End of a leafy season

The last signs of summer '75 are nearing their end in Culver, as shown by this lonely leaf still secure to a pine tree branch. Most trees are now barren in preparation for winter's weather. (Citizen photo by Mike Clifton)

Demos prevail in Town Board positions

Culver voters, 498-strong, turned out Tuesday, Nov. 4, to elect three Democrats in town board positions.

David Baker, Dan Adams and Kenneth Turner received the majority of votes to be elected the Culver Town Board of Trustees for the 1976-79 term. Marizetta Kenney, a Republican and incumbent clerk-treasurer, was unopposed in her office.

Baker, who opposed Latham Lawson in the first ward bid, came away with the narrowest margin in the election. Baker tallied 264 votes against Lawson's 219.

Baker is a Culver Academies instructor and resides on Academy Road. Upon hearing of his successful bid for the board seat, he said "Although I first want to express thanks to the people of Culver I would also like them to know I will attempt to represent them on the town board."

"I think we should all express appreciation to the Democrat and Republican chairmen, Sue McCombs and Don Osborn, and also to the Republican candidates for providing us a choice in this election."

Regarding the current board, Baker said "We on the new board will attempt to expand on the good work done by the present board."

In the election for the trustee position from Culver's second ward, Dan Adams swept the votes from Harold Fitterling, 312 to 197.

Adams, North Main Street, is a Culver Junior High School mathematics teacher. After his election he had the following comments:

"I want to thank the people of Culver for their vote of confidence and I am looking forward to serving the community to the best of my ability. I've talked to a great number of people during the campaign and I hope it can continue over the next four years.

"The decision of the board cannot depend on just the opinions of three men," Adams continued.

Turner, Obsipo Court, defeated Mary Ricciardi in the third ward competition 276 to 208. He is a salesman for Wickes Buildings.

After hearing he was successful in his bid for the position, Turner commented "I want to thank the voters of Culver for electing me for the next four years. I will do my best to be representative of all the people in Culver and will continually strive to keep Culver a good town in which to live."

Mrs. Kenney, Maramont St., current clerk-treasurer, received 291 votes the Nov. 4 balloting. She is a Republican.

"I would like to thank the people of Culver for their support in the recent town election. I will continue to do my job to the best of my abilities," Mrs. Kenney said upon the announcement that she will continue in her current post.

Ten of the 498 votes cast were absentee ballots and 38 were written ballots, used until a malfunction in one voting machine was repaired. Mrs. Jackie Berger was election inspector.

The new board will take office Jan. 1. Current board members are Edward Pinder, Don Muehlhausen and Donald Mikesell.

Sandburg depicted in Academy performance

"The World of Carl Sandburg" will be presented Friday, Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Culver Military Academy and Culver Girls Academy in Eppley Auditorium. Admission is free.

Directed by Harvey Firari, three persons will read the poetry of Sandburg, American poet from Illinois. Interspersed with the poems are songs from "The American Songbag" edited by Sandburg. Students of Culver's Academies will perform.

The readers are India Haun of West Bloomfield, Mich., Dave

Teig of Franklin, Pa. and Karl Hamann of Susanville, Calif. They will be backed by a group known as Sister Sarah and The Mythical Blue Grass Eaters. Lead singer is Sarah Czastkowski of Indianapolis with instrumentalists Mark MacKenzie of Nashville, Tenn.; Jim Rouch of Royal Center; Jeb Balkwin of Indian Rocks Beach, Fla. and Paul Oberschneider of Elgin, Ill.

Lights are by Brian Myers of Bourbonnais, Ill. and Jeff Nagle of Wellington, Ohio and sound is by Cary Cheseldine of Monte Carlo, Monaco.

Cavaliers face Argos in opener

An experienced line-up will start off Culver Community High School's basketball opener against Argos Saturday night.

Three seniors, a junior and a sophomore will begin the game, in what varsity coach Ken Hass hopes to be a "good game."

Tim Bauer, a 5'8" senior, will lead the team in one of the guard positions, along with junior Paul Keith. Bob Thomas will hold down the guard-forward position as a senior and Don Zehner, a senior and Matt Marshall, a sophomore, will start off in forward positions.

Returning letter winner Mark Wamsley will probably set out the first game with a back injury, according to Hass.

"We've got experience returning this year," Hass said, explaining that at least three of the players have worked together on the court since being freshmen.

"I expect a lot out of Marshall, too. He's young but is a real hard worker. He never quits and offers leadership ability even though he's just a sophomore." Marshall, who came off the B-team bench last year to help out the varsity, is 6'2" and 178 pounds.

