TEN CENTS

Not Far From Culver There
Are Egg Stories That You Can Hardly Believe!

MRS. JAMES RINGBAUGH, a grandmotherly Somerset farm wife, never killed a goose that laid golden eggs — but she may have tried the rooster that sired the hens that laid Easter eggs, an natural!

AL SPIERS

At least, that's what joshing friends say.

Perky Mrs. Ringbaugh — first name Bernice — parries such sallies with cheerful good humor.

"PSHAW — we didn't fry THAT rooster," she chuckles. "He just up and died and had a big Hoosier funeral!"

At any rate, Mr. Cockadoodle-doo seems to have taken into the Great Beyond the last genes in Bernice's flock that tinted the eggs of everyday hens a soft, delicate green.

BEFORE HIS LAMENTED departure, Mrs. Ringbaugh gathered 10 or 12 emerald-hued cackles a day. Now she gets nary a one.

"Ah, but I have an ace in the hole," laughed Bernice. "Seven aces, in fact. Just wait..."

THE RINGBAUGH'S curious Easter egg flock evolved indirectly from a gay, vagabondish vacation trip in 1953.

After surviving a stroke, Bernice's brother, Clarence (Uncle Chuck) Garst, said wistfully one day: "I'd sure like to see old California before I die."

BERNICE DECIDED it'd be a nice trip also for her pretty daughter, Kathleen Vrooman (the plucky multiple sclerosis victim you read about recently) and her three frisky children — Phyllis, David, and Cheryl.

"Then let's go," said amiable Mr. Ringbaugh — and away went all seven, a newly-bought, two-bed trailer hitched to their slightly crowded sedan.

"GOODNESS WHAT A TRIP!" chuckled Bernice. "All sorts of adventures and misadventures. Our old radiator went dry in the desert... we had an awful time crossing the Rockies. A two-week trip stretched to six... we almost went broke... But everyone sure had fun!"

The old chicken saga began in El Monte, Calif., when they visited Don Hettmansperger, a Wabash County native who was Uncle Chuck's wife's nephew.

HETTMANSPERGER had an unusual poultry ranch. He served the vagabond Hoosiers a delicious chicken dinner, then displayed the pink, blue, and green eggs his birds laid.

Little Cheryl was enchanted and full of questions.

"They're Araucana chickens," Don explained. "I'm told the strain was developed by cross-

Pearl Zechiel, 76, Dies After A Long Illness

Mrs. Nora Pearl Zechiel, age 76, died at 11:15 p.m. Friday, Feb. 10, at her home on Road 110 southeast of Culver following an illness of 11 months. Born in Edison, Neb., on Oct. 26, 1884, she spent most of her life in the Culver community, coming here with her parents when a small child.

Mrs. Zechiel was a charter member of the Burr Oak Church of God and taught a Sunday School class there for over 40 years. Affectionately called "Aunt Pearl", she also served as president of the Ladies Aid Society for a number of years and for 20 years held an office in the State Conference of the Church of God.

Surviving are her husband, Jesse E. Zechiel; two daughters, Miss Marguerite Zechiel, at home and Mrs. Eldon (Elizabeth) Davis, Culver; a son, Ferris Zechiel, Culver; four grandchildren, Larry and Betty Zechiel and Paul and Eldonna Davis; three brothers, George Hatten, Hobart, D. Hatten and Arthur Hatten, both of Culver; and two sisters, Mrs. Clifford (Blanche) Loser, Warsaw and Mrs. Nellie Clifton, Culver. Four brothers and a granddaughter preceded her in death.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Burr Oak Church of God with the pastor, Rev. Warren Sorenson, officiating. Burial was made at the Culver Cemetery.

The band will present a varied program of popular selections, overtures, and marches. There are

ROBERT E. HUGHES

New State Treasurer
Only 33 Years Old

Republicans Will Hear Our New State Treasurer

Marshall County Republicans, still bubbling over with enthusiasm since their dramatic comeback and sweep of all offices last Nov. 8, will celebrate their victory with a big Lincoln Day banquet at the American Legion Hall in Bremen Saturday, Feb. 18, at 6:30 p.m.

The dinner meeting is being sponsored by the energetic Marshall County Young Republican Committee and will honor the party's hard-working committeemen and vice-committeemen. All four counties of the Third Congressional District will send delegations.

It is appropriate that the event is being held in the home community of Dr. Otis R. Bowen, who again is giving such an excellent account of himself in the current session of the State Legislature as Representative from Marshall County.

Get Tickets From Kemple

In announcing this year's Lincoln Day dinner our astute G.O.P. county chairman, Stewart W. Robertson, stated that the affair is open to the public and that tickets locally are available from his able assistant, Homer H. Kemple, at only $1.50 per person. Homer, whose phone is VIKING 2-2505, will be most happy to have your advance reservations but he has asked us to remind everybody that tickets may be picked up at the door.

