A DIFFERENT STORY

THIS WEEK.

The Maroon and Cream Reforms and Wins a Hard Game.

Culver got into her old stride Saturday. The track team did things to South Bend Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon the base ball team defeated Englewood high school team in as pretty a game as one would care to look at. But very few errors were made and most of them contained extenuating features.

FIRST INNING.

Englewood at bat. Myers sent a grounder out to McQuaid and was thrown out at first. Turner was hit by a pitched ball and later stole second. Papick fanned. Johnston hit to right and Rockwell fielded the ball to the plate where Pearce caught Turner, retiring side.

Pope J. to second and the ball beat him to first, Schaff same, Pearce varied it by rolling one to Turner but the result was the same.

SECOND INNING.

Johnston bunted one to LeFever and lost out at first. Trowbridge and Wakely fanned.

McQuaid sent a high foul just where Reams found it most convenient to catch. Moeller rolled one to first. Rockwell had a short bat.

THIRD INNING.

Dolan sent a grounder down to Moeller and safely connected with the first base. Reams sailed one out far enough to give Henry Pope a put out and Myers did Moeller the same favor. Turner sawed.

Pope H. got his when Dolan caught his fly to deep center. LeFever followed to Myers. Wood struck out.

FOURTH INNING.

Papick flew out to Schaff. Pope H. dropped Johnston's long fly. Trowbridge cut a path as far as Moeller and beat it out to first. Wakely gave Pope H. a chance and he redeemed himself. Heitman hit safe to left scoring Johnston. With two men on bases LeFever fooled Dolan one, two, three.

Pope J. rolled one to first and out. Schaff hit to Johnston who threw low to Papick. Pearce did the very same trick and Johnston made the same wild throw. McQuaid landed on the first ball that came along and a loud war whoop went up as it mounted high in the air and started for the gym. It fell beyond the track scoring Schaff and Pearce and McQuaid was at third and breathing easy. Moeller and Rockwell flew out to Johnston and Heitman respectively.

FIFTH INNING.

Reams got a three base hit over Rockwell's head and Myers hit to left scoring Reams. Papick flew out to McQuaid who doubled with Pope J. at first catching Myers. Johnston dropped one in front of Moeller and the ball was in Pope's mit when he arrived.

Pope H. got under one and Wakely caught it after a fine sprint. LeFever walked. Wood sawed. Pope J. was up when LeFever was caught stealing second.

SIXTH INNING.

Trowbridge tried to roll one past Wood and was thrown out at first. Wakely hit a pop up to McQuaid. Heitman hit a slow grounder to Moeller who turned around twice (to get speed) and threw slow to first. Dolan up when Bunny and Wood apprehended Heitman attempting to purloin the second cushion.

Pope J. hit to infield safe. Schaff hit for two bases. Pearce got a hit scoring Pope and in the excitement Schaff stole third and Pearce stole second. McQuaid had hard luck again and fouled out. Moeller got a two base hit scoring Schaff and Pearce. Rockwell hit to infield and safe on Papick's error. Moeller slumbered at second and was caught. Rockwell immediately stole the base. (Base act) (worse joke.) Pope H. flew out to Turner who doubled with Heitman catching Rockwell and the baloon ascension was over.

SEVENTH INNING.

Heitman grounded to McQuaid and didn't finish his sprint to first. Dolan flew out to Moeller. Reams very foolishly sent one out where McQuaid could find it and the ball was at first long, long before him.

LeFever hit low to Johnston who presented himself with an error in not throwing it high enough for Papick to get it whereat Papick frowned and would have received ten demerits had he been a cadet. Wood rolled a little one to Papick. Pope did the very same stunt. Schaff hit one down along third and Turner fozzled his throw to first. Papick stopped the ball but LeFever connected with the plate while the excitement was at its height. Pearce rapped out at two base hit scoring Schaff. McQuaid slammed one out to Wakely who discourteously caught it.

EIGHTH INNING.

Myers hit to McQuaid and out at first. Turner gave LeFever a chance to see if he could throw to first and found that he could easily and quickly. Papick walked, Johnston hit safe to right field. Trowbridge land one away out over the territory guarded by Henry Pope scoring Turner and Papick. Wakely popped one up to McQuaid.

Moeller hit to left safe, Rockwell and Pope H. sawed. LeFever hit safe to left scoring Moeller and while the battery was busy stole second. Hill who had gone in in Wood's place flew out to Papick.

NINTH INNING.

Heitman sawed. Dolan reached first on Moeller's high throw to Pope J. only to be mowed down stealing second. Reams tried to get one past McQuaid. Foolish Reams.

Score: Culver 8; Englewood 4.

While we are moved to gratitude by the very favorable criticism of the Kewanna Herald inspired by our first issue, local pride and sensitiveness dictate a feeling of mild resentment against the aspersion cast at our city by the phrase "six-point" town. Culver has a resident population approximating 1,000, with a summer population of between 2000 and 3000, ten mercantile establishments, a bank, four churches, a military academy, second to West Point only, a lake which is recognized "gem" of Indiana, a graded school and a post-office of the presidential class; besides industrial enterprises of more or less importance. Does the editor of the Herald call Kewanna a "four point" or only a "three point" town?

WOMAN FIGURES IN YEAGER CASE

Young Man Is Said to Have Paid Attention to Many of the Fair Sex.

DEED MAY BE DUE TO JEALOUSY

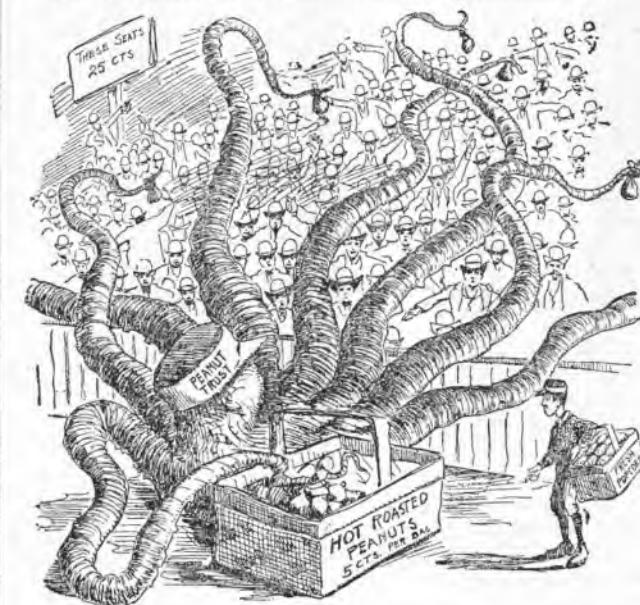

Said to Have Been Lured From His Sweetheart's Home by Former Affianced, Who Sought Revenge for Being Ignored by Her Lover.

Kokomo, Ind., dispatch: A woman lured Lewis Yeager to his death. He was killed by a woman or for a woman.

This became known when the coroner left hurriedly for Sharpsville after a conference with the prosecutor. The men charged with the crime, released on bail at the hearing, may be taken into custody again. It is alleged they committed the murder at the request of a jealous, angered or revengeful woman, who lured Yeager from his sweetheart's home in order that he might be slain.

It is learned that Yeager was seen in company with two women and two men about midnight, after he left his sweetheart, and four hours before his dead body was found in the carriage at his home.