Hass considers his squad ahead of where they were this time last year. "They have

Nostalgia

February 4, 1931—Rector's Pharmacy offers two small gold fish and a bowl free with every 50 cents purchase of sale merchandise.

March 4, 1931—Telegrams received by C. L. Shively, Postmaster, and the Citizen from Congressman A. J. Hickey, stated "Have authorization and recommendation for $70,000 for Federal Building at Culver." Funds are to be allocated in December and Culver is on the preferred list. Government plans to have project finished by 1932.

High School quintet ends season undefeated. In the last game of the season, with Argos, the score at half time was 31-1. Final score, with reserves playing last half of game, was 48-10. Second team won with a score of 30-5.

March 11, 1931—High School netmen win Sectional Title. Scores were Culver 51, Fulton 11; Culver 24, Rochester 21; Culver 27, Akron 21. The members of the team, one of the best balanced squads ever to represent Culver are: Arthur Tomassi, Cecil Asper, Merle Miller, Harold Shaw, Wilbur Geiselman, Kenneth Bush, Charles Ferrier, Joe Schweidler, Lester Cook and Robert Bogardus. (March 18, 1931—Culver loses drive, swamped by South Bend Central 44-25.)

American Legion Minstrel again delights large crowds. Judging from applause and comment the dancing numbers were the hit of the show. The Culver Chorines composed of Lois Bess Morris, Marjorie Hawkins, Rose Marie Cowen, Mary Louis Mattix, Opal Mikesell, Anna Jane McLane, Helen Mattix and Margaret Annis gave three talented exhibitions that were worthy of professional dancers.

April 8, 1931—"Wayside Notes - by A.B.H." Old timers will remember the "White Swan," a double deck float, owned by Capt. Crook which was used as a dance pavilion and largely patronized by the summer residents. It is now the Williams apartment house, providing comfortable homes for several families. Mr. Williams is giving it an up-to-date appearance by covering it with imitation brick. (Help - is this apartment building still in operation, and does anyone remember when it was moved? If so, call or write the Citizen office, please.)

April 29, 1931—Throng thrilled by big P.T.A. Carnival - no depression here - over $600 spent at carnival. Some of the attractions were the "Maple City Four" of WLS radio fame, Dr. Wertenberger's trained dogs, Sgt. Rich's Zooland, a slack wire act put on by Theodore Weiger, and several stands, games and other concessions. Miss Rose Marie Cowen was crowned the Carnival Queen, with Miss Mary Alice Robbins as Maid of Honor.

May 6, 1931—New Culver Hotel offers Sunday dinners - soup, choice of fried spring chicken, roast veal with dressing, or T-bone steaks; asparagus, combination salad, hot rolls, dill pickles, pie ala mode, coffee, tea or milk for 75 cents. Mrs. H. W. Eastman and Mrs. Lowell McKesson are the proprietors.

June 3, 1931—The development of the Culver Bird Sanctuary, a project sponsored by the Culver Military Academy, is progressing with rapid strides and is now about completed. William C. Vogt, noted nature lover, started the work on the 200 acre project. The observation cabin and entrance lodge were designed and built by Sgt. J. I. Rich.

July 8, 1931—Huge crowds swarm to lake over Fourth. Swimming, boating and a variety of contests prove attraction. David Burns won the swimming race (from Long Point to the townpier), and the men's fancy diving contest. Mrs. Rose Shaw won the ladies fancy diving award. Contests included greased pole climbing, foot races, sack races, peat rolling, boxing, pie eating, and the best old fiddler.

July 15, 1931—About 140 members of the Grace Reformed Church and Sunday School held a farewell party for Rev. C. A. Lang and family.

Sept. 23, 1931—This year the academic staff of the Culver Military Academy includes two new instructors, Dr. George O. Johnson, instructor in Chemistry, and Frank Walaitis, instructor in German, who will coach the varsity swimming team as his hobby.

Oct. 7, 1931—The Ball Bros. of Muncie are still short 900 carloads of canning jars for which they have orders. At the beginning of the season 5,000 carloads were stored, but have all been sold. Officials say it will take 14 months to fill the present orders and re-fill the warehouses.

December 9, 1931—$7,000 fire threatens block. Fire of an unknown origin razed the Lakeview Restaurant and Castle Garden dance hall and partially destroyed the Loudon Grocery store on Dec. 8. On the other side of the restaurant the Tuck Swigart soft drink parlor was saved by its cement block construction. This prevented the fire from spreading to the express office and Johnson's apartments. Sparks threatened the nearby Williams apartments, but a small blaze on the roof was quickly extinguished.