The principal speaker is an unusual young man, Robert E. Hughes, who recently took the oath of office as State Treasurer. He is also chairman of Indiana's Young Republicans and is a splendid speaker.

Handley's Former Secretary

Prior to his nomination and election as State Treasurer, he served as prosecuting attorney for Johnson and Brown Counties, attorney for the Indiana State Senate, and executive secretary to Governor Harold W. Handley.

Hughes began his political life early, serving as a Young Republican precinct committeeman, a member of the Butler University Young Republican Club, chairman of the Perry Township (Marion County) Young Republicans, and a member of the Johnson County Young Republicans.

A Practicing Attorney

Hughes is a practicing attorney and businessman in Greenwood. He is 33 years old, married, and the father of two young children, a boy and a girl.

He was graduated from the high school in Forest, Indiana, and attended Central Normal College at Danville, Indiana Univer-

John Newman and Sons Qualify For Breeders' Award

Brattleboro, Vt. — John A. Newman & Sons, Culver, have qualified for the Progressive Breeders' Award — the highest recognition attainable by a breeder of registered Holstein cattle.

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has accorded this honor to only 454 Holstein breeding establishments, including 12 in Indiana. This is the third time that the Newmans have been so recognized.

To qualify for the Progressive Breeders' Award, a Holstein breeder must meet strict requirements in all phases of dairy cattle breeding and management, including production, type improvement, herd health and the development of home-bred animals.

The Newman's herd completed its latest Herd Improvement Registry testing year with a lactation average — calculated on a two milkings a day, 305 day, mature equivalent basis — on 52 individual records of 14,593 pounds of milk and 540 pounds of butterfat.

The herd has also been officially classified for type with a breed age average of 103.0 percent — obtained by dividing the classification score of each cow by the average score of all registered Holstein cows of the same age.

A bronze year plate will be presented to them at a meeting of Holstein breeders from their area, to be added to the bronze plaque awarded when this herd first achieved the honor.

A certificate of this award has been sent to the Newmans by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America, national organization of the Holstein breed representing nearly 50,000 members.

County Chairman Edward L. Hasnerl, newspaper publisher and the youngest man to occupy the top G.O.P. post in any of Indiana's 92 counties, outlined in masterful style the goals of the party in looking ahead to the 1962 election.

BOB HAIG BORN IN MONTGOMERY, INDIANA, NOT TERRE HAUTE!

Last week The Culver Citizen rather reluctantly ran a front page story, along with nearly every other Hoosier newspaper, commenting on the article "Indiana's Delinquent City — Terre Haute" in the Feb. 11 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

We say reluctantly because one of our best friends, Robert L. Haig, Culver clothier and businessman, was, we thought, born in Terre Haute.

We now feel a great deal better about the whole thing since Bob has reminded us that he was born in Montgomery in Daviess County and lived with his parents in Jasonville in Greene County before beginning their long residence in Terre Haute.

PICK-CONGRESS HOTEL IS CHICAGO FAVORITE OF MANY CULVERITES

Bumping into Herman W. Gardner and Leigh R. Gignilliat Jr. in the lobby of the Pick-Congress in Chicago this past weekend again reminded us that this hotel is probably the favorite of most Culver people visiting the Windy City.

Mr. Gardner was there in attendance at an oil industry meeting and Mr. Gignilliat, a native of Culver, is a successful Chicago banker.

The Pick-Congress located on South Michigan Avenue is now undergoing a $1½ million improvement program which includes what will be the largest ballroom in the city, giving it unexcelled banquet facilities.

MILD WEATHER MELTS SNOW BUT HEAVY FOG PREVAILS

The snow which has covered the ground for most of the past two months has now completely disappeared, thanks to the spring-like weather this week. Fishing through the ice and winter sports on Lake Maxinkuckee became a casualty at the same time although ice fishing this year has been nothing to brag about.

Extremely heavy fog covered the area last Friday and prevailed during the early morning hours through Sunday.

FALL IN — FALL OUT — One of the most widely traveled trucks in Indiana has nothing to do with delivering goods in and out of Hoosier cities and towns. Wise Investor Will Play Safe may have much to fear.

Bonds Safer Than Stocks

Bonds of a company are always safer than the stocks of the same company; but stocks of some companies are safer than the bonds of other companies.

Hence, readers cannot feel safe by just buying either stocks or bonds. Everything in the world is good and/or bad. No one rule will apply to all persons or to all classes of investments or real estate.

It is also wise to consider the relative prices of bonds before you buy them. The average price of good bonds has varied to yield between a high of 4 1/2% in 1960 and a low near 3% in 1946. This means that bonds were highest priced in 1946 and lowest in 1960.

Hence, this is a good time to buy good bonds, although they are a little higher than a year ago. There are three different groups of bonds, arranged in the order of their safety, as follows:

Different Kinds Of Bonds

1. U. S. Government Bonds. These are mostly held by banks. Although very safe, they do not yield very high interest; yet this interest is taxable for individuals. The short maturities yield the least; while the long maturities yield the most. If you want them as a reserve for "quick money," buy the short maturities; but if you want them for income, buy the long maturities.