Spoke to Yeager. Frank Burns, a farmer who lives near Sharpsville, spoke to Yeager as the four passed in the one carriage. They were going in a direction away from Yeager's residence in Oakford, although the victim of the murder had told his sweetheart, Miss Myrtle Finley, that he must leave for home earlier than she desired. "Because," he said, "it is getting late."

Yeager is known to have paid attentions to several young women, and arrests will be made as soon as the identity of the two with him on Sunday is established. One of these, says the authorities, knew of the enmity existing between Yeager and Logan Ingalls, Frank Eades and Charles Eades, the prisoners.

Meets a Woman.

One rode with Yeager in the carriage, while the other woman was left at her home. When Yeager turned about he was killed, the woman or the man beside him in the carriage firing the fatal shot. The bullet was in his left temple, where the pistol would have been presented had the assailant fired the shot when his victim was driving.

Oscar Pickering saw Yeager turn back when out of sight of the girl's home and go from the Sharpsville road. He did this by appointment with the woman who killed him or lured him to his death, for when next seen in front of the farm of Evans Pickering further south and farther away from his home was in the party of four.

Gathers Evidence.

A mile further south Fred Johnson, whose absence caused the hearing of the prisoners to be postponed, heard a shot fired at midnight, or about the time Yeager would have reached the spot. Johnson did not investigate, and a shower would have destroyed trace of the crime.

The body was then braced in the carriage and the faithful horse went home, arriving about 4 o'clock.

Coroner Harrison returned from the place now believed to have been the real scene of the murder. He said: "There is a woman in the case. An arrest will be made as soon as we consider it justified. The facts brought out by the farmers along Observatory Site.

Santiago, Chile, cable: The commission from the Lick Observatory of California, which arrived here April 23 to establish observation stations in Chile, has selected a site for an observatory on a hill near here.

Helen Gould for Unions.

Tarrytown, N. Y., dispatch: Miss Helen Gould has agreed to pay union wages to workmen on the $30,000 clubhouse she is building on Sheldon avenue for the young men.

Wonderful Dreams.

Baltimore, Md., special: By means of a series of dreams Mr. and Mrs. Jasper W. Clark have located and identified their daughter Ethel, who was kidnapped eighteen years ago and placed in an orphan asylum.

Tyner Is Failing.

Washington dispatch: Gen. Tyner, former assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, who is ill from nervous strain and exhaustion at his home, is daily growing weaker.

Yeager's course are startling, and may lead to the conviction of the men arrested or to the punishment of some not yet mentioned."

Prisoners Are Released.

Only three of the men arrested on the charge of murdering Lewis Yeager were arraigned before Justice Moreland. Lewis Eades was arrested by mistake and was released. Richard Eades has satisfied the officials he had nothing to do with the crime and he will not be arrested.

The prisoners arraigned were Frank and Dillard Eades and Logan Ingalls. After their preliminary hearing they were released under $3,000 bonds each, that for Logan Ingalls being signed by his father, John Ingalls, former court reporter, while Charles Eades, father, and friends signed the bond for the Eades boys.

Three of the most important witnesses summoned by the state failed to put in an appearance.

COUPLE BEATEN AND ROBBED

Farm Hand Is Arrested for Attacking Aged Man and Wife.

Freeport, Ill., dispatch: Some one entered the house of Ernest Stock and wife near Pearl City, in this county, beat them both over the head with a blunt instrument, fracturing their skulls, and afterwards stole $325. Mrs. Stock's recovery is in doubt. Both victims are over 80 years old. They lived alone.

Henry Sager, a farm hand living near by, was arrested for the crime. His clothes were bloody and money answering in amount and description to that stolen was found on his person. Footprints leading to and from the Stock home are identical with his.

The case is almost identical with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. John Babb three years ago and of John Bradshaw last winter. All lived in this vicinity in lonely farmhouses, all were aged Oakland Police Are Warned and Watch Over the Chief Executive.

IS GREETED BY LITTLE GIRLS

Mr. Roosevelt Shakes Hands With Small Admirers at Grub Gulch, Who Give Bouquets of Flowers—Talks to the Older People.

San Francisco, Cal., special: The police of Oakland, a suburb of this city, have admitted that they had been informed that there was a plot to assassinate President Roosevelt during his visit to that city.

This admission explains the extreme diligence which was exercised by the police department in guarding President Roosevelt during his journey through and visit in Oakland. Mayor Olney received a communication signed "K. N.," stating that two men named Charles Girardo and Antonio Polivino, the latter an Italian, who tried to kill the emperor of Austria before St. Stephen's church in Vienna on May 13, 1867, had agreed to meet at Girardo's house to discuss the killing of the president. The writer added:

"I heard that Girardo was in correspondence with Czolgosz at Los Angeles."

The police decline to go into further details regarding the matter, though it is hinted that the letter may be the work of a crank.

President Roosevelt got an early start for the Yosemite. He reached Raymond at 7:30 o'clock a. m. and there took a stage for the big tree country. A wakee was reached at 11:15. The ride from Raymond was a dusty one, and the members of the party presented a bedraggled appearance as the coaches drove up to the station.

Shakes Hands With Girl.

At Grub Gulch the president was presented with flowers by a number of little girls. He alighted from the stage and shook hands with his small admirers and spoke a few words of greeting to the grown-up folks assembled.

He arrived at the entrance of the Mariposa big tree grove at 4 o'clock p. m., where he was met by a detachment of horse and two forest rangers with two saddle horses. The president rode among the grand sequoias and through the park on horseback, accompanied by John Muir, who is familiar with the big tree country and the Yosemite national park.

HOLD-UP MEN USE REVOLVERS

Kill Man Who Attempts to Assist Their Victim.

Muscatine, Iowa, special: An attempt to hold up Thomas McCarthy's restaurant at West Liberty resulted in the death of Arthur Meade, who attempted to assist the proprietor. When the two robbers entered McCarthy and his partner were compelled to elevate their hands. Meade attempted to come to their assistance and was shot and killed. The robbers then fled and left town on a northbound train. A reward has been offered for their arrest.

Tenantry Greet Yarmouths.

London cable: The Earl of Yarmouth and his American bride took possession of his ancestral seat, Ragley Hall, near Alcester. The roads leading to the hall were gayly decorated by the tenantry.

Fear Sherman Law.

New York special: S. D. T. Dodd, general solicitor of the Standard Oil Company, declares the present hesitancy in the stock market is due to fear of the Sherman law.

Arrests Alleged Lynchers.

Caruthersville, Mo., special: Sheriff Franklin has returned from Portageville with six more prisoners charged with being members of the mob that killed Constable W. J. Mooneyhan and Rev. D. M. Malone.

Disapproves Lee Verdict.

Washington dispatch: Gen. Davis, commanding in the Philippines, has disapproved the findings of the court-martial which acquitted Lieut. Joel R. Lee of manslaughter.

COMBINATION IN OIL COVERS THREE STATES

Sixteen Concerns in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania Are Merged With $6,000,000 Capital.

Indianapolis, Ind., special: A gigantic gas and oil combination to include sixteen Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania concerns, capitalized at $6,000,000, will be incorporated in Pennsylvania at once. It will be known as the Pittsburg Gas and Oil Company.

