THE CUP RACE.

The First of the Series of Three was Won by "The Scout."

The first cup race of the Aub-see-naub-see Yacht club was sailed Monday morning. The wind was from the south. At first it was fairly light but later strengthened to a good stiff breeze.

Class C and D were started at 10:30 a. m. in the following order: Tadpole, Natty, Uncas, Indian, Flip and Snark. The boats kept fairly close together during the first round. The Natty and Flip gained somewhat over the other boats, the order of passing the stake boat being: Natty, Uncas, Flip, Indian, Tadpole and Snark. During the second round the leading boats drew away from the rest. At the finish Natty was first, Uncas second, Tadpole third in class D; in class C Flip was first, Indian second, Snark third; in class D, Tadpole won second place on her 3 minute time allowance.

Class A and B were started at 10:45 in the following order; Diana Old Scout, Idlewild, Ellenor, Katherine, Nautilus, Lady Jane and Indiana. In class A, the Diana and Scout had a very close race. Their times at the different buoys were only a few seconds apart. The Old Scout won by two minutes and a half. In class B six boats started, but the Lady Jane was disabled when opposite Culver and withdrew. The Ellenor and Katherine soon got a big lead and held it to the end, the other boats keeping close together. The Ellenor and Katherine had a very close race. The Katherine time for the first round was 53 minutes and 49 seconds and the Ellenor 53 minutes and 67 seconds. The Ellenor however gained a minute and a half during the second round and won first place, the Katherine being second and Nautilus, third.

Tuesday morning the Diana and Old Scout sailed off the tie for the pennant which was the prize for the first two races. The Old Scout won.

Following is the time of the different yachts: Class A, Old Scout, 1:39:03; Diana, 1:41:32; class B, Katherine, 1:43:22; Nautilus, 1:59:23 corrected 1:49:23; Idlewild, 2:03:47; Indiana 1:55:43; class C, Flip, 1:50:15; Indian 1:54:44; Snark, 2:04:29; class D, Natty 1:51:01; Tadpole, 1:52:47 and Uncas, 1:53:13. Judges, H. C. Adams, H. R. Bliss and Hervey Bates.

For Selling on Sunday.

An unusual amount of excitement was caused by John Wolford, proprietor of Andy's Place, trying to keep open contrary to the council's orders and the laws of the state. Overman, manager of Kreuzberger's Park, did not open at all and obeyed the law to the letter.

Death of Irva Williams.

Special Correspondent, Burr Oak, Ind.

Word was received on last Wednesday, Aug. 5th, of the death of Irva Williams, of North Liberty, Indiana. He had jumped on the local freight train and the motion of the train threw him off on the track and fourteen cars passed over his body, cutting him in two at the hips. He lived only about forty-five minutes after the accident. Irva was the oldest child of H. B. and Ida Williams, formerly of this place. He was about nine years old. His remains were brought to the Voreis cemetery Friday, Aug. 7th, for interment.

Last Wednesday several people rode through town in a reckless manner on horseback. Such actions should be stopped. They would not be tolerated a minute in other towns. Such carelessness is a menace to public safety.

COLD WEATHER RETARDS CROPS

Low Temperature and Light Frosts Are Factors in the North.

CORN IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

Great Improvement Shown in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and in Portions of Illinois and the Lake Region—Rain Has Been Beneficial.

Washington dispatch: Following is the official weekly crop report issued by the department of agriculture:

Throughout the northern portions of the country, from New England to the north Pacific coast, the temperature was too low for the best results, there being light frosts in North Dakota. In the southern states the weather was more favorable, although clear and warmer weather is needed in the west and gulf districts.

Portions of the south Atlantic and east gulf states and the central and lower Mississippi valleys need rain, but elsewhere, east of the Rocky mountains, rains have been ample, being excessively heavy in central and northeastern Texas, in the eastern portions of Nebraska and Kansas, and over areas in Ohio valley and the east gulf states. It is now dry in cial in the northern portion, while the boll weevil appears to be more destructive in a few of the southwestern counties. Clear warm weather is needed in Louisiana and Texas. The crop continues late.

Tobacco is needing rain in portions of the Ohio valley and Virginia, but the general condition of the crop is promising.

Rains caused injury to hay in Texas, New York and Michigan and delayed haying in South Dakota and New England; elsewhere this work has progressed under favorable conditions.

CLASSIFIES THE BLIND FISHES

Prof. Eigenmann of Indiana Gets Grant for Investigation in Cuba.

Warsaw, Ind., special: Prof. Carl H. Eigenmann, in charge of the Indiana state biological station at Winona, has received a check for $1,000 for the specific purpose of paying expenses toward furthering his investigations of the blind fishes of Cuba. The grant is a special one and comes from the new Carnegie institute of Washington. Already Prof. Eigenmann has given the subject much attention. At the meeting of the American Microscopical society at Winona Prof. Eigenmann read an interesting paper on "Cuba's Blind Fish" and his discoveries and research in that direction, and it is through that society that the grant has been made.

TWO ARE KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Boy at Fox Lake, Ill., Finds Bodies of Farmers.

Fox Lake, Ill., dispatch: Lightning

NOBODY'LL GET HURT BUT THEMSELVES.

Uncle Sam—"Just the Usual Wall Street Disturbance—Nothing Like the Bull Run We Had Forty-two Years Ago To-Day."—Chicago Tribune.

the central and southern Rocky mountain districts.

Corn Improves.

Corn is generally improved, especially in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and portions of Illinois and the lake region, the least favorable reports being received from Missouri and the Ohio valley states. The crop continues late. An excellent crop now is assured in the southern states.

