Visual Screening Set For May 9 & 10

Does a visual screening sound like fun?

Maybe not for older folks. But for preschool tots who learn the "E" game, complete with "magic feet" and a topsy-turvy "table," a visual screening can be a happy adventure in healthy growth.

The fun will begin in the Culver area at a free vision screening program to be conducted on May 9 and 10. Volunteers from the Maxinkuckee Federated Junior Woman's Club, trained by the Society for the Prevention of Blindness, will check young-ages three to five years, for signs of visual problems.

Children will be screened at the Wesley United Methodist Church in Culver from 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. on both May 9 and 10. The screening will also take place at the Aubbeenaubbee School on May 9 beginning at 10:45 a.m. and at Monterey School on May 10 beginning at the same time.

The "E" game, an integral part of the screening procedure, is used to discover indications of visual faults in children who have not learned to read. The topsy-turvy "table" is actually the letter "E" that tops the usual eye chart. The "E" appears on the wall chart in diminishing sizes and rotated positions, with the "table legs" pointing in a different direction each time.

The child being screened indicates with his hands which direction the "legs" are pointing, thus permitting him to be checked even though he cannot read.

For the actual screening, the child performs alone, however, to enable the youngsters to learn the game and overcome any possible shyness, the preschoolers play it in a group first. The children are instructed by a volunteer who displays the "E" symbol, and they move their arms up, down, right or left to correspond with the rotation of the "E" by the volunteer screener.

When the time for the individual test arrives, the "magic feet" help to sustain the child's interest as well as aiding the accuracy of the test. To obtain a precise check of the youngster's visual acuity, the chart must be read from a distance of 20 feet. Therefore, two small shoe prints are sketched and placed 20 feet from the chart. The child stands within the "magic feet" to add to the

May Fellowship On Friday For Community

The annual May Fellowship, sponsored by Church Women United of the Culver Community, will be Friday, May 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of Wesley United Methodist Church.

"Hand Touches Hand" will be the theme and will draw attention to the need of love and concern for those who have recently moved into our neighborhood.

With the world today becoming a global village we will be celebrating May Fellowship Day in 160 countries.

Included in the celebration will be a drama "Two in a Trap" presented by Mrs. John Krueger and Judson Dillon. Pianist for the evening will be Mrs. Eral Sharp.

Mrs. Krueger, chairman, was assisted in the program planning by Mrs. Earl Graham, Mrs. E. W. Carter and Mrs. D. Hatten.

Refreshments will be served during the social hour.

"My wife's an angel," observed the little man to the chap sitting next to him at the bar.

"You're lucky," answered the other. "Mine's still alive."

game and at the same time remain the proper distance from the chart.

If a youngster's test performance gives evidence to the volunteer screeners of a possible vision difficulty, the child is referred. This means his parents are notified in writing of the need for the child to have a complete, professional eye examination. Each referral is subsequently followed up to see if the youngster has had the necessary examination.

Mrs. Lance Overmyer is the chairman of the project. Serving on the project's Advisory Committee are: Dr. F. L. Babcock, O.D.; Dr. Michael Deery, M.D.; Dr. George Stevenson, D.O.; Mrs. Connie Irvin, School Nurse; Mrs. Mary Ann Martin, nursery school instructor.

The Junior Women hope that all preschool children ages three to five will be brought in for a visual screening. Vision problems can be tragic and needless handicaps for youngsters going through school.

NAME BOYS STATE CANDIDATES

Mr. Ora Reed, Boys State chairman, announces delegates from the junior class of Culver Community high school to attend this summer under the sponsorship of the William Alexander Fleet and the Collins-Tasch American Legion Posts of Culver and Monterey respectively. Pictured from left to right, Andy Ervin, Mark Kepler and standing is Marty McCombs.

Delegates are James Andrew Ervin, son of Mrs. Constance Ervin and the late Ted Ervin, Culver; Martin E. McCombs, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McCombs, Culver; and Mark Allen Kepler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kepler, Culver.

Delegates are selected on the basis of their enthusiasm in the Boys State Program and their interest in social studies and political science.

At Boys State, the delegates will practice government at the city, county and state level. All delegates have an opportunity to run for office in Indiana Boys State Government.

Andy Ervin is an active bandman and a member of the band council, Health Careers Club, Student Council, Spanish Club and the basketball team.

Martin McCombs is active in dramatics, a member of the French Club, Mr. FTA of Area 3, and President-elect and treasurer of Health Careers Club. He is also a member of the Pep block, Spanish Club and is the underclassman editor of the yearbook. He is an officer in his church youth group and works regularly in a part-time capacity at the Culver Hardware.

Mark Kepler is a three-year member of the Band, secretary of the Future Farmers of America of which he has been a member 3 years, a member of the Future Teachers of America, and president of the Senior Livewires 4-H Club.

