ON LAKE MAXINKUCKEE ★ INDIANA'S MOST BEAUTIFUL LAKE

VOLUME 80, NUMBER 44

FIFTEEN CENTS PER COPY

NOVEMBER 6, 1974

A "THURBER CARNIVAL" was presented last weekend by the Drama Department of Culver Community High School. Initiating a new format, the organization staged a dessert theater in the cafeteria. Eight short, humorous skits were produced under the direction of Deborah Boehmer, drama instructor and Drama Club sponsor. Each skit was accompanied by a musical quartet. Many students were active behind the scenes and prior to opening night preparing sets and arranging for props.

academy personnel

Col. Ben A. Barone, superintendent of Culver Military Academy and the Culver Academy for Girls, announced the appointment of two new staff members. They are William S. Banfield, associate director of development, and Anthony T.

Mayfield, assistant director of alumni affairs.

Banfield worked for the Charles R. Feldstein Consulting Agency of Chicago engaged in fund raising campaigns before coming to Culver. From 1970-73 he was director of development for Northern Illinois University.

Banfield is a member of the Chicago Society of Fund Raising Executives and the American Alumni Council. A graduate of Mount Union College in Ohio, he did graduate work at Case Western Reserve University, also in Ohio.

Mayfield is a 1965 graduate of Culver Military Academy. Graduating from Indiana University in 1969, he received his master's degree from IU in 1972. Before coming to Culver he taught at Kokomo Center Consolidated High School and served last summer as the pro at the Culver Academies' Golf Course.

Magazine drive ends at CCHS

Total sales hit a new high this year as the junior class of Culver Community High School completed its 1974 magazine drive.

A total of $5,441.34 in subscriptions were sold. Top sellers were Betty Slusher ($314.98), Herb Newman ($309.17) and Debbie Boetsma ($216.62). Jewel Ransom was captain of the team with the most sales ($1626.11).

Awards were presented to persons who were first to sell over individual quotas. Awards also were given to students reporting the largest sales each day of the first week of the two-week sales period. The top four salesmen for the entire drive also won awards.

Award winners other than the three top sellers are Linda Overmyer, Rick Jett, Jewel Ransom, Dan Sellers, Jayne Overmyer, Julie McCombs, Karen Wynn and Dyke Minix.

Junior class members expressed appreciation to the community for their support of the school project.

MEET THE TEAM

Awards will be presented Thursday, Nov. 7, during "Meet The Team Night" at the Culver Community High School gym.

The program will get under way at 7 p.m. with the awards presentations to the tennis and cross country teams. Scrimmage sessions by the freshman, B-team and varsity basketball squads will follow the awards. There is no admission charge for the program.

A chili supper, sponsored by the Culver Lettermen's Club will begin at 5:30 p.m. at the school. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

BY AL SPIERS

Nixon Newspapers Writer

Sen. Robert Byrd (D. W.Va.) expressed a provocative thought about college athletics in a floor speech not long ago. It merits pondering.

Concerned about the new over-emphasis on football which, coupled with inflation, has skyrocketed recruiting costs and multiplied dubious under-table dealings, Senator Byrd suggested the NCAA might abandon all restrictions and require only that schools make public the total costs of their athletic programs, including expenses now hidden.

"The result would be that one, two or at the most a half-dozen universities would have powerhouses, with the rest of the schools unable to compete," said Byrd. "These latter institutions, therefore, would be relieved of a great deal of pressure and could rededicate themselves to higher education and to developing athletic programs truly amateur, involving a greater percentage of their students."

Intriguing thought, isn't it?

News About Books

IN MEMORY OF MABEL WHITE JORDAN

Twenty years ago, when John Keats went to visit the St. Lawrence, he had no idea that he would return as the owner of an island which he could seldom use and not afford to buy. Looking back, he reflects on his life and work, both in the US and on his island in, OF TIME AND AN ISLAND.

GOOD READING FOR COOL WEATHER

In THIRTY MILES FOR ICE CREAM, Murray Hoyt recalls his summers in a Potash Bay cottage and the things he did, including canoeing 30 miles up Lake Champlain for an ice cream soda, listening in on a crank telephone, etc.