General rains in the spring wheat region of the upper Missouri and the Red River of the North valleys checked the ripening of spring wheat and caused a better filling of heads. Harvesting is in progress, some of the early sown being cut in the northern portion, but it was delayed by rains in South Dakota and Nebraska.

In the Northwest.

Harvesting also is in progress in Oregon with a light yield, but of excellent quality. In Washington the crop is maturing slowly, but is filling well. Rust in oats is quite extensively reported in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and portions of Pennsylvania, but the late rains have benefited the crop in Minnesota. Harvesting is well advanced in the more northerly sections, being largely completed elsewhere, with yields generally lighter than anticipated.

Cotton Is Too Rank.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS MALTREAT WORKERS

Drive Strikers Into a Compact Mass at Points of Bayonets and Apply the Lash.

Kieff, Russia, cable: Fierce rioting and many fights between strikers and cossacks have resulted from the strike in the railway and private workshops in south Russia. Here the trouble was started by an attempt on the strikers' part to interfere with railroad traffic. When the mob refused to disperse the cossacks fired, killing and wounding many.

A quarter of a million men are affected. The outbreak started simultaneously over a vast industrial area. The amount of studied organization and well-concealed preparation is unprecedented in the troubled annals of Russian labor. Prices of the necessities of life are rising by leaps and bounds.

One of the most severe attacks on them was made by order of Gen. Arzenieff, governor of Odessa. Groups of men who assembled with the intention of holding a meeting were driven into a solid mass by 500 cossacks, backed by two lines of infantry with fixed bayonets. About 2,000 strikers were thus inclosed by a double cordon. Then the cossacks rode through them, striking right and left with heavy whips, the fallen men being trampled under the horses' feet.

When the living mass had been thoroughly kneaded to the governor's will numerous men were arrested as suspected agitators. The infantry then marched off, and the strikers scattered in a dozen directions with cossacks at their heels. Four hundred strikers were more or less seriously injured, and from six to a dozen succumbed.

THE MAID of MAIDEN LANE

Sequel to "The Bow of Orange Ribbon."

A LOVE STORY BY AMELIA E. BARR

(Copyright, 1900, by Amelia E. Barr)

"Poor little fish!" answered Annie.
"They could not cry out, or plead with you, or beg for their lives, because they were dumb and opened not their mouths, they were wounded and strangled to death."

"Don't say such things, Annie. How can I enjoy my sport if you do?"

"I don't think you ought to enjoy sport which is murder. You have your wherry to sail, is not that sport enough? I have heard you say nothing that floats on fresh water, can beat a Norfolk wherry."

Then Hyde and Mary had a game of battledore, and she watched them tossing the gayly painted corks, until amid their light laughter and merry talk she fell asleep. And when she awakened it was sunset, and there was no one in her room but her maid. She had slept long, but in spite of its refreshment, she had a sense of something uneasy. Then she recalled the story Mary Damer had told her, and because she comprehended the truth, she was instantly at rest. The whole secret was clear as daylight to her. She was positive Rem Van Ariens was himself the thief of her cousin's love and happiness, and the bringer of grief—almost of death—to Cornelia. She said to herself, "I shall not be long here, and before I go away I must put right love's wrong."

She would write to Cornelia. Her word would be indisputable. Then she would dismiss the subject from her conversations with Mary, until Cornelia's answer arrived; nor until that time would she say a word of her suspicions to Hyde. In pursuance of these resolutions the following letter to Cornelia left Hyde Manor for New York the next mail:

To Miss Cornelia Moran:

"Because you are very dear to one of my dear kindred, and because I feel that you are worthy of his great love, I also love you. Will you trust me now? There has been a sad mistake. I believe I can put it right. You must recollect the day on which George Hyde wrote asking you to fix an hour when he could call on Doctor Moran about your marriage. Did any other lover ask you on that day to marry him? Was that other lover Mr. Van Ariens? Did you write to both about the same time? If so, you misdirected your letters, and the one intended for Lord Hyde went to Mr. Van Ariens, and the one intended for Mr. Van Ariens went to Lord Hyde. Now you will understand many things."

"Can you send to me, for Lord Hyde, a copy of the letter you intended for him. When I receive it, you may content your heart. Delay not to answer this; why should you delay your happiness? I send you as love gifts my thoughts, desires, prayers, all that is best in me, all that I give to one high in my esteem, and whom I wish to place high in my affection. This to your hand and heart, with all sincerity. Annie Hyde."

She calculated her letter would reach Cornelia about the end of September, and she thought how pleasant the hope it brought would brighten her life. And without permitting Hyde to suspect any change in his love affair, she very often led the conversation to Cornelia, and to the circumstances of her life. Hyde was always willing to talk on this subject, and thus she learned so much about Arenta, and Madame Jacobus, and Rem Van Ariens, that the people became her familiars.

Certainly the letter sent to Cornelia sped on its way all the more rapidly and joyfully for the good wishes and unselfish prayers accompanying it. The very ship might have known it was the bearer of good tidings, for if there had been one of the mighty angels whose charge is on the great deep at the helm of the Good Intent she could not have gone more swiftly and surely to her haven. One morning, nearly a week in advance of Annie's calculation, the wonderful letter was put into Cornelia's hand. The handwriting was strange, it was an English letter, what could it mean?

Let any one who has loved and been parted from the beloved by some misunderstanding, try to realize what it meant to Cornelia. She read it through in an indescribable hurry and emotion, and then in the most natural and womanly way, began to cry. There was only one wonderful thought she could entertain—it was not the fault of Joris. This was the assurance that turned her joyful tears into gladder smiles, and that made her step light as a bird on the wing, as she ran down the stairs to find her mother; for her happiness was not perfect till she shared it with the heart that had borne her sorrow, and carried her grief through many weary months with her.