The combination includes the following companies: Manufacturers Gas company, Indianapolis; Alexandria Gas company, Alexandria, Ind.; Marion Gas and Oil company, Marion, Ind.; Wabash Pipe Line company, Wabash, Ind.; Hartford Gas company, Hartford, City, Ind.; Clinton Oil company, Clinton, Pa.; Southern Oil company, Pittsburg, Pa.; Lancaster-Dewey Gas company, Lancaster, Ohio; Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company, Clarion, Ohio; Cameron Gas company, Cameron, W. Va.; River Gas company, Marietta, Ohio; Buckeye State Gas company, Columbus, Ohio; Corsicana Gas company, Corsicana, Ohio. Two smaller concerns are also in the deal.

The deal is a continuation of the concluded several months ago, when the Manufacturers Gas company of this city went out of the gas business. Theodore N. Barnsdale of Pittsburg is president of the new corporation.

IS SHOT AFTER COURT-MARTIAL

Indian Chief, Leader of Colombian Guerrillas, Is Executed.

Panama cablegram: Victoriano Lorenzo, the Indian chief who was a leader of guerrillas during the recent revolution and who was sentenced to death by a court-martial on various charges of having committed serious crimes while in the field, was executed by shooting. The shooting of Lorenzo has created a profound impression here, as it is the first execution for a political crime to occur in Panama. Lorenzo died bravely. Before he was shot he said he had only been an accomplice and not the principal in the crimes of which he was accused.

ABANDONED WIFE IS INSANE

Milwaukee Heir to Millions in Europe With His Mother.

Milwaukee, Wis., dispatch: Mrs. Emma Lonstorf was committed to the county insane hospital. Her husband, heir to the Lonstorf millions, abandoned her. The wife claimed this was done at the instigation of her mother-in-law. She sued Mrs. Margaret Lonstorf for $100,000 for the alienation of her husband's affections. Later she was committed as insane and then released. The doctors reported that her condition was worse and she was again formally committed. Otto Lonstorf, the husband, is with his mother in Europe.

PRINCE HENRY MAY COME AGAIN

Government Official Says Titled German Will Visit America.

Washington dispatch: Prince Henry of Prussia will make another trip to the United States. A prominent government official who is a friend of Prince Henry said that the prince would come to America in 1904. Prince Henry will not come in his official capacity, but incognito. He does not want to have public receptions and dinners and desires to travel as a private citizen. He will probably go as far as the Pacific coast.

A LOVE STORY BY AMELIA E. BARR

CHAPTER III.—(Continued.)

A short time after Cornelia came home, Doctor Moran returned from his professional visits. Nature had left the impress of her nobility on his finely formed forehead; nothing but truth and kindness looked from his candid eyes. On entering the room, he drew his wife close to his heart and kissed her affectionately.

"I have had a morning full of feeling. There is no familiarity with Death, however often you meet him."

"And you have met Death this morning, I see that, John?"

"You are right, Ava. I must now tell you that Elder Semple died this morning."

"The dear old man! He has been sick and sorrowful ever since his wife died. Were any of his sons present?"

"None of them. The two eldest have been long away. Neil was obliged to leave New York when the Act forbidding Tory lawyers to practice was passed. But he was not quite alone, his old friend Joris Van Heemskirk was with him to the last moment. The love of these old men for each other was a very beautiful thing."

"There is nothing to fear in such a death."

"Nothing at all. Last week when Cornelia and I passed his house, he was leaning on the garden gate, and he spoke pleasantly to her and told her she was 'a bonnie lassie.' Where is Cornelia?"

"In her room. John, she went to Duyckinck's this morning for me, and George Hyde met her again, and they took a walk together on the Battery."

"She told you about it?"

"Oh, yes, and without inquiry."

"When Madame Hyde was Katherine Van Heemskirk, and younger than you are, she had two lovers; one, Capt. Dick Hyde, and the other a young man called Neil Semple; and they fought a duel about her, and nearly cut each other to pieces."

"Aren't!"

"Oh, it is the very truth, I assure you! And while Hyde still lay between life and death, Miss Van Heemskirk married him; and as soon as he was able he carried her off at midnight to England; and there they lived in a fine old house until the war. Then they came back to New York and Hyde went into the Continental army and did great things, I suppose, for as we all know, he was made a general. And will you please only try to imagine it of Mrs. General Hyde! A woman so lofty! So calm! Will you imagine her as Katherine Van Heemskirk in a short, quilted petticoat, with her hair hanging in two braids down her back, running away at midnight with Gen. Hyde!"

"He was her husband. She committed no fault."

"Cornelia, shall I tell you why you are working so close to the window this afternoon?"

"You are going to say something I would rather not hear, Aren't?"

"Truth is wholesome, if not agreeable; and the truth is, you expect Lieut. Hyde to pass. But he will not do so. I saw him booted and spurred, on a swift horse, going up the river road. He was bound for Hyde Manor, I am sure. Now, Cornelia, you need not move your frame; for no one will disturb you. He will not be insinuating himself with violets and compelling you to take walks with him on the Battery. Oh, Cor-him afar off, and was at the door to give him a welcome.

"Joris, my dear one, we were talking of you!" she cried, as he leaped from the saddle to her arms. "So glad are we! Come in quickly! Well, are you? Quite well. Now, then, I am happy. Happy as can be! Look now, Richard!" she called, as she flung the door open, and entered with the handsome, smiling youth at her side.

In his way the father was just as much pleased. "Kate, my dear heart," he cried, "let us have something to eat. The boy will be hungry as a hunter after his ride. And George, what brings you home? We were just telling each other—your mother and I—that you were in the height of the city's follies."

"Indeed, sir, there will be few follies for some days. Mr. Franklin is dead, and the city goes into mourning."

"'Tis a fate that all must meet," said the General, "but death and Franklin would look each other in the face as friends—He had a work to do, he did it well, and it is finished. That is all. What other news do you bring?"

"It is said that Mirabeau is arrested somewhere for something, I did not hear the particulars. And the deputies are returning to the Provinces drunk with their own importance. Mr. Hamilton says 'Revolution in France has gone raving mad and converted twenty-four millions of people into savages.'"

"I hate the French!" said the General passionately. "It is a natural instinct with me. If I thought I had one drop of French blood in me, I would let it out with a dagger."

George winced a little. He remembered that the Morans were of French extraction, and he answered:

"After all, father, we must judge people individually. Mere race is not much."

"George Hyde! What are you saying? Race is everything. It is the strongest and deepest of all human feelings. Nothing conquers its prejudices."

"Except love. I have heard, father, that Love never asks 'of what race art thou?' or even 'whose son, or daughter, art thou?'"

"You have heard many foolish things, George; that is one of them. Men and women marry out of their own nationality at their peril. I took my life in my hand for your mother's love."

"She was worthy of the peril."

"God knows it."

(To be continued.)

PRIZES OF THE BRITISH BAR.

High Salaries and Large Fortunes Are the Rule.

The Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain is second only in position to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and he enjoys an income of £10,000 a year. The Lord Chief Justice of England has a salary of £8,000 a year. The Master of the Rolls has a salary of £6,000 a year, and the Lords of Appeal in Ordinary have the same. The Lord Justices of the Court of Appeal and the judges of the High Court earn £5,000 a year each. The masters of the High Court are chosen either from barristers or from solicitors, but all the other officeholders to whom we have alluded must have come from the bar.

