In Brief

Starch & Iron in Culver this Friday

Fiddle and banjo duo Starch & Iron will play at the Culver Coffee Company at 8 p.m. Friday, June 4, as part of the Yellow River Festival, which takes place in Plymouth June 5 (the duo will also play the festival itself in Plymouth). Starch & Iron features sounds and songs brought to America from the British Isles and Africa, then distilled in the Appalachian Mountains. The show is free and open to the public. For more information about the band and the Yellow River Festival, visit www.yellowriverfestival.org.

CUTPL Summer Reading sign-up June 5

The Culver-Union Township Public Library has announced its schedule of activities for the 2010 Summer Reading program, which utilizes the national "Make a Slash: Read!" and "Make Waves" reading programs.

The program, which includes specific activities for children, young adults, and adults (respectively), runs from June 5 through August 7. As in the past, a roster of programs accompanies prizes awarded for books read. Details are available on the library's website at www.culver.lib.in.us.

Authors of Lake Max event June 12

The Antiquarian and Historical Society of Culver will hold its annual meeting Saturday, June 12 starting at 10 a.m. and featuring a program, "Culver's Cultural Golden Age," presented by Jeff Kenney of the AHS and focusing on literary and cultural figures of Indiana who frequented – and drew inspiration from – Lake Maxinkuckee's shores. The program, which will take place in the large meeting room of the Culver Public Library, is free and open to the public.

The event coincides with the AHS' Center for Culver History Museum and Research Center's hosting of, "The Golden Age: Indiana Literature (1880-1920)," a traveling display from the Indiana Historical Society in Indianapolis. The display may be viewed from now through June 25 at the Center, located in the lower level of the Culver Public Library in downtown Culver.

Local vets, others observe a Culver Memorial Day

Bobbie Washburn Ruhnow

As you view the many small flags in the Culver Masonic cemetery decorating the graves of departed veterans, you are impressed with the number of Culver men and women of all wars who are being honored this Memorial Day.

M. Tom Schmidt, Finney Shilling VFW Post 6919 Commander, led the ceremonies honoring departed comrades. At the veteran's monument located in the Culver Masonic cemetery, Schmidt said, "This represents the resting place for all our veterans. Wherever a veteran is buried, is hallowed ground."

Bryce Lindvall, Past Commander, spoke briefly to a large group attending the services. Noting the loyalty to country and the ultimate sacrifices by so many comrades, he commended the resolve shown by these veterans in the name of freedom.

Town Manager talks trash

Doss updates on change in service to kick off in July

By Jeff Kenney
Citizen editor

Most Culverites are likely aware by now that the town of Culver will transition to a town-wide trash hauling service, contracted via the town of Culver and utilizing Allied Waste Services of Culver, whose bid was accepted to handle the service for the next three years.

The resulting change, which will take effect July 5, will cut most residents' trash bills in approximately half (a charge totaling $15.09 will be added to all residents' water bills beginning that month), and town officials also note it will reduce usage on Culver's streets by multiple trash services' heavy trucks, as is presently the case.

Town Manager Michael Doss is undertaking an effort to help keep Culver citizens informed and make the transition as smooth as possible, though he says the town is "asking for people's patience while we get this program implemented."

"We will try to accommodate our citizens. We understand this is a change in service... (but the Town) Council is concerned with providing savings for us and to help clean up some of the areas in town to make this a more beautiful place to live."

By now, many residents will have received in the mail a "frequently asked questions" sheet covering most "nuts and bolts" areas of the program, Doss says.

Among the important facts emphasized in the mailing:
Any resident of town living in a residential unit and receiving a monthly utility bill will receive – and be billed for -- town-wide trash service.

Any questions or concerns about one's existing trash hauling service should be handled by contacting that service.

Trash will be picked up each Monday unless a holiday falls on a Monday, in which case trash will be picked up the next day, Tuesday.

A separate truck will pick up recycling bi-weekly, every other Monday.