In the first hours of her recovered gladness she did not even remember Rem's great fault, nor yet her own carelessness. These things were only accidentals, not worthy to be taken into account while the great sweet hope that had come to her, flooded like a springtide every nook and corner of her heart. In such a mood how easy it was to answer Annie's letter. She recollected every word she had written to Hyde that fateful day, and she wrote them again with a tenfold joy.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Return of Joy.

Now it is very noticeable that when unusual events begin to happen in any life, there is a succession of such events, and not unfrequently they arrive in similar ways. At any rate, about ten days after the receipt of Annie's letter, Cornelia was almost equally amazed by the receipt of another letter—a piece of paper twisted carelessly but containing these few pregnant words:

"Cornelia, dear, come to me. Bring me something to wear. I have just arrived, saved by the skin of my teeth, and I have not a decent garment of any kind to put on. Arenta," a thunderbolt from a clear sky could hardly have caused such surprise, but Cornelia did not wait to talk about the wonder. She loaded a maid with clothing of every description, and ran across the street to her friend. Arenta saw her coming, and met her with a cry of joy, and as Van Ariens was sick and trembling with the sight of his daughter, and the tale of her sufferings, Cornelia persuaded him to go to sleep, and leave Arenta to her care. Poor Arenta, she was ill with the privations she had suffered, and she was half-starved, and nearly without clothing, but she did not complain much until she had been fed, and bathed, and "dressed," as she said, "like a New York woman ought to be."

"You know what trunks and trunks full of beautiful things I took away with me, Cornelia," she complained; "well, I have not a rag left. I have nothing left at all."

"Your husband, Arenta?"

"He was guillotined."

"Oh, my dear Arenta!"

"Guillotined. I told him to be quiet. I begged him to go over to Marat, but no! his nobility obliged him to stand by his order and his king. So for them he died. Poor Athanasie! He expected me to follow him, but I could not make up my mind to the knife. Oh, how terrible it was!" Then she began to sob bitterly, and Cornelia let her talk of her sufferings until she fell into a sleep—a sleep, easy to see, still hunted by the furies and terrors through which she had passed.

For a week Cornelia remained with her friend and Madame Jacobus joined them as often as possible, and gradually the half-distraught woman recovered something of her natural spirits and resolution. Of course with many differences. She could not be the same Arenta, she had outlived many of her illusions. She took but little interest for a while in the life around her. Rem she did talk about, but chiefly because he was going to marry an English girl, an intention she angrily deplored.

"I am sure," she said, "Rem might have learned a lesson from my sad fortune. What does he want to marry a foreigner for? He ought to have prevented me from doing so, instead of following my foolish example."

"No one could have prevented you, Arenta. You would not listen even to your father."

"Oh, indeed, it was my fate. We must all submit to fate. Why did you refuse Rem?"

"He was not my fate, Arenta."

"Well, then, neither is George Hyde your fate. Aunt Jacobus has told me some things about him. She says he is to marry his cousin. You ought to marry Rem."

As she said these words Van Ariens, accompanied by Joris Van Heemskirk, entered the room, and Cornelia was glad to escape. She knew that Arenta would again relate all her experiences, and she disliked to mingle them with her renewed dreams of love and her lover.

"She will talk and talk," said Cornelia to her mother, "and then there will be tea and chocolate and more talk, and I have heard all I wish to hear about that dreadful city, and the demons who walk in blood. Senator Van Heemskirk came in with her father as I left."

"I hope he treated you more civilly than Madame did."

"He was delightful. I courted to him, and he lifted my hand and kissed it, and said, 'I grew lovelier every day,' and I kissed his cheek and said, 'I wished always to be lovely in his sight.' Then I came home, because I would not, just yet, speak of George to him."

"Arenta would hardly have given you any opportunity. I wonder what hour she will release Joris Van Heemskirk!"

"It will be later than it ought to be."

Indeed it was so late that Madame Van Heemskirk had locked up her house for the night, and was troubled at her husband's delay—even a little cross.

"An old man like you, Joris," she said in a tone of vexation—"sitting till nine o'clock with the last runaway from Paris; a cold you have already, and all for a girl that threw her senses behind her, to marry a Frenchman."

"Much she has suffered, Lysbet."

"Much she ought to suffer. And I believe not in Arenta Van Ariens' suffering."

"I will sit a little by the fire, Lysbet. Sit down by me. My mind is full of her story. Bitter fears and suffering she has come through. Her husband was guillotined last May, and from her home she was taken—no time to write to a friend—no time to save anything she had, except a string of pearls, which round her waist for many weeks she had worn. Hungry and sick upon the floor of her prison she was sitting, when her name was called; for bread after bread of her pearl necklace had gone to her jailor, only for a little black bread and a cup of milk twice a day; and this morning for twenty-four hours she had been without food or milk."

"The poor little one! What did she do?"

"When in that terrible iron arm-

"Arenta Jefferson de Tournnerre," chair before those bloody judges, she says she forgot them to be afraid. She had no dress to help her beauty, but she declares she never felt more beautiful, and well I can believe it. They asked her name, and my Lysbet, think of this child's answer! 'I am called Arenta Jefferson de Tournnerre,' she said, and at the name of 'Jefferson' there were exclamations, and one of the jurymen rose to his feet and asked excitedly, 'What is it you mean? Jefferson! The great Jefferson! The great American who loves France and Liberty?' 'It is the same,' she answered, and then she sat silent, asking no favor, so wise was she, and Pouquet-Tinville looked at the President and said, 'Among my friends I count this great American!' and a jurymen added, 'When I was poor and hungry he fed and helped me,' and he bowed to Arenta as he spoke. When questioned further she answered, 'I adore Liberty, I believe in France, I married a Frenchman, for Thomas Jefferson told me I was coming to a great nation and might trust both its government and its generosity. They were all extremely polite to her, and gave her at once the papers which permitted her to leave France. The next day a little money she got from Minister Morris, but a very hard passage she had home."