The Attorney General makes much more money than any of these dignitaries. His salary is only £7,000, but he has fees as well, sometimes to a very large amount. The Solicitor General has £6,000 a year besides his fees. Of course, the double work, legal and parliamentary, which these officers have to undertake is most arduous, requiring an iron constitution and a mind that requires but little time for rest. The private practitioners in some few cases make larger incomes than any of the official persons at the bar. It is not, indeed, many who make salaries of five figures, but there may be always one or two leaders who are achieving this. The leaders who are chiefly before the public in ordinary cases do not often make more than £5,000 to £6,000 a year. Larger fortunes are frequently made by men who specialize in patent cases, who are engaged in rating appeals and compensation work, or who practice their profession at the parliamentary bar.—Cornhill Magazine.

Entry by Nomination in Navy.

The writer of an article in Page's Magazine on Lord Selborne's new scheme for the training of British naval officers makes some pointed remarks on the present methods of entry to the navy. He states that the proposed mode of entry by nomination is a relic of admiralty patronage, which the board is unwilling to relinquish; but, whether the admirals like it or not, it must soon go the way of all such antiquated privileges. Open competition is sure to come within the next few years. The result of this entry by nomination will be to keep the naval service—as far as the officers are concerned—in the family circles of the admiralty and their friends; so that parents without influence inside of that charmed circle will have no chance of getting their boys into the navy, however desirable the boys themselves may be, or however ready the parents may be to incur the heavy expense of educating their boys for the service of their country.

Fast Railway Time Promised.

Offices of the Transiberian railway will be opened shortly in Paris. Arrangements are nearly completed for the running of the new Russo-European express from Calais, which will enable travelers from England to reach Peking in fourteen days.

EXPENSIVE SUIT OVER A FLAG

Costs Are Piling Up in Dispute Over Evansville Lodge Standard.

A novel suit over a United States flag is on in the circuit court at Evansville. Justice Eben C. Poole and Frank Willes were members of a fraternal order that disbanded. Willes was the color-bearer and kept the flag. Poole was the highest officer in the lodge and demanded the standard. Willes refused him and Poole brought suit. The case was tried in a justice's court and has now been taken to a higher court. Already the costs in the case have amounted to ten times the worth of the flag. Poole says he will take the case to the supreme court of the United States if necessary.

GREAT OUTPUT OF BLOCK COAL

Miners Are Working Double the Usual Time at Present.

There is an exceptional activity among the miners of the block coal mines in Brazil, the output being greater now than at the same time during any previous year. The employees are receiving from four to five days' work each week, when two or three days is the usual time during June. The operators are preparing for a heavy business this fall, and will open mines to their full capacity by July 1, two months earlier than ever before. They are receiving orders now for delivery during that month, which is evidence that people over the country are laying in fuel early to escape the suffering of last winter.

Wants Tax Penalty.

The Pennsylvania Railway Company made a tender as first installment on taxes something over $12,000, but as the voucher was 70 cents short, the county treasurer at Richmond sent it back for correction. The company failed to make good within the law, and the treasurer now holds that the tax is delinquent and he proposes to collect the penalty. The company will resist in the courts.

Fire at Millersburg.

A spark from a passing locomotive on the Lake Shore railway set fire to the covered bridge at Millersburg and the villagers had difficulty in preventing the destruction of their property, a high wind carrying the blazing embers into the village. ## Test Teachers' Wage Law.

Several teachers in York township have joined in a suit to test the teachers' wage law, providing for pay on the basis of two and one-half times the percentage of grades in securing licenses. ## FARMER FINDS HIS LOST GOLD.

Money Was Buried Eighteen Years Ago Underneath a Bush.

Samuel Debaun found several hundred dollars in gold on his place south of Tangier. It seems that eighteen years ago he sold a piece of property, for which he received $515 in gold, and, postponing the trip to Rockville to bank the money, he buried it back of his house, near a gooseberry bush. Several days afterward a careful search failed to reveal the money, and Debaun concluded some one had stolen it. Recently he has been building a fence in the location of the lost gold, and in a hole dug for one of the posts, Debaun's grandchildren saw something bright and shining, and took it to their mother, who found it to be $120 in gold. Further search at the same place resulted in finding all but $80 of the original $515.

Horse Story.

Tax Collections are Good.

One result of taxpaying at the county seat of Lawrence demonstrates that there is plenty of money. Treasurer West reports collections the past month $5,000 in excess of April of last year.

"Cornelia shall not have anything to do with him."

"Very good. I must look after that young fellow." But he said the words without much care, and Mrs. Moran was not satisfied.

"Then you do not disapprove the meeting, John?" she asked.

"Yes, I do. George Hyde has too many objectionable qualities. His father is an Englishman of the most pronounced type and this young man is quite like him. I want no Englishman in my family."

"There have been many Dutch marriages among the Morans."

"That is a different thing. The Dutch, as a race, have every desirable quality. The English are natural despots. The young man's faults are racial; they are in the blood. Cornelia shall not have anything to do with him. Why do you speak of such disagreeable things, Ava?"

"It is well to look forward, John."

"No. It is time enough to meet annoyances when they arrive. As for the Hydies, father and son, I would prefer to hear no more about them."

Nothing further was said on the subject, but the doctor looked more attentively at his daughter than was usual with him. He was more silent than ordinary, and as he went out, told Cornelia she would do well not to appear in public.

"The city is in mourning," he said, "and respectable women who have no real business or duty to take them from their homes will pay the reverence of seclusion in them until after Franklin's funeral."

A couple of hours later Cornelia was sitting at her tambour-frame, passing her needle slowly through and through the delicate muslin. She was desiring no companionship, when Arenta entered with her usual little flurry and rustle. Arenta kissed her friend and took off her hat and cloak, saying, as she did so:

"I have been at Aunt Angelica's all morning—and we talked a great many people over—that is, Aunt Angelica talked."

"Now, I can tell you something worth hearing about Gen. Hyde. Listen!"

nella! you see I am not to be put out of your confidence. Why did you not tell me?"

"You have given me no opportunity, and, as you know all, why should I say any more about it?"

"Cornelia, my dear companion, let us be honest, if we die for it. And you may as well tell me of your little coquetries with George Hyde, for I shall be sure to find them out. Now I am going home; for I must look after the tea table. But you will not be sorry, for it will leave you free to think of—"

"Please, Arenta!"

"Very well. I will have 'considerations.' Good-bye!"

Then the door closed and Cornelia was left alone. But the atmosphere of the room was charged with Arenta's unrest and a feeling of disappointment was added to it. She suddenly realized that her lover's absence from the city left a great vacancy. She had a new strange happiness, new hopes, new fears and new wishes; but they were not an unmixed delight, for she was also aware of a vague trouble, a want that nothing in her usual duties satisfied—in a word, she had crossed the threshold of womanhood and was no longer a girl.

CHAPTER IV.

Throwing Things Into Confusion.

