

PERSONAL
POINTERSBrief Mention of Culverites and
Their Friends Who Have Come and Gone

Miss Clara Stahl, a student at Ann Arbor, is at home for the ten-day spring vacation.

A card from Miss Bess Medbourn says that she and her mother had visited the Natural Bridge in Virginia and the great Luray Caverns and were preparing to go by boat from Norfolk to Richmond and Washington.

J. E. Myers attended the big sale of the Miller Shorthorn herd at Peru last week. Bidders were present from a number of states. Forty-seven head were sold at an average of $500. The highest price $2,300, was paid for a male.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Poor expect to leave next Tuesday for Oakland, Cal., where Mr. Poor has a job in a barber shop. Their house has been rented to Mr. Strahn, a barber at the academy. Mr. and Mrs. Poor's length of stay in California will depend on how well they like that part of the world. The best wishes of their Culver friends will accompany them.

Successful Contest Closed.

The contest instituted Dec. 9 by Neeswangee council for the growth and advancement of the order here, came to a close on Tuesday evening when the winning faction under the captaincy of Mrs. B. A. Ralston were entertained by Mrs. G. W. Overmyer and her followers. A splendid vocal selection rendered by S. J. Lenon, and a contest of wits entitled "Uncle Sam's Romance," were special features of the program. A two-course supper followed.

Much splendid work has been done during this contest and much good for the order has resulted. Talent where talent would least be expected has been brought out and some especially good entertainments have been given.

Spring Improvements.

Harry Medbourn has had a garage built on his home lot for the automobile which he will buy this spring.

John Cromley has completely sodded his terrace lot in Kreuzberger park.

Dr. Norris is replacing his detached fuel house with a building 14x21 which will join the residence. It will provide, besides a place for coal and wood, a summer kitchen.

John P. Walter of the Palmer House is having quarters built for the colored help. It will be a building 20x31 containing a 12-bed dormitory and a sitting room.

Culver City Club.

The C. C. club will meet with Mrs. Stabenow Thursday afternoon. Social program.

From the Academy.

The festivities which last year were transferred from Washington's birthday to Easter time will again be given at the later date. Acceptances indicate that the usual crowd will be in attendance for all the program. The baseball season is to open with the first event of the three-day program when the cadet nine will meet that of Warsaw on Saturday afternoon. That evening the dramatic club will present a one-act play by Arnold Bennett entitled "George's Dilemma." With this a few vaudeville numbers will be staged. On Sunday Dr. H. A. Gobin of De Pauw will preach the Easter sermon. On Monday a military carnival, into which the old midwinter circus has evolved, will be held. In the evening the dancers will have their turn in the usual ball in the gymnasium. Parades and military drills are scheduled for both Saturday and Monday.

An interesting discussion of the problems of heredity and its application in the new science of eugenics was presented to the cadets on Saturday evening by Mr. Albert Wiggan. Lantern slides were used to illustrate the points on transmissible tendencies. Of special interest were the charts showing how genius had run in certain family strains, such as that which produced Jonathan Edwards, Grover Cleveland, Winston Churchill, General Grant and numerous other noted American names whose ancestry is traced back to a common ancestral stock.

On Tuesday morning Captain Eisenhard gave the cadets a talk on the growth and possibilities of the wireless transmission of electric vibration. The local station is now able to pick up the time signals as sent out twice per day from the government station at Arlington, near Washington.

Two new diving piers are being built to replace the old ones which have had considerable service. The new piers are practically the same size as the old ones, but they will be a great improvement over the old ones both in appearance and stability.

Captain Bennett left on Monday to continue treatment at the Epworth hospital.

Miss Margaret Andrews is the guest of her brother, Lieutenant Andrews.

Fraudulent Solicitors.

One of those circumstances that tend to make people suspicious of all traveling solicitors for charity funds took place at Rensselaer Saturday. A man and a woman representing themselves as members of the Salvation Army held a meeting on the street there, and the man sat on a public bench while the woman made the rounds of the business houses gathering in dimes and nickels. When the man rose from the bench a pint bottle of whisky dropped from his pocket and broke on the cement walk. This gave their game away, and they slipped out of sight in a hurry.

Passed Examinations.

Following are the Union township grade pupils who have passed the test for admission to the high school: Dewey Scott, Freda Romig, Eulalie Dickson, Edith Overmyer, Gladys Beard, Ellis Clifton, Goldie Curtis, Ruth Goodman, Darwin Grossman, Everett Krouse, Bernice Frisinger, Harvey Emigh, Edith Warner, Roy Overmyer, Ralph Voreis.