"After all, it was a lie she told, Joris."

IT WAS HIS LAST "MASH."

Young Lady's Remark Too Much for Elderly Gallant.

A handsome gentleman of 60, who looks much younger and still retains an eye for the beautiful in the fair sex and a tender fluttering of the heart when the ladies glance his way, got into a street car in company with his son, a grown young man. A striking feature of the elderly gallant is an extremely long and full goatee and big, flowing mustaches. The gentleman found a seat directly opposite two unusually attractive young ladies, immediately beside whom the son found his seat.

In a few moments the girls were glancing often at the old gentleman and chattering together in great glee. The gentleman hugged himself mentally, but restrained his emotions in the presence of his son. On leaving the car the son said:

"Say, Governor, I've got a good one on you."

"Well, what is it, my son?"

"Why, one of those girls next to me said: 'What a funny looking thing that old man is over there.' To which the other replied: 'Yes, isn't he? He looks like a goat!'"

"That was the old man's last 'mash.'"

Progressive.

Giles—"By the way, what became of that fellow Skinnem who was in the coal business here last winter?"

Miles—"Oh, he sold out about a month ago and went to Arizona. Last I heard of him he was in jail for robbing a stage coach."

Giles—"In other words, he evolved from a light weighman to a highwayman."

VETERAN REGAINS HIS SPEECH

Cure for His Disability Is Revealed to Him in a Dream.

During the battle of Stone river, in the civil war, Valentine Marx, who served in an Indiana regiment, was shot through the right lung. The injury disabled him for years, and fifteen years ago he lost the power of speech. After a time this disability was removed, but in June, 1899, he again became speechless, which continued until recently. Some weeks ago he dreamed that if he would subject himself to blood-letting his health would be restored, and so vividly did this dream impress itself upon him that he called on Dr. J. B. Greene, of Mishawaka, and made it known.

The doctor scouted the idea, but Marx was persistent, and, yielding to his importunities without any idea that relief would follow, the doctor made an incision in Marx's right arm just above the elbow, and, to the astonishment of both, a dark-colored fluid flowed freely, looking much more like mud than blood, as the physician expressed it. This was followed by the red arterial fluid, after which the cut was dressed and Marx returned home.

In a short time he found that his voice had been restored to its normal condition, and he is now talking freely and in a natural tone. He claims that his restoration is due to his dream and the blood-letting.

How to Run a Newspaper.

To run a newspaper all a fellow has to do is be able to write poetry discuss the tariff and money question, umpire a base ball game, report a wedding, saw wood, describe a fire so that the readers will shed their wraps, make a dollar do the work of ten, shine at a dance, measure calico, abuse the liquor habit, test whiskey, subscribe to charity, go without meals, attack free silver, defend bimetalism, invent advertisements, overlook scandal, appraise babies, delight pumpkin raisers, minister to the afflicted, heal the disgruntled, fight to a finish, set type, mold opinions, sweep the office, speak at prayer meetings stand in with everybody and every thing.—Ex.

Of Interest to Maccabees.

Local Maccabee will be interested in learning that a peculiar contest has been precipitated in Indiana by the advent of the Modern Maccabees, a new fraternal insurance order. Originally the appearance of a new organization does not arouse open animosity from others, but in this case the old Knights of Maccabees of the world have declared war on their youthful rival said to be started by dissatisfied men who were deposed as supreme officials of the well established K. O. T. M. John Courroy, deputy great commander of the new order, has been at work with assistants in the northern part of Indiana for some weeks establishing subordinate branches of the order.

Suicide Prevented.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide has been discovered will interest many. A run down system, or despondency invariably precede suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At first thought of self destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nerveine will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It's also a great stomach, liver and kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by T. E. Slattery, druggist.

Miss Sadie Korp attended the South Bend carnival and was accompanied home by Miss Fannie Haslinger. Miss Kate Haslinger was also the guest of Miss Korp over Sunday.

A. N. BOGARDUS, Trustee.
Dated Aug. 8th, 1903.

Admiral Brown's Visit.

Rear Admiral George Brown, of Indianapolis, was guest of honor last week at Culver Naval School. For the first time in the history of Maxinkuckee the blue admiral's flag, with its two white stars, has proudly fluttered from the bow of launch or cutter. There are few small lakes that have had such distinction.

As the Admiral stepped ashore at the school pier, the cadet battery thundered out his salute of thirteen guns. Admiral Brown, after inspecting the cadet quarters and school buildings, reviewed the battalion of cadets, who swung by him with the faultless lines and snappy manual which obtain at Culver, even during the short and rather informal summer session.

Several hundred visitors, mostly cottagers from around the lake, were present during these exercises; and later accompanied the Admiral to the broad veranda of the Lake View hotel, from which point of vantage he reviewed the cadets at boat drill. He expressed himself as pleased and astonished at the proficiency acquired by the naval cadets in the short summer session. The cadet band was stationed on the veranda and rendered a concert program during the drill.