News From Your Secretary of State Larry A. Conrad

The normally echoing halls of the State House are now crowded with our state legislators, lobbyists and interested citizens. Since the Indiana General Assembly convened on January 8 for a 61 day session, our legislators have been busy producing bills designed to help Indiana solve her problems. In previous sessions, the average number of bills introduced in the legislature was between 1700 and 1800. This year only 1263 bills were introduced! A total of 823 bills were introduced this session, in the House, where all revenue bills must originate. The remaining 435 bills were introduced in the Senate. It is believed this bill reduction this session was caused by the legislature now holding annual sessions as opposed to meeting every other year as in the past.

Assembly (the State Senate and the House of Representatives) is when this office handles the filing and certification of candidates for state legislature as well as certain other state and federal offices. Primary election candidates for President, U.S. Congress, circuit judge, and prosecuting attorney also file in my office.

After the election, the local county clerks certify to us the complete results of the primary and fall elections and the Secretary of State certifies the elected candidates to the Governor. With the completed data from the county clerks, we compile and publish a detailed state election book in the spring following the November election.

The Secretary of State of Indiana has been given a task considered unusual by American Constitutional standards. Indiana has mixed executive and legislative powers in a rare instance. Indiana law requires the Secretary of State, a member of the executive branch, to preside at the organizational meeting of the House of Representatives, one of the houses of the legislative branch. So this year my duties as Secretary of State, as they pertained to the General Assembly, began on November 15.

After the fall election, there has been election contests filed in the races of Rep. Maurice H. McDaniel (R-New Albany) and Rep. Daniel Huff (R-Indianapolis). As the House organizing official, it was my option to rule on the seating of these newly elected, but contested, representatives. Legal research was done on past legislative election recounts, and the majority and minority leaders of the House were consulted before I rendered a decision. It was my opinion that the language of our Indiana Constitution stating that "each House, when assembled, shall determine the elections, qualification and returns of its own members" precluded the Secretary of State from doing anything other than convening the legislature for the purpose of electing officers. So the seating of the two disputed Representatives was decided by the House of Representatives itself. They decided that Representatives McDaniel and Huff should retain their seats.

Many of the people will be surprised to know that there are 220 organizations registered with my office to lobby in the state legislature this year! An average of four representatives from each registered lobbying organization or about 880 lobbyists work in the legislature. Such varied interests as labor, education, agriculture, financial institutions, and public utilities are all represented. Of course, these groups encourage legislation that will benefit their interest group, voice opposition to undesirable bills, and supply valuable information to the legislators.

Of course, registering as a lobbyist only applies to persons who are paid for their lobby activities; a private citizen has a political right to lobby for himself and his interests at any time.

Lobbyists must file an application indicating the organization which employs them, pay a fee of $2.00 and sign a non-Communist affidavit. The constitutionality of that affidavit is now, however, being questioned in the U.S. Federal District Court.

As a result of a 1971 legislative mandate, the Secretary of State's office performed the extensive job of printing and distributing the Indiana Code of 1971 to all county clerks. The printing of the thousands of copies was time consuming because the Indiana Code of 1971 is a compilation of all our state laws from 1852 to 1971 bound into a nine volume edition. At the time this job was performed, Indiana was one of the few states to have all its laws compiled. The Indiana Code of 1971 is updated each year with a supplement known as the Acts of Indiana, containing the new laws and amendments passed by our legislature.

Lastly, the Secretary of State's office is the resting place for Constitutional Amendments, statutes, and resolutions passed by the State legislature and approved by the Governor.

The Seal of Indiana is imposed on all official documents in my office. In many cases, the original documents are retained in the Secretary's office or at his disposal. So it is apparent that cooperation between legislature and the Secretary of State's office is considerable and necessary for orderly administrative government.

Next month: The functions of the Corporations Division of the Secretary of State's office.

Three Sisters Denied Permit

The Three Sisters Restaurant, Culver, Friday by the Alcoholic Beverage Commissions executive secretary, Arthur Robinson stated that the ABC has denied the renewal of an alcoholic beverage permit on the basis that the restaurant did not do $100,000 in food sales as required by the state law.

The restaurant, which has been operating with an alcoholic permit, was denied last week on the same reason the county board has used in turning down the owner, Stanley Pierce's, application.

Pierce was given until April 30 at midnight to rid his establishment of alcoholic beverages.

Mrs. Helen O'Donnell

Mrs. Helen O'Donnell, 77, route 2, State Road 17, Culver, died at 6:45 a.m. Saturday, at her home after a brief illness. She was born September 10, 1895, at Chicago to John and Catherine O'Mara. She was married to John S. O'Donnell, who preceded her in death in 1957.

SEW PRETTY: THE SOFT LOOK FOR SPRING

Sewing is creative. Sewing is fun. But did you know that sewing is sexy, too?