By default, a 96-gallon tote will be provided each resident in which to place trash. For any additional, loose trash bags, the town provides stickers at a cost of $1.50 per sticker which must be attached to each loose trash bag for pick up (if the bag does not contain a sticker then it will not be

CBGC seeks race contestants, items for silent auction event

As many have seen from posters around town or through other announcements, the theme of this year's Culver Boys & Girls Club annual auction is, "A Night at the Speedway." Toward that theme, CBGC board members are looking for racing contestants who will help the club raise money for its annual budget. Board member and co-chair event organizer Mary Szymusiak says, "We need challengers who are willing to take a few risks and have some fun. In fact, we can promise potential racers a lot of fun!"

Szymusiak continues, "We aren't asking anyone to hula hoop this year. We just need a little wiggle or some pedaling... not anything you didn't do as a kid. It's like riding a bike. You'll remember how once you get on one of the race machines. And, we are willing to bribe your friends to ensure you win your race."

To register to race a "wiggle machine" or other non-motorized vehicle at the event (participants can even build their own), interested persons can contact Mary Szymusiak at 219-405-5173 or at her email account, which is Mary@tbiron.com.

Race fans at the event can sponsor a racer to help raise money for the club.

"The race, our silent auction, and your attendance at one of this summer's biggest parties all go to a good cause," says Carol Zeglis, another co-chair organizer of the event. "This is one of only two fundraisers we do to help raise over $100,000 for the club. We hope that everyone will come out to sponsor a racer and our club."

Zeglis points out that the price of a ticket includes more than admittance. "We will have a wonderful variety of food from City Diner, a bar that includes nonalcoholic beverages, beer, and wine, and live entertainment from the popular Quentin Flagg."

As announced earlier in the Citizen, the auction event is to be held on June 18 at 6:30 p.m.

Miss Max to kick off Lake Fest

June 9 is first meeting for contestant hopefuls

By Jeff Kenney
Citizen editor

For those Culverites who've missed the longstanding tradition of the Miss Maxinkuckee pageant kicking off Culver's Lake Fest each July, there's good news this year. For the first time in around five years, says pageant coordinator Sue Norwich, the Miss Max event will return to its Friday evening timeslot at 6 p.m., and to a location nearer the public beach in the town park -- in this case onstage at the parking lot near the beach lodge.

The competition, which is open to girls in four age ranges from the Culver community or attending Culver-area schools (including Culver Academies), actually pre-dates the 26-year-old Lake Fest itself, but for the first two decades of Lake Fest had been a traditional draw for festival-goers Friday evening. In more recent years, however, various factors including availability of pageant organizers during the busy opening hours of the festival, caused coordinators to hold the pageant earlier in the summer as its own separate event.

"(Since that change, the pageant) has never been quite as well attended," says Norwich, "and there's something about having the newly crowned queen, princesses, and others walking around the park during Lake Fest."

Norwich emphasizes June 9 is the date for participants See Miss Max page 2

to sign up at an informational meeting to be held at the Culver Town Park Beach Lodge. Princess (ages 4-6) and Little Miss (ages 7-10) contestant hopefuls will meet at 7 p.m. and Junior Miss (ages 11-14) and Miss Max (ages 15-18) will begin their meeting at 8 p.m.

Norwich also responds to suggestions that the contest might be deemed sexist or might objectify its participants. "I've found it's really helped the girls with their self-confidence," she explains, adding interviews with judges are useful precursors of college and employment interviews for the girls.

"For the theme," she adds. "they have to dress in the theme of what they would like to be when they grow up, and they have to state the reason; they have to think...they have to write a report on why they want to be Miss Maxinkuckee, which helps them with their writing skills. It's not just that they're pretty on a stage."

Points are awarded participants for their use of themes, an essay they must write, attendance at practices and meetings, a speech they're required to deliver, interviews with judges, poise, and dress. Contestants are also required to solicit sponsors, though no points are awarded there. Instead, says Norwich, sponsor dollars are necessary since "this is self-sustaining pageant. We don't have a budget for trophies, tiaras, t-shirts, or to pay a stipend to the judges."

Judges are chosen from surrounding communities rather than Culver, to maximize their objectivity in evaluating participants. Some, says Norwich, are teachers, who may excel at evaluating the essays girls must write, while some may be businesspeople who might inquire why the contestants wish to represent the town and lake. Others might be individuals experienced with other pageants in the past, giving them added criteria with which to work.