Prudence declares that whenever a person is in that disagreeable situation which compels him to ask what shall I do? that the wisest answer is, "nothing." But such answer did not satisfy George Hyde. He was so much in earnest, so honestly in love, that he felt his doubts and anxieties could only be relieved by action. "I will go to my mother!" he thought. And this resolution satisfied him so well, that he carried it out at once. But it was after dark when he reached the tall stone portals of Hyde Manor House.

The great building loomed up dark and silent; there was but one light visible. It was in his mother's usual sitting room, and as soon as he saw it he began to whistle. She heard

Judge Capron is building a new addition to his house and improving things in general.

The work of placing the foundation for the new train shed at the Pennsylvania depot is going forward rapidly.

An exciting runaway took place on Michigan street on Friday. A horse standing in front of Shadel's drug store became detached from a delivery wagon, apparently the shaft bolts or clips gave way and the horse becoming frightened ran south with lines and shafts flying in the air. He took the foot walk across the iron bridge and about one block south from the bridge he fell, rolled over and regaining his feet he started back in the direction from which he came. He ran through the business part of town taking in the street and sidewalk alternately. No great damage was done.

Death of Mrs. Ed Cavender.

Hannah E. Cavender died at her home at Rutland at 6:35 p. m., Friday May 8. Her health had been very poor for many years. She was taken suddenly worse with apoplexy and died soon after. She was born in Fairfield county, Ohio, December, 31st, 1825, and was aged 77 years, 4 months and 8 days. She moved from Ohio to White county, Ind., in the fall of 1840. She was married to Edward Cavender, March 11, 1851. They moved to Marshall county in March 1853 and located in Union township near where the Poplar Grove church now stands and has lived in that vicinity ever since. Mrs. Cavender's maiden name was Wickizer. She was a sister of Pulaski Wickizer, south of Rutland; Jefferson, just south of Plymouth; Jacob of Argos; James and Andrew deceased; and Mrs. John Zehner, of Argos. Mrs. Cavender was the mother of six children, of whom four are living. They are Mrs. C. M. Slayter, Mrs. Ziba Trust, John C. and Jacob Cavender. One daughter, Mrs. John Gurthet, died March 29, 1897. Mrs. Cavender has been a member of the M. E. church for over forty years. While she has been in poor health for years she never lost her faith, never complaining, always willing to bear the burdens of this life without a murmur and died in peace.

A Profitable Pursuit.

Jacob Meyers, living northeast of Culver, sold recently two Poled Durham heifers to a man living near Medaryville, Ind. Mr. Myers informs us that he received $100 each for the calves. We remember hearing Mr. Myers speak of $100 calves at a Dairy meeting held here a few months ago and some of the farmers rather questioned the accuracy of the statement. Well bred stock, well cared for, always brings a fancy price and it is to be regretted that so few of our farmers devote their time and attention to the breeding and care of their stock. Our progressive neighbor is thoroughly posted in this line, therefore he is continually improving his herd and now has some as fine animals as can be found in the state.

THE CULVER CITIZEN, formerly Culver City Herald, comes to our table in an improved form, being enlarged to a six column quarto. We congratulate the new proprietors in the neat appearance of their publication.—Hobart Gazette.

THE CULVER CITIZEN, volume 1, number 1, has reached this office. THE CITIZEN is published by J. H. Koontz & Son, is a six column quarto and is the successor of the Herald, formerly the property of George Neapass.—Starke County Republican.

The initial number of the CULVER CITIZEN, the successor of the Culver City Herald has been received at our desk. It is newsy well gotten up and all right in every particular except the "fear and trembling" which Editor Koontz in his salutatory says he feels over the undertaking. He has a host of friendly readers. The paper is to be independent in politics.—Plymouth Chronicle.

THE CULVER CITIZEN, the new paper of J. H. Koontz & Son, which takes the place of the Culver Herald is on our table. It is a six column quarto, bright and newsy, is printed from new type on a power press and looks neat and clean. It is non-partisan in politics and will be devoted to the interests of Culver and vicinity. It deserves support.—Plymouth Tribune.

THE CULVER CITIZEN, Vol. 1, No. 1, came to our exchange table this week. THE CITIZEN is edited and managed by J. H. Koontz & Son. This new publication takes the place of the Herald which was published by Geo. Neapass. We congratulate the new firm on the good paper they are presenting to their patrons, and wish them the full measure of success.—Bourbon Advance.

J. H. Koontz, who recently bought the Culver Herald subscription list, has installed a Taylor cylinder press, entire new outfit of type, enlarged to a six column quarto and changed the name to THE CITIZEN. The first issue is bright clean and newsy and contains ten columns of advertising. THE CITIZEN is a hummer but we never saw a 12 point paper live long in a 6 point town. However we wish THE CITIZEN great success.—Kewanna Herald.

Accident Near Donaldson.

An Italian working on the construction train, was injured near Donaldson Wednesday at 4:30. He slipped and fell between the cars and his right leg was so crushed that it was necessary to amputate it. Dr. Aspinall, the company surgeon, assisted by Dr. Borton, performed the operation. The left foot was badly crushed but saved to the man. He was taken to Fort Wayne by Dr. Hitchcock. He will recover.

Last Saturday a farmer living five miles west of Rochester marketed his produce here. Culver is the best produce market in the state and the farmers are beginning to find it out. The territory from which Culver is drawing trade is three times as large as it was a few years ago.

Argos Commencement.

The seventeenth commencement of the Argos high school was held at Huff's opera house, May 15, 1903. The music was furnished by the Argos orchestra and was well received. The class address, "The Paramount Issue" was delivered by M. E. Ashcroft, of Fostoria, and was interesting as well as instructive. He made a comparison between Fostoria and Argos in which he said Fostoria a town of twenty-five thousand inhabitants had a graduating class of twenty-six and Argos a mere village in comparison with Fostoria graduated a class of fourteen. One may readily see that the Argos people fully realize the value of education.

The class of 1903 of the Plymouth high school attended the exercises and the cordiality with which they were entertained was much appreciated.

Common School Commencement.

The commencement exercises of Union township schools will take place in the Culver Methodist church on May 23rd at 8 o'clock. There are twenty-six graduates, nine being from Culver. The address of the evening, "The Evolution of Man," will be given by M. E. Bogarte, professor of elocution of Valparaiso Normal. Music will be furnished by the Culver Military Academy orchestra.

Lake View Opens.

R. W. McCoy, of St. Lewis, was in town last week looking after the repairs being done on the Lake View hotel. Mr. McCoy will manage the Lake View for the season and will open up about May 25th or 26th, so as to be able to accommodate the public during commencement at the academy.

W. C. T. U.

What is the Woman's Christian Temperance Union? This question is being asked by some of our people. A few words with reference to its origin, object and work is considered in place.

It is an organization of Christian women banded together for the protection of home, the abolition of the liquor traffic, and the triumph of Christ's golden rule in custom and law.

It is the lenial descendant of the great woman's temperance crusade of 1873-74.

In December, 1873, under the inspiration of an address delivered by Dio Lewis, of Boston, the women of Hillsboro, Washington Court House and other Ohio towns, were moved to concerted action against the saloon, and in fifty days, the whirlwind of their enthusiastic efforts swept the liquor traffic out of two hundred and fifty towns and villages.

