Will Erwin Speaks To Culver Chamber Monday

Will Erwin officially opened the Union Township Republican headquarters in Culver after a luncheon speech at the Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Culver Inn on Monday.

After a few opening remarks, Rev. Carl Baker, president of the Chamber of Commerce, recognized Republican candidates who were present for the luncheon. Prominent candidates attending and the offices they are running for were Lloyd Beatty, Treasurer; Harry Speyer, County Commissioner; David Feagler, Judge; and John Hutchings, State Senator from Marshall and St. Joseph Counties.

Rev. Baker introduced Mr. Erwin's wife and mother, who were also present, and then Mr. Erwin, who in turn introduced his son, Lewis, a student at Culver Military Academy.

Erwin immediately proceeded with what he termed a pure campaign speech by stating that he believes our nation is in a period of basic political realignment. Congress and the administration have misled the people of the United States to a point they can no longer tolerate the situation and hence the explosion of consciences such as we witnessed recently in Chicago. He said the present administration has planned deficit budgets and that present our congressman approved these budgets. Planned deficit spending and planned deficit inflation are robbing old people of their savings, he stated, and many senior citizens who have carefully saved for old age are having to go on welfare because inflation has eaten up their savings.

Nation Losing in Morality

Erwin continued by saying the nation's main problem is neither economic nor military but that we are losing in morality. Crime has increased at the rate of eight times the population and he feels we will have to take a firm stand behind our law enforcement officers in order to decrease the crime rate.

In regard to Vietnam, he charges our leadership with leading us sideways into a war and the leaders are now telling us to not worry because we'll have "business as usual at home."

Erwin stressed that human renewal should take precedence over urban renewal. He said that urban renewal destroys four times as many homes as it creates.

Farm Program in Trouble

His views on the farm program were derived from first hand experiences. After the Eisenhower administration during which he actively participated in a program he felt effective, he decided to go along with the new administration's policy and he now finds the farm program in the worse state it has ever been. He observed that we have been looking at farming in "retrospect not prospect."

Justice Hafert's Court Report For September

A total of 9 persons were arrested and paid fines and costs. There were 4 cases of motor vehicle violations and 5 cases of contributing to the delinquency of a minor; 1 plaintiff filed for claim on account, paying court costs; 1 person appeared to collect refund on bond posted when the prosecutor failed to prosecute. All arrests were made by the Culver Police Dept.

Financial Report for Quarter

Dispersed to County Treasurer $329; Dispersed to Justice of Peace $172; Dispersed to Union Twp. Trustee $92.50; Dispersed to Conservation Dept. $15. Payable to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles $54. A total of $862.50 dispersed.

Erwin advocates the following program: 1. Elect people who will balance the budget. 2. De-Americanize the war in Vietnam. 3. Decrease crime by standing behind our law enforcement officers and increasing their training. 4. The poor and less fortunate peoples must be educated and encouraged to own property. He advocates special education for families who have been on relief for three or more generations.

In conclusion, Mr. Erwin pointed out that this was a "time for vision and a time for courage to follow our consciences."

Mr. Mattox gave a large share of the credit to Norman M. Scruggs and Glen Schrimsher who have put forth much effort to maintain the landscaping and appearance of the Post Office.

After the ceremony, the employees and their guests entertained at a luncheon at the Bank Lounge.

Among those present at the ceremony were Mr. Al Hass, Public Service Officer from South Bend; Mr. Leonard Webb, GSA Area Manager; Mr. Omer Bixel, Postmaster of Plymouth; Mr. James Slough, Postmaster of Bourbon and Col. W. D. Howell of Culver Military Academy.

at cards.

Mrs. Cecil Smith won the Bridge prize, Mrs. E. W. Carter won at Flinch and the mystery package went to Mrs. Hoesel.

Hodgkin Receives Academic Chair

Establishment of an endowed academic chair, a new award for excellence in teaching, and faculty and staff promotions were announced during Culver Military Academy's first faculty meeting of the year.

Brig. Gen. John W. Dobson, Academy superintendent, informed Culver's 116 instructors and administrators that the Carter Family Chair in English had been created through the gifts of Collins L. and Mary Carter. Carter is a Culver alumus from the class of 1925, a director of The Culver Educational Foundation and president of the Hayes-Albion Corporation in Jackson, Mich.

Culver's chapter of the Cum Laude Society inducted Carter as an honorary member in 1956. He served as an officer of the Culver Legion, the Academy's alumni association, and was elected president in 1964. His son, Lander, was graduated from the Academy in 1965. Two years ago the Carter family gave Culver a press box and football stands.