One of America's most widely read naturalists, Ronald Rood, takes up words in defense of dozens of "critters" man has harried, hounded, hated and murdered in ANIMALS NOBODY LOVES. The book is illustrated with full-page animal portraits by Russ W. Buzzell, staff artist of Massachusetts Audubon magazine.

Jim Bishop has once more come through with another best seller, FDR 'X LAST YEAR, April 1944-April 1945.

Three of the new fiction books are: WHITEWATER, a Webb Carrick mystery, by Bill Knox; MATHEW'S HAND, by Charles Lawson, a crime club mystery and an old favorite by Hannah Green, I NEVER PROMISED YOU A ROSE GARDEN.

CHIEF is a collection of classic cases from the files of the Chief of Detectives, by Albert A. Seedman and Peter Hellman.

It is not too soon to consider a new project in crafts for the winter months ahead. Let your imagination go when you use bread dough in place of clay for decorative projects. A new sculpture and craft medium is explained by Molli Nickell in THIS IS BAKER'S CLAY.

MAKE AN ANIMAL, from practically anything. The instructions given by Colette Lamarque were created and designed with the young reader in mind. Get out the needle and thread and go through the rag bag for scraps of unused material.

More ideas for the very young are in FASHIONS FOR DOLLS, by Barbara Drew. Any child would be overjoyed to receive one

STORE TOMATOES

If the frost has not completely wiped out your tomatoes, there is still a chance you can have some fresh, garden varieties for Thanksgiving.

Before frost, tomatoes nearing maturity should be picked, then wrapped in a newspaper and stored in single layers in a warm place, points out John A. Wott, Purdue University extension home environment horticulturist.

Green tomatoes may also be stored, says Wott. Select solid green fruit and wash with a weak solution of disinfectant, such as household bleach. Prepare the disinfectant by adding one teaspoon of bleach to a quart of water. Dry thoroughly, wrap in newspapers and store in a cool area—a cellar or similar place.

The next crafts book is JEWELRY MAKING by Gordon Stokes. You don't have to be a millionaire to own fabulous jewelry, just make your own, with a little practice. The author insists that anyone can create fascinating and beautiful jewelry.

The last craft book is by Violet Stevenson and is titled THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF FLORISTRY. A wonderful guidebook for amateurs with detailed information about decorative and color properties of practically every flower known. A very useful book for holiday entertaining.

memoir by the well-known writer-director, Garson Kanin, telling of his years in Hollywood during the 1930's and 1940's is HOLLYWOOD. This was a magic era when moguls such as Sam Goldwyn wielded power over careers and personal lives of glamorous and celebrated stars.

IMPEACHMENT AND THE US CONGRESS, published by Congressional Quarterly Magazine presents constitutional origins historical precedents, House and Senate procedures, judiciary committee profile and impeachable offenses.

...It Must Be THE LAKE WATER

By Bob Kyle

When the Rev. R.L. Sommer of Trinity Lutheran Church, a newcomer to Culver, raised the question who was the most interesting person in Culver and environs, I pondered a bit and then came up with Warren Conover of Tippenaabee farm.

He came originally from Terre Haute and then South Bend, and with Harry Johnson, his brother-in-law, established Johnson Motors at South Bend. They built inboard motor boats.

In South Bend, they developed the Johnson Motor. Their associates thought they should expand. They didn't go along with this, so they withdrew as company executives and settled along the Tippecanoe River near Leiter's Ford.

Warren Conover became interested in farming; Harry Johnson in inventing.

Conover started a small herd of the best bloodlines of Jersey milking cattle. He worked his daylight out caring for them. He appealed to the Purdue Dairy Department to send him young dairy-trained men to take over and develop a famed herd. Two young graduates came to see him. They didn't want to milk the cows. They told him they wanted to be dairy specialists. Warren got rid of them and their no-milking ideas. He sold his herd and decided to take it easy, which consisted of building another house to utilize the fabulous woods of his own forest in building a house overwhelmed with the most fabulous beauty ever consecrated in one house.

The reason I chose Warren as the most interesting personality was because he has more knowledge of any subject that I have ever encountered in life. Another person of such keen perceptions will not come again in my or any other generation.

One of the most astonishing things I have come to know about recently is that The State Exchange Bank has over $1.5 million in student loans. Probably more than any other bank in the US. When I told Superintendent of Culver Community Schools this, he almost fell out of his office chair.