2. Tax - exempt Municipal Bonds. There are two kinds: (1) the fixed-interest municipals issued by cities, towns, counties, and states. I suggest that you avoid bonds of big cities.

Buy the bonds of medium-sized cities in the interior of the United States. The capital cities of interior states should be the safest of all, and carry a fair yield. All these are non-taxable for federal tax purposes. You can also buy (2) non-taxable "revenue bonds," but the interest on these is not guaranteed. Most turnpike bonds are in this latter class. So long as the turnpikes are used sufficiently, full interest will be paid. This explains why turnpike revenue bonds yield higher than straight municipals.

Recommends Public Utilities

3. Corporate Mortgage Bonds and Debentures. Bonds of corporations are also of different kinds; but all are taxable as to interest. To readers of this column I recommend the mortgage bonds of public utility companies, such as the company to which you pay your light and power bill. The sale of electricity is constantly increasing and — though subject to rate regulation — these companies have a monopoly. They are also the most free from union labor interference.

Most industrial bonds should be good provided they are not subordinated to bank loans or other indebtedness. Income bonds may be good speculations following a drastic reorganization. Debenture bonds are unsecured and hence often not suitable for small investors, unless accompanied with attractive conversion privileges. The El Paso Natural Gas 5 1/4% due in 1977 are a favorite of mine; yielding about 4 1/2%. I do not like railroad bonds or bonds of manufacturing companies subject to competition.

Diversification and Patience

For 62 years my family has been helping investors to conserve their savings and secure reasonable capital gains.

For 40 years I have been writing this weekly column for over 500 newspapers, including The Culver Citizen. The great lesson which I have learned is the importance of diversification.

Hence, why not buy some short-term government bonds to turn quickly into cash in an emergency; plus some public utility mortgage bonds for good income; plus some tax-free municipals to save income taxes; plus a few convertible bonds as a speculation?

Most important of all, train yourself to develop patience, the ability to wait for the big market moves in bonds, stocks, and real estate.

Patience, diversification, and compound interest are the big necessities for making a fortune.

A Page's Day In The State Capitol

By Judy Price

Kathy Easterday, Carolyn Snyder, and I were pages at the 92nd Indiana General Assembly in the House of Representatives at Indianapolis Wednesday, Feb. 8.

We arrived at the State House at 8 a.m. and were directed to the pages' lounge.

We were given instructions, ribbons designating us as House pages, and a map showing the seating arrangements of the members, and directed to take positions near our representative.

The day's session was opened with a prayer from the chaplain. Speaker Richard Guthrie then called for the reading of committee resolutions. After the resolutions were read and voted on, the House Clerk began the reading of the budget bill. This is a very long, drawn out process as he stopped reading every few paragraphs for amendments to be made.

Toured State Office Building

The House recessed for lunch at 10:45. Two girls from Plymouth were also pages. Dr. Otis Bowen, our representative, took the five of us to lunch in the cafeteria in the new State Office Building. We observed the State Supreme Court briefly on our way to lunch, and afterward toured the 14-story State Office Building, which was built during ex-Governor Handley's administration. We returned, as we went, through an air-conditioned underground tunnel.

During an afternoon recess of about 10 minutes, we were allowed to sit in the chairs of the representatives to rest our weary feet.

Duties Listed

Some of our duties were delivering letters to the House Post Office, carrying messages to other representatives and to the Senate, get cokes and water for the men, etc. There were dozens of pages serving that day, and none of us were kept too busy, so we had more time to observe the activities.

We were given a certificate stating we had served as House pages, along with an excuse which states we were to be counted in attendance in our school classes.

We left Indianapolis about 5 p.m. and arrived home about 8:30, the end of a truly memorable day. We are deeply indebted to Dr. Bowen for making it possible.

Grade School Artists Busy With Many Projects

By Merrie Kay Stoneburner

In the art department the second graders have been expressing themselves through finger paint and tempera. Next they are going to try clay modeling.

The fourth graders have made murals with chalk depicting the helpers of the community. They will be displayed in the halls of the elementary building starting March 13.

The fifth and sixth grades made their own valentines. They cut their design on linoleum and then printed on them.

Wise people know how to save time by not being in a hurry.

Valentine's Day Theme In Grades

By Anne Behmer

The grades are eagerly awaiting Valentine's Day. This fact is very evident by the decorations and valentine boxes which can be seen in any of the rooms.

Mrs. Keyser: John Hansen had a birthday Feb. 4, and Jean Wolf celebrated hers Feb. 9. In phonics we are learning about syllables.

Miss Cripe: We have been reading about the farm and several children have brought farm pictures for our bulletin board. The class saw two movies on birds: Birds in Winter and Robin Redbreast.