Filling the newly-endowed chair in English will be Patrick H. Hodgkin, a master instructor in English who came to Culver in 1938.

Educated at Leighton Park School in Reading, England, Hodgkin received a bachelor of science degree from Harvard College and a master of arts degree from Middlebury College. He continued post-graduate work at Harvard, Indiana, Yale and Oxford universities and has been active in the publication of English texts.

Gen. Dobson also announced 14 academic promotions. Marshall L. Brown, English; Alan M. Bunner, mathematics; Walter O. Gollnick, mathematics; Frederick D. Lane, science; Gordon Uytendouck, foreign languages; and Elmer G. White, English, were promoted to the rank of master instructor.

John M. Hartley, English; Ronald H. Noel, foreign languages; Capt. Melville K. Short and Dr. Brian W. Wallis, both in science, were appointed senior instructors. Carlos D. Blanco, foreign languages; Gordon R. Hough, English; Robert L. Kamrow, fine arts; and Rosemary E. Vasas, English, were raised to associate instructors.

New Twist For The Lunch Box

Every lunch-to-go deserves a little treat, but if you haven't much time to bake, those treats present a problem once everyone tires of purchased cookies and cupcakes. For a change, try some of these quick and easy ABC Snack Balls. They're a little like popcorn balls, but are made with peanuts, fruit flavor gelatin, and Post Alpha-Bits Sugar Frosted Oat Cereal. Better pack a few extra for sharing with lunchroom friends.

ABC Snack Balls

1 package (3 oz.) fruit flavor gelatin	1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup sugar	4 cups alphabet oat cereal
	3/4 cup salted peanuts*

*Or use 1/4 cup raisins.

Combine gelatin, sugar, and syrup in a saucepan; blend well. Cook and stir over low heat until gelatin and sugar are thoroughly dissolved — about 2 to 3 minutes. Combine cereal and peanuts in a bowl. Add gelatin mixture and blend well. Let stand until cool enough to handle. Moisten fingers in cool water and form mixture into 1-inch balls, pressing firmly together. Place on wax paper to dry. Makes about 30 balls.

1000 PROGRAMS

In the 13 years since the second Hoover Commission made its final report, the number of federal civilian employees has grown by half a million, the Federal budget has doubled, domestic spending has increased by 170 percent, and the number of Federal programs has grown by leaps and bounds.

No one, anywhere, knows exactly how many federal programs there are. No where is there a central repository where meaningful information on all operating Federal programs can be found. Congress itself does not have available sufficient information to determine whether or not those programs are effective, or if new ones are needed.

Similarly the executive branch does not have available enough information to determine whether there is overlap, duplication or lack of coordination. As many as 10 Cabinet-level departments and 15 agencies have programs devoted essentially to the same area of activity. More than 470 programs on education are operated by 25 different departments and agencies. At least 211 operating programs for college and graduate students are operated by 15 departments and agencies.

Some 117 programs concerning natural resources are spread among 12 departments and agencies. There are 112 programs providing assistance to the poor, 43 programs that relate to child health and welfare, and 74 that relate to economic $20 billion a year.

These are facts developed by Representative William V. Roth, Jr. and his staff, over a period of eight months. He reported the results of the study in the Congressional Record for June 25 and July 16. Now we know why we have taxes, and more taxes, taxes, and surtaxes.

Congressman Roth, a Republican from Delaware, has introduced a "Program Information Act" requiring the President to present annually to Congress a compendium of federal assistance programs. And he strongly urges an "Executive Reorganization and Management Act," creating a modern Hoover-type commission. Both proposals have been cosponsored by more than one-fourth of the House membership, and have the unanimous approval of the Governors attending the July conference.

Maybe these would accomplish something. But remembering the "love's labor's lost" which attended the two Hoover Commissions, we would like to see the Congress start tightening the purse-strings.

CULVER COMMENTS

By Robert E. Urbin

There is an old story concerning the definition of an "optimist" and a "pessimist". One person when asked, defined it this way: "Imagine a person setting at a bar with a glass of beer half full. The optimist says his glass is half full while the pessimist says his glass is half empty."

This is about the feeling we have received lately on a few, not many, but a few reactions to this column, "Culver Comments." It seems like the "Comments" have been the topic of conversation for more than one and almost got formal recently being discussed at more of a meeting than just over coffee. Fine, this is what we want. In fact, we want comments to also come from you, our readers, but we like to have these in forms of "Voice of the People" articles and such as this.

The idea of this column was not mine. I just can't take that much credit for it, but once it started, I was very glad to have it going. I still am and feel that this is one of the best-read items of the paper week in and week out. However, it seems that some people are reading what they want to read and not reading (or at least not remembering) what they don't want to read. This is human nature.