December 23, 1931—"Wayside Notes by A.B.H." - Mrs. Sadye M. McIntire of the Culver post office force is possibly the only town or city woman letter carrier in the United States. There are women rural carriers, but not women who trudge through street after street carrying a weighted mail sack in all kinds of weather.

December 30, 1931—The five houses that are now being built on North Terrace are rapidly progressing. It is probable that the homes of Col. Bays, Col. Elliott, Col. Kennedy, Capt. Bishop and Capt. Shanks will be finished by April. The space vacated by these officers and the Officers Club which was moved to Col. Chambers former home will be taken up with a small recreational field until the building program of new academic building is started.

Help the hospitalized

Collection box available for mental health gifting

A drive to collect Christmas gifts for patients confined to mental hospitals is currently underway, according to Jean Woollett, East Shore Dr., a member of the Board of Directors of the Marshall County Association for Mental Health.

The association is asking the community to contribute 591 gifts, 50 per cent for men, 40 per cent for women and 10 per cent for either. The gifts should be new and in unbreakable containers. Mrs. Woollett asked the gifts remain unwrapped.

"Clothing is always needed, especially in the larger sizes," says the mental health volunteer. "We also need men's articles like socks, underwear, bathrobes, belts, slippers, sweaters, shirts and the like."

"Those of us who have good health and freedom to shop, might remember when buying a pack of cigarettes, a box of candy, a paperback book or clothing, to pick up an extra item for a less fortunate resident," Mrs. Woollett added.

Local contributions may be dropped off at the Trone Shop, 120 N. Main St., or at the Marshall County Mental Health Association office at 201 N. Water St., Plymouth.

Letter agrees with parent

Editor:

Concerned Parent's letter regarding our high school principal should have been of interest to everyone in this community. Obviously the letter was written with much thought and concern and with no rancor. I personally have heard these same concerns expressed by other parents and members of the C.C.H.S. faculty.

If you are concerned about this situation, please let your representative on the school board know how you feel. If, indeed, you disagree, let them know that too!

Faculty, speak up! Who knows more than you?

Editor:

I would like to commend A. F. Allen, members of our school board, Mrs. Kyle and Mrs. Reinhold for all their efforts in making lunches available to the senior citizens in our community.

I would also like to take this opportunity to encourage people to attend our school board meetings. We have some dedicated and conscientious board members who appreciate your interest and support.

Sincerely,
Essie McKinnis

Senior Girl Scouts tell experiences

By P. RUNKLE and
L. WEIGER
Culver Girl Scouts

Senior Scout Troop 2076 met Oct. 24 to leave for Camp Shawadasse in Michigan. Girls from both southern Michigan and northern Indiana attended the blast off which started out the year of senior scouting.

After packing five adults and one child into a Toyota, we were on our way. We stopped off in South Bend for dinner and saw the boys from University of Southern California walking toward the Holiday Inn so of course we had to go back and take a second look.

When we reached Marcellis, Mich., we got lost in post football game traffic and Joe Kapsa had to stop and help the policemen direct traffic while asking directions on how to get to Camp Shawadasse.

Some of the activities at the blast off weekend were as follows: a mock presidential campaign and election, wilderness survival and awareness games, a barn dance. Afterwards the president was announced and there was a film festival with such great films as "The Hangman" were shown.

There were some women who came and talked to us about the green circle. The green circle is a program for first through third graders to teach them and us to love and widen our circle of friendship. A non-drinking alcoholic came and talked to us about her and her family's life as she coped with her life as an alcoholic.

Then we had a senior planning board meeting. The next meeting was set for Nov. 9. After packing and cleaning up the camp, we were on our way home.

The Culver Senior Scout Troop 2076 would like to thank our sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kapsa and son, and Miss Toni Salzler, Cadette Scout, for making the trip possible.

Allen answers Music Booster queries

A. F. Allen, Culver school superintendent, answered a number of questions asked by Culver Music Boosters during the Tuesday, Nov. 6 meeting of the school board.

Kay Tusing, representing the Boosters, sent a letter containing several questions to Allen and board members. Board President Ralph Stayton asked that Allen speak for the board in responding to the Music Booster concerns.

The Boosters asked if there is money available to purchase needed equipment for the music program at Culver Community High School. Allen replied funds will be available after Jan. 1 for some instructional materials and equipment for the music department. He has instructed each department head to submit a budget request for materials to the building principal. The principal will study the request and will confer with the superintendent.