Seeking Signatures.

The following pledge has been distributed around town for signatures:

"God being my helper, no political party not declaring for the destruction of the liquor traffic can have my support or vote."

Parties signing the pledge are requested to send it to the 5,000,000 Enrollment Headquarters, 120 E. Market street, Indianapolis.

FELL DEAD ON WALK

Well-Known Citizen of Culver Suddenly Visited
By the Grim Monster.

With a smile and a joke on his lips "Dick" Patesel fell dead on the walk at the Porter corner Saturday afternoon about 4:15 o'clock.

Mr. Patesel was in conversation with Messrs. Tucker, Williams and Gentry. The party were laughing and joking one another, and Patesel was as light-hearted and vigorous as any of his companions. But in an instant his voice ceased, his eyes set themselves into a stare of doubt and wonderment, and before a hand could be outstretched he lurched backward, then sank on his side to the walk. If there was any life by the time he struck the walk it was not apparent. A crowd quickly gathered, and Dr. Parker was summoned a moment afterward, but all that remained to be done was to take the inanimate form to Easterday's undertaking rooms. A litter was brought from the ambulance and the body placed upon it. Dr. Parker pronounced the cause of death to be cerebral hemorrhage, or rupture of a blood vessel. Mr. Patesel has never manifested any physical weakness that would give any apprehension of death from the cause named, and the shock to his family and friends was the more severe.

Richard Patesel was born in Kosciusko county, Ind., Feb. 27, 1862. He was married to Lucy Hay of Marshall county Oct. 3, 1886. Eleven children were born to them—Alonso, Cleo, Guy, Charles, Jerold, Vere, Harold, Norma and Leroy. Two of these died in infancy. The survivors are all living in Culver. Deceased also leaves 2 grandchildren, 2 brothers and 2 sisters. Mr. Patesel lived in Culver 25 years.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon in the M. E. church. Rev. J. F. Kenrich conducted the services. Interment in Culver cemetery. The pallbearers were Arthur Sturgeon, Alex. Dinsmore, Eli Mock, John F. Cromley, Henry Overman, Frank McLane.

Parent-Teacher Club.

An interesting and profitable session of the Parent-Teacher club was held at the school house last Friday afternoon.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Kenrich.

(It has been decided to organize different departments in the club to meet the varied wants of the members. The department meetings will be held at the homes of the members. The following department chairmen were appointed: Music, Mrs. C. D. Behmer; home economics, Mrs. E. E. Parker; literature, Miss Taylor; art, Miss Bessie Medbourn; refreshments, Mrs. O. Stabenow; membership, Mrs. Sam Buswell; home gardens, Miss Edna Stahl; program, Miss Taylor. There will be a recital given by the musical department for the parents at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Parker some time during the present month.

In a report regarding the fire escapes, Mr. Bland said that the state fire inspector had refused to accept the escapes as they stood, that the company putting them up had been communicated with in regard to the matter, but it was not yet known just how it would be arranged.

The program for the afternoon included a review of Miss Brookhauser's "Aims and Ideals of Parent-Teacher Associations," given by Mrs. Eisenhard, and a discussion of discipline and proper and improper punishment, in which Mrs. Parker, Mr. Bland and Miss Procter led.

Two very pleasing musical numbers were given by Daisy Easterday, Grace Buswell, Elnora McFarland, and Huldah Wiseman. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sam Buswell and Mrs. Kantz.

Member of School Board.

Frank J. Easterday has been appointed member of the board of education to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chas. H. Stahl. The term expires August 1.

Annual Sale and Supper.

The ladies of the Reformed church will hold their annual sale and supper in the basement of the church Thursday afternoon and evening, April 16.

Methodist Ladies' Aid.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. S. C. Shilling on Wednesday afternoon April 15.

—Rev. Young is returned to the Culver Evangelical church and Rev. Tiedt to the Culver charge.

Is Your Name Here?

