient generate up to four pounds of tension at the finger tips, allowing him to write, hold eating utensils and lift various other objects.

DEVELOPMENT of overdeveloped countries and semi-development of underdeveloped countries are demanded by a Stanford University population biologist. He said these actions, plus putting a top to population growth, are the three steps governments should take it at once to combat the impending crises of famine and environment pollution due to overtake the overpopulated world.

CARGO HOLDS, machinery areas and boiler rooms aboard ships can be effectively protected from fire hazards by low-pressure carbon dioxide fire extinguishing systems, reports Cardox, Chicago. In a low-pressure system, liquid dioxide is stored in a tank and is piped to the area where it may be needed. The same system can be used several times and simultaneously protects a number of areas. With high-pressure cylinders, once they are discharged, they cannot be used again until they are either replaced or refilled.

RELEASE OF RADIATION from nuclear energy plants is so well controlled that it should set an example for other industrial wastes polluting our atmosphere, say University of Chicago scientists. Construction of nuclear reactors for peacetime uses has been opposed in some communities because some radiation is released.

THE ADVANTAGES of heart transplantation are greater than those of mechanical hearts, says Dr. Christian Barnard. "When Dr. Blalberg, the world's first successful heart transplant case, was first visited by his wife after his operation, his new heart pumped extra blood to accommodate his motion," Dr. Barnard said. "A mechanical heart wouldn't do this." He points out that the mechanical heart, which has been suggested as a way around the rejection problem, presents other problems. "If you put a mechanical heart in a child," he said, "you will have to change it as the child grows up."

NEW CANCER TEST TRACES RADIATION

A RELATIVELY SIMPLE and effective test to determine if a patient with widespread cancer is getting the best possible therapy has been developed by two University of Chicago physicians. The test, used experimentally on cancerous mice, involves tracing low-dosage radiation to monitor the ratio of certain isotopes in malignant cells after therapy.

THE SKULL of a giant beaver — an extinct animal that weighed up to 500 pounds and was more than six feet long — has been uncovered near Madison, Wis. A University of Wisconsin zoologist said he believes this is the first discovery in that state of a giant beaver. Remains of this huge animal have been found in all states bordering Wisconsin, as well as in such widely separated places as Georgia and Alaska. The first

A new concept of elegance is the distinctive Monte Carlo Sport Coupe. This newest addition to the Chevrolet line is characterized by smooth flowing lines and sculptured surfaces dramatically emphasized by the longest hood ever produced by Chevrolet. The plush interior includes a simulated wood burl accent on the instrument panel and extra-thick foam cushioned front and rear seats. The Monte Carlo will be at dealerships on September 18.

AN INFRA-RED medical scanner has been developed and is being used to record the temperature profiles of living subjects with an accuracy of plus-or-minus one-twentieth of a degree centigrade. The device can make 20 scans per second over spots as small as a millimeter in diameter. Doctors at the University of Michigan are evaluating its effectiveness in diagnosing tumors, arthritis, vascular diseases and trauma, and in gauging wound healing.

AUTOMATION is revolutionizing the meat processing industry; even smokehouses have been modernized to produce uniform conditions of temperature, humidity, smoke density and air circulation. The results, says Allbright-Nell, Chicago, are tenderized hams that are uniform in flavor and color.

FOR YEARS man has viewed with awe the spectacular bursts of natural steam from volcanoes, geysers and boiling springs. Early records note the widespread use by the Romans of natural hot waters in Italy and other countries. Similar use was made of hot springs — now referred to as "health spas" — in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia. Although the use of hot springs for baths goes back to ancient times, the U.S. Geological Survey says that the use of natural steam for the manufacture of electric power did not begin until early in the 20th Century.

AIR POLLUTION: THE LOWDOWN ON WHAT'S UP THERE

Whether the subject is ships, shoes, sealing wax, tax diminution or air pollution, it's nice to know what you're talking about when you talk about it.

Except with regard to the technically trained, time was when you could say with a good deal of accuracy: "Everybody talks about air pollution, but nobody knows anything about it." Just what is it that pollutes the air? Where does it come from? What does it do to you? Why?

While it's generally true that public gripes about air pollution have preceded exact knowledge (and why not, when even a doctor feels the sorrows of a bellyache before he learns what caused it), that time is now past.