On December 15, 1873, at Fredonia, N. Y., the first local W. C. T. U. of the U. S. was organized at Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 18 to 20, 1874. Of this organization Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer, of Philadelphia, was elected president, and the ever memorable Frances E. Willard, of Chicago, corresponding secretary.

March 1, 1883; in Washington, D. C., this organization was incorporated. The growth of this organization has been very rapid. It has sixty-two auxiliary unions; fifty-four of them are states, six are territorial, and the other two are the District of Columbia and Hawaii. It is the largest society ever composed exclusively of women and conducted by them. It has now been organized in every state and territory of the nation, and locally in about ten thousand towns and cities.

This organization has for its object the moral education of the young, the formation of a better sentiment for righteousness, the reformation, so far as possible by religious, ethical and scientific means, of the fallen, especially the drinking classes, and the inculcation of the gospel of the golden rule into the customs of society and laws of the land. The fruits of the labor of this organization have been abundant and satisfactory.

It is confessedly one of the chief factors in state campaigns for statutory prohibition and constitutional amendments, and for securing the enactment of other reform laws, especially for the protection of girls. It began the movement for scientific temperance education in the public schools, having been instrumental in securing laws to that end in all but one of the states, and besides this it has secured congressional legislation by means of which all territories and the District of Columbia are brought under the same beneficent statutes. Its efforts to reach the pauper and the prisoner, to establish reformatories and homes for the wretched victims of inebriety and their suffering children must appeal to every heart.

More Fish.

Last Thursday the United States fish commissioner's special car arrived with 10,000,000 pike perch, commonly called wall-eyed pike, on board. 8,200,000 or 85 tanks full, were put in old Lake Maxinkuckee under direction of Capt. Ed. Morris. They were dumped in water from 20 to 40 feet deep and an average temperature of 54 degrees. These small fish came from Put-in-Bay on Lake Erie, and were about one-fourth of an inch long and from a spectators stand point seem to consist chiefly of eyes. Maxinkuckee is chief of the few stocked lakes of Indiana. We are reliably informed that a number of bass will be sent here later in the season. The small fish put in Thursday were 48 hours old and it will be three years before they are old enough to use as food. The car had on 500,000 fish for South Bend and 500,000 for Rochester.

Mrs. L. C. Wiseman and son, Lon, were at Plymouth Saturday.

FROCKS AND FRILLS FOR THE FAIR

Novelties in Velvets.

One of the new velvets has a watered effect, obtained by a stamping of white on a dark ground. Another novelty is the point d'esprit velvet, whose ground has the appearance of a network sprinkled with little dots. Then there is the astrakhan and peau de Mouton velvet, which is made to imitate the curls and waves of the fur after which it is called. Among the new colors are the delicate soft tush and palm greens, camoisi and grenadier reds, the lovely scale of violets, Sevres blue, cornflower, platinum gray, Cossack green, which is nearly black, and the more subdued shades, such as heaver, fawn and oyster. Plain velvet is preferred for elaborate and ceremonious costumes, but for day frocks there is absolutely no limit to choice.

Gift for a Bride.

A very practical bridal gift was recently made by a clever girl, and tucked into the traveling bag of the young wife. This is what it was: A little bag of dainty flowered ribbon, lined with soft pink silk. The bottom, oval in shape, was stiffened with cardboard, and the top was shirred and tied with narrow pink ribbon. Inside were spools of thread, needles, pins, thimble and a tiny pair of scissors. The whole affair was very small and the contents only intended for emergency use—the stitch in time. Just an ordinary sewing bag, to be sure, but a priceless boon to the bride, who blessed the giver many times over when she tore the braid off her dress for some time. Salt acts upon the fiber and prevents it giving out all its nourishing properties.

Save old corks and soak them in paraffin and they will make excellent fire lighters, either for reviving a drying fire or with a few sticks for kindling one in the first place.

Girl's Gibson Dress.

So-called Gibson dresses, or those made with plaits over the shoulders that give a broad effect, always are becoming to little girls and are much in style. This stylish one combines the familiar waist with a side plaited skirt and is both new and attractive.

The plaits are wide and extend over the shoulders, concealing the arm-eye seams, but are so laid as to give a tapering effect to the figure. The closing is made invisibly at the left russet tints are grouped in a large bunch toward the left side of a dark-blue sailor hat. This sailor is not of straw, but of dark-blue linen, lined with crinoline and further stiffened by the application of several lines of machine stitching, which follow the contour of a rather wide brim. A narrow bias-cut band of linen is tightly drawn around the crown. There is no other trimming of any kind.

A Dainty Morning Gown.

A very dainty morning gown is made in two pieces. The skirt is made of white dotted swiss muslin trimmed with two deep, snaped ruffles, the ruffles being edged with pale blue taffeta bands.

The sacque is of pale blue taffeta, with a broad collar of the taffeta edged with dotted swiss, and deep turn-over cuffs of the same on the bell sleeves. It is fastened in front by white porcelain buttons decorated with pink rose buds.

How Plumes are Worn.

The long feather trailing down one side of a hat at the back of the ear is going out, and it is now the thing to have one on each side of the hat, if the latter be of the flat, broad-brimmed style. Many of the plumes worn thus resemble aigrettes turned upside down.

A Dainty Little Frock.

A pretty model for a ten-year-old girl is of yellow and white linen, with bands of black Russian embroidery.

DEBUTANTES' GOWNS OF THIS SEASON.

and found the small condensed workshop ready to help out.

A New Kind of Nougat.

Put three-quarters of a pound each of granulated sugar and strained honey in a saucepan, place over a gentle fire and boil until quite brittle. Add the beaten white of one large egg. Then stir in a little orange essence, if the mixture is not sticky, and mix in three-quarters of a pound of sweet almonds, blanched and dried. Mix well together and spread out on oiled papers in layers two inches thick; place between two boards and put a heavy weight on top and let remain until cold, then cut in short, narrow strips.

Silk Mull for Summer.

Silk mull is to be one of the dress materials for the season not only for evening gowns but also for almost any afternoon occasion. Silk mull is really strong and does not crush and will stand much wear. If the color is good and it is judiciously trimmed one can keep such a dress all summer in fair condition. It does not crush or grow limp. By judicious trimming is meant the trimming around the bottom should be something that can be removed for cleaning or else be black lace.

Use bacon fat for basting or frying chicken or game. It imparts a delicate flavor.

To cool a mold of jelly quickly place it in a vessel full of cold salted water and set it in a cool cellar.

A too large cork will often fit a bottle quite well after it has been soaked in boiling water for a few minutes.

Pastry should be cooled off in a warm room; taking it suddenly from the oven to a cold larder will make it heavy.

When cooking acid fruits if a small pinch of carbonate of soda be added less sugar will be needed and the flavor will be greatly improved.

Turpentine will cleanse zinc and make it look like new. Wash the zinc first in hot soda water and then rub with a flannel dipped in turpentine.

When making beef tea never add the salt till the meat has been cooking shoulder and beneath the plait at the left side of the front. The sleeves are in bishop style with straight cuffs. The skirt is laid in backward turning side plaits that meet at the back and form a wide box plaited effect at the front. It is seamed at the waist and closes at the left of the center beneath the plait.

The quantity of material required for the medium size (8 years) is 5½ yards 27 inches wide of 3¼ yards 44 inches wide.

Airy Fashions.