The total amount of money budgeted for instructional supplies, materials and equipment will be allocated on a proportional basis in the areas where the need is greatest, according to Allen.

He added if the music department felt they needed equipment, they should indicate that through a written request to the administration.

"The administration will give serious consideration to the request," Allen said.

A question regarding budget allocations was asked, including what per cent of tax moneys goes toward the music program. Allen responded the budget allocations are on a per-year basis and made after written requests have been considered.

He added "simply because a dollar was spent for art or English, or science or athletics, is not in itself justification for spending a dollar for music."

"The total educational program is considered and all funds are allocated accordingly," the administrator added.

In answer to the Boosters' question of consideration for a replacement uniform fund, Allen answered: "Since it is not legal to use tax funds to purchase band uniforms, the school board does not have a plan for replacing." Allen said there are "many additional sources of making or earning money available to the musical organizations."

He suggested they consider providing music for different community organizations for a fee and using the prize money from participation in parades and contests. The superintendent stated he was personally not in favor of channeling any athletic funds into the music organization.

Board members offered their comments on the possibility of the band receiving gate receipts if they perform at athletic events.

Paul Snyder said consideration should be given, adding "I don't think the door should be locked on the idea."

Donald Hand responded by saying it would be "a whale of a problem" deciding how the money would be divided. "What if there is no profit—do we still divide the money?" he asked, adding "competition for money is ferocious."

Cecil Lucas asked if the music organizations receive money, should not other groups who add to the athletic events be subsidized as well.

Donald French, CCHS principal, commented on the matter by saying "I do not see it as an unreasonable request."

Stayton then moved a committee of Boosters and administrators be set up to discuss the matter further. It passed by the board.

Consideration was given by the board to the formation of a chapter of The Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Due to the fact that funds are at a premium to underwrite an already expanded activity program, it was determined to table consideration on the chapter at CCHS.

An opinion came from one person in the audience that they were not opposed to athletes participating in Christian activities, adding the school should not become involved in the area of hristian upbringing.

The board gave approval to advertise for additional appropriations of $37,000 by reduction of existing appropriations.

The board gave Allen permission to participate in a North Central Association evaluation in March, 1976.

The board also approved the application for a Cooperative On-The-Farm Training Program for Veterans and appointed the superintendent as the class director.

It was approved to open the Culver Elementary-Junior High School gymnasium approximately 14 dates beginning in December for any elementary and junior high school youth to participate in recreational programs.

Jerry Anderson, junior high school instructor and coach, will head the program.

Vo-ag discussion

Bill Schmidlapp, left, discusses the upcoming veterans vocational agriculture program with A. F. Allen, Culver schools superintendent and class director during an orientation session last Thursday. Schmidlapp, an Argos farmer, will head the class, scheduled to begin Tuesday, Dec. 2. To date, 23 veterans from the area have applied as students in the course.

Physician issues birth control statement

Dr. James Robertson, project physician for Planned Parenthood of Marshall County, issued the following statement from Planned Parenthood Federation of America in response to the announcement of new physician's labeling for birth control pills by the Federal Food and Drug Administration:

"FDA's proposed revision of the labeling of oral contraceptives to reflect recent clinical research findings is a welcome move in the interests of patients' health and safety. We welcome in particular the agency's action to require comprehensive information on the risks and benefits of the pill for distributions to all patients as well as to their physicians. Full disclosure of the risk—however small—of serious side-effects associated with a medication is one of the hallmarks of responsible medical practice.

The FDA identified four new areas of risk which many be associated with use of the oral contraceptive, based upon research findings from this country and abroad: the risk of birth defects when hormones found in the pill and certain pregnancy tests are taken during pregnancy; the potential increased risk of heart attack among oral contraceptive use over; the possible risk of spontaneous abortion among women who become pregnant shortly after discontinuing use of the pill; and the possible increased risk of benign tumors of the liver (the incidence of which is noted by the FDA as "extremely rare") among oral contraceptive users.

"Although further research will be necessary before it can be established whether all these risks are indeed associated with the pill—and the exact degree of such risk—prudent medical practice dictates that the women who elect this method of contraception be made aware of the possibility of such risks. It should at the same time be emphasized that the FDA recommendations should not be taken by women who are successfully using the pill as reason for discontinuing its use. The best safeguard of patients' health and safety, for this and all other methods of contraception, remains continuing medical supervision and follow-up."

