The slump in values in the natural gas towns of Indiana is evidenced by the assessors' returns. At Marion, the total assessments in the county are $2,000,000 less than last year.

"It is undeniably true," says an exchange, "that higher standards are asserting themselves in politics, in corporate and other business, in finance and in all relations of life. We do well to complain of robes, graft, betrayals of trust, franchise grabbing, and so on. But we should realize that the agitation against such abuses is proof of progress, not of reaction."

Omaha women, representing the church societies, have declared war on the leg models which are used by the dry goods stores for the display of feminine hosiery in the shop windows, and have appealed to the police commission for an order to compel the merchants to relegate these imitation appendages to the shades of the basement or some like sequestered place.

I will mail you free, to prove itself, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and eye look on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment.

Reflections of the Historian of Lake Maxinkuckee on Its Changing Scenes

MAN HAS SADLY DIMINISHED ITS PRIMEVAL BEAUTIES

Game and Fish and Native Trees Have Largely Disappeared

Those who were here fifty or more years ago and saw the beautiful Maxinkuckee lake in all its primitive loveliness and grandeur as the native Pottawatomie Indians found it, and left it, are surprised to see what havoc the ruthless hand of the white man and the ravages of time have made in the shore lines and in the surroundings.

But all this has passed away. The original forest trees whose umbrageous branches skirted the banks from shore to shore, have about all been supplanted by the more civilized and refined shade and fruit and flower trees; the deer and other wild animals that made their home here, have, like the Indian, all been driven away and none are here now; only an occasional waterfowl that covered the waters of the beautiful lake in the primitive days is ever seen here now; and the waters that were literally alive with the largest and choicest species of fresh water fish are now reduced to a beggarly few bass, salmon, bluegills and perch which are kept from disappearing entirely by the government furnishing "fry" for them to eat on the pretext of "stocking the lake!"

Practically the last "ancient landmark" to disappear is the grand old "Long Point," where tradition has it that Pau-koo-shuk—a bad Indian son who killed his father, Au-be-nau-bee, a worse Indian chief who killed one of his wives—was buried, and where various other marvelous traditional occurrences took place that probably never happened! It was a general dinner point and picnic ground, and a favorite trysting place where lovesick lads and lassies went to pledge their undying love for each other—to be broken at a later day! It is the only point where every part of the lake can be seen. But with the march of improvement everywhere present this historic "point" has been leveled, and the tall oaks that towered toward heaven have been felled to the ground, cut into stovewood and burned to ashes; and so it has come to pass, as the world's greatest poet has well said, that this reminiscence of the past like The cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces, The solemn temples, the great globe itself; Yea, and all which it inherits shall dissolve And like this unsubstantial pageant faded, Leave not a rack behind. We are such stuff as dreams are made of, And our little life is rounded with a sleep.

DANIEL McDONALD. The Wigwam, Pottawatomie Reservation.

Juvenile Court.

Under the laws of 1907 now in force it becomes the duty of every circuit judge to establish a juvenile court. He is the only person who can hereafter decide that a child shall be made a public ward. One effect of this law will be to secure a more careful investigation into each case than has been given in the past by trustees and other officials whose duty it has been to determine whether children shall become public wards.

In an interview with the Indianapolis Star "Uncle Joe" Cannon says:

It seems to me that the president's Indianapolis speech was an important one. It contains three principal propositions: First, it gives assurance, if any assurance were needed, that the president will continue to perform his function in seeing to it that the laws are enforced.

Second, inasmuch as the president is a co-ordinate branch of congress, the speech is also important as indicating that nothing will be recommended and, even if recommended, can be enacted, under the constitution, to impair the validity of securities that have been issued under the various state laws in connection with the construction of railways engaged in interstate commerce, the same having substantially passed into the hands, even where imprudently issued, of innocent parties.

Third, the speech practically gives notice that in the performance of his duty under the constitution the president will recommend by message to congress that in connection with the additional construction and betterment of railroads congress will enact legislation requiring that the issuing of securities for the needed funds shall be subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission or other appropriate United States authority. Such legislation would certainly tend to assure the investor that the proceeds of the securities would be devoted to the desired end. It seems to me that the president's recommendations, notice of which is given and which may well be followed by congress, will be beneficial alike to those who construct and manage railways engaged in interstate commerce, to the investor and to all the people.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—the success stage—their break, or head of those early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Rough Roads Unnecessary.

If farmers can once get clearly fixed in their minds that there is no good excuse for rough roads in any part of the corn belt during the summer season, we will get along much faster in the solution of the dirt road problem.

The road drag can be used when wet, in some soils when they are quite muddy, and in others when they are beginning to be dry and crumbly. The intelligent use of the drag, where the roads have been properly drained and graded, will absolutely prevent all roughness. It will not prevent the wheels from sinking in while the road is soft, but they will not sink in as far as if the drag were not used; and all that is necessary is simply to drag again when there is sufficient moisture in the ground to permit it.