Three top winners are chosen in each age group, including winner, first and second runner up, and added categories for Miss Congeniality, top sponsor, and best theme. Top winners will present awards throughout the Lake Fest weekend as well as representing Culver at various parades and events such as the Blueberry Festival in Plymouth. Last year's Miss Maxinkuckee, Paige Norwich, will return this year to crown this year's winner, as will Junior Miss Maxinkuckee Brianna Overmyer.

Weekly practices will take place Wednesdays, with a tea and dress rehearsal at the Culver Cove during the final week before the Friday night pageant in July. Younger girls are seated at tables to drink lemonade and eat cookies, and will converse with the judges in "a non-threatening way," notes Norwich, though Miss Maxinkuckee and Junior Miss will be interviewed by three to four judges in separate rooms.

Those unable to attend the June 9 meeting but wishing to sign up -- or those with questions -- may call pageant coordinators Susie Norwich (574-298- 5970), Chelsea Bramfeld (740-994-8611), or Jean E. Overmyer (317-513-5216).

Cub Scout and Boy Scout Troops #290 were present with their color guard. The Culver/Union Township Volunteer Fire Department and Culver EMS uniformed personnel were also in attendance.

Ceremonies were finalized with the firing squad composed of VFW and Collins Tasch American Legion members giving the final salute. Taps, played by Jim Jones, completed the tribute.

As we honor the memory of our fallen heroes this Memorial Day, there is a recent e-mail making the rounds that symbolize the importance of our military men and women. It says, in part, "It isn't the reporter that gives us freedom of the press, it is the veteran. It isn't the preacher that gives us freedom of religion, it is the veteran. It isn't the poet that gives us freedom of speech, it is the veteran."

Co-chair organizer Ginny Munroe asks that people note the change of venue to the Lay Center. She says, "There will be plenty of parking and a shuttle service for those who have to park a little further than normal from the event. And, the good news with this change of venue is that we will have an air-conditioned building, making our guests more comfortable if we should experience a hot, humid evening."

Organizers are also excited to tell guests about the silent auction items they have collected for this year's evening at the Speedway.

"We have some new, exciting things to bid on," says Munroe. "We had a donor give us a three-night golf and spa package at an exclusive club in Florida. There are also other trips with Kauai among them. Who wouldn't love a one-week stay in a condo in Kauai?"

She continues, "There are numerous other great packages and items that our local businesses have contributed. These include a $500 photography package, beautiful purses, artwork, jewelry, photographs of Culver, wine, a kayak, restaurant gift certificates, and much more. You'll just have to come to see everything!"

Munroe says board members are still collecting items for the auction. Donated items to the CBGC auction can be dropped off at CulverLodging Realty, located at 218 S. Main St. in Culver. In addition, those who want to donate can contact a board member to arrange for delivery of items. Tickets to this year's event can be still be purchased ahead of time at Gladie's Deli, Michelle's Headquarters, or Osborn's Mini Mart. Tickets are $40 or 2 for $75. They can also be purchased at the door on the day of the event or from a board member. For those who want to make a monetary donation to the CBGC, write a check payable to Culver Boys and Girls Club and mail it to Culver Boys and Girls Club, P.O. Box 44, Culver, IN 46511.

'Soup' bears fruit

Culver Elementary School 6th graders' 'Soup for the Soul' community event bore fruit for several area charities, raising more than $500 each for each of four worthy causes. Last month, representatives from the organizations were presented checks at the school. Among them: the Center for the Homeless in South Bend, represented in the LEFT PHOTO by Taya Groover (at right), who was accepted the check from (from left) Jennah McCarthy, Brianna Overmyer, and Shannon Deery. RIGHT PHOTO: Suzanne Crider (right) of the Starke County Humane Society is presented a check by students Margaret McKinnis (left) and Clare Nowalk. Other entities to which 'Soup' money went included the Marshall County Humane Society and Culver's food pantry.

'Soup for the Soul' enjoyed its second year of success, drawing a packed cafeteria full of community folks to eat soup, bread, and other foods donated by area restaurants and individuals, and bid on items donated from a variety of sources in a silent auction. Diners enjoyed soup served in bowls and cups made by students, who also served the food and handled most of the setup and clean-up in what has become an annual event, the brainchild of CES 6th grade teacher Missy Trent and art teacher Joyce Lyman.