A precocious little codger from Chicago, when asked why he liked to visit his grandmother here, said that he liked to go to Indiana because they didn't have to take baths there. When the inquisitive neighbor asked what his grandmother did, he said, Oh, she make whiskey bottles...Miss Bess Easterday, who is ageless, says that the best way to keep going is to get going...The A-1 local garbage disposal reminds me that in my youth an itinerant tramp used to sign himself in black paint along railroad rights-of-way with the sign A NO. 1 and an arrow pointing in the direction he was headed. Rarely was he ever seen and, like a later Kilroy, traveled far and wide...Bernard Stukenborg, one time CMA instructor who joined Young Door Company at Plymouth, will leave soon for a position at Fulton, Mo....

It seems to pay to buy small boxes of assorted junk at auction sales. Hersh Rector makes a practice of it and recently unearthed a souvenir knife that Don Stephenson's shine parlor at Plymouth passed out in the 1920's. Stephenson was also a gay basketball referee and employed brothers Ernest and Omer Bixel of Culver and Plymouth. The late Ernest became Democratic county chairman and Omer is currently Plymouth postmaster. Ron Mackey is another fortunate who found a diamond in among discarded trinkets.

Lake Water has made another literary discovery. Among a pile of bricks, mortar and stones he has unearthed a manuscript of perverse poetry. The author signs himself Evad Snrub and after reading this doggerel, Lake Water has decided to title them "Lyrics Of A Love Pot" if he finds a publisher. This is one of the choice offerings:

He put his hands around my neck,
So tight I could not scream,
And took me up into his room
Where we could not be seen.

He took off all my wrappings
And gazed upon my form.
While I was cold and shivering
He was getting warm.

He placed me to his red-hot lips
And sat me on my rear.
He made me what I am today
An empty bottle of beer.

If he can keep up that pace, he may go on to Hoosier fame and fortune along with James Whitcomb Riley and The Bard of Alamo.

With winter hovering near us it is well to heed the American Wood Council that of all structural building material, wood is by far the best insulator. It insulates four times better than cinder block, 15 times better than concrete or stone, 400 times better than steel and an astonishing 1,700 times better than aluminum. In experiments at Arizona State University that compared the fuel consumption of structures identical in size, the wood house used 23 per cent less energy than a masonry house, and 32.2 per cent less during the air conditioning season. Savings ranged from $88.40 for heating with gas to $106.40 with oil and $124.25 with electricity.

Father Joseph Lenk has befriended a Manx cat which is a menace to wildlife, which is a menace to city dwellers' gardens.

It came to his house as a kitten and even to one who doesn't like them (Father has six) this one, named Beulah by the neighborhood, is most interesting. She is wild and can't be approached, but she chases away the rabbits which have come to town, puts squirrels to rout and gives raccons the run around.

Manx cats are native to Asia and perhaps were brought to the Isle of Man in the sub-tropic Irish Sea, warmed by the Gulf Stream in the English Channel, by whalers and sea captains. They have hind-quarters like rabbits, are black as coal and have stub-tails. Beulah awaits Lake Water at any time of the morning he turns on the lights, but never shows from behind the shrubbery until he gets back to the house after feeding.

Dwarf fruit trees: you can have your shrubbery and eat it too.

Dwarf fruit trees have revolutionized the landscaping of urban gardens. In the last few years great interest has been manifested in growing food in home gardens and small fruit trees have come in for their share of attention.

Dwarfs have been known in Swiss, English and French gardens for centuries. These small, fruit-bearing trees are achieved by horticulturists by grafting standard varieties of apples, pears, peaches, plums, cherries, apricots and nectarines on dwarfing rootstocks. Seldom do they grow more than 10 feet tall. Therefore, they are ideally adapted to the small garden.

They come into bearing generally the second or third year after planting, which is a decided advantage. Their fruit is even better developed than when grown on standard-size trees.

Another particular advantage of dwarf trees is that they can be more easily cared for. No ladders are necessary. They can be pruned and sprayed more readily.

These trees can be planted as close as eight or 10 feet apart. They can be trained against fences and house walls and in this manner are known as espaliers.

Also important is that dwarf trees are just as beautiful in the planting scheme as strictly flowering shrubs.

When we are quiet and feel the joy from a new idea, we give you thanks, dear Lord, as this thought must be your message to us.