Anyone can see that if the drag is used intelligently and at the right time the ruts will be filled up, the surface water run off, and the wind will dry out the road in a short time; and instead of wearing down the lumps by driving over them you prevent their formation.

—Wallace's Farmer.

Must Leave Country.

Richard R. Rumphrey of near Hibbard, who was arrested Tuesday and lodged in jail, was brought into Justice Unger's court and matters adjusted. Rumphrey was arrested some time ago and put under peace bond, being charged with cruelty to his family and threatening the life of his wife. He had violated his oath and again threatened his wife with death. She caused his arrest and today he was allowed to go without prosecution provided he leaves the county and remains away two years. He took the L. E. & W. south. His wife paid the costs.—Plymouth Ind.

A Serious Charge.

Dola Schrock, whose home is at Hibbard, who has been employed as a domestic in the home of W. C. Larrow, has had Charles Larrow, 18 years old, arrested on the charge of rape. Miss Schrock declares that she was in the house alone with the young man, Monday evening, when the assault occurred. The families of both parties are prominent in the community, and the affair is generally regretted.—Knox Republican.

Larrow was arraigned on Friday and bound over to the circuit court in $2000 bonds.

LIVER TROUBLE.

A dull, sluggish liver always brings a dull, sluggish feeling to the entire body.

MICHAEL SILK.

When the liver works properly the blood courses through the body in a bright red stream. When the liver is inactive the blood becomes dull and muddy, and it is full of poisonous matter.

A great many people try to get a fine, clear, pink and white complexion by rubbing things on their faces. They might rub a life time and the same yellow complexion would remain—for the liver causes it. Only bright, red blood brings fine complexions. Blood loaded with impurities from the liver sends the impurities out through the pores of the skin and turns the skin a brownish yellow.

To get rid of the dull, heavy feeling and muddiness, yellow complexion get the liver to working again. Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will do this nine times out of ten though sometimes it takes four or five bottles.

Here's what a man who tried it says: "My health had been poorly for several years. My face was yellow and covered with pimples, I was bothered constantly with chronic constipation, had little or no appetite and could not sleep well at night. I became weak and lost all ambition. I tried many different medicines but nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Cooper's New Discovery. It seemed to help me at once. Now, after I have taken several bottles I feel entirely well. My face is clear, I sleep well, have a good appetite and am quite myself again."

"I am deeply grateful for my restored health." Michael Silk, 24 Kentucky Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

VOTING MACHINES.

It is Probable that Marshall County Will Adopt Them.

The board of county commissioners adjourned after being in session three days. The proposition of buying voting machines for the county was not fully investigated, but it is probable that machines will be purchased and at the next election there will be machines at all the voting places in Marshall county. The machines cost $600 each and it would take twelve or fifteen machines for the county.—Independent.

The voting machine is, in its general form, a board containing the names of all the candidates to be voted for. The voter enters the booth, drops a button into a receptacle opposite the name of each candidate to be voted for. The voter then pulls a lever which records the vote, locks the machine and throws back the curtains of the booth. At the closing of the polls when the machine is unlocked by the election judges the totals are all found recorded, and the returns can be announced almost immediately. The only objection to the machines is their great cost. The taxpayers will want to be "shown" before they will give their endorsement to an expenditure of $9,000.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

The Farm House of Jesse Voreis Wrecked by an Electric Bolt.

During a heavy storm on Wednesday of last week the house on the George Schrader farm, 2 miles north of town, occupied by Jesse Voreis, was struck by lightning. The bolt entered the main part, tearing the house in two and completely wrecking the interior. A cabinet organ was knocked to pieces. The same bolt splintered a tree and tore the shafts out of a buggy.

Fortunately for the family they were away from home, otherwise they would, in all probability, have been seriously injured if not killed.

OAK GROVE OFFERINGS.

Miss Ivy Reegs, who has been sick the past two weeks, is getting better.

Still bad weather. Some of the farmers are getting pretty badly discouraged. Some of the corn is up, but some is not planted yet.

Little Orville Reegs is weeding onions for the Ransbottom brothers, (when it does not rain). They expect to raise a large crop this year.

George Ransbottom has moved his family from South Bend to one of Mr. Odell's farm where he expects to remain for a while and will farm his father-in-law's place.

J. St. Clair Bottorff was called here last Tuesday by the serious illness of J. H. Barnes. His wife wished to take him home, but they were not able to move him until Saturday when he was taken to Warsaw by way of Grovertown. Mr. Bottorff reports his wife as some better but still under the care of a nurse. Mr. Barnes stood his trip as well as could be expected.