More human nature is to talk about what you want and this is the part that gets a little irritating at times. Talk (or gossip) whatever you want to call it, will always be a part of human nature, but when the parties involved get to doing this talk behind your back and trying to influence people in unethical ways, it causes some hard feelings from time to time.

Recently, this has been the case. I will be the first to admit that some of the items in "Culver Comments" have been critical of persons and things, but they have been critical in a form of constructiveness and humor, the pattern the column follows. However, the criticism that has resulted from this has not been channeled properly.

The decisions of the newspaper are made by me. To date, no direct criticism has come my way concerning this column. Nor has this same criticism been directly given to the ladies in our office, just that behind the back talk which at times has been rather strong and caused some worry and hard feelings.

Another matter concerning this is that despite what anyone thinks, no one will force the column to stop by trying to talk others into dropping their advertising in the paper. I am just bullheaded enough to not be swayed by threats and also I do not go around threatening others if they don't do things my way.

We have been very happy in our association with Culver in the best part of a year we have been handling the "Citizen." Also, we have made a lot of mistakes, this once again basically my fault. Labor problems and other minor items have prevented me personally from being as active in Culver as I had hoped to be, but I still have high hopes of spending more time in Culver as these problems are worked out. I will be available anytime someone wants to see me personally a simple phone call will set up an appointment.

Now I would like to ask you to join our "Optimistic Readers" and dig into the text of what we are saying. If once in a while you are a little upset by what is said, weigh it a little more and maybe you will see two sides of the story. I would like to know, that personal feelings will not enter into this writing and if they have been interpreted this way, we are sorry. We hope you will take advantage of our offer to make your views known as well and we will have a "Culver Comments" and a "Voice of the People" column every week.

MAJOR POINTS AND MINOR, TOO

Paris, France: America is a very big topic in France, this traveling reporter has learned from talks with both officials and everyday citizens during an all too brief visit here in the glorious, fascinating City of Lights.

Parisians have many questions about the upcoming elections — and about American attitudes toward La Belle. They are wondering if the next administration will be friendly toward the French — and whether there will be an upsurge in American tourism in 1969.

There are reasons why Paris has questions, for the American tourist trade has been down sharply in 1968, due to the spring riots, the Johnson Administration's effort to halt foreign travel and the resentment some Americans felt toward President Charles de Gaulle.

Fine Time of Year

This is a delightful time of year to be in Paris. The heat of the summer is over, and the weather is ideal — warm and pleasant. And vacationing Parisians are all back home, eager to regain momentum lost during last spring's difficulties.

Hotels are eager to please (and there are bargain rates in many of them), and the restaurant people put forth extra effort in being helpful to those such as I who have to struggle with the French language.

Paris remains a beautiful, intriguing city — I have enjoyed again a stroll down the Champs Elysses and coffee at a sidewalk table — a ride on the Seine in a Bateau Mouche, the wonderful observation craft — another visit to the Louvre and to Notre Dame, those great landmarks — lunch in a little cafe on the Left Bank in the company of several eloquent, long-haired students eager to solve the problems of the modern world — and a view over the sparkling city at dusk from the Eiffel Tower.

So Much To See

Paris has so much to offer — there is so much to see — that the hours go by swiftly. Sight-seeing has been most comfortable, without the crowds encountered on some previous visits.

Shopping has been interesting, with wonderful bargains in perfumes and other objects typically French. But don't get the idea that France is a low cost country; it hasn't been in recent years, and wage hikes gained as a result of last spring's strikes are reflected in living costs. The hotels and restaurants have held the line, however, and costs compare with those of a year ago. Only, as I said earlier, the service is better.

And the food still is wonderful! I had my first taste of French cuisine aboard the Air France jet from Chicago, and I must say it was a gourmet's delight. The Air France chefs are among the finest serving travelers anywhere; they have a great tradition to live up to for the skills of those who prepare meals in French restaurants, both large and small, are great, indeed.

Traveling this fall in the good old USA? It's wise to have well-laid plans, says the All state Motor Club, since autumn vacations are becoming increasingly popular.

What's Ahead

Diplomatic bombshell to seriously affect election campaigns.

Pope takes desperate step seeking to end birth control furor.

South Pacific natural disaster (possibly quake) to cause many deaths.

Frankly Speaking: Poverty was a long hot summer in a fly-ridden house until Dad bought a fly swatter — Mom sighed in relief and said, "Thank goodness, now we're beginning to live."