It's past, that is, for anybody who is ready to treat himself to the excitement of an unfolding drama as it happens step by step in a little book called, "Air Pollution Primer." With words and pictures that require no special preparation to absorb, the book tells its story fact by fact, event by event, in a way that turns murky mystery into perceived knowledge. The "Air Pollution Primer" informs you, in terms already familiar or lucidly explained, about such things as the physical processes of pollution, the role of wind and weather, the way it affects the world around you, what it's apt to do to your health, and a hundred other facts of air-polluted life you've probably wondered about.

The "Air Pollution Primer" was produced by the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association for the enlightenment and use of people, whether they just want to talk about the subject or get up on their hind legs and do something about it. You'll be better equipped for either function after you've read it. The 104-page paperback volume is available from your Christmas Seal Association.

SERVE EXOTIC STEAK BARBECUE WITHOUT BURNING YOUR BUDGET

The next time you plan a barbecue, let them eat steak! You won't barbecue your budget with this recipe for Indonesian Family Steak, because you can buy a less expensive cut of beef and add the juicy tenderness yourself. Lean boneless top round is just as nutritious as an expensive cut, and it has great flavor. Adding your own "tender" loving care with instant meat marinade makes this one of the best beef buys for any family.

BARBECUED INDONESIAN FAMILY STEAK

4-6 servings

1 Family Steak, 3-3½ lbs. boneless top round, 2" thick
1 package Adolph's 15-minute Meat Marinade

¾ cup cold water

For Gado Gado Sauce:

½ cup peanut butter

¾ cup hot water

¾ teaspoon crushed red chili

pepper

2 tablespoons molasses

2 cloves garlic, minced

½ teaspoon lemon juice

3 tablespoons meat marinade (from package, above)

Slash fat edges of steak to prevent curling. Pour package contents of instant meat marinade into a shallow pan, reserving 3 tablespoons for Gado Gado Sauce. Add ¾ cup cold water and blend thoroughly. Place meat in marinade. Pierce all surfaces of the meat deeply and thoroughly with a kitchen fork to carry flavor deep and lock in natural juices. Marinate only 15 minutes, turning several times. Remove meat from marinade and let drain. Reserve remaining marinade for basting.

Barbecue steak on grill set 2 inches above hot coals (coals are ready when gray, shot with a ruddy glow), a total of 25 minutes for rare, 30 minutes for medium, turning and basting frequently with marinade.

To make Gado Gado Sauce: in a small saucepan combine peanut butter with hot water; add all other sauce ingredients. Simmer 5 minutes.

To serve: place steak on carving board. Using a sharp knife, carve steak in thin, diagonal slices across the grain, holding knife at 30° angle. Pour Gado Gado Sauce over slices.

Sure To Net Compliments

It's a game fish that swims upstream, an innovative cook who seeks new looks and tastes. She might rise to this bait offered by the Borden Kitchen. Spread halibut steaks with the tang of sour cream, cap with triangles of Wisconsin-American cheese slices, then ring with rosy canned tomatoes. With such an eye-appealing, palate-pleasing creation, there'll be no need to angle for kudos.

Canadian Halibut (Makes 6 servings)

6 halibut steaks, about 1-inch thick
Salt and pepper to taste
2 cups (1 pint) Borden sour cream
2 tablespoons fresh dill weed
4 cups (two 1-lb. cans) stewed whole tomatoes, drained
8 slices (one 8-oz. pkg.) Wisconsin pasteurized process American cheese slices

Place 3 steaks in a well-greased 2-1/2 quart deep baking dish. Season with salt and pepper. Spread half of the sour cream over fish. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon dill weed. Place remaining halibut steaks atop dill weed. Top with remaining sour cream. Season with salt and pepper. Arrange drained tomatoes around outer edge of baking dish. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven 30 minutes or until tomatoes are bubbly. Remove from oven. Cut cheese slices in half diagonally. Arrange cheese triangles over top. Place in broiler about 3-4 inches from source of heat. Broil 2-3 minutes or just until cheese begins to melt. Garnish with remaining dill weed.

KNOW YOUR INDIANA LAW

By

John J. Dillon, Attorney at Law
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Indiana law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

TRUTH IN LENDING

Many of you may have been startled recently to receive in your bills for charge accounts a statement that you are being charged more than 8% a year on unpaid balance. These statements were required by the Federal Truth in Lending Act, effective July 1 of this year. Under this new law, you are entitled to know the total dollar costs of any credit extended to you, the items for which you are charged and the dollar amount of each. The annual finance charge must be stated in a percentage amount after January 1, 1971. Until that time, the rate may be expressed as so many dollars per hundred dollars, of credit.

