FINAL WEEK DOINGS

Closing Exercises at the Academy Attended by Fair Skies and a Host of Visitors.

Under favoring skies and cooling breezes the program of final week was carried through without a hitch. There was the usual crowd of admiring parents and entranced young ladies to put the cadets on their mettle for their part of the exercises and, consequently, the drill to which each morning was devoted have never appeared to better advantage. With the present enlarged battalion the parades and reviews have grown in picturesqueness and the swinging lines with shining brasses and immaculate ducks evoke spontaneous applause at every appearance.

The festivities actually began with the concert in the mess hall on Saturday night when the usual program was elaborated and the audience increased by several tables filled with parents and friends who listened with interest to this attractive feature of the day.

On Saturday night the concert by the musical department and the declamation contest were combined into one program which was heard by fully 600 or 700 persons. Under Captain Johnston's baton the orchestra grew increasingly proficient and its two special numbers were greeted enthusiastically. Lieutenant Andrews and Cadet Kutehinski contributed a violin duet and the latter had a solo number on his instrument for which he played the Wieniawski "Legende" and for which he was recalled twice, to bow his acknowledgment of the applause. Cadet Gonzales appeared with a splendid vocal number, the Tosti "Addio" which was the rival of Cui-

Honor he defined as "the confidence of one's fellow men and the approbation of God." Loyalty to self, loyalty to others, and loyalty to God were the topics emphasized in the discourse. At his conclusion he addressed the members of the class in the following words that suggested to the hearers Matthew Arnold's title for his famous essay on "Sweetness and Light": "Members of the class of 1914, you are going out from this institution in a memorable year. The word 'honor' has been loud on your lips and in your hearts. You have created here a spirit that shall dominate this school in all its future. Out in life, I hope that honor shall still be yours; that those nearest to you will be most dear to you, and that those who come most intimately into connection with you shall be those who have the greatest confidence in your integrity. I hope that, as the years go on, you will increasingly win the love of your fellows; that you will increasingly be loyal to the high impulses within your souls, that you will be constant to the thought of God. Be loyal to others, be magnanimous, giving a thousand-fold more than you ever expect to receive in your responsiveness to the needs of men. But remember that including these other loyalties is the loyalty to God in whose recognition we are met on this Sabbath day and from whom you may ultimately hear the well-known words of approbation, as did Daniel, 'O Man, greatly beloved!' Sunday evening brought the band concert on the mess hall plaza while

Matrimonial.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Van Everta of Congress, Ohio, and Melvin Keen of Culver took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Van Everta, on Saturday, May 30, Rev. Campbell of the Presbyterian church reading the service. Mr. and Mrs. Keen came at once to Culver and took possession of the groom's residence on Scott street. The bride has been a teacher in the public schools of Congress. The acquaintance began during a visit of Mr. Keen to Ohio about a year ago. Mrs. Keen will be gladly received into the hearts and homes of the people of Culver, and the Citizen extends congratulations and best wishes to the newly-weds.

HIBBARD MAN TAKES POISON

Jacob Lichtenberger, aged 81, died suddenly at Hibbard about 7 o'clock Monday morning, at the home of his nephew, Levi Freese. Mr. Lichtenberger had made his home at Freese's during the past winter. Prior to that, for about eight years, he had lived most of the time with his brother Adam near Antioch church, with occasional visits to his other brothers, Peter of Hibbard and William of Culver. Though a former early settler near Bremen he had spent many years in Missouri, where his wife died.

On the morning of his death he had come down stairs at breakfast time, but did not eat. Complaining of not feeling well he called for some water for his medicine and went to his room. Soon after, Mrs. Freese, at work in the yard under the window of Mr. Lichtenberger's room, heard sounds of distress which alarmed her and caused

CULVER, INDIANA, JUNE 4, 1914.

Notwithstanding the disaster to the Empress of Ireland occurred at 2 o'clock in the morning, that all the lights went out, and that the ship sank in 14 minutes, before anybody had time to dress, the sickly story is sent out that a delegation of Salvation Army people assembled their band and sang and played "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Nine hundred and sixty-nine persons lost their lives when the ocean liner Empress of Ireland was rammed by the Norwegian collier Storstad at 2 o'clock Friday morning in the St. Lawrence river during a heavy fog. Many passengers were crushed to death in their berths, and many were not awakened until the water came pouring into their staterooms. The vessel went down in 14 minutes after being struck. Four hundred and eighteen passengers and members of the crew were saved.

The row in the Modern Woodman is an excellent illustration of the unprofitableness of a family row. Our modern fraternal is a fine thing and came because of the excessive cost of old line insurance and the abuses that crept into that kind of big business. The multiplication of the fraternal has made the big regulators "be good" but it has also developed a lot of foolishness and rascality among the fraternal. Rascality because many fraternal start with a rate that is intended to secure members by its cheapness and end in dissolution when the deaths begin and the officials have collected too much salary and paid workers have taken all the cream in the way of commissions. Foolishness because some very excellent fraternal are going on the apparent theory that the membership will not grow any older because the infusion of new blood will keep the average age where it started when the organization is first projected into being. The defenders of the inadequate rates shut their eyes to history, which is that every fraternal now in existence and of any respectable age has been obliged to raise its original rates not once but possibly several times, to continue in business. Insurance must cost the average mortality rate plus the cost of administration. The latter can be much or little, just as the wisdom and integrity and ability of those in charge determine, but old Nature continues to exact her toll at about the same old pace, less, of course, the advantages derived by succeeding generations in their ability to conquer epidemics and the discovery of methods in combatting what are or have been unconquerable diseases. The old line companies are organized for individual profit, but have the advantage of scientific management.

Why Certainly!
 Did you ever notice how perfectly lucid the most abstruse proposition appears when viewed in the proper light? For instance, the Plymouth Democrat says:
 Many ladies of the Relief corps have in hand the affairs and have decided that the duties of the home require the widest wisdom to govern and control their lines

JAP-A-LAC

A HIGH GRADE VARNISH AND STAIN COMBINED

Quite aside from the use of Jap-a-Lac as a beautifier of homes, it has wonderful economical properties. Jap-a-Lac saves money in two different ways:
 In the first place it saves money by adding years to the life and wearing properties of woodwork, furniture, floors, etc.
 In the second place Jap-a-Lac saves actual dollars and cents by allowing you to do the work yourself, and Jap-a-Lac is so easy to use that it is a genuine pleasure to use it, for there is a fascination about seeing an old, worn and shabby-looking object renew its youth, beauty and strength under one's own hand.
 Jap-a-Lac is a most economical covering for floors. A gallon is sufficient to Jap-a-Lac the entire floor of an average size room—a quart for a wide border.
 Jap-a-Lac is made in all colors and sizes from 15c cans up.