Mrs. Barton: Richard Ruhnnow, Robert Bean, James Hoessel, James Woolington, Mary Wieringa, Susan Shel, Brenda Lindvall, and Kathy Banks made perfect scores in spelling. Jim Yocom made a perfect score on the "Little White House" reading test.

Mrs. Allen: Jimmy Summers has moved to Anderson, Ind. and the Beck family is returning to Lima, Peru, S. A.

Mrs. Carter: Jan Price and Yvonne Matteson had birthdays this week. Following are some of the poems that the children have written in English class:

The Cubs and The Bees
By Eric Hughes
Let's go to the cubs
And act like real hubs,
We'll climb trees
Up to our knees,
But not play with the bees
Up in the trees.

Skipping Rope
By Margaret Ruhnnow
Skipping rope is so much fun
So much fun for everyone
The rope is very white
Then we quit every night.
I tied the rope to the tree
And a little bee bit me
That naughty little bee
That one up in the tree.

The Kitten
By Jan Price
Once I went out to play,
Like I do every day,
I saw something I didn't see before
Something pretty sitting by the door
I saw a kitten pretty and fluffy
I kept him and named him Snuffy.

Dillon Is High Point Scorer For Indians

Rick Ervin has tallied 104 points thus far this season to lead the B-team scoring. The remainder of the Papooses are as follows: Thad Overmyer, 63; Wade Logan, 53; George Herr, 52; Dennis Shock, 47; Jerry Nelson, 39; Rodney Edgington, 32; Jim Carter, 28; Frank Ikert, 27; Paul White, 13; Marty Ruhnnow, 10; Sam Lowry, 9; and Mike Geiger, 7.

Look For The Silver Lining . . . You May Find It

By Shari Yocom

"Present fears are less than horrible imaginings."

William Shakespeare

Of all the devices and machines ever created, the human mind is the most amazing. It functions without its operator having to push a button or pull a lever. In fact, sometimes we say our imaginations were working overtime.

Fear and Imagination can be poor houseguests when they visit hand in hand. Imagination can be helpful by herself; Fear can usually be persuaded to leave if he gets unruly. But when Fear brings Imagination with him, the results can be a ravaged house which will take considerable time to repair completely.

In applying this theory to every-day life, I find it means simply this: If you think that what you have done is wrong, you think of the worst consequences, if you feel that what you have done is right, you don't worry about what the consequences will be.

In accordance with the former, when Elbert realizes that he has committed a trivial misdeed such as staying out too late with the boys on Saturday night, the first thing that runs through his mind is, "Boy, am I gonna get it when I get home!" And he usually does. But he normally is not exceptionally apprehensive under such circumstances because he knows, to a certain extent, what will happen. But in more extreme cases in which a misdemeanor of some sort is involved, Elbert might conclude that he is a hopelessly condemned criminal and does not dare to go home to "face the music." His fear is distorted by his imagination and he believes the consequences to be more horrible than they are in reality. The moral to such a story might be: "always let your conscience be your guide."

There is another aspect of this subject of horrible imaginings which is worthy of consideration. A person who is concerned for another's safety or welfare is liable to become overanxious and let his imagination take hold of him.

Take for instance the case of Radcliffe and Mergatroyd. Radcliffe, due home from a contract-signing trip to Chicago, has been unavoidably delayed by unforeseen complications with his fountain pen. Mergatroyd begins to wonder where he is. Her first thought is that perhaps he decided to look up an old girl-type friend and renew their friendship. She pursues this chain of thought further and just as she is looking up her lawyer's telephone number, she comes to the horrible realization that he must have had an accident! His plane engine had trouble and he is stranded somewhere in the mountains, or, horror of all horrors, the plane fell into the ocean; and poor Radcliffe can't swim a stroke without his water wings!

Just as she reaches for her second box of Kleenex and her tranquilizers, Radcliffe bounces into the house and wants to know how his "little sweet potato" is feeling, and they all live happily ever after. The moral to the story is: "Don't cry over spilled milk until you knock the bottle over. After all, things are never as bad as you think they are."

I know not what course others may take, but as for me, I am going to try to follow the advice I have so righteously given.

(This theme was written as a requirement for Mr. Graham's English 12 class.)

Seniors: The Seniors have been planning for their trip and graduation which are soon to come (too soon). They have picked their colors, lavender and silver; their flower, the red red rose; and their motto, "They conquer who believe they can."

Sunshine Girls Plan Annual Dad's Party

By Carolee Easterday

The Sunshine girls are planning their annual Father-Daughter Banquet. It will be held in the Methodist Church in the Fellowship Hall on Feb. 16. We hope it makes a big hit with our Dads again this year.

At a previous meeting, the sophomores staged a humorous fashion show modeling everything from the flapper dresses to Miss Shanks modeling what the best dressed teachers of the Space Age will be wearing. (And we think clothes were weird in the 20's!)

Valentine's Day Messages Not New

By Sam Medbourn,
Karen Kemple, and Shari Yocom

From one St. Valentine's Day to another, there have been new love songs, new love stories, and, of course, new lovers. Yet researchers tell us that there is nothing new in love!