Fashion seems averse to anything cumbersome or heavy in the way of trimming. Small flowers arranged in airy sprays and garlands are popular. Hats this spring will be faced with silk or gauze flower petals. For bows, the thinnest of taffeta, gauze, mousseline and lace are most in request. In fact, Dame Fashion has decreed that this is to be an airy, gossamer summer.

Attractive New Styles.

Gray cloth gowns are among the newest fashions, made with deep flounces or bands of gray squirrel, and with blouse or jacket of the same fur. Bolero jackets, with facings of ermine and finished with ruffles of white lace, are attractive and expensive enough to insure their popularity.

Sailor Hat Flowers.

Nasturtiums, glowing with orange, scarlet, marigold yellow and tawny

A single band borders the short, full skirt. The bodice is blouse shaped, with a square cut neck opening over a glimpse of fine all-over embroidery. The square opening is outlined by a band of the embroidery. The belt is of the embroidery and two rows ornament the puffed sleeves.

Collars of Mechlin Lace.

Round, deep collars of white taffeta, appliqued with Mechlin lace, are among the dressy novelties that are intended to adorn froulled silk frocks for the coming spring and summer season.

Shot silks are again in vogue for strapping and trimmings.

Simplicity is hardly the keynote of the debutante's gown this year.

Plaids as trimming are much seen and are to be had in velvet and panne as well as silk and wool.

For evening wear it is considered very modish to have shoes and stockings to match the gown worn.

Black and white is very smart for evening gowns, a touch of color being supplied by very large roses of chiffon or velvet.

Fur yokes show in a few of the handsomest street gowns, with which fur-trimmed hats and large muffs are smart details.

HORTICULTURE

The Larder Beetle.

J. P. Aberli, a Kentucky reader of the Farmers' Review forwards a little beetle and says: "Here is a bug that a neighbor brought me, asking what could be done to destroy same. It gets through cotton sacks and eats holes in hams, with the result that small skippers appear. What can be done to exterminate them?"

We forwarded the insect to the Kentucky Experiment Station and received the following reply:

To the Farmers' Review:—The insect enclosed with the communication from Mr. Aberli is a small beetle about one-fourth inch long, black, with a gray area at the bases of the front wings. It is well known everywhere as the Larder Beetle (Dermestes lardarius), and feeds upon dead animal matter of various sorts. It is at times very destructive to preserved skins, and attacks hams as noted by your correspondent. The young is not a "skipper," however, but a rather hairy worm that can creep, but never leaps. These worms commonly live on the outside of preserved meat, but penetrate it when ready to become pupae. The adult beetles enter dwellings in the spring, and then place their eggs on anything that will afford food to their young. They may be kept out by the use of screens, such as are used for flies and mosquitoes. But once on meat they should be removed by trimming away the infested parts, and then putting the meat where the adults cannot get to it. Under some circumstances it is possible to rid objects of the insects by fumigating with bisulphide of carbon. This is especially good for infested skins, and may be used without danger of injuring dried meats.—H. Garman, Entomologist.

Energy in Fighting Insects.

Spraying is not something that can wait on everything else, or, in fact, anything else, says Prof. F. M. Webster. When the time comes, it must be done promptly or good results cannot be secured with the most effective insecticides. It seems, sometimes, as though there was a human aversion to spraying or, indeed, fighting insects at all, at the proper time, and that it took a lot of stamina to pull one's self together and put forth the effort at the right time and in the right manner. I do not know whether this is due to the fact that they are frequently so minute, or whether it is because we have insects always with us, and familiarity breeds contempt. Certain it is that the contempt and neglect are common everywhere among our people, and I do not know that they are worse in one state than in another.

Plant Pears in Sod.

From Farmers' Review: We have found by experience that pears should always be planted in stiff sod and not even be mulched with straw. Coal ashes may be put around them but never spade around them, as not spading will cause them to grow slower, but not blight like those of quicker growth. We planted about 75 pear trees some eight or ten years ago. Those which we planted in cultivated land are nearly all dead, while those planted in stiff sod have given more fruit than all the rest. They blight but little, grow very slowly and do not seem to need cutting the tops back. I think it is also a benefit never to trim them, except to cut out dead branches; but those set in stiff sod have scarcely any dead branches.—Mrs. L. C. Axtell.

Keeping Dirt Out of Milk.

The greatest of efforts should be put forth to keep dirt out of milk, in the milking; for after it is once in, removal in toto is absolutely impossible. In our sanitary milk dairies, covered milk pails are being quite largely used. In a test at the Storrs Station it was found that milk drawn into such a pail was cleaner than being strained than milk drawn into an open pail and afterwards strained. In one test the amount of dirt in the milk where a covered pail was used was 37 per cent of the amount, where the milk was drawn into an open pail. When the latter milk was strained less than half of the dirt was removed, it being estimated that 53 per cent remained. This was 16 per cent more than the total dirt in the other milk. When the latter was strained, the amount would be still further reduced. When milk is drawn into an open pail a very large number of acid ferments get in from the air. The strainer removes few of these. In a test at the station mentioned above only 17 per cent of these acid ferments bacteria could be removed by the strainer. But acid ferments are not harmful and their exclusion is of not much moment. What we do need to keep out of the milk is the whole array of disease producing germs, which so often thrive in the filth of the stables. We would advise the use of the partly covered pail in all milking, as thereby the exclusion of much undesirable matter from the milk is certain.

One method of soil impoverishment is milk shipping with no provision for keeping up the land. This is a kind of dairying that does not keep up the fertility of the farm.

CHICAGO, Ill.—

When I received the sample of Doan's Kidney Pills I was suffering terribly with my back, was sick and unfit to do anything. The several remedies I had used, though highly recommended, did no good, but rather irritated the trouble and made me worse. Before I had used the sample I was feeling so much better that I got more from the drug store. I could not sleep at night. Had to get up six or eight times, and the urine was so red, would almost think it was part blood—there was a thick sand, like brick-dust sediment. I cannot tell you how much better I felt now that I am cured by Doan's Kidney Pills; but here I am, sixty-six years old, able to do my usual work, feeling well as I did twenty years ago, for which I thank Doan's Kidney Pills ten thousand times.—Mrs. E. ## SORENESS AND STIFFNESS

Price, 25c. and 50c.

Mrs. F. Wright, of Oelwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — compared with it, all other medicines for women are experiments.

Why has it the greatest record for absolute cures of any female medicine in the world? Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work among women for a quarter of a century? Simply because of its sterling worth. The reason that no other medicine has ever reached its success is because there is no other medicine so successful in curing women's ills. Remember these important facts when a druggist tries to sell you something which he says is just as good.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work for three or four days; I work in a large store, and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse.

"At the suggestion of a friend of my mother's I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctor's bills without getting any help as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them.—Yours truly, ADELAIDE PRAHL, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City."

Women should not fail to profit by Miss Adelaide Prahl's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so certainly will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure others who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration; remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and always helpful.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

To the Pole in Open Boat.

An interesting attempt is to be made to locate the magnetic pole by means of a small boat, and a crew of eight men, under the command of Capt. Arndsen.

The boat is being fitted out for the expedition at Christiania, and she will depend upon propulsion from both sail and a small naphtha motor, of sufficient power to supply a speed of five knots per hour.