That's the expert opinion of Dr. Joyce Brothers. In the Spring issue of McCall's Pattern Fashions Magazine, the noted psychologist says: "To a man, a woman who sews is sexy. He relates to it psychologically as a very feminine thing to do. To the woman herself, sewing and working with fabrics provides a tactile and often sensual satisfaction."

If Dr. Brothers is right, then the pattern of Spring and Summer fashion should make everybody happy. Women will definitely want to sew these gently feminine styles—and their menfolk will heartily approve!

"The look for Spring/Summer '73 is pale, soft and fluffy," according to Pattern Fashions editor Mary McSorley. Angoras, flannels, brushed wools and fuzzy knits help put fashion into softer focus. Colors, like fabrics, have it soft, delicate pastels are worn with lots of white.

Blazers and jackets are apt to be unlined and feather-light; the magazine shows some delectable powder-puff jackets teamed with matching wide-legged pants.

Also featured: baby-pale, baby-soft sweaters that are child's play to knit and crochet.

But what if the baby-doll look is simply not your bag? Pattern Fashions Magazine, now on the newsstands, covers that situation admirably: with winning tennis dresses and star-studded, show-off denim pantsuits made from McCall's new line of Carefree Patterns. These work-saving fashions fit beautifully into a liberated life style. They're carefree to sew, carefree to wear, carefree to look after—so it's hard to see how any Ms. could miss with them.

The Spring issue also covers another McCall's innovation: The Male Patterns, designed to make your man look good while you take all the credit.

It used to be that all you could sew for a man was a bathrobe. Now you can sew almost anything for the new male image: ties, sport jackets, even suits! Because men's fashions are softer and less constructed these days, the sewing techniques you've already mastered are the only ones you'll need to sew for him.

And need we add that sewing for men is super-sexy? This is true, according to Dr. Brothers, because it shows that you care...that you're willing to put time and thought into something for him.

But whether you sew for the man in your life, or just for the girl in the mirror, you'll discover that current fashion trends make sewing a soft touch for you.

Speedway Target 200 Miles an Hour

As practice speeds continue to climb at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the chief topic of conversation is the possibility of one or more laps at better than 200 miles an hour during official time trials to determine starting positions in the 57th annual 500-mile race on May 28.

Bobby Unser, who won the pole position last year with one-lap and four-lap records of 196.678 and 195.840 miles an hour, respectively, again is one of the favorites for the No. 1 spot; but the list of 1973 contenders for that honor includes six other veterans who have started in the front row on one or more occasions during the last four years.

They are Mark Donohue, Peter Revson, Johnny Rutherford, Al Unser, A. J. Foyt and Mario Andretti. Gordon Johncock, whose unofficial speed of 199.4 miles an hour was the best clocked in spring tire tests, also must be given serious consideration.

The daily practice sessions, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., are open to the public at a price of 50 cents and track action is expected to increase steadily in preparation for the official time trials on the week-ends of May 12-13 and May 19-20, when gate admission will be $2. Eighty three cars have been entered this year, but only the fastest 33 qualifiers will be eligible for starting positions on Race Day behind the Cadillac Eldorado pace car.

JUST FOR DOING YOUR THING...

Guess what's at Pendleton. Besides the very pleasant, fine people, there's a state reformatory. And that's where your free visit will be. Just outside the city limits of this pleasant Hoosier community.

You see that's where they're sending people who like to steal merchandise from our member-stores. We just don't like them. They might be good customers, too. But when they don't pay for the things they take out, our good, honest customers have to suffer. They have to make up for what you steal through the price of the merchandise.

Think about it. If you take an article out of a store without paying for it, you're a thief. You're a criminal.

But maybe you'll just do anything for a free trip.

JR. WOMENS CLUB PLACE 2ND IN STATE

The Maxinkuckee Jr. Women's Club has won $200 and second place in the general Federation of Women's Clubs Shell Oil Company environmental responsibility program. The awards were presented at the Indiana Federation Convention in Indianapolis on April 26. From left, Mrs. Claude Ballings, president-Indiana Federation of Clubs, Mrs. Robert Radawski, president-Maxinkuckee Jr. Women's Club, Mr. Ray Biro, Financial manager-Shell Oil Company, Indianapolis and Mrs. James E. Ford, Conservation chairman of the Indiana Federation of Clubs.

The Maxinkuckee Federated Jr. Women's Club of Culver won a $200 second prize among Indiana clubs which in 1972 did the most to improve the environment of their communities.

Winners in the General Federation of Women's Clubs — Shell Oil Company Environmental Conservation Program were announced at the state convention of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs meeting on April 26.

Shell and the GFWC present four awards totaling $1,000 in each state and District of Columbia except Hawaii to encourage women to work for improvement of community environment.