— Don I. Frankel

Note To Iowa Farmer: Marriage of a girl to her father-in-law is something for Ann Landers perhaps; it's outside the scope of Major Points.

Gene Gems: I told my wife to use her head, and she bought a new hat for it — first lesson I learned in the art of self defense was to keep my glasses on.

OUR POLICY

For your information and convenience, we are again listing for you our policy on deadlines, mechanics, etc.

All copy for news must be into one of our offices by Tuesday evening, at 5:00 p.m. We cannot guarantee any news getting in that week's paper if it comes after this time. We ask for clearly typed or written copy if possible and do reserve the right to edit, correct or omit any or all of copy furnished as we see fit.

In regards to pictures, we need black and white pictures to reproduce, glossy if at all possible. These also must be in by Tuesday at 5:00 p.m. Any picture that must be reduced or enlarged, should be in our offices by 5:00 p.m. on Mondays. The use of colored pictures is very limited and we ask that you don't submit colored pictures if at all possible. We do have facilities at given times to take pictures for you. Please let us know in advance to plan for such picture taking. We try to use one column pictures for engagements and two column pictures for weddings.

If reporters for clubs and organizations so choose, we will give by-line credit for their news releases.

Classified Advertising should now follow the present deadlines of regular news copy.

Advertising, whether we pick it up or it is taken to our offices, should be in our possession as soon as possible, but no later than Tuesday at 5:00 p.m. However, we must enforce a strict deadline of Monday, at 5:00 p.m. for any advertising copy on which we must submit a proof to the advertiser. It is necessary to have this early in order to submit the proof. We do use mats instead of glossy prints in advertising work.

Your cooperation in all of these matters will be greatly appreciated by our staff and will enable us to print and mail the papers by the proper times each week. Our paper is your paper and we encourage your help in every way possible.

Monterey Library To Hold Open House Oct. 6

On Sunday, October 6, the Monterey Tippecanoe Public Library will formally celebrate the 50th year of operation.

Kelsey, Lenore Bringham Keitzer, Frank A. Keitzer, George Langenhahn, Lillian Marbaugh Johnson. The initial cost of the building was approximately $6,000, of which $5,000 was from the Carnegie Foundation, the balance was made up of subscriptions. The land was obtained from Dr. and Mrs. William Kelsey, June 30, 1917. Samuel A. Craig of Huntington was the architect. The contractors were Master Brothers of Monterey. Mrs. Lena Collins was employed as first Librarian when the Library officially opened October 16, 1918.

Succeeding Librarians were Faye Wolfram Robertson, Rosella Hartman Sullivan, Alma Bode, Dorothy Bode, Ethel Cooper Overmyer, Harriet Schall Smith, Alberta Brucker Miller, Jean Master Rensberger, Claire Keitzer Zehner, Mrs. Zehner is present Librarian and Mrs. Carol Eskridge is her assistant.

pace with the city and urban population must develop programs and programs of a cooperative nature. Through the cooperation of the Monterey Tippecanoe Public and the Winamac Monroe Public service is available to all Pulaski County except Salem and Beaver Twps. Monterey Library is a member of the T W X Communication system for more efficient reference service. Films are available through the cooperation of the Monterey and Culver Libraries. KNOW YOUR INDIANA LAW

By

Attorney General John J. Dillon
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Indiana law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

"Do I Need A Will?"

This question is probably the most often asked the average lawyer by his clients. Because of the fantastic wealth produced in this country during the last decade, more people than ever before have sufficient property to be concerned about its disposition after their deaths. More people are also aware that their heirs may gain a tax advantage from proper estate planning.

The answer to the question is that almost every person with any real or personal property worth even a reasonable amount needs a will. It is true that the disposition of an estate can be controlled by other methods. Property can be placed in joint title with another person, with the property to go to the survivor. Property can be given away during the owner's life time. However, neither of these methods should be adopted without obtaining the advice of an attorney as to the legal consequences of such action.

The mobility of our society has greatly increased the number of simultaneous deaths of husbands and wives in automobile and airplane accidents. When young couples with minor children die simultaneously without leaving a will grave problems are created concerning the management of the property left to their minor children. The question of which parent survived the longest must be argued. It is also possible in such situations that a double inheritance tax may be assessed.

A person who writes a will has complete power over the distribution of his property. Statutes of the State of Indiana make that decision for him if he dies without a will, with complete disregard to his own desires. A will does not become effective until the person who makes it dies. He can change or invalidate it at any time during his life.