For example, the present day custom of carving heart symbols on trees began in ancient Greece. Then, as now, lovers entwined their initials in a symbol of "eternal love."

Valentines themselves have gone through a sort of romantic evolution. Tradition holds that St. Valentine's Day got its name from a young Roman priest known as Valentine, who was executed February 14, 270 A. D., because he refused to renounce Christianity. While he was in prison he was befriended by the jailer's blind daughter. Just before the fatal day he composed a farewell message to his young friend and signed it "From Your Valentine."

During the next 1,000 years Valentines remained primarily messages of friendship. Later generations, with a big assist from one Dan Cupid, have made Valentines an integral part of America's love life. Sweethearts everywhere will be sending and receiving colorful and sentimental Valentines on Tuesday, Feb. 14, again this year — unaware, perhaps, that the custom they have enjoyed since childhood began in a Roman jail nearly 1700 years ago.

Americans have been sending each other valentines since about 1750, but until about 1840 it was not a popular custom.

Advances in manufacturing techniques starting about 1840 encouraged publishers and booksellers to mass produce valentines at a cost attractive to the public.

Before 1840, anyone who desired to send a valentine to a loved one either laboriously made the valentine by hand or purchased expensive cards imported from England. The early handmade cards were usually folded, sealed with wax, and delivered personally to the recipient.

The handmade valentine began passing out of the picture when lithographing and other new printing and manufacturing techniques made possible low-cost production of the cards.

The rise of Worcester, Mass. in the trade was largely the responsibility of a publisher's feminist daughter, Esther Howland, and a young Civil War veteran, George C. Whitney.

Miss Howland became interested in English valentines and decided to produce cards of her own for the American market.

Setting up shop in her own home, Miss Howland soon found it necessary to hire other women to help meet the rising flood of orders.

By 1849, she had set up one of the first assembly line operations in the history of American industry. Sitting at long tables, each woman in her employ concentrated on a specialized task, the valentine passing from one to another until completed.

Miss Howland is said to have invented the "lift-up" valentine, adding a third dimension to the

List Music Contest Winners

By Nancy Ervin

The music students participated in solo and ensemble contests at Elkhart and Plymouth on Jan. 28 and Feb. 4.

Those winning first divisions traditionally flat card. She specialized in the lace-bordered sentimental valentine and at the peak of her career grossed $100,000 a year in the business which never left her home. She died in 1904.

But times have changed, and hardly anyone can remember the time when Valentine cards were coy and a trifle plaintive. "Won't you be my Valentine?" they used to ask — signed "Guess Who?"

It may be that a few such old-fashioned cards are still in the racks, but they're apt to be buried under newer ones with messages like this: "What could you possibly want for Valentine's Day . . ." (Turn inside) "When you have me."

The latest contemporary cards offer a different selection. These are the type that you would send to a close friend who is able to accept them without any offense, such as: "Won't you be my Valentine . . ." (inside) and LOUSE UP my day! or "Come onna my cave and . . . be my Valentine." Then there is always this favorite: "Pardon me if I drool, but I want you to be my Ghoul!"

When we asked what some suggestions were for gifts a boy should give a girl for Valentine's Day, we received a variety of answers: "A box of candy and a set of scales," "Candy ! ! !," "Nothing; girls are a waste of money anyway ! ! !," "A carton of Metrecal," "Matching shirts," "A nice card," and "A SMALL box of candy." One enterprising young man answered, "A Valentine, what else?!"

When we questioned the girls as to what they would like to receive, we had even more variety: "A Valentine card," "Candy," "A special date," "To be with HIM," "A Marriage License," "A giant-sized 'loving card'," "A tall, dark, handsome, young man," "A big box of candy," "A pretty hanky," "Flowers," "A sweater," "Jewelry," "His class ring," "A phone call from far away," "A nice long letter," and "Perfume."

in the Instrument Contest were Eva Norris, Andrea Siple, Becky Easterday, Dennis Westcott, Andy Lowry, Doug Kosterman, Molly Norris, Mark Kosterman, Kay Thomas, Jim Lewis, Debbie Henderson, Larry Fisher, Dick Mackey, Martha Lowry, Sharon Norris, Sheryl Hohman, Larry Miller, Janice Neidlinger, Paul White, Nick Knoerzer, Larry Linhart, Mike Overmyer, Brian Piersol, Carol Overmyer, Charlene Lucas, Janet Logan, Lana Berger, and Nancy Ervin. Nick Knoerzer, Larry Linhart, and Doug Kosterman each won two firsts.

Receiving thirds were: Jeanne Adams, Sandy Osborn, Sue Cole, Patty Ogden, Lorrie Sands, Barbara Hatten, Bonnie Parker, and Carol Heiser.