First place and $400 and a Special Youth Involvement Award of $300 in the Indiana contest went to the Munster Junior Women's Club of Munster and third place and $100 was awarded to the Lowell Women's Club of Lowell.

The Munster Junior Women's Club will now compete with first place winners from other states for national prizes of $2000, $1000 and $500. These awards will be announced June 4 at the GFWC national convention in Baltimore, Maryland.

The Maxinkuckee Federated Jr. Women's Club of Culver won second place in Indiana for establishing an environmental nature laboratory, using property at Culver Community High School which was an unoccupied drainage area.

The club also established Culver's first glass recycling center, and by year end had reclaimed and crushed 23 pounds of glass for every man, woman and child in the town.

The GFWC-Shell Environmental Program, launched in 1971, replaced an education program conducted by the two sponsors from 1963 through 1970. The environmental competition will continue in 1973.

Clean-Up Week Set For Culver April 29 - May 5

The traveling trophy will be presented on May 8 to the club, organization, or school class completing the best Clean-Up project by May 4, at which time they will be judged.

On Monday evening April 30, at 6:30 p.m., there will be a "Kick-Off" parade. We would like to have as many marching, riding or driving units as possible.

The Culver Fire Department will be washing the streets on Thursday evening, May 3.

Please contact Andrew Venum, 842-2671, Leonard Richards, 842-3658, or Marilyn Kelly, 842-2755, to register your Clean-Up project, so that it may be properly judged and also to register your unit for the parade.

To Use Casino Theme For After-Prom Party

This year the Culver Community High School "after prom" will be sponsored this year by the service clubs and interested citizens of the area. Chairman of decorations is Mrs. Warren Curtis. The prom is Saturday at the Culver Inn.

A Casino night theme was chosen for the party. A movie will be shown beginning at 12:30 a.m. in the high school auditorium; about 1:30 a.m. food and games will be available; live entertainment by Paul Bennett's group begins at 3:00. Breakfast will be served later in the cafeteria. All juniors and seniors are welcome, even stags, but no one will be admitted after 1:00. Dress is casual.

Mrs. Ced White, of North Bend Township, is in charge of food; Monterey merchants are giving the grand prize; prizes will be given by the Culver and Leiters Ford merchants for games furnished by the Culver VFW.

"It's just that I don't want to get serious," she said quietly. "Who's serious?" he asked.

Citrus Juice:

It's Good For You — But Why?

Everyone knows how good citrus juices taste, and almost everyone knows that they're good for you. But a lot of people still don't know why, researchers for TreeSweet Products Co. have learned.

Do you know why British sailors are called Limeys? That has something to do with one of the reasons why citrus juices are good for you. Back in the middle of the 18th Century, when sailors on long voyages suffered terribly — and often died — of scurvy, a British naval surgeon found that citrus juices could prevent the disease, which is caused by a lack of the Vitamin C found in fresh fruits and vegetables. The good doctor had never heard of vitamins, of course, but he found that lime juice — which in those days was what they called lemon juice too — could prevent and even quickly cure scurvy. From then on, British sailors were given a regular ration of lime juice. Other sailors scornfully called them lime-juice sailors, or Limeys. But their scorn didn't last too long, when they found how healthy the juice made these Limeys.

So it is that an eight-ounce glass of orange juice, for example, — whether fresh, canned or frozen — will supply the average adult with his daily requirement of Vitamin C.

The body doesn't store up Vitamin C; you can't build up a supply in your tissues. It should be supplied to your body regularly in reasonable amounts rather than in large, infrequent doses.

The same is true of canned or frozen citrus juice. It lasts a long time in its can, but not forever, and it won't do to buy an enormous supply and then use it up over a long per-

The expressions on these youngsters' faces shows that they're aware of one of the best things about citrus juices: they are good for you and taste great. TreeSweet researchers say many people still do not know why citrus juice should be an important part of the diet.

It should be purchased in moderate amounts and used within a reasonable time.

Vitamin C isn't the only valuable nutritional content of citrus juice. Using orange juice as an example — that's the juice used most by Americans — an eight-ounce glass will supply about 11 per cent of the thiamine, 5 per cent of the carotene, 4 per cent of the niacin and 2.5 per cent of the riboflavin needed by that same average adult.

Citrus juices are excellent in special diets, too. They contain no chemical preservatives of any kind if they are in a metal can. They contain virtually no fat and only from ½ to 1 per cent protein, and are very low in sodium. A six-ounce serving has less than 100 calories, and citrus juices are natural alkalizers — despite their acid content — because digestion leaves residual minerals that are distinctly alkaline.

So no matter who you are — British sailor, average adult, low-sodium dieter or anyone else — you can drink all the fresh, canned or frozen citrus juice you want with confidence that it's good for you — REALLY good for you.