Contributions of books for the public library have been coming in quite satisfactorily. 296 volumes having been donated up to yesterday from the following persons:

W. S. Easterday, Mrs. S. J. Lenon, Mary Alice Buswell, Grace Buswell, Mrs. John Buswell, John Buswell, O. A. Gandy, Russell V. Gandy, A. B. Holt, H. M. Speyer, Harry Speyer, Mrs. J. G. Beck, J. G. Beck, Elizabeth Wagoner, Mrs. Emma Porter, Blanche Fisher, Russell Fisher, Ray Fisher, I. G. Fisher, W. O. Osborn, Goldie Borch, Charles Cowen, John Mitchell, Mrs. W. E. Hand, W. E. Hand, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Stapp, Anna and Mary Robinson, William Hollett, S. C. Shilling, Tim Wolf, Lester Young, Mrs. W. D. Ralston, Marshall Ralston, Dan Wolf, Rev. J. F. Kenrich, Evangeline Bogardus, Irene Bogardus.

The committee was surprised and gratified to receive on Saturday a large and valuable collection from the Misses Robinson of Indianapolis. The collection included sets of Shakespeare, Emerson, Burns, James Whitcomb Riley and Cyrus Townsend Brady. The accompanying letter from Miss Anna Robinson expressed an interest in Culver's effort to establish a library, and stated that she and her sisters would be glad to make a further donation of tables and chairs. There is no doubt that other cottagers will feel enough interest in the movement to help us.

Meantime let us at home, all over the township, take up the matter with an enthusiasm that shows we mean business. This is a people's proposition in which everyone, in town and country is interested. A beautiful library building will be as much the property of the country people as of the town people, and the public comfort and rest room features will be especially valuable to out-of-town residents.

Our Next Story.

As a substitute for a detective story which we are not able to get just now we have been fortunate in securing Max Pemberton's "The Lady Evelyn." This is a story which has proven so popular that it has been translated in many foreign languages. Romance, intrigue and mystery are woven into it with such striking skill that the reader's interest is kept at high tension, and he is reluctant to lay it aside when it is concluded. Citizen subscribers are fortunate in getting a story of this absorbing interest laid before them at no expense—a story that in book form would cost them $1.50.

The first installment of "The Lady Evelyn" begins next week. If you do not care to read the weekly installments, carefully laid them aside, and when the story is completed you will have a rare treat for many an evening.

Good Friday.

April 10 is Good Friday. Every school boy and girl knows there is a "Good Friday," but few of them know why it is so called. They probably would say it is "potato planting day," since they have learned that their elders, and especially their grandparents, usually believe this the one best day of the year for such work.

Good Friday really is a commemoration of the crucifixion of Jesus, observed on the last Friday before Easter of each year. It has been celebrated since an early period.

Easter.

Easter, like all moveable festivals, is one that annually causes a great deal of discussion as to the exact date it will fall upon, and, while the controversy might easily be settled, since the date is regulated by the moon, most of us are willing to wait until the yearly almanacs and calendars are printed, in both of which the date usually is established.

The encyclopedia says in regard to Easter: It is a festival commemorating the resurrection of Christ. There was a long dispute in the christian church as to the proper time to observe Easter, but the council at Nice settled the controversy in 325 when it fixed the date for the first Sunday after the full moon on or after March 21 of each year. If the full moon happens on a Sunday, then Easter is the Sunday following.

Easter this year comes on April 12.

CULVER, INDIANA, APRIL 9, 1914

Our bill for diamonds during the last decade has been just about enough to buy and build the Panama canal.—Kankakee Gazette.

This would seem to explain why the editor's wife is still wearing her last year's hat.

Another Georgia town has voted in favor saloons and here is the reason given by a citizen: "If we are going to stand for our women folks wearing shadow skirts and slit skirts and transparent skirts, and our younger women learning to dance the boll weevil wobble, the Texas Tommy tango, the bunny hug, the bear dance, the half center, the buzzard flap and the puppy huddle and so on down the line, then the men folk might just as well have their saloons and the whole push go to hell together."

A farmer met a doctor on the street the other day. "Doc," said he, "if you happen out our way this week you might as well come in and see my wife." "What ails her?" inquired the doctor. "Dunno. After getting breakfast and axen the children for school and churning and slopping the hogs and doing a little washing, there's only seven in our family you know, she plumb declared she'd have to lie down before getting dinner. She'd plumb tired out. Kicks about getting Sunday dinner." "Yes," said the attentive doctor, "I'll come out and see her. It's a strange case."