High school students eligible to attend State Contest at Indianapolis on Feb. 18 are: Nancy Ervin, Charlene Lucas, Nick Knoerzer, Carol Overmyer, Lana Berger, Janet Logan, Larry Linhart, Mike Overmyer, Brian Piersol, Paul White, Janice Neidlinger, Martha Lowry, Sharon Norris, Sheryl Hohman, Larry Miller, Jean Warner, Shari Yocom, Mary Jane Guise, Lucy Osborn, and Carol Heiser.

We are very proud of this representation of Culver High School and wish the best of luck to those who are going to State Contest this weekend.

Be Content With What You Have

By Carmen Gretter

"The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves that we are underlings."

Our lives are not governed by the stars, or anything related to them. Life is a struggle from beginning to the end. Many people born crippled, or who acquire a handicap from the result of an accident, feel they are useless, and instead of going ahead and making a life for themselves, they sit idle feeling sorry for themselves.

And then there are the other people, the ones that accept their misfortunes and take them in their everyday stride. Very often you may hear or read of a blind poet or writer. These people who do not feel sorry for themselves, but try to strengthen others that have afflictions, and to those that have none, ask that they may be grateful.

Once, a man in an accident had a concussion. He was perfectly all right until a month after the accident, when he became paralyzed from the shoulders down; he had to be washed and fed. He worked for months trying to keep his right fore-finger limber so he could type a little, since he could not speak. With just one finger he wrote his story. This man, that I use as an example, did not feel sorry for himself, but went ahead by himself.

Self-pity can only make you feel worse than you really are. So be content with what you have. "Let us, then, be up and doing With heart for any fate; Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labor and to wait." — Longfellow "Psalm of Life"

"Look out!" It's coming your way! If you don't duck it'll be too bad for you. That little man with the arrows means business."

It looks as though some people didn't pay any attention, or maybe they didn't want to, when the cry to duck went out. One of those unhappy (?) victims is Judy Kimmell who was hit with one of Cupid's fatal arrows. Congratulations to you, Judy.

"2897! There must be some mistake, there just must! I mean really, I just couldn't have eaten that much!" This is just one of the conversations you might overhear between the girls in the Health and Safety Class. It seems that one of their assignments is to count their calories. We wish you lots of luck.

I understand that there is a slight disagreement between a teacher and student about how much fresh air the average person needs. Sure hope you come to some conclusions.

Would anyone care to donate a small step-ladder to the study hall? It seems those shorter teachers in our midst are having a little bit of difficulty.

Please Margo, we know you're trying to make your term report as realistic as possible but do you think it's necessary to build a steamship?

The Chemistry Lab is getting to be a dangerous place. Instead of wearing plastic aprons for protection they'll need iron vests. But you've got to give them credit for trying.

We'd like to extend our congratulations to those music students who brought so many honors to our school. Everyone is very proud and appreciates all the time and effort that you all devoted.

If you see an extra long line of students in front of the book store, don't be alarmed. The book store isn't going out of business, it's just the typing students stocking up on typing paper. It seems they have to type some sort of book. Sure hope you get it finished and don't go bankrupt doing it.

Maybe when the snow finally goes away, the boys will not be as tempted to throw snowballs. It doesn't pay to throw snowballs, does it boys? About ten of our braves learned this after a seat-warming party in the office.

What's this about study hall turning into a jail? The jailor, Mr. Graham, announces his arrival every third period.

Well, it's about time to close the door of our teepee, so until we meet again . . . be kind to your neighbor.

HIS LAST DEFENSE

Free Speech In The Senate

While calling loudly for Civil Rights legislation to protect the rights of a minority, the liberal majority in Congress is ready for a quick strike at the rights of all minorities.

To succeed, they must act before the voters realize what is happening.

The gambit will be a rule change to scuttle what's left of the right of unlimited debate in the Senate.

Unlimited debate is the rule that permits a filibuster. The filibuster may have a bad name but it has a useful purpose. It is the traditional and almost only defense of a Senate minority against having its rights trampled by the will of the majority.

A filibuster can be stopped by a two-thirds vote of Senators present, but a two-thirds vote is hard to get. Each Senator knows that some day he may be in a minority and may need the protection of the filibuster in an issue of overwhelming importance to the people of his state.

The liberals probably will try to put through a rule to allow cutting off debate by a simple majority vote of the Senators present. Under such a rule the Senate would become nothing more than a rubber stamp for whatever legislation is favored by the political party that has a majority in the Senate.

It will be a sad day when the Senate of the United States becomes a rubber stamp for anybody.

SIMPLE SOLUTION — A volunteer fire department. Cole, using a long handled shovel, said he believed he could work faster with a short handled one. "I can fix that," said Bentley. He took the shovel and broke the handle in half.

Benedict Farm Wins Barrow Show Prizes

At the 12th annual Hoosier Spring Barrow Show held in the Swine Barn at the Indiana State Fairgrounds on Tuesday, Feb. 14, the Maxinkuckee Highland Farm, Route 1, Culver, won places in a number of exhibits.