The reception and ball given in honor of Admiral and Mrs. Brown by the naval cadets last week was doubtless the most brilliant social event in the history of Lake Maxinkuckee. Over three hundred guests were present. The ball was opened with a very unique and beautiful cotillion figure, led by Major and Mrs. Gignilliat and participated in by cadet officers and their partners. The figure made a very realistic representation of a fowl anchor, complete in every detail, even to the ring, the stock, the flukes, and the rope twined about the shank. The effect was most pleasing, and evoked a perfect storm of applause. The figure was very prettily closed by the cadet officers forming an arch of clashing swords, under which all couples passed for the grand march.

The dance cards for the evening appropriately bore the admiral's flag with its two stars. The decorations in the ball room were also nautical in suggestion.

"Old Marshall County News."
Editor Culver Citizen.

In your issue of last week you published an article under the above caption, that you say was clipped from the Plymouth Tribune, and which, through an oversight was not credited to that paper. The article in question was taken from the "History of Marshall County" written by me and published by Kingman Bros., in 1880. I don't know that it is a matter of any particular consequence to your readers or any one else to know that the information contained in the article was gathered by me at considerable expense time and trouble; never-the-less, it seems to a man up a tree that if the production was worth publishing at all it was worth the while of the Tribune to give the author the proper credit.

Southern Fruit and Vegetable Growing.

The fertile lands along the Louisville & Nashville R. R. in Alabama, West Florida and Mississippi are veritable bonanzas for the fruit grower and truck gardener. One man sold from one single acre, 100 barrels of radishes for $900 gross; another patch of 4 acres radishes yielded $1,463 net. In the spring of 1902, another truck gardener sold 300 barrels of potatoes in Pittsburgh from 3 acres of ground for $1,548, and after paying all expenses, cleared $892 or $297.33 per acre. Within two weeks after selling his potatoes, corn was up and watermelon vines were running on the same land. He harvested his corn, sold his melons, and afterwards cut two crops of hay off of the same land, and on January 20, 1903, was planting it again in potatoes. Strawberries yield from $300 to $550 per acre; as high as 12,480 quarts of luscious berries have been grown on a single acre. Address

Making Ribbon Rose.

To make a handsome ribbon rose is now one of the most popular of the smart girl's dress accessories. You take three yards of No. 60 satin ribbon in two shades of pink. Three loops two and a half inches to three and a half inches deep, and one end four inches, of light pink ribbon, with two loops of deeper pink ribbon added, form a bow, which is the background of the rose. The single end is tied about the bow and trimmed to a point. In this row the rose is embedded. The center of the rose is made of the deeper pink ribbon. A yard and a fourth of this is doubled down the middle, and wrapped about a wire stem to form the rose center. Three petals of dark and three of light pink ribbon are added, each two and a half to three and a half inches deep. These are simply loops of ribbon which form the outer petals of the large rose. A spray of rose foliage can be used to make the effect more realistic. A bow for the hair can be made of one yard of light pink ribbon, with five loops and one end. Four buds made of darker pink ribbon are added. The stems (with calyx) are bought ready-made.

Blouse of White Silk.

Blouse of white silk made with groups of tucks and trimmed at the top, yoke fashion, between the tucks, with straps of pink velvet, or silk, ornamented with motifs or white lace. The standing collar is made with groups of stitching and the little cravat is of pink velvet, or silk. The sleeves are tucked in the same way, the tucks opening out to form a puff at the elbow, and the lower part is trimmed with the pink velvet and lace motifs.

The girle is of pink velvet, or silk, fastened with a silver buckle.—Wienner Chic.

Taffeta Shirt Waist.

When the summer girl wishes to look the most captivating in the morning she will appear in either a fresh hand-embroidered linen shirt waist or in a crisp-looking shirt waist costume of taffeta. The stylish way of making a taffeta shirt waist dress is to trim it with medallions of Irish or Paraguay lace, with French knots in some striking contrasting color, outlining each medallion. Two medallions are sufficient to use on the shirt waist, which will look smart if fastened with pearl buttons, which are so much the fashion this season.

Cherry Bounce.

Cherry bounce is a species of popular cordial used in the South, and kept among the familiar rules of sick-room cookery. Take four pounds of sour cherries and the same quantity of sweet ones. Put them in a wooden dish. Pound them hard enough to crush the cherries and break all the stones. Put the cherries into a stone jar, mixing in two and a half pounds of white sugar. Pour a gallon of the best whisky or brandy over them, and turn the whole into a demijohn. Keep it corked tightly and shake it every day for a month. At the end of six months or a year strain it and bottle it. Use it for a cordial, serving it in miniature glasses.

For Country House Party.

Gown of very light beige, or champagne silk voile. The skirt is shirred finely at the top, forming a hip yoke, then about half-way down the fullness is drawn in by groups of shirring, leaving plain places between the groups.

The corsage is made party of Irish guipure and party of the voile. The latter forms two fish-like draperies in front, shirred at the shoulders, also the bottom of the corsage shirred to the guipure yoke. The upper part of the sleeve is of the guipure, with puff of the voile shirred at the top and finished with a deep cuff of guipure.—Le Guide des Couturieres.

Fried Cauliflower.

Divide a cooked cauliflower into small branches and dip them separately into some stiff bechamel sauce, which has been mixed with sufficient tomato catsup to make it pink, and put them aside until the sauce is set. Then dip the pieces of cauliflower into beaten egg and cover them thickly with panurette (red bread crumbs), and after allowing about a quarter of an hour for the crumbs to harden fry the cauliflower in a wire basket.

Boy's Sailor Blouse.

The sailor blouse is the accepted favorite for small boys and the jaunty style shown here is characterized by a double-breasted front under which the edge of the yoke is sewed. The sleeve is the "navy" style with plaits at wrist and at shoulder. The collar may be pointed or square in front, as provision is made for both styles. The trousers are shaped by side, inside and center seams and may be closed with a fly or at the sides.