Planned Parenthood Federation of North Central Indiana provides St. Joseph, Elkhart, Kosciusko and Marshall counties with medically-supervised family planning services. In 1974, they served 5766 women.

Clubs paint store windows

By ANN DUTT
and VICKI BAUER
CCHS Students

Culver was a sight to see Saturday as the various clubs and classes of Culver Community High School "painted the town" for the first basketball game of the season against the Argos Dragons. Students and sponsors were everywhere doing everything: thinking up their slogan and design, swapping paints and brushes, drawing the basics and finally adding the finishing touches. Many of the paintings took the whole day to complete.

The winners of the painting contest are to be announced this Friday, Nov. 14 at the school dance in the high school gymnasium. The dance, sponsored by the Student Council, will last from 8 to 11 p.m. There will be live music and dancing for everyone. Tickets may be bought at the door for $1.50 per person.

Then Saturday night, the Cavaliers will fight the Dragons for the "victory bell." Go Cavaliers!

Locker room facility dedicated at Academies

In ceremonies conducted in front of the new facility Friday, Nov. 7, the McMillen Athletic Center was formally dedicated. Culver Military Academy and Culver Girls Academy students were assembled and a number acted as guides for guests.

With Dale McMillen, '32, other McMillen family members, Bertram B. Culver Jr., '28, chairman of the Board of The Culver Educational Foundation and many other Culver alumni, faculty and friends in attendance, the superintendent, Col. Ben A. Barone opened the ceremonies and introduced Culver.

"The McMillen Athletic Center, which provides Culver with an outstanding Hall of Fame and locker facility, adds news dimensions to Culver's substantial athletic program. We are much indebted to Dale McMillen and other donors for this new center."

McMillen offered an explanation as to why he made the center possible: "It is quite apparent Culver is doing many more things right than wrong. If this facility will help in educating students here then it will be worthwhile."

Culver, on behalf of the Foundation, presented McMillen with a miniature cannon engraved appropriately.

Guests toured the building after the brief noontime ceremony.

Russell L. Easterday Construction and Supply Co.,

Culver, was the general contractor for the center.

Eastern Star hears of days gone by

An account of sending jars of home-canned fruit to the Indiana Masonic Home many years ago, proved interesting to members of the Emily Jane Culver Chapter, Order of Eastern Star. Mrs. Owen Banks told the group about sending the jars of fruit to the home during the club's last meeting.

After the home-canned fruit was collected, according to Mrs. Banks, it was packed by the worthy patron and taken by dray to the freight office for shipment. When spring came, the fruit jars were returned, sorted and the owners took them home to fill with their bounty for the next time, explained Mrs. Banks.

The worthy matron, Mrs. Edward Kowatch, presided at the meeting and welcomed the group with a poem, "Autumn." It was announced the Grand Cross of Color luncheon will be Sunday, Nov. 16 at Winona Lake. Any designate who has not received the Grand Cross may do so at the luncheon, according to the Order.

The Culver, Plymouth Grand Cross of Color will be at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12 at Grace United Church of Christ's Zion Hall. It will be a potluck meeting.

Refreshments were served in the social room by Mrs. Kowatch and Mrs. Robert Brabant.

New members initiated into Order

Shelli Overley, Candy Steely and Kelly Lawson were installed as Immortality, Fidelity and Confidential Observer during the Monday evening meeting of the Culver Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Gwen Burns, worthy advisor and Tammi Overley, drill leader, were in charge of the ceremony.

Mrs. David Osborn, points chairman, presented earned charms to Cathy Grover, Brenda Shaffer, Susan Snyder, Michelle Fitterling, Rita Ulch, Karen Kowatch, Julie Osborn and Tammi Overley. The meeting closed with a formal march.

At the Nov. 5 meeting, Colleen Mills was initiated into the Order and the worthy advisor, Burns, appointed Michelle Fitterling as Colleen's Big Sister.

We would like to thank everyone who participated in the town election.

worked hard so far and act as a team on the court," he said.

He sees the team's success this season based on defense strategy, adding "we've got offense but that doesn't win games by itself."

Hass considers the bench a strong one as well, with juniors Tony Bean, Ron Beaver, Tim Beck, John DeWitt and Bruce Musial there when he calls them.

As for Saturday night's game, he expects the Dragons will be quick and fast on their home court. "They might lack a little size, but Argos always ends up with a good team," Hass said.

Following the Argos match, the Cavaliers will face Bremen Nov. 21 on their home court.