She will carry a reserve supply of fuel sufficient for 100 days' steady use, though of course she will be mainly dependent upon her canvas.

The expedition will set out in April, and it is intended, if possible, to remain in the ice four years. Owing to the diminutive size of the vessel, she will not be able to carry a large supply of provisions, but it has been arranged to obtain further supplies from time to time from the Dundee whalers.

A station will be set up and furnished with self-recording instruments, which will collect scientific data. The members of the expedition will make journeys for geographical and other investigations.—Scientific American.

An Old Lady's Discovery.

Garnett, Ark., May 18th.—For 18 years Mrs. Mary Dunlop of this place has suffered with kidney trouble, which was so bad at times that it made her life a burden. She tried much medicine and many treatments, but got no better.

At last, however, Mrs. Dunlop claims to have found a perfect remedy, and she is so pleased at the wonderful cure she herself has received, that she is telling all her friends and praising the medicine to everyone she meets.

The name of this medicine is Dodd's Kidney Pills, and it has done wonderful work for Mrs. Dunlop.

Everybody is talking about it, and some people are claiming to have been cured of Rheumatism by it.

A Mrs. Garrett who lives in Brazil, this state, was at the point of death with some Cerebro-Spinal trouble and was saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

It is certain that no other medicine ever introduced here has done so much good in such a short time.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

A Musical Performance.

The man had attended a musical party and the next morning met a friend who lived next door.

"I was at a delightful affair at your neighbor's last night," he said.

"Yes, I heard something going on there. What was it?"

"The execution of a number of musical selections by the young lady."

"Oh, it was an execution, was it?" said the friend in a tone of relief. "I am glad to hear it was no worse. It sounded to me like a murder."—Comfort.

Submarine Sport.

Charlie Finn—Well, how did the ten-his match come out?

Willie Gill—It didn't come out. We hadn't more than got started before some fool fisherman came along and drew in the net.

Her Little Hint.

Tess—There goes Ursula Hope with Jack Timmid.

Jess—Yes, she's setting her cap at him.

Tess—Do you really think she cares for him?

Jess—Yes, indeed! You know her full name is Ursula May Hope. Well, she signs all her letters to him now, "U. May Hope."—Stray Stories.

Not for His Reading.

"Do you choose for yourself the books you read, my boy?"

"Sure."

"But how do you know what to avoid?"

"Oh, I've all their names here."

"Their names?"

"You bet. It's in this list of 100 best books for boys to read."

Up to the Old Tricks.

"These college boys beat me," said St. Peter, as he looked the gate for the night.

"What's the matter now?" queried the man who was being fitted with a pair of wings.

"Why, I let in a batch a while ago and they no sooner got in than they began to pitch quoits with their halos."

Feminine Reasoning.

Postal Clerk—You'll have to put another stamp on that letter.

Miss Pert—Why?

Postal Clerk—Because it's over-weight.

Miss Pert—But, gracious! Another stamp would make it still heavier.—Magazine of Humor.

Fine Point.

Miss Worry—That man seems to be ailing.

Expert—Ale' nuttin', mum! Dat's beer!

Both of Them.

Guest (at dinner)—"Ah! that's good old ale. Pardon my asking, but where did you get it?"

Subbubs—"Home brewed."

Guest—"Really? The chicken is delicious, too. Is it one of your own raising?"

Subbubs—"Yes, home brood."

Good Enough Reason.

Casey—Don't say: "O! ain't done nothin'."

Cassidy—An' why not?

Casey—Because it's not good English.

Cassidy—Shure, O!m glad to hear it, fur nuyther am O!

They Saw the Point.

"My friends," said a politician the other day, with a burst of ingenious eloquence, "I will be honest—"

The terrific outburst of applause which followed this remark entirely upset the point which the orator was about to introduce.

Not Very Catching.

"I understand that in Russia they disinfect their money every now and then. Seems to me that would be a good idea for this country to try."

"Oh, I dunno. I never noticed that money here was alarmingly contagious."

REICHLIN CASE IS REOPENED

Coroner French Will Have Body Exhumed for Further Examination.

DOCTORS SAY GIRL WAS CHOKED

Casimir Reichlin Said to Have Seen the Slayer of His Sister and to Have Been Threatened by Him on the Night of the Murder.

Lorain, O., dispatch: The inquiry into the murder of Agatha Reichlin will be reopened and Coroner French has announced that he will exhumate the body of the murdered young woman for further examination.

This action is the result of new evidence, two physicians having asserted they believe the young woman was choked to death and a bartender having told the police that Father Walser has said Casimir Reichlin had seen and been threatened by the murderer.

Noah Spradling, the bartender at the Armstrong hotel, was summoned to police headquarters. He is the man who sold Casimir Reichlin a gallon of whisky for Father Walser on the night of the murder. When put in the "sweat box" Spradling told the police that Father Walser had said to him on the day following the murder that the murderer, as he was leaving the house by way of the attic, had threatened both him and Casimir Reichlin with the stone he carried.

"The Rev. Mr. Walser," said Spradling, "came into the hotel on the afternoon of the day the murder was discovered. I spoke to him about the murder. I asked why two men like himself and Casimir did not attack the intruder. He said: 'The murderer came into the room and held a stone over my head in a threatening attitude. When I told him to get out of there he backed into Agatha's room and threatened to kill the first man who approached him.'"

Testimony Conflicts.

Two other men who heard Father Walser's statement say they got the impression that Casimir Reichlin was included in the priest's description of the affair.

This was a surprise to the police, inasmuch as Casimir had testified at the inquest that he had neither heard nor seen the murderer; that the priest alone saw him and that he escaped before Casimir was awakened by the priest.

The decision to exhumate the body of Agatha Reichlin was arrived at by Coroner French, who is not satisfied with the autopsy. Dr. Cox reported there were no signs of violence on the body, aside from the wound on the head, which caused death. Coroner French now says there were bruises upon the throat as if she had been choked, and also a bruise upon one wrist. This is verified by the statement of Police Captain Ketchum.

Blood in Stomach.

The health officer also reported that he found a gallon of blood in the woman's stomach. The coroner says such a quantity of blood could only have come from a ruptured artery in the throat, as it would have passed out through the nose and mouth if it had come from a wound in the head. It is probable Father Walser will be summoned as a witness. He did not testify at the inquest for the reason that he was under arrest. He is expected to clear up the question as to whether Casimir Reichlin saw the murderer or not.

A Beautiful Young Society Woman's Letter.

St. Paul, Minn.
521 Wabasha St.
Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

Dear Sir:

"I took Peruna last summer when I was all run down, and had a headache and backache, and no ambition for anything. I now feel as well as I ever did in all my life, and all thanks is due to your excellent Peruna."—Bess F. Haly.

The symptoms of summer catarrh are quite unlike in different cases, but the most common ones are general lassitude, played-out, tired-out, used-up, run-down feelings, combined with more or less heavy, stupid, listless, mental condition. Relish for food and the ability to digest food seems to be lost.

Skin eruptions, sallow complexion, biliousness, coated tongue, fitful, irregular sleep, help to complete the picture which is so common at this season.

Peruna so exactly meets all these conditions that the demand is so great for this remedy at this season of the year that it is nearly impossible to supply it.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