Linen, pique, galatea, flannel, duck, chevilot and suitings in general are suggested, using braid or bands or contrasting material for trimming and decorating the shield and sleeve with emblems.

Calico Coming Again.

There is an old material coming to the fore again, and this is nothing more nor less than old-fashioned calico. A calico gown is so out of date as to be hopeless to the majority of people, yet those who keep right up to the mark are looking at the new calico and investing in it.

The special cause of the return of calico to popularity is the shirt waist suit, for calico makes up so very neatly into these suits. And another reason is the improvement in the patterns of the new calicoes which leave so very little to be desired. There come very pretty calico patterns in cream with a little figure and in light blue and light pink and in the darker colors, brown, green and navy blue. These wash well, wear like iron, and are so very neat that one is tempted to invest so that one can have a pretty shirt-waist suit for morning wear.

White India Silk Frock.

Simple and girlish is a white India silk frock for a 16-year-old girl. The skirt has a yoke effect given by rows of lace inserting and fine tucks. A ruffle of lace and tucks round the foot gives it the soft, frilly look so dear to the feminine heart. The round waist has a square yoke of lace, with groups of lace and tucks below. The puffed sleeves are caught in by bands of the lace and finished just below the elbow with a lace ruffle.

Gown of Blue Voile.

The skirt is cut in panels, opening at the bottom over long points of white foulard dotted with blue. The front panel is bordered at the top with bands of blue embroidery.

The blouse is also slashed open over the dotted foulard, and the fronts are bordered with the embroidery. The deep, cape-like shoulder collar is cut in pointed blocks, or tabs, at the edges. The plastron and cravat are of white taffeta and the girle is of blue. The sleeves flare at the bottom where they are slashed open over undersleeves of the dotted foulard.—Le Guide des Couturieres.

Gooseberry Pudding.

Stew a quart of green gooseberries and sweeten well; when cold add the juice and grated rind of a lemon, beaten yolks of five eggs and beaten whites of two; mix all together; beat three whites of eggs and add six ounces of powdered sugar and a few drops of lemon juice; butter a small baking dish, put fruit in and pour icing evenly over the top; bake ten or fifteen minutes.

Bizarre Trimming.

Practical frocks in biscuit, yellow and ivory shades are mostly trimmed with black taffeta. But these bizarre contrasts are not effective unless carried out with consummate skill.

GIUSEPPE SARTO IS NOW POPE PIUS X

Chosen by the Sacred College of Cardinals as Head of the Roman Catholic Church.

The new Pope has been elected. His name is Cardinal Giuseppe Sarto. He has chosen the title of Pius X.

The successor to Leo the Best Beloved Pope was chosen on the seventh ballot. Pius X. is the two hundred and thirty-fourth successor to Peter the Fisherman.

The new Pope is not so well known as some of the other cardinals who were leading candidates for the head of the church, but he is said to be very pious, yet broad and liberal minded. Of course he is an Italian.

What is regarded as even more significant than the new Pope's nationality is the fact that he is generally believed to have been favored by Leo XIII. for the august office to which he has now been elected.

It was not more than a year before his death that the best beloved Leo, in conversation with Father Lorenzo Perosi, the Italian composer, referred to the church. Pius X. enjoyed great popularity in his diocese, and was honored by all for his purity, for the strict uprightness of his life and for liberal ideas. He is a modest and agreeable man, highly cultivated, kind-hearted, still strong and robust in spite of his 68 years. He has never taken much part in the political and public life of the church but has divided his time between study and good works.

Although most faithful to the holy see, he was presented to the king and queen of Italy in Venice. He may be considered among the more liberal members of the Italian episcopate and sacred college. He is rather timid in expressing an opinion. It is said that Leo XIII. always thought very highly of him and sided with him on one occasion when Sarto disapproved of Rampolla's policy.

Maud Howe, daughter of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who resided in Rome for many years, writing on "Who Will Be the Next Pope?" in the Outlook for the week dated Aug. 1, says of Cardinal Sarto:

"He is one of the most popular of the cardinals and is much beloved by the Venetians. He is a prudent, peace between the opposing factions directly opposing the policy of Leo XIII., he is noted for his abstinence from all aggressive action, and his influence is always exerted to keep the peace between the opposing factions. When King Umberto went to Venice to meet the emperor of Germany, Cardinal Sarto announced his intention of making a state visit to the king. A hint was sent him from the vatican that his course might not be a wise one and that he had best be absent from Venice at the time of the king's visit. The decision was left, however, with Sarto, who carried out his original plan, made his state visit to the king, and, it is said mentioned the fact that the vatican had advised against it. Personally he is a handsome man, carrying his 68 years lightly. Strong, modest, disliking the intrigues and the ceremonies of the papal court, he rarely comes to Rome and is content to remain in his beloved Venice, the friend of the people and of the clerics alike. For Italy his election would be fortunate; he has many well-wishers in the Roman world, where, his friends hold, he is too little seen."

A CLIMB IN THE SIERRAS.

It seems rather a dangerous form of exercise. There was neither trail nor indication of one, and we struggled onward and upward as best we might, often shivering to our necks in snow that had lodged between the rocks, concealing the crevasses. Fortunately our downward plunge always ceased before our heads went under, and when we had recovered from the horrible sensation of our submersion we were able to appreciate the humor of our united appearance, as, wild-eyed, we peered from our individual snow nests. About half way up the mountain we discovered an exquisite glacial lake, surrounded by enormous snow drifts, and on its translucent waters were a number of glistening icebergs.