Celebrating character

LEFT: Culver Elementary School second graders celebrated a school year of "Cool Character Club," a school-sponsored program integrated into all aspects of students' CES lives and emphasizing the six pillars of character: trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, citizenship.

Summer school correction

In last week's (May 27) edition of the Culver Citizen, the page 1 article, "Program seeks to feed Culver area children where they are" incorrectly stated this summer is the first "in years not to offer summer school." According to Culver Elementary School Principal Chuck Kitchell, CES will continue to offer two summer school sessions as in years past: one immediately following the end of the school year and another preceding the start of the fall semester. The Citizen regrets the error.

The usual Decoration Day services were held Sunday at the Methodist Church. By 2:00 the church was filled. A mere handful of GAR (Grand Army of the Republic - Civil War -- editor) is now the answer to the roll call on Decoration Day, but as long as one of the "old boys" is left, the day will be solemnly observed (editor's note: Decoration Day was initiated as a means of honoring Civil War veterans, but of course eventually came to represent all war veterans. It wasn't until after World War II that the "Memorial Day" moniker became common. The VFW in 1922 began selling poppies to aid disabled veterans and two years later the national "Buddy Poppy Day" was inaugurated; it was observed last weekend by Culver's VFW Post 6919.)

Name that Culver "citizen"

Last week's Mystery Citizen continues to be a familiar face in Culver after nearly five decades here. He's Jim Bonine, whose family became the second of just three in Culver to operate the community's funeral home (it was Easterday's for the first sixty-plus years of its life), which became Bonine Funeral Home for many years after he and wife Rosalie came to town and took it over. Jim was recognized by Kay Tusing, Leroy Bean, Barb Neidlinger, Judy Sawhook, Iris

Eagles fall St. Joseph's Sectional

By Dee Grenert
Staff Writer

LAKEVILLE — John Glenn and Culver Girls Academy quickly exited Class 3A Softball Sectional 19 play Tuesday at Newton Park.

The Falcons gave up five two-out runs in the second and committed six errors all told in an 11-0 five-inning first-round loss to No. 9 Rochester, while New Prairie jumped on the Eagles for seven runs in the opening two frames en route to an 11-1 six-inning victory in the nightcap.

In other play, the New Prairie Cougars mashed 16 hits for the night — five for extra bases — and grabbed a 4-0 lead against CGA starter Brenna Newell before the Eagles ever saw their first at-bat.

“New Prairie is a great offensive team,” CGA head coach Mike Milbury said. “They definitely had the offense going today. We played defense when we could; Brenna threw a lot of strikes, but our bats just never got going.”

Catcher Alexis Christlieb singled to right twice, and freshman Gracen Hirschy provided one of CGA's best at-bats, drawing a walk on the 14th pitch of her fifth-inning confrontation with Hancz.

“She's been doing that all year,” Milbury said of Hirschy. “She's not going to go down looking; she's going to make something happen. She's a smart hitter.”

Melissa Paluch and senior Amanda Knox — the Eagles' lone senior — also singled.

“We have one senior, our center fielder Jessica Knox,” Milbury said. “I'm very proud of her career at Culver Girls Academy. She's a four-year starter, and she's always given everything she had. I couldn't be any prouder of her.”

BREMEN — Penn earned a three-peat regional championship, while Culver Girls Academy placed eighth and Bremen finished 14th on the shoulders of distance runners Waverly Neer and Hope Jordan, respectively, at the Bremen Girls Track and Field Regional Tuesday.

Also at the meet, Culver Community put up four points, LaVille scored three, Plymouth tallied two points, and Triton fell short of a top-eight placement to finish scoreless as athletes from the four schools concluded their seasons at Bremen.

Neer claimed dual individual championships in the 1600 and 3200 with respective times of 5:03.5 and 11:22.69, while Jordan took runner-up honors in the 1600 with a season-best 5:09.6 and broke the Lady Lions' school record in the 800 with a 12:19.89 en route to fourth place on her home track.

Neer's two-championship performance was a repeat of her dominant distance showing at last year's regional and brings the CGA junior's regional title tally to four.