Frank A. Munsey has the following sensible comment on the railway situation:

For the government to stand back of railway labor, morally sustaining it in its demands for shorter hours and better wages, as the government has done, at the same time denying railroads the right to increase their incomes sufficiently to meet the increased cost of operation is of the nature of confiscation, and no honest citizen of this country believes in any such thing or would himself, with full realization of the facts, be a party to it.

Let us have peace. Let this bitterness against the railroads cease. There is nothing in all this warfare for you or for me. Give the railroads a chance to prosper and we prosper with them; starve them and we starve with them.

The Net Weight.

On September 1 the new federal law compelling manufacturers to stamp the net weight of all food-stuffs sold in containers will go into effect. The enforcement of this new law will be the means of saving 3 per cent on all expenditures for foodstuffs put up in packages, pails, tubs, jars and other food containers.

New Farm Implements.

It is interesting to walk through a modern implement house and just see things that have dropped in in the last ten years. Most all houses carry the silage cutters now, and then you think what some farmers have told you. There will be a silo on most every farm in twenty years from now. The crib elevator is another piece of machinery that is becoming very popular. Farmers would rather buy a power elevator than scoop the corn, and that is pretty good sense, too. See that large pile of corrugated rollers, and the machinery man tells you that the house could not get enough last year to supply the demand. That machine is a fine thing to make a mulch on cloddy ground and without leaving it to bake. It is not an uncommon thing to see these machines in the corn and oats field when coming across the ground. There is a new kind of deep plow that leaves the subsoil where it is, but loosens it up. We do not know much about deep plows yet, but it seems that there will be a time when they will come into use.

Once in a while we see a corn husker, but not often, yet. Gasoline attachments for the binder are becoming more common. They save the horses on those hot harvest days. The surface cultivator is not a new thing, but three flat shovels that can be put on any plow and take the place of the blade is a new thing. That would make the one plow serve as a shovel and surface cultivator with two sets of shovels. Potato planters are common in the north, but not so much here, but the gardeners are beginning to get them.

Corn planters that will drop any number of grains from one to four by just shifting a lever, are due to another new attachment. Something new all the time, and all costing money. We have got to have the soil back of all this machinery if we expect to buy new ones in ten or twenty years from now. We American folks are away up on the art of agriculture. American machinery is to be seen in most any country.

Melons in a Dry Soil.

A Kansas farmer raised a splendid crop of watermelons last year, while the fields of his neighbors dried up in the drought, though apparently there was no difference in the amount of moisture they received. The secret of his success, the farmer believes, is the key to success in melon raising in any section where droughts occur. The previous fall he dug holes in his field the size of a small barrel, at proper distances for watermelon vines, and filled them almost to the top with corn-cobs. He left the holes open throughout the winter, and last spring when it was time to plant watermelons he shoveled about a foot of earth over the cobs and planted his seed. Those vines had an abundance of moisture all summer. Frequent explorings of the beds of cobs showed that they were always wet and the roots of the melon vines grew among them.—The Country Gentleman.

Clearing the Deck.

Not very long now until it will be time to get into the fields. Then things will all be in a hurry and work will start early and last late. The farm machinery will all work nice as can be—that is, if it is all fixed and ready. Is the corn planter ready to drop two kernels of corn to the hill, and is the seed all tested so it will grow, and graded so that it will drop right? Those are things that can be done now, and it is not foolishness but just playing safe.

The oats can be tested for germination and then they can be treated for smut, then there will be no kick about smutty oats when it comes to harvest time. Harness all repaired and machinery all put in condition to run counts for a great deal when you are in a hurry. Then if the fences are fixed one will not have to stop to get the cows in when he is busy plowing corn. There is most always something to do on the farm if there is somebody that wants to do it.

BIG EATS AT THE ACADEMY.

What it Takes to Feed the Cadets During the School Year.

If Old Mother Goose should honk up to the Culver mess hall some fine day, hitch her honker outside and drift into that great eats foundry, she would probably do a hasty pivot, take a few jerky half-steps in an effort to catch up with her temporarily suspended respiration, and wilt—marking time—under the great clock on the north wall. With returning consciousness she would reach for her trusty old broom and feverishly sweep the cobwebs from that time-honored tale of the "great splash" so that it would read something after this fashion:

"If all the cadets were one great cadet;

If all their appetites were one great appetite;

If all their meals were one great meal;

And If that great cadet with that great appetite should sit down to that GREAT meal, what a GREAT mess that would be."