Most interesting were the bands of pink snow that wreathed the mountain-like delicate ribbons, a phenomenon caused by billions of tiny pink animals that luxuriated in the cold, fleecy masses of snow. Up and up we went, experiencing the perils of climbing among rocks piled perpendicularly, in many instances clinging by our hands while our bodies hung over precipices, places where a mismove or a dizzy head would mean instant death.—Helen Lukens Jones in Field and Stream.

Warning to All Fishermen.

"Elmer McKnight went fishing last Sunday and was bitten by a rattlesnake," says a Montgomery county paper. "He had a quart bottle of whiskey along and with this he managed to stave off the effects of the bite until he reached a doctor. It was a close call and a terrible warning." It certainly is a warning, but probably it will have no effect on a man who had no better intelligence than to go fishing with only a quart of whiskey.—Kansas City Journal.

Moves Big Tree.

The largest tree in Oregon was felled recently to be sent as a curiosity to the world's fair. It is the Aberdeen spruce and stood nearly 300 feet high, 40 feet around, and 118 feet from the ground to the first limb. Its age is calculated at 440 years, being a good-sized tree when Columbus discovered the land that was afterward called America.

WHY HE THANKED HER.

Polite Old Gentleman Had Due Sense of Obligation.

"Do you see these?" asked the girl in the black sailor hat, holding up her hands incased in a new pair of heavy dogskin gloves. She was smiling as she spoke.

"Yes; what of them?" inquired her companion, who had met her on the elevated station.

"They just caused an unusual adventure. I was coming through Chambers street, when a dignified old gentleman stopped me. He took off his hat and held it in his hand as he said he wished to apologize for stopping me, but that he really must thank me. He was such a nice old gentleman that I smiled and asked him if I might know what for."

"As I came along," he explained, "I caught sight of your new gloves, and it reminded me that I had promised to bring home a pair just like them to my daughter to-night. And now I will go and get them at once. Please let me thank you again for myself and my daughter." And then he bowed to me again and went on his way smiling."—New York Press.

She Didn't Care.

Maplehill, Ia., Aug. 10th.—"I felt as though I didn't care whether I lived or died, I was so miserable all the time."

In these words does Miss Nellie Barfoot of this place describe her condition. Every woman who is, or has been sick and suffering with under-stand and appreciate just how Miss Barfoot felt, and there are no doubt many thousands of similar cases.

It is truly an awful thing when a woman gets so low that she can say "I don't care whether I live or die." But Miss Barfoot tells a different story to-day, and her words should guide every suffering woman to the path of health and happiness.

"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I am cured. I feel like a new person, and I would say to every woman suffering as I did, give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial and you will not be disappointed. They are worthy of the highest praise."

Novel Taxation.

The municipal council of a little Swedish town has just introduced a progressive tax on stoutness. Below 135 pounds one is free from tax, from 135 pounds to 200 pounds one has to pay $3.12 a year, while from 200 pounds to 270 pounds the impost is $6. As to great weights, they will be a luxury for millionaires. One has to pay $6 for every twenty pounds in excess of 270 pounds.

Supreme Court Sustains the Foot-Ease Trade-Mark.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Justice Laughlin in Supreme Court has granted a permanent injunction with costs against Paul B. Hudson and others of New York City, restraining them from making or selling a foot powder which the court declares is an imitation and infringement on "Foot-Ease," now so largely advertised and sold over the country. The owner of the trademark, "Foot-Ease," is Allen S. Gilmont, of Le Roy, N. Y., and the decision in this suit upholds his trademark and renders all parties liable who fraudulently attempt to profit by the extensive "Foot-Ease" advertising in placing on the market the spurious and similar appearing preparation involved in the case. This the court declares was designed to imitate and infringe on the genuine "Foot-Ease." Similar suits will be brought against others who are now infringing on the Foot-Ease trademark rights.

Selling Eggs by Weight.

The provision officials of Prussia have been petitioned to have eggs sold in the future by weight instead of by number. The object of this request is the protection of German poultry and egg raisers against those of foreign countries, the statement being made that German eggs weigh on an average from 38.58 to 51.44 pennyweights, while those imported weigh from 25.77 to 32.15 pennyweights.

THE SMALL BOY DRESSED IN HIS VERY BEST.

French Flannel and Butchers' Linen.

The Russian blouse suits still cling to popularity, but are made somewhat more elaborate, a great many of them being hand embroidered.

The three models shown in the cut were sketched from the latest designs. They are simple and easily made, yet stylish and pretty and suitable for afternoon or morning wear.

The coat and vest effect on the center figure is one of the newest designs and is here shown in navy blue French flannel combined with white silk flannel with a tiny blue figure.

The other two are linen suits, which are kept clean and fresh with very little trouble.

Butchers' linen is extensively used for these suits.

Costumes for little boys are exceedingly chic and pretty, and while fashions for little folks are generally supposed to be quite simple and easy to follow, yet they are not at all easy to make attractive.

The newest models for small boys are decidedly picturesque and attractive.

COMPELLED TO USE A CRUTCH FOR EIGHT MONTHS. DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED MRS. P. CONLIN, CARBONDALE, PA.

Mrs. P. Conlin, 82 Greenfield Avenue, Carbondale, Pa., says: "I suffered with backache, and, despite the use of medicine, I could not get rid of it. I was compelled to use a crutch for eight months, and a part of the time was unable to walk at all. I fairly screamed if I attempted to lift my feet from the floor, and, finally, I lost control of my limbs through weakness, as I could neither bend nor straighten up to my full height, and if ever a woman was in a serious condition, I was. My husband went to Kelly's drug store and brought home a box of Doan's Pills. I felt easier in a few days, and, continuing the treatment, I was soon able to walk. At the end of two weeks the pain in my loins left. When I had completed the treatment, I had not an ache nor a pain, and I have been in that condition ever since.