“It's not really about the winning, it's about putting in your personal best. I'm excited to move on to the state meet, but I'm looking forward to better performances at the state meet,” said Neer, who placed second in both the 1600 and 3200 at last year's state finals.

Jordan earned her first state finals berth behind Neer in the 1600 race but fell just one place shy of a ticket out in the 800 after leading the field heading into the final turn. Much like her start at last week's Bremen Sectional — where she placed second in the 800 — Jordan got swept up into the pack early, but she was able to make a nifty inside move to get out ahead of her competitors following the first turn.

While Jordan moves on with Neer in the 1600, CGA teammate Kaye Sitterly will join Neer at the 3200 starting line June 4.

In only her third two-mile race of the season, Sitterly started at a restrained pace, then gradually picked off her competitors to place third with an 11:38.7.

“With the heat today, we changed our race plans,” said CGA head coach Michael Chastain. “I wanted Waverly to start out slower and just kind of get into it and just kind of get into an even tempo at a slower pace. Then Kaye definitely started out slower. She didn't start out as slow as I wanted her to, but she kept moving up. She's a fighter; she gets competitive. She's definitely a hockey player.”

“She pulled it out in an awesome, awesome race,” Neer said of her teammate. “She's definitely the star of the day.”

After pulling out a team sectional title with 168 points at Rochester last Tuesday, Plymouth scored just two points at Bremen.

CGA's C.J. Spaulding was sixth in the discus at 102'11”, and the Eagles' 4x100 team of Ashley Taylor, Emily Rich, Andrea Lin and Ann Marie Dumas ran their fastest time of the season with a 52.18 for 10th place. Sitterly, Kylee Shipley, Hanna Klondaris and Moira Kelley also clocked a PR in the 3200 relay with a 10:01.93 time for eighth place.

Culver once again Tree City USA Community

Culver was once again recognized by the nonprofit Arbor Day Foundation as a Tree City USA community for its commitment to urban forestry. It is the fourth year Culver has earned this national designation.

The Tree City USA program is sponsored by the Arbor Day Foundation in cooperation with the National Association of State Foresters and the USDA Forest Service.

Culver has met the four standards to become a Tree City USA community. Tree City USA communities must have a tree board or department, a tree-care ordinance, a comprehensive community forestry program, and an Arbor Day observance and proclamation.

"We commend Culver's elected officials, volunteers and its citizens for providing vital care for its urban forest," said John Rosenow, chief executive and founder of the Arbor Day Foundation. "Trees provide numerous environmental, economical and health benefits to millions of people each day, and we applaud communities that make planting and caring for trees a top priority."

More information about Tree City USA can be found at www.arborday.org/TreeCityUSA.

Boys golf

Trojans win NSC title

Taran Kennedy shot a 75 to lead Triton to a dominant Northern State Conference win at the NSC Golf Championships at Mystic Hills in Culver Saturday.

Brothers Quentyn and Griffyn Carpenter both carded 76s, and freshman Ryan Rapp turned in a 78 to lead the Trojans to the conference title.

Connor Berkebile shot a strong 76, meanwhile, as John Glenn edged out Bremen 335-336 for second place at the meet, while the Lions were led by Max Kipfer's 78 and Taylor Fanning's 79.

Culver placed fifth with a 354 paced by Zach Duplay's 83, while Knox finished sixth with a 388 score led by Chris Newbauer's round of 87.

Also at the meet, Zach Young was the only Lancer to break 100 with a 99 as LaVille rounded out the NSC standings in eighth with a 441 team score.

CCHS, CMA part of Kokomo meet

KOKOMO — While South Bend Washington won the meet, Culver athletes performed well at the Kokomo Boys Track and Field Regional Thursday.

Among those earning state berths was Culver Military's Alejandro Arroyo, who took runner-up honors in the 3200 and third in the 1600 for twin state berths.

Also at the meet, CMA's Trace Ostergren fell short of a top-three finish in the 3200 after making the cut out of the Plymouth Sectional in both the 1600 and 3200, but scratched the 1600 Thursday.

Culver Community's Jeremiah Harvey finished out his junior year in 12th in the shot put.