The tax liabilities to state and federal governments created by the death of a person owning property are a great factor today property which will remain for his heirs. Both tax laws and in determining the amount of his heirs. Both tax laws and laws for making wills vary from state to state. Attempts of individuals to avoid probate of their estates on unsound generalized advice often results in an enlargement of the amount of taxes owed to the federal government and the State of Indiana, as well as to a different disposition of property than was intended by the decedent.

Although some few people may not need a will, everyone with any property does need an estate plan. He needs to make an appointment with his lawyer for at least an hour's consultation to review the nature of his property and the most advantageous method of distributing it in the manner he desires to have it distributed. His attorney will know whether his estate is large enough to require the creation of a trust or the making of gifts during his lifetime. I can say categorically that there is no better investment in legal services today than such a consultation. The currently recommended charge in Indiana for a one hour consultation with an attorney is twenty-five dollars ($25.00). An expenditure of this small amount can save heirs and beneficiaries thousands of dollars in the future. If you do not have an attorney, your local bar association, which is listed in the phone book, will be glad to recommend an attorney to you.

The important consideration is to have that consultation now. In estate planning matters, now is the best time to act. Unfortunately tomorrow may be too late.

Tailgate Picnic

by Betty Crocker

How's this for a little pre-game nourishment for the football fans: Beef Brisket Bar-B-Q on homemade Hamburger Onion Buns. Baked beans. Crisp relishes. Fresh fruit for dessert. And lots of hot coffee. The meat and buns go wrapped in foil, the beans in the bean pot — to keep all three items hot. Relishes and fruit travel on ice; the coffee in a thermos jug. It's a dandy autumn menu — and twice the fun served from the tailgate of the station wagon. May I be the first to compliment the hostess.

HAMBURGER ONION BUNS in warm place (85°) for 40 minutes.
Heat oven to 400°. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until browned. While hot, brush tops of buns with shortening. Makes 1 dozen.

1 package active dry yeast
1 1/4 cups warm water (105 to 115°)
3 tablespoons sugar
4 cups Bisquick
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
Shortening

In large mixer bowl, dissolve yeast in water. Add sugar and half the Bisquick. Beat 2 minutes medium speed on mixer, scraping side and bottom of bowl frequently, or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add remaining Bisquick and the onion; blend well with spoon. Scrape batter from side of bowl. Cover with cloth; let rise in warm place (85°) until double, about 30 minutes. Stir down by beating 25 strokes. Drop dough by spoonfuls, forming 12 mounds, about 2 inches apart onto greased baking sheet. With floured fingers, flatten mounds into rounds about 1/4 inch thick. Let rise

BEef BRISKET BAR-B-Q 4- to 5-pound well-trimmed boneless beef brisket
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup catsup
1/4 cup vinegar
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 1/2 teaspoons liquid smoke
1 bay leaf, crumbled
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Rub surface of brisket with salt. Place in baking dish, 13 1/2 x 9 1/2 in. Stir together remaining ingredients; pour over brisket. Cover with foil; braise in 350° oven 3 hours. Slice diagonally across grain. Serve in hamburger buns. 10 to 12 servings.

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY

BY JANE ASHLEY

An Irish Stew Is Different

A classic beef stew is made by first browning the meat. For an Irish stew (sometimes called a white stew) the meat is cooked without browning. In this particular recipe for Irish stew, tomatoes are added.

Irish Stew

1 pound lamb (1½-inch cubes)
 1 pound beef (1½-inch cubes)
 1 (1-pound) can tomatoes
 2 cups stock
 1 teaspoon salt
 ¼ teaspoon pepper

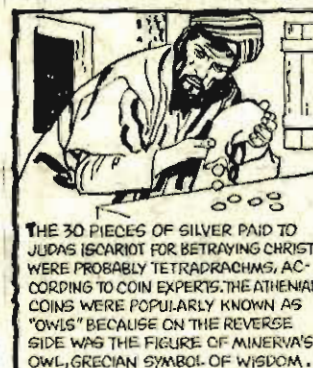

6 to 8 white onions, whole
 6 to 8 potatoes, pared and quartered
 3 to 4 carrots, pared and thickly sliced
 2 stalks celery, sliced
 2 tablespoons corn starch
 ¼ cup cold water

Mix meat, tomatoes, stock (canned bouillon or bouillon cubes and water may be used), salt and pepper in large kettle. Cover and simmer until meat is almost tender, about 45 minutes. Add vegetables. Simmer until meat and vegetables are about fork tender, 45 minutes. Reduce heat to slow simmer. Blend corn starch and water. Gradually add to stew, stirring carefully so vegetables are not crushed. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to boil. Season to taste, if needed. Simmer a few minutes to blend flavors. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: Stew improves on standing and may be prepared ahead of time.