Mrs. Edgell collects for Indianapolis Art Museum

Mrs. John F. Edgell, town chairman, is working in the Culver area to seek support for the Indianapolis Museum of Art 1976 Operating Fund Campaign. This year the goal is $625,000, according to Mrs. Edgell.

Lilly Endowment, Inc., has pledged a one million dollar challenge gift to the campaign which means that for every dollar contributed to the fund, the Endowment will match it with two up to the total amount of the grant. The challenge will allow individual and corporate gifts to grow three-fold for the general public support of IMA.

This major fund raising event provides the money used to finance such programs as tours, lectures, classes and exhibitions as well as on-going museum administration and maintenance.

Mrs. Edgell will be seeking support for the museum by calling on persons in the community during the next few weeks.

Auxiliary make contributions

Women of the Culver Eagles Auxiliary have made two substantial contributions to the community. They recently paid their $500 pledge to the park fund and pledged another installment to help fund the Osborn Center, Inc. The Eagles have to date made five contributions to the senior citizens center.

They were able to fulfill their pledges Oct. 22, through bake sales, rummage sales, book

Wipe that grin off your face and keep marching

By BOB KASER
Citizen Special Writer

Veterans Day either was last week or was yesterday, depending on the state you're in.

I was one of the 'lucky' ones, having come of draft age and accepted Uncle's invitation five years after Korea and five years before Vietnam. Serving in peacetime has obvious advantages, albeit little opportunity for heroics. The advantages are preferable. One night, unable to find our camouflaged three-quarter ton truck while on maneuvers in German woods, I literally tripped over a German soldier, also on maneuvers. We laughed and slapped each other on the back. Later, I reflected on what a difference a dozen years makes.

Among the quotations which have stuck in my head over the years is that of a first sergeant who continuously reminded us civilian-at-heart troops: "The onliest way are the Army way." They were, at least at the time, words to live by.

But if Reader's Digest were to ask me to cite the most unforgettable character I met while in the Army, it would have to be C.C.

C.C. was a tall, skinny, incurable foulup in fatigues with whom I went through basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., the mudhole of the Ozark country. He had a persistent smile and a flair for doing the wrong thing.

We had a company commander who incessantly talked to himself. Once, when I was assigned to help our company clerk—who didn't know how to type—I overheard the C.O. exercising in self-analysis over a dream he'd had.

"Everybody was marching smartly," he said, "and there was C.C.—raincoat dragging, rifle on the wrong shoulder, out of step, and humming."

Then the C.O., a mammoth man who had seen war duty as a ranger, buried his head in his hands and moaned.

He was not exaggerating—not much anyhow—in his description of C.C.

C.C. spent many hours during basic training cleaning the mess hall grease trap. It was the most despised duty and was the first sergeant's favorite punishment for goof-offs. The trouble was, C.C. performed it with a smile and a song—an attitude which irked the first sergeant and C.O. no end.

"Stop that — singing and wipe that grin off your face!" the sergeant would scream.

C.C. would brush some of the foul-smelling goop off his fatigue sleeve, smile pleasantly at the sergeant and return, whistling merrily, to his task.

C.C.'s name stirs many memories. There was our first night at Fort Wood. We were restricted to the barracks, and making a frightened, fumbling effort to adjust to military life. At 2 a.m., in came C.C.—drunk, singing, and wearing medals from shoulder to shoulder.

C.C. was the guy who saluted a cab driver and then walked without recognition past a general, who inevitably found a piece from his M-1 in his bed after he had cleaned the rifle and carried it to the rack downstairs, who made his bed with the pillow at the wrong end nearly every inspection day, and who pitched his tent at the base of a hill prior to a rainstorm.

Near the end of our eight weeks, we had completed a foot-blistering march from the Missouri boondocks and were assembled on the company street for dismissal.

The first sergeant and C.O. were pleased. We had made the hike in record time. The battalion commander had come over to personally commend our company. Tired though we all were, a mirthful mood prevailed. The record time was a feather in the cap of the C.O. and he was sure to reward us with weekend passes.

Everyone felt fine as the wheels made their way past the rigidly erect ranks, congratulating each man. Then they came to C.C. He was smartly at attention, the picture of a sharp soldier—with one exception, which the battalion commander quickly perceived.

"Where," he asked, "is your rifle, soldier?"

The C.O. began talking to himself. The first sergeant turned pale. C.C. snapped his fingers, shrugged his shoulders and grinned at the battalion commander.

We spent the weekend in the barracks, without passes. C.C. spent it in the grease trap—singing, smiling and earnestly inquiring of passersby the cost of "a new gun."