And she would be "right as well as sure;" for if all the diners served here during the winter term were moulded into one cadet he would be a giant towering some 420 feet into the air. His chest straight through would be 70 feet thick, and his breadth at the shoulders 106 feet. Into one of his footprints could be dropped the west barrack without ever scraping a wall; and his shako, properly partitioned, would stable the entire Black Horse Troop. His rifle would be three times the length of the flagstaff and weigh a mere trifle—1500 tons. Mr. Cadet, himself, would tip the beam at 29,000 tons. In repose the mouth would measure a scant 12 feet, but cleared for action it would resemble an entrance to the New York subway; and into this dark, yawning cavern would disappear at a single meal the following enormous bulk:

552 tons of fresh meat.
102 tons of fowl.
4 tons of fish and oysters.
84 tons of Elgin butter.
202 tons of sugar.
3556 bushels of potatoes.
32,936 loaves of bread.
7,243 dozen eggs.
117,476 rolls.
250,598 cakes, cookies and doughnuts.
484,000 glasses of milk.

Adding soup, salad and vegetables—dashing a few tons of salt and spices over the whole, and topping off with a piece of pie the size of the study hall floor—Cadet Gulliver would be "prepared to rise," and, if we mistake not, sprint down to the Palmer House shack for a few knickknacks overlooked by the steward.

Seriously, these figures are based on the actual amounts shown in the academy records and represent the foodstuffs consumed in the 360,000 meals served in the mess hall during one regular winter session.

Few, perhaps, realize what it means to supervise properly this great workshop. To study the tastes and requirements of a half thousand souls; devise healthful and appetizing combinations of food; keep the great larders supplied with fresh, wholesome provisions; prepare and serve three tempting meals per day—piping hot and on the minute—week after week, month after month. Had you ever thought of it?

It's worth a "stop, look and listen!"

All hail, Mr. Boblett—wizard, purveyor to His Majesty the Inner man!—The Vedette.

DOG CROSSES SEA IN MUFF

Woman's Friends Aid Her in Concealing Pet When Search Is Made on Steamer.

New York—The principals in a little comedy which was a source of joy to the passengers of the steamer Amerika were Mrs. Grace V. Lloyd Clapper, of New York, Captain Schulke and Fi Fum, a high pedigree Pekinese pup bought by Mrs. Clapper in London. Fi Fum is only eight inches long, but he created eight miles of trouble for the ship's crew.

There is a rule at sea that all dogs be left in the care of the butcher in the baggage room, but Fi Fum's mistress decided that her precious should travel first class, and he came aboard inside a big sable muff. The second day out another passenger, whose dog had been sent to the care of the butcher, told Captain Schulke there was a dog on board that was not playing the game according to the rules.

The commander investigated and remonstrated with the owner of Fi Fum. He finally intimated that he could not tolerate mutiny aboard his ship, even though committed by a charming young woman. Mrs. Clapper then held a secret conference with a score of friends.

While the captain made a tour of inspection, Fi Fum was passed from one to the other. For four days an ineffectual search was made. The day before the steamer arrived here, while the captain was in the palm room he turned to Mrs. Clapper, who was at the next table, and said:

"I'll get that dog before we land." He did not know Fi Fum was staring at him all the time out of the muff.

"I didn't want to take any chances of losing the darling," said Mrs. Clapper on the pier.

"38" TAKES PLACE OF "23."

Slang Borrowed From Fortune Tellers Is the "Latest."

New York—Exit the slang expression "twenty-three." Enter "thirty-eight" as the "latest." "Thirty-eight" was borrowed from the fortune tellers. In the slang it means "a sucker." It is a tag for the man who goes to a clairvoyant for tips on a horse race, for the girl who turns to the occult power to have her love affairs straightened out, for those who rely on "hocus-pocus" in matters of investment.

Topeka, Kan.—Kansas no longer is a "cyclone State," I. S. Lewis, insurance commissioner, declared in refusing to permit tornado insurance companies to raise their rates. Lewis cited the report of the observer of the United States Weather Bureau, who is quoted as saying: "Of all the great disasters attributed to tornadoes in various parts of the United States, not one occurred in Kansas."

Rockford, Ill.—Three children, who wanted to pass a day with their father in Elgin, walked from the Woodstock Orphans' Home to Elgin, twenty-four miles. They were thirty-six hours without food and spent a night in a wagon near Crystal Lake. The children were Harry and Herbert Hanson and their sister, four years old.

Domestic Unhappiness Due to Drunkenness.