The Maxinkuckee Highland Farm, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Benedict, won 4th and 5th places — Purebred Landrace — Lightweight Single Barrows; 5th place — Purebred Landrace — Pen of three Barrows; and 5th and 6th place — Purebred Landrace — Mediumweight Single Barrows.

177 Exhibitors

While the show received a record number of exhibitors, totaling 177, who entered about a thousand hogs, the number which actually went into the show ring totaled 972.

The show now recesses until Saturday when it will open again to exhibit carcasses and primal cuts. The carcass show will be held in the coolers at the Indianapolis plant of Hygrade Products Corporation, the packer sponsoring the show.

To enter the show, hogs must have been farrowed on the property of the exhibitor and qualified by breed and by weight. Lightweight hogs were those of 190 to 215 pounds and mediumweights 216 to 240 pounds.

The 12th annual show marked the first time a relatively new breed, the Landrace, competed in separate classes. Previously, hogs of this breed had been shown in the "All other hogs" classes.

Prizes Total $5,000

Prizes totaling nearly $5,000 will have been awarded to exhibitors by the time the show closes with carcass class competition Saturday. Livestock men regard the Hoosier show as the top national swine event in its class because of the fact that carcasses are evaluated and judged, then placed on exhibit so that the breeders, the housewife, and any others interested may see this lean, meaty product.

Awards to winners, presentation of trophies, and other prizes will be made in a program at the Hygrade plant Saturday morning.

The Land And The Promise, by Frank G. Slaughter. A retelling of the most beloved stories in the Bible. Main characters of the Bible are brought to life, written in the language of a layman.

The First Easter, by Peter Marshall. Compiled by Catherine Marshall who has woven from her late husband's sermons a dramatic narrative of the first Easter; from the Last Supper to the Resurrection.

A Life After Death, by Ralph S. Harlow. A very recent publication by Doubleday. The author is a professor of religion and Biblical literature. Mr. Harlow presents the findings of his search for some proof that there is life after death. He asks the reader neither to believe nor to disbelieve but to ponder.

Therese, Saint Of A Little Way, by Frances Parkinson Keyes. A biography of the Saint sometimes called the Little Flower. The author spent several months in the Benedictine Abbey where Therese spent her school days. Therese entered a Carmelite convent at the age of 15 and died at 24. Her writings led to her canonization.

MRS. ARTHUR REED SUFFERS CORONARY ATTACK

Boy Scout Troop 290 met at the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall Monday, Feb. 13. Morse code was the scoutcraft for the evening. Fletcher Mattox was the champion de-coder.

Business consisted mainly of the planning of the overnight camp-out at Tippecanoe State Park which is this Saturday, Feb. 18. Boys will meet at the Methodist Church at 8:30 a.m. You MUST have a permission slip and $2 to be able to go. Also planned for the near future is an overnight at the Tri-Valley Camp in Michigan.

Menominee district Scout-O-Rama is coming in April, so let's be getting some ideas for our project.

Remember, Morse code is our theme for the month of February. Be ready for next Monday's contests and games!

God, one intelligent source, in

SOME SHUTOUTS — Eldrew Cissell of The Portland Graphic, whose coverage of Indiana high school basketball dates back to the beginning of the state tournament, has come up with some fantastic scores made in regular season games in past years by Hoosier high school teams. Cissell reports that on Nov. 18, 1932, Cowan High School defeated Sulphur Springs 104-0. Cowan is in Delaware County and Sulphur Springs in Henry County. Back in the 1914-15 season a Hoosier team, Monroeville (Allen County) defeated Middlepoint, O., 125-0 and during the 1917-18 season New Castle defeated Noblesville 110-0.

AIR BORNE COWBOYS — When Otto Henschen was unable to locate 16 valuable cattle that had strayed from a pasture on his LaGrange County farm near South Milford he engaged the services of an airplane pilot, Ted Butler of Kendallville. Butler and Henschen went aloft and spotted the missing cattle in a corn field four miles northwest of the Henschen farm.

"Hoosier At Large"

NOT ALL OF THAT got through to Cheryl, but it was plain that the colored eggs intrigued her. So Don said: "I'll give your grandmother a hen and rooster to take home and put in her flock. Then she'll get some colored eggs."

The two crated Araucanas rode the trailer back to Indiana, cackling and crowing protest all the way. Home again, Mrs. Ringbaugh kept the two separated until she got one hatch from the hen.

"AFTER THAT," she laughed, "they just mingled with my New Hampshires. Genetically, things got pretty mixed up — but green eggs kept coming."

Ironically, egg-buyers spurned the greenies — although they're richer and tastier than whites.

The Ringbaughs dubbed them "good neighbor eggs" because they were usually given to kith, kin, or friends.

Many went to Mrs. Vrooman, who needs nutritious food — and last year Cheryl ingeniously turned the shells into Christmas tree baubles as a Tiny Teens 4-H project. She won a Blue Ribbon at both county and state fairs.