The amount of the finance charge must include not only interest, but any time price differential charged. A time price differential is the increase in cost of merchandise because of its purchase installments instead of its purchase by cash. Also included must be amounts payable under a point, discount or other system of additional charges. A service or carrying charge, a loan fee and credit investigation fee must be included if charged, as well as premiums for insuring your creditor against your default.

Premiums for life or accident and health insurance insuring the indebtedness, which the creditor requires will be separately stated in Indiana, because Indiana law gives you the option of furnishing insurance you already have, or of obtaining such insurance against loss of or damage to property or against liability arising out of its use or ownership will be included in the finance charge unless you are informed in writing of the cost if the creditor obtained the policy, and advised that you may choose the insurance agent or company if you desire to do so.

Fees to public officials to search their records or to file or record necessary papers and taxes will be either separately stated or included in the finance charge.

If you have used your real estate as security for your debt, certain normal charges are not required to be included as a part of the finance charge, such as fees for title examination or insurance, preparation of and notarizing of documents, appraisals and a crew for future payments of taxes and insurance. In this case, the costs of credit reports is not part of the finance charge.

Sounds complicated, doesn't it? And it is.

But the intention of this act is to let you know exactly how much money you are borrowing and how much it will cost. You can, if you read the papers carefully, now discover these two important amounts. With that information, you can shop for credit as you shop for an automobile or a can of tomatoe, and purchase credit at the lowest possible cost to you.

IS THE HIGHWAY COMING THROUGH YOUR LAND?

If right-of-way through your land is needed for State or U.S. highways, your property may be acquired through legal action handled by the Attorney General's Office.

Since you as an individual must turn over to the State as much of your property as is needed for rights-of-way, your Indiana Constitution has set up safeguards to protect your rights. The Legislature has written further safeguards into law.

The following procedures are those you may expect if your property is needed by the State. The State Highway Commission will make an offer for your land, value by real estate appraisers, based upon an estimate of its If you accept the offer, the sale will be completed at that price.

If you reject an offer to purchase, the State Highway Department will ask the Attorney General to "condemn" the land. The Sheriff of your county will notify you that a suit has been filed to determine the value of the needed land. A date will be set on which the court will approve or disapprove the taking of your property. If your only dispute with the State concerns the value of your land, the judge will on that date appoint three people from your county to appraise it independently and file their report with the court. If you consider the amount of the appraisal to be too low, or if the State considers it too high, you may have a jury determine the value. In order to protect your rights, the Legislature has established strict time limits for each of these actions.

The State must deposit with the court funds in the amount of the court-appointed appraisers' valuation. These funds must be available to you before the State can take possession of your property. However, that valuation represents only a tentative determination of value. The value is finally determined by a jury after evidence is heard as to the value of your property.

If you need some of the funds before the final value is determined, you may petition the court or them. The court will order payment of an amount not exceeding the State Highway Department's original offer without requiring you to post a bond or a written promise to repay. Should you desire to withdraw an amount in excess of the State's offer, then the court may require you to post a bond or written promise to repay in the event the verdict of the jury is less than the amount withdrawn.

Although some spectacular condemnation cases draw widespread publicity, the Highway Department acquires thousands of parcels of land on a friendly agreeable basis, 89% of all cases, without having to resort to court actions. The Attorney General's Office works on the sound constitutional principal that a citizen is entitled to "just compensation" when his land is taken.

Band Boosters Hold Board Meeting

Robert Flora, presided at the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Culver Community Band Boosters held in the Band room at Culver Community High School.

The newspaper and magazine sale which Band members will sponsor for the last time this fall was discussed. This drive will start about the middle of September.

Plans for the Senior Band to march in the Blueberry Festival Parade were announced and the difficulties of the bands marching during the summer vacation were discussed. When key musicians are on vacation, working, or in summer school it creates a very difficult problem. Mr. Byfield was commended for his work with the students.

The appointment of Agnes Shei as chairman of the Wardrobe committee was announced. Assisting her in the fitting and care of uniforms will be Maxine Herr and Peggy Shei.

Appointments for chairmen of Ways and Means Committee and Hospitality Committee will be announced in the near future.

The approval of the Board of Directors was given to the donation of $5.00 for the George Myers Project, a fund to be given to Mr. Myers upon his retirement as Executive Secretary of Northern Indiana School Band - Orchestra - Vocal Association. Mr. Myers has served in this post for 35 years, being responsible for the smooth operation of the Instrumental and Vocal contests held each year.

Plans were discussed for a Social Meeting for present and prospective members of the Band Boosters organization.