Chicago—Drunkenness is responsible for 46 per cent of the cases of domestic unhappiness tried in the Court of Domestic Relations the last year, according to the annual report. Mothers-in-law caused trouble in only six per cent of the cases, and the father-in-law in only one. Other causes of family quarrels were: Immorality of husband, 12 per cent; immorality of wife, two per cent; ill temper of husband, three per cent; ill temper of wife, three per cent; immaturity, four per cent; laziness, three per cent.

A CULVER DRUGGIST

HAS A VALUABLE AGENCY

T. E. Slattery has the Culver agency for the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. This simple remedy has powerful action and drains such surprising amounts of old matter from the body that JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. The QUICK action of Adler-i-ka is astonishing.

DON'T MISS IT

W. F. M. Program.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church gave their first annual thank-offering program to a well-filled house. After the devotional exercises led by Rev. Kenrich Rev. Carleton Lacy gave a very interesting address on the home life in China. As Rev. Lacy was born and spent 15 years of his life there he knows whereof he speaks. The women and children, especially girls, have no real home life because there is no love in the homes. He told of their wonderful achievements in engineering and governmental progress in times past, but their religion has been one of fear and superstition, and as a result they are a degraded nation, and nothing but the gospel of Jesus Christ can help them. So bound are they by superstition that they build their streets and roadways crooked to make it impossible for the evil spirits to travel them. In one of the cities the dead population outnumbered the living because of no lucky day to bury them. The girl babies are always unwelcome inmates in the home and their bodies are destroyed or given away. In Foochow a great tower has been built into which the live bodies of girl babies are thrown to die upon the numberless others there, and those permitted to live were worse than dead. He spoke about the many churches that dot our land and of the few there are there and asked: "Is it fair that China with her 400,000,000 people can scarcely have one church to 50,000 while in Culver there is one church to every 225 people?" As a comparison he took Chicago with her numerous churches and workers to combat sin, and how slow we are to be evangelized, and China with her millions ready and anxious and yet there are so few. Rev. Lacy expects to return to China to spend his life in the work of redeeming China's lost because he thinks the call is greater. The three essential things we can give are our prayers, our strength and our means and should not count it a burden but an opportunity to help.

The offering was made very impressive by the ladies of the society gathering about the table and placing the offering on the table, and during the offertory prayer by Rev. Kenrich soft strains of music were played by Miss Allie Wiseman. The singing by the choir and male quartet and the solo by Mr. Sawyer were much appreciated. The offering was $26.25. COM.

Go to Church Sunday.

Other cities have had a church-going campaign which in every case has been a success. At the present time, not one half of the people of Culver are attending our churches. It is not because people do not believe in the church, nor is it because the non-going-to-church element are outlaws or desperate characters. It is because the habit has not been followed lately. When we do not follow a good habit, the chances are that a bad habit will be formed. The following of bad habits not only dulls the taste for good to the individual, but wields a bad influence on the members of one's family and friends, which means that the members of the family and the friends will also lose their taste for the good. Where churches are so plentiful, there is no good excuse for any able-bodied person habitually absenting himself from the public worship of Almighty God. We will not quarrel with anyone for not attending our particular church, while there are others to attend and need encouragement and your support as well as ours, but you owe it to yourself and the best interests of your home and community to attend church somewhere. Go to church Sunday! J. F. KENRICH.

NEWS OF LOCAL CHURCHES

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

Many thanks to all who responded to our invitations to attend our services last Sunday. A splendid interest in all our services is great encouragement to those who are doing the work. There are a great many people who are not doing as much as they can, that should be busy in the work of the kingdom. Why not enlist yourself in the work at this Easter time, by identifying yourself with some one of the splendid churches of our little city? To be sure, we need many public improvements, such as streets, electric lights, a public library and a hall for general use. All of these things are greatly to be desired. Should we not expect the truest public-spirited men to be deeply interested in the religious matters of our town? A greater harmony in the moral uplift of the community will have a tendency to bring the good things that are needed, with greater ease and more general pride in doing it. Let us put first things first. The following services will be held Easter Sunday: Sunday school at 10; sermon by Rev. S. C. Norris 11; league services at the regular hours; evening worship 7:30, sermon by the pastor. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the evening service and reception of members into the church. You will find a welcome. If you are without a church home come and find one with us. We have a place for you to work with us. J. F. Kenrich, Pastor.