SOME WEEKS AGO, Bernice's

last Araucana-strain rooster died. End of green eggs! She wrote to El Monte for new stock. No answer.

BUT THE GREEN EGGS may not be gone forever. The "seven aces" Mrs. Ringbaugh has up her sleeve are five pullets and two roosters she hatched late last year — all from green eggs.

"They'll soon be producing," she said. "Some of the seven should give us green eggs. I hope so."

SO DOES CHERYL VROOMAN

obedient servant!

Culver Indians Have Another Sad Weekend

Play Lakeville Trojans Friday

By EARL D. MISHLER

The Culver Indians fell below the 500 mark for the first time in over two months last weekend, losing decisively to New Paris and Richland Center. Coach Tom Benbrook's outfit has now won eight and lost nine.

Friday night a hot-shooting New Paris team manhandled the local tribe, 75 to 60, on the winner's home floor. The game was decided early as the torrid Cubs scored easily against Culver's 2-1-2 zone, streaking to a 22-9 first quarter lead. The margin was increased to 37-19 at halftime, as the hosts were led by guard Steve Neff, whose outside shooting tormented the Indians all night.

In the second half, Culver's senior stars, Gary Dillon and Lance Overmyer, finally found the range on offense, and a pressing man-to-man defense kept New Paris within reach. But the sharp shooting Neff almost single-handedly held off the gallant Culver comeback bid. The third quarter ended with the Cubs leading, 55 to 38. Culver managed to outscore the winners in the final period but the decision had already been made.

Neff bagged 31 points for the winners, while Culver was led by Dillon and Overmyer with 21 and 16, respectively.

Saturday night, the weary Indians, playing their sixth game in three weeks and their third straight weekend doubleheader, were upset by the Wildcats from Richland Center, 61 to 56. The game was played in Culver but was officially Richland Center's home game.

Cold shooting and several mistakes by the Indians gave Center an early lead which they stretched to 15-11 after the first stanza. Larry Davis' six points in a row and Overmyer's last-second basket sent Culver into the dressing room with a 27-25 halftime lead.

Then the roof fell in. Center's well-applied zone press finally took its toll on Culver. Larry Sanders, 5'9" junior guard, popped in four quick long shots and 6'3" senior center Dave Evans seemed to grab every rebound in the third quarter. When those horrible eight minutes were over, the stunned Indians had been outscored 21 to 4, and trailed 46-31!

The Indians recovered in time to gradually pull back into the game, as John Benedict, still slightly hampered by his knee injury, and Overmyer began cleaning the boards. However, fouls began to take their toll on Culver, as Tom Boswell and Davis had already fouled out. The Wildcats made their free throw opportunities pay off in the waning moments, and scored the stunning 61-56 upset.

Evans and Sanders had 17 points apiece for the winners, while Overmyer garnered 15 for Culver. Davis, Benedict, and Dillon added 12 apiece.

The Culver B-Team was beaten twice. New Paris' tall and talented underclassmen routed the Papooses, 70 to 23, and the Center B-Team hit 27 free throws to topple the Culverites, 43 to 31. Friday night Rick Ervin was high man for the Papooses with eight points. Paul White, a freshman, getting his first starting chance, hit 11 on Saturday night.

This week the Indians play two more tough games, but at least they'll have two days' rest in between. Tuesday night Culver travels to Winamac, and Friday night they play host to the Lakeville Trojans to end the regular season.

Academy Sports

The Culver Military Academy team moved into the final phase of its 1960-61 season with an 8-5 record after a split in two games last weekend.

Coach Russ Oliver's quintet edged past Whiting, 49-47, Saturday after a 62-41 shellacking the night before at Plymouth.

In a late addition to the schedule, Coach Oliver has filled an open date Friday night with a game against Dyer High School here. On Saturday, the cadet basketball and wrestling teams head for Bloomfield Hills, Mich., where they face Cranbrook School in both sports. The meet will close the season for the wrestling team while the basketball squad has one remaining home game with St. John's Military Academy on Saturday, Feb. 25.

At Plymouth last week, the Eagles made a game of it for three quarters and then fell apart in the last eight minutes when Plymouth outscored them 25-8. The Academy five was limited to a single field goal in the fourth quarter. Paul Schudt maintained his 25-point average with 24 points.

In the contest at Whiting, the Academy reversed its performance of the night before. The Eagles went into the final quarter trailing by eight points and won the game by two. Schudt again was high, this time with 26 points.

Marion High handed the wrestling team its eighth loss of the season last Thursday by a 33-16 score. The Academy's lone pin was scored by heavyweight Bob Magidson who overcame his opponent in one minute, 11 seconds.

In rifle competition, the Academy junior team defeated the Valparaiso Junior Boys Club, 1,836 to 1,750, and on Saturday two teams represented Culver in a meet sponsored by the Chicago Lawndale Boys Club. The Culver first team shot 1,466 and placed third in the tournament while the second team recorded 1,484 for second place.