RAILWAY GRANTS INCREASE TO MEN

Rock Island System Agrees to Revised Schedule of Wages.

MINOR DETAILS TO BE SETTLED

Most Serious Complaint of the Men Was in Connection With Double-headers, Which They Claim Compel One Crew to Do Work of Two.

Chicago dispatch: An amicable settlement has been reached between the Rock Island Railway system and the conductors and trainmen. Wages will be increased and the working rules revised.

At a conference between the railroad officials and the committees, which was attended by Edgar E. Clark, grand chief of the conductors, and W. G. Lee, vice grand master of the trainmen, the company announced its intention to grant the increase of wages. According to the agreement, which takes effect Aug. 1, passenger conductors will receive 12 per cent more than the scale Jan. 1, 1902, which was $125, and freight conductors will get a 15 per cent increase over the scale of 3 cents a mile. The increase to freight trainmen is 15 per cent over the former scale of 2 cents a mile, and passenger brakemen will get an increase of 12 per cent over their scale, which varied in different parts of the country. The system of double-heading engines on freight trains will practically be abolished, except in mountainous country, or on trains of not more than thirty cars.

Did Not Make Threats.

There are still some minor details to the agreement, which have not yet been perfected, and the conferences will continue until the whole matter has been settled. Union officials declare that no threats were made of a strike, but they did inform the company that the trainmen had voted authority to call a strike unless their demands were granted.

Edgar E. Clark of the conductors said: "In my opinion there was never any great danger of a strike. We could not see how the Rock Island could fail to grant our demands for a new agreement in view of the fact that every other road in the country has signed agreements with us since January. The question of double-heading engines on freight trains needed regulating on nearly all the roads, as well as some other operating rules. The tendency of railroad managers has been to carry the greatest amount of tonnage in one unit—that is, to one train. Originally double engines were used for the purpose of using up the old type small engines that they might be replaced with new and more powerful ones.

Ground for Complaint.

"This was all right, because the cars were made larger, but some of the managers were not content with this, and double-headed their most powerful engines, running practically two trains as one and with one crew. This method made the work of the crew harder and the hours longer on account of 'stalling,' and we felt it to be unfair.

"Although these big units made a good showing on paper, I think we have succeeded in convincing most of the managers that it is doubtful economy in the end. The conditions on different roads vary according to topographical conditions, but in the main double-heading has been abolished, except in the mountains or on trains of thirty cars or more."

It is declared that had the Rock Island made the announcement several months ago when negotiations were first commenced of their willingness to grant wage increase, the strike vote would never have been resorted to.

ONE OF THE LARGEST IRRIGATING CANALS IN THE WORLD.

A Project of the State of Idaho.

On the west side of the Snake river in Idaho, between Blackfoot and American Falls, there is being constructed by the American Falls Canal & Power company, under a contract with the state of Idaho, an irrigating canal 85 feet wide and 60 miles long. When finished, this canal will be one of the largest and most perfect irrigating systems in the world. By its means a valley of 100,000 acres of the most fertile and productive fruit and farm land in America will be reclaimed.

The climate of the valley is ideal. Cyclones, hot winds, floods or destructive storms have never been known.

Grain, grass, vegetables and all varieties of fruit grow in abundance. A healthful climate, a sure crop, a heavy yield, high prices and a ready market, are features of this country.

Ten thousand acres of this rich land are now ready for irrigation and settlement. Purchase tickets to Blackfoot via Oregon Short Line Railway Co.

For full information concerning land, water rights, low prices, and easy terms, write, Evans, Curtis & Sweet Co., Salt Lake City, Utah.

To the housewife who has not yet become acquainted with the new things of everyday use in the market and who is reasonably satisfied with the old, we would suggest that a trial of Defiance Cold Water Starch be made at once. Not alone because it is guaranteed by the manufacturers to be superior to any other brand, but because each 10c package contains 16 ozs., while all the other kinds contain but 12 ozs. It is safe to say that the lady who once uses Defiance Starch will use no other. Quality and quantity must win.

U. S. SENATOR FROM SOUTH CAROLINA

Recommends Pe-ru-na

For Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble.

Ex-Senator M. C. Butler.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Catarrh of the Stomach is Generally Called Dyspepsia—Something to Produce Artificial Digestion is Generally Taken.

Hence, Pepsin, Pancreatin and a Host of Other Digestive Remedies Has Been Invented.

These Remedies Do Not Reach the Seat of the Difficulty, Which is Really Catarrh.

Ex-U. S. Senator M. C. Butler from South Carolina, was Senator from that state for two terms. In a recent letter to The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., from Washington, D. C., says:

"I can recommend Pe-ru-na for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine besides a good tonic."—M. C. Butler.

The only rational way to cure dyspepsia is to remove the catarrh. Pe-ru-na cures catarrh. Pe-ru-na does not produce artificial digestion. It cures catarrh and leaves the stomach to perform digestion in a natural way. This is vastly better and safer than resorting to artificial methods.

Pe-ru-na has cured more cases of dyspepsia than all other remedies combined, simply because it cures catarrh wherever located. If catarrh is located in the head, Pe-ru-na cures it. If catarrh has fastened itself in the throat or bronchial tubes, Pe-ru-na cures it. When catarrh becomes settled in the stomach, Pe-ru-na cures it, as well in this location as in any other.

Pe-ru-na is not simply a remedy for dyspepsia. Pe-ru-na is a catarrh remedy. Pe-ru-na cures dyspepsia because it is generally dependent upon catarrh.
